Much Interest Shown in Pet Parade Oct. 9th

Rules Governing Entries Listed by Committee in Charge

Much enthusiasm is already being evinced by local children in the pet parade scheduled for Saturday afternoon, October 9, at 2 o'clock, following a series of twenty explanatory talks given in as many public and parochial school class rooms this week by Mrs. Emmet Wright of the drum corps committee in charge of the event.

Entries assured to date include goats, ponies, pigs, lambs, parrots, kittens, dogs, birds and rabbits. Interest has been intensified by the announcement that each entrant will receive several gifts, including a free ticket to an Avalon matinee to be presented following the parade. Merchandise prizes to be awarded in connection with the event go on display today in the window of Al's Coffee Shop. The committee stated that all the judges will be from out of the city.

The following set of rules has been formulated for the guidance of contestants:

1. Each entrant in the parade must pay a ten cent entry fee.
2. Two or more children entering one pet in the parade are eligible for only one prize.
3. Every person marching in the parade, including band members and Boy Scouts, will receive ice cream, balloon, lollypop and matinee ticket.
4. There is no age limit.
5. All entries must be at the arena between 1 and 1:30 o'clock to enter their pets. Numbers will be issued to the contestants as soon as the entry fee has been paid.
6. The parade will start promptly at 2 o'clock and will proceed around the main block in the business district and back to the Corn Palace.
7. Judges will be stationed along the line of march and will judge by number only.
8. The free show will start one hour after the parade. Gifts and prizes will be distributed at the Corn Palace after the show.

The deadline for casting ballots in the two contests has been set at Saturday, October 9, at 6 o'clock.

MILL YARD TO BE SITE OF NEW SOO INDUSTRIAL AREA

Preliminary Work on Laying of Spur Track Begins This Week

To provide needed additional trackage for industrial purposes, the Soo Line late last week began an important development in the old mill yard adjoining the right of way on the east side of the river, which area has stood idle since the razing of the old Winton Lumber company mill more than twenty years ago.

Preparatory to the installation of a spur track to run the full length of the east side of the mill yard, grading operations were under way this week. The new trackage will provide for a needed expansion of the industrial district, the area north of the Soo depot now being all utilized.

The Robertson Lumber company will be the first to take advantage of the new facilities provided. Preliminary work got under way Tuesday on the construction of a large coal shed 110 by 24 feet in dimensions, on which Hans Stensgaard has the labor contract. Negotiations also are under way with several other prospective users of the new trackage.

Bemidji Delegation Coming with Bunyan's Blue Ox Thursday

WRESTLING PROGRAM SET FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

Pet Parade, Band Music and Coronation of Queens Saturday, Oct. 9

Commemorating the fact that the corn belt has moved as far north as the northwestern corner of Minnesota, Thief River Falls will be host to residents of this section of the state next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 7, 8 and 9, the occasion being designated as Corn Palace Days.

Carrying out the theme of the festival, a beautiful and impressive corn palace is now nearing completion in front of the winter sports arena. Approximately 100 feet wide, the framework of the huge structure is being entirely covered with ears of corn assembled from 100 farms in the six Northwestern Minnesota counties.

The opening event of the three-day program will be the formal dedication Thursday evening of the corn palace, with the address of the evening delivered from the balcony of the structure by Congressman-at-large William Lemke of North Dakota, famed as the co-author of the Frazier-Lemke farm loan refinancing bill, and Union party candidate for presidency in 1936.

Representatives of the county boards of Pennington, Marshall, Red Lake, Roseau, Kittson and Polk counties will be present to respond briefly when panels symbolic of the various counties contributing material for the palace are unveiled. Supt. Morris Bye, superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools, will be in charge of the program, which will be follow-

Korn Kob Klub Now Has Enrolled 500 Members

Final Session Before Festival Will be Held Wednesday

Already boasting more than 500 members, the Korn Kob Klub, organized last Thursday evening, is now fully prepared to serve as an auxiliary agency in promoting the Corn Palace days in Thief River Falls October 7, 8 and 9. An additional supply of 500 identifying badges and corn cob pipes has been secured, and they may be obtained from members of the auxiliary drum corps or at the J. & B. drug store and Thief River Pharmacy.

An imposing array of officers with high sounding titles was elected at the opening meeting attended by nearly 100 members. Heading the organization is V. C. Noper, King Korn, with Helmer Carlson serving as Korn Borer; L. W. Rullen, Korn Skribe; A. F. Berge, Keeper of the Kobs; and Keen Olson, Korn Blower or organist.

At a second meeting of the organization Tuesday evening, fifty more men took the solemn obligation of membership administered by Paul Lundgren, acting for King Korn Noper. In a kangaroo court session with Mr. Rullen serving as prosecuting attorney, several backsliding members were found guilty and substantial fines were imposed on them, the penalties ranging as high as twelve cents. Included in the number fined for alleged infractions of the rules were Harry Fry, H. E. Nelson, Charles Lieberman and Harry Lund.

Arrangements were made at Tuesday's session to hold the next meeting of the Klub in the Civic and Commerce association rooms Wednesday evening, October 6, on the eve of the Corn Palace days. A record turnout is anticipated.

President Roosevelt to Get Invitation to Enter Korn Kob Klub

No sooner had Postmaster Andrew Anderson successfully completed the task of assembling the supply of ear corn being used in the construction of the corn palace than another big job was assigned to him. The Korn Kob Klub at a meeting last Thursday night delegated to Mr. Anderson the duty of going to Grand Forks next Monday morning when President Roosevelt visits that city, and signing up the president as a member of the secret organization. If local citizens shortly see Mr. Roosevelt in the news reels smoking a corn cob pipe, they will know that Mr. Anderson's mission was successful.

Bunyan's Blue Ox to Size up Corn Palace

September 29, 1937

Paul A. Lundgren,
Thief River Falls, Minn
Dear Dear:

This letter is to inform you that you have incurred the wrath of all true Paul Bunyanites at Bemidji.

We feel snubbed, insulted, and our feelings have been terribly hurt that we received no invitation to the Corn Palace Celebration to be held in Thief River Falls, October 7, 8 and 9. But if you think this oversight on your part is going to keep us away you are badly mistaken. We intend to come anyway.

Furthermore, we intend to bring Paul Bunyan's blue ox, and if Babe is hungry and wants to eat your Corn Palace we are just going to let him do it.

Furthermore, we believe a lot of other towns along the line have been insulted, ignored, neglected, and snubbed, and we are asking the villages of Bagley, Clearbrook, Gonvick, Shevlin, and all other places between here and Thief River Falls to come along with us and help us take your town apart.

It won't do you any good to call out a sheriff or the militia, just prepare yourselves for almost anything when this gang from Bemidji and our neighboring villages drops in on you on the evening of Thursday, October 7.

Socially yours,
BEMIDJI CIVIC & COMMERCE ASSOCIATION,
R. A. Hannah, Secretary.

PLANS READY FOR WRESTLING CARD FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8

Lou Plummer of Baltimore and Undlin of Chicago in Headliner

Arrangements were completed this week by Promoter Bill LaFave for the program of wrestling bouts to be presented under Legion auspices in the Auditorium Friday evening, October 8, the second night of the Corn Palace festival.

Headlining the card will be a bout between big Lou Plummer of Baltimore and Glen Undlin, Chicago piledriver, who weighs 225 pounds, and who has been seeking a match with Plummer the past six months. Plummer, six feet three inches tall and weighing 240 pounds, is one of four contenders for the heavyweight title and has thrown such well-known wrestlers as Jim Londos, Ray Steele and Johnny Marrs.

Featured in the semi-finals will be Karl Koopman of Minneapolis, 190 pounds, and George Sauer of Lincoln, Nebraska, 188 pounds. Both performers have made a good record in midwest wrestling circles. The quarter-final event will be a grudge match between Frank Topas of Minneapolis and Pete Frosin of St. Paul. They have defeated the same opponents the past few years, and Promoter LaFave had difficulty in getting them in the ring together. The preliminary bout will be between Red Melvie of Viking, who performed here last spring, and a new opponent, Swede Hendrickson of Oklee.

Those wishing to arrange for reserved seats in advance may make reservations thru A. F. Berge, telephone 710. Wally Karbo of Minneapolis and Harry Johnson of this city have been selected to serve as referees.

Larsen Advised of CCC Enrollment in October

L. G. Larsen, CCC enrolling agent for Pennington County, has been given definite assurance that a CCC enrollment will take place the first days of October. It will therefore be necessary that boys desiring to enroll at this time see Mr. Larsen without any delay and make their preliminary application, as this must be sent to Fort Snelling to be passed on as to eligibility and returned to the local office before time for enrollment. Under a new ruling all boys who left the CCC in March of this year are eligible to reenroll providing they meet the other regulations which remain unchanged.

COUNTY TEST FOR BANGS DISEASE IS DELAYED 2 WEEKS

Veterinarians Expected to Complete Testing Work in One Month

The actual work of testing cattle for Bang's disease in Pennington County has been delayed for two weeks at the request of the committee in charge in the county.

The series of meetings that were held were attended by very few farmers but nearly every one present signed a contract asking for the test. Committeemen will contact all cattle owners that have not signed, during the next two weeks.

Dr. H. E. Wilson, supervisor for this district after returning from a meeting in Bemidji on Saturday, informed Howard E. Grow, county agent, that they were planning to have sufficient veterinarians working in the county to complete the work in about a month. There are about three hundred herds to retest in addition to all of the new contracts.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

If preparation means anything, then Corn Palace Days should be a bang up good celebration. Four organizations have shared in the responsibility of providing the entertainment and not since Pioneer Days, the whisker celebration staged five years ago, have so many people of the community cooperated in an undertaking of this nature.

When they started talking corn palace around here a month or so ago it sounded like a dizzy idea. And when they started the job of putting the thing together we figured it might be in the interests of the community to have a few heads examined. Right now, however, it looks a little as if the idea might be pretty good. At any rate it is now nearing the stage where it might be classified as an accomplished fact. By the end of the week the corn palace will be built. And the finished structure is far more elaborate than the planners hoped to make it. When you see it at the unveiling next Thursday evening you probably will agree that it is both beautiful and impressive.

Those ruffians from Bemidji who think Babe, their blue ox, can eat our Corn Palace in one gulp, have got another think coming. Such a wild threat indicates that the Bemidji fellows have no conception of how big our Corn Palace really is. Babe may have logged off the state of North Dakota and drained the Mississippi at one gulp but we'll bet a new hat that there's enough corn plastered over the walls of our Corn Palace to keep Babe dimpled at the knuckles for a good long time. And we've just used the small corn on the Corn Palace. It would be quite an engineering problem to hoist some of the really large ears into place. But on this occasion of Babe's visit to our city we will go out and snag in one of these big ears and give the blue ox a square meal. If the highway department will give us permission to block one of the highways and we can hire a fleet of caterpillar tractors between now and then we'll have that ear of corn hauled right up to the city limits by Thursday night.

MORSE CODE
(New York Herald Tribune)

A portrait painter—one of the most talented the United States had produced—advised one of his pupils to shun art. "It means beggary," he told the aspirant, with a bitterness sharpened by not having eaten for 24 hours. "Your life depends upon people who know nothing of art and care nothing for you. A house dog lives better."

This painter turned from one kind of creation to another, from painting to invention, and with no greater rewards for many years. A century ago this summer he was in the worst throes of a great invention upon which he had been laboring since 1832, but before the summer ended his telegraph was born and could stutter Morse code thru 1,700 feet of copper wire coiled around his workshop in University place.

The life of S. F. B. Morse was certainly one of the most dramatic in the early days of our age of invention. Like Fulton, another American portrait painter of talent who had received important recognition abroad, Morse did not in the long run find sufficient stimulus nor a bare living from art at home and changed the direction of his creative energy from the esthetic to the practical needs of mankind, receiving at first even less understanding and support for his pains.

Frequently applied to for aid after the successful experiment of September 2, 1837, in University place, congress had other things to do with its money, and permitted Morse to carry the whole burden of perfecting the telegraph for nearly six years. The inventor kept himself alive by giving lessons in painting (and telling his pupils to shun art as a career, it seems) and making pictures by sunlight, a new art he had just learned from his friend Daguerre.

At long last, amid facetious remarks suggesting that part of the appropriation go for experiments in mesmerism or to the Millerites, a bill was passed in 1843 by congress giving enough support to make a final test of the telegraph, for building the line from Washington to Baltimore over which the famous message was sent: "What hath God wrought!"

Echo answered, perhaps: "God helps them that help themselves." Certainly Morse stood alone while he labored to give the world the telegraph, never more alone than 100 years ago this summer.

BICYCLES ON HIGHWAYS
(Duluth Weekly Herald)

Strict regulation of bicycle traffic is now receiving more attention by those entrusted with the solution of safety problems. Four boy riders were victims of a serious accident near Milwaukee on a recent night. Riding abreast on the highway, they were run down by a motorist, who claims that he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and did not see the boys until too late. The deputy sheriffs who went to the scene reported that none of the bicycles carried tail lights and only one was equipped with a rear reflector button. Two, the deputies asserted, were without headlights, their riders carrying flashlights. Now the sheriff has properly issued orders to arrest bicycle riders who are on the highways after dark without the lights required by law. Their machines will be impounded until properly equipped.

As the Milwaukee Sentinel says, to the boy who owns a bicycle, perhaps purchased after long saving and self-denial out of meager funds, the expense of properly equipping the machine with lights may be a hardship. But it is not nearly so great a hardship as a serious or perhaps fatal accident. If the bicycle is the product of saving and self-denial, those qualities will have to be exercised again until the bicycle is properly and safely equipped.

If the bicycles are to be allowed on the highways, they must be properly equipped. And bicyclists must cease defying the common rules of safety, as is not infrequently done in Duluth as well as in other cities, or it will be necessary to bar them from the streets and highways.

Nicholas Murray Butler thinks that the historic American parties are completely wrecked for the reason that the commanding industrial problem cannot be fitted into either of their traditional programs and divides each party from top to bottom. He suggests the realignment of American voters into "liberal" and "radical" parties, the one to be called the Constitutional Liberal and the other Progressive. John L. Lewis indicates that he is going to launch a third party, but Butler says there is no room for a labor party any more than a bankers' party, or a farmers' party or a school teachers' party or any other special economic group. The meaninglessness of party names and even of party principles has often been commented upon, but, like the weather, nobody ever does anything about it. The old Republican and Democratic names have been pretty handy in getting politicians elected to office, and that, after all, is the important issue in the minds of most of those who build up party organizations and do party work. Once in office, the politicians are prone to forget everything except a desire to keep on the right side of a majority of the voters in order to keep themselves in office, even though party promises and party principles sometimes suffer in the process. The New Deal has tried a new trick—that of putting enough people on the public payroll in one way or another to command the support of the majority of the voters. Whether there can be any change before the money runs out remains to be seen.—Morris Tribune.

ANOTHER POLITICAL PRESS AGENT
(Montevideo News)

How many readers remember the time when there was only one press agent on the state payroll, maintained by all taxpayers to get publicity for one political party or one public official? How many readers remember that the presence of this one state-paid publicity expert caused talk? It wasn't considered right.

That was less than ten years ago. Now there are fifteen or twenty, maybe more. Latest state official to add a publicity man to his staff is the attorney general. First result of his labors, as far as this newspaper knows, is a story about the attorney general and the heavy responsibilities that furrow his legal brow, and the legal brows of his many assistants. A cut for use in the paper is supplied, too. We are glad to get the cut and will use it the first time the attorney general comes into our territory, thereby making local news. But the long story goes to its final resting place in the waste paper basket.

There is no thought here of criticizing the attorney general because he seeks publicity. Everybody is doing it. Going a step further, there is no occasion to single his department out for inspection if it hires a publicity man at state expense. Most everybody seems to be doing that, too.

There may, however, be something for citizens to think about in this new method of all-the-time campaigning that uses the money of all taxpayers to protect the entrenched interest of a political party in power or a job-holder in office.

SELL THE GOOD ONES
(Grand Rapids Herald Review)

The prospects are for a good potato crop thruout the United States. That means a poor potato price.

One of the answers to a large potato crop and the prospects of a low price is united effort by growers to keep a large part of the crop off from the market. The best way to do that is to grade potatoes to the very highest standards.

Year in and year out it is doubtless true that a large part of the potato crop should be left on the farm. Users of potatoes do not wish those which are small and irregular. The housewife can better afford to pay twice as much for the better half of the crop than a much lower price for the run of the field and bin. The grading of potatoes to high specifications is a sensible and reasonable answer to the prospects of a large crop and low price.

There's an old saying that a man is known by the company he keeps. Just as aptly it might be said that a town is known by its newspapers. There is close relationship between a community and its press. If one is good the other is also good. And vice versa. Marshalltown (Iowa) Times Republican.

PUBLIC OPINION

CORN PALACE DAYS

Editor Times:

This community festival, Oct. 7, 8 and 9, is particularly an appropriate festival, as it proves the inherent ability of nature to adjust its vegetation to the various climatic and other conditions in different localities.

The palace itself is certainly evidence of the skill and enthusiasm of the committee and others. It is a real "beauty" and the most effective and true "advertising stunt" that one can think of.

If the Iowa and Southern Minnesota people come and see this "Palace" and learn that all the corn used is locally grown, 1937 corn, they will surely get rid of their general notion that "the Red River Valley is too far north to successfully raise corn."

When I was a boy of 14, and we settled in Eastern Polk County, called "The 13 Towns", some 53 years ago, no one there had the faintest idea that corn could be ripened here, and they were right, I think, at that time, but some years later some of the more experimental minded settlers got to planting a few hills of "squaw corn", an exceptionally early variety, developed by the government for the Red Lake Indians. After several more years, other varieties were tried and some seasons ripened. However, it was "Minnesota 13" and Northwestern dent that came out best, and I notice these two varieties are still in the lead, and they have now been acclimated so that it is now regardless a reasonably sure crop, by those who raise corn.

The committee would do well, I think, to specially invite these people from the southern corn-raising to come up to this festival, so they could learn more correctly the chances for farming in this part of the country, rather than to farm in over-crowded areas, where land costs 2 or 3 times what it does here.

The committee was fortunate in securing Congressman William Lemke as principal guest speaker, evening of the first day of the festival, Oct. 7th.

Mr. Lemke is the best known Congressman of the Northwest, being the author of the Frazier-Lemke Farm Debt Refinancing Bill, and a strong and active worker for Old Age Pensions and all other Labor and Farm Legislation.

KRATKA MAN RAISES FINE GRAPES THIS YEAR

M. J. Graettinger of Kratka township late last week brought into the Times office a basket of Beta grapes of excellent quality raised by him on his farm. He said he had obtained a big yield this year on vines set out about five years ago.

LEECH LAKE DELIVERS TWO-YEAR OLD MESSAGE

Hackensack.—A message written two years ago by two fishermen was found last week by other fishermen in Leech Lake. The message had been placed in a bottle which had been left to float on the lake. While fishing recently Melbert and Joseph Pederson of Mildred and Elmer Pattern of St. James discovered a floating bottle containing a note. Picking up the bottle on the south shore of Bear Island, the following inscription was found: "This was dropped in Leech Lake June 15, 1935. Let us hear from you." The note was signed by Max M. Mills and W. Lane Dommon of Marshalltown, Iowa.

RAM TRADING DAY TO BE CONDUCTED HERE OCTOBER 12

More Than 30 Purebred Rams Included in Event at Fair Grounds

To provide Pennington county sheep producers with high quality rams at less expense and trouble, a county-wide ram sale and exchange day is being arranged to be held at the fair grounds in Thief River Falls October 12. Thirty or more good type purebred Shropshire and Hampshire rams assembled from leading breeders will be trucked in for farmers to look over and to buy if they wish. A laid-down price for each ram will be set by the breeder.

The county committee which has worked out this ram sale is headed by Hans Anton, and includes Frank Hardisty and E. H. Pomerenke. This new plan of aiding in the distribution of high-quality sheep sires is being tried out in eleven Northwestern Minnesota counties, says County Agent Howard E. Grow. The plan will not only bring in good rams at reasonable prices, but will save breeders the trouble of traveling about in search of rams, a job which might take several days and cost even more than the ram itself.

In addition to the sale and exchange, there will also be a program of talks and demonstrations on sheep breeding and management. An extension livestock specialist from University Farm, will be the speaker.

County Agent Grow says it is hoped breeders will turn out in large numbers to look over these rams. No one will be under any obligation to buy unless he likes the animal and is satisfied with the price. Getting a number of these fine rams into Pennington County flocks will do much to improve the quality of sheep and increase returns for the owners because from a breeding standpoint the sire is half the flock. In three generations 87.5 per cent of the breeding of a flock is determined by the three sires used. Thick set, growthy, money-making lambs can be obtained only by using that kind of rams.

LIBRARY NOTES

Beginning September 30th, puppet shows will be given at the Library each Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

There is again activity in the Rural School Department. More than a dozen districts have taken out their first set of books. There will doubtless be a membership of fifty districts or more this year. A large shipment of attractive new books is being prepared for immediate use in this department.

Several new copies of "Gone With the Wind" have been added to the collection. It is hoped that with the present number in circulation, it will not be necessary to have such long waiting lists as heretofore.

Books recently added are:

Carmer ....Listen for a lonesome drum
Foster .... American Dream
Wilkins .... And so Victoria
Gulbrandssen ....Wind from the Mountains
Roberts ..... Northwest Passage
Duffies .... Santa Fe Trail
Hillis.... Orchids on Your Budget

Thomson ......Outline of Science
Alexander ....North American Mythology

Some splendid new books have been added to the regular children's department during the summer. They have needed no advertising to make them popular. New book jackets when posted never lack attention.

FEDERAL AGENCY BUYING POTATOES THRUOUT VALLEY

Surplus Commodities Corporation Buys Spuds for Relief

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, through its field representative, N. F. Baldridge, in Grand Forks, has announced a potato buying program in the Red River Valley for relief purposes. Mr. Baldridge informed Howard E. Grow, county agent, that the Corporation was paying fifty cents per hundred for potatoes in new 100 lb. sacks F. O. B. cars. All sacks must be stencilled with grower's initials and must have federal and state inspection certificate certifying that the potatoes grade U. S. No. 1 or better. The inspection must be paid for by the growers or shipper.

If any purchases are made in this county the allocation between growers and handlers will be in charge of the county Allotment committee composed of Alfred Longren, V. C. Noper, and Geo. L. Biddick.

Anyone having potatoes to sell in carload lots should contact N. F. Baldridge, Room 9 Post Office Bldg., Grand Forks, N. D. Telephone 374, Mr. Grow stated.

FATHER AND SON IN HUNTING ACCIDENT

Cook.—Isaac Jarvi, an 83-year-old farmer residing near Angora went hunting one night last week near his home with intentions of ridding the neighborhood of a bear he believed to be frequenting the place, but instead he accidentally shot and wounded his 51-year-old son, Leander Jarvi. Approaching a likely spot, he saw a sharp gleam of light and fired point blank for what he thought was the gleam to be the eyes of a bear. He missed with the first shot and nervously fired again. This time he heard groans and when he went into the brush to investigate he found his son, a homesteader near his farm, seriously wounded in the thigh. He had a flashlight near his side. Hurrying to a neighbor for help, the father returned with a car with which the wounded son was transported to a Virginia hospital where his leg was amputated.

4 NEW TEACHERS TO SERVE AT N. W. SCHOOL THIS YEAR

Record Enrollment Expected at Red River Valley Institution

Four new teachers will meet classes when the Northwest School of Agriculture opens on Monday, October 4. Dr. A. C. Vogele, on duty since July first as station horticulturist, will teach farm forestry in addition to his horticultural subjects. Dr. Vogele was acting head of the department of plant physiology at the Minnesota college of agriculture, St. Paul, during the absence of Dr. R. B. Harvey last year.

Miss Caryl Myer of Minneapolis has accepted the position as instructor of freshmen English. Miss Meyer is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. She will assist with dramatics and public speaking work, and will replace Mrs. Howard Myster (Lois Lohn), formerly of Crookston.

The advanced work in commercial subjects will be taught by Miss Emma Tohms who replaces Howard Myster. Miss Tohms, a graduate of Ohio State University and the Minnesota School of Business, has excellent scholastic and teaching records and will assist greatly in building up the commercial department.

The vacancy in agricultural engineering has been filled by the appointment of V. C. Kallal. Mr. Kallal, a graduate in farm engineering from the University of Illinois, was an instructor in farm engineering at the Northwest School during the year of 1934-35. He has been engaged as engineer in soil conservation projects since that time.

The school is in readiness, according to Superintendent T. M. McCall, to receive what is expected to be an all-time enrollment record.

HORSE SPENDS NIGHT IN WELL, WATER 6 Ft. DEEP

Madison. —"Dobbin", suffering from sore and stiff muscles and joints, is a sadder and much wiser horse following a tragic mishap which left a horse belonging to Matt Kellen of Hamlin township to spend a night in a well containing six feet of water. The horse, perhaps as a result of insomnia, or perhaps because of hunger wandered into the Kellen granary one night. The wooden floor boards covering a pit containing six feet of water gave way and old "dobbin" became stuck with his hind legs in six feet of water, head and fore feet above the pit. The animal was found in this position the following morning when it became necessary to call a wrecker to extricate it.

George E. Bagan Discusses Unfair Trade Practices Law Monday

Responding to an invitation extended by A. M. Bagan of Albert Lea, secretary of the association. W. L. Carlisle presided.

Stressing the fact that the new law is not a price-fixing measure, Mr. Bagan explained that its purpose is to prevent the sale of leaders at an actual loss to the store. He stated that a minimum fine of $200 is provided for violations of the act, and that several convictions have already been secured in the southern part of the state.

At Mr. Bagan's suggestion, which was endorsed by County Attorney H. O. Berve, present at the meeting, the district director was authorized to appoint a committee to serve in the Thief River Falls trade area as an auxiliary agency in carrying out the provisions of the act and in arbitrating cases to avert legal action as far as possible.

At the close of the meeting a substantial lunch was served to those present thru the courtesy of the three wholesale houses in Thief River Falls.

MAN DIES AFTER TRAIN COLLISION WEST OF MARCOUX

Albert Kelsven of Bagley Dies When Automobile Hits Train

Albert Kelsven, 60, of Bagley was killed Friday morning when his automobile crashed into the side of the gas driven engine of the Great Northern Warroad train at the crossing on highway No. 2 a mile west of Marcoux corner.

Sheriff Carl Kankel of Red Lake county, who investigated the accident, said Kelsven who was traveling east alone in the car apparently failed to see or hear the train until the crash occurred. There were no marks on the pavement, the sheriff said, that would indicate he had applied his car brakes. The car was demolished.

Marshall Webb, engineer on the train, told authorities the train had whistled several times before approaching the crossing and had whistled again just before the crash.

The accident occurred in Polk county but Kelsven's body was found in the highway ditch which is in Red Lake county. The body was taken first to Red Lake Falls for examination by the Red Lake county coroner and then brought to Crookston.

Mr. Kelsven had lived in Fargo and Dilworth and recently had been operating a hotel in Bagley.

Local Young Man Adds to Shooting Laurels

Victor Jung of this city, has qualified in the junior division of the National Rifle association as a distinguished rifleman, the highest grade of shooting proficiency, it was announced in Washington today. Of a total of 3,852 junior shooters of the country who have qualified for this year in all grades of shooting proficiency from the beginning grade of pro-marksman to the highest grade of distinguished rifleman, only eighty-eight have succeeded in attaining the distinguished rating and 355 the expert rating, the next highest grade.

NO HUNTING LICENSE NEEDED BY OCCUPANT OF OWN, LEASED LAND

In commenting on the opening of the annual hunting seasons in Minnesota shortly, Guy W. Cravens, assistant conservation commissioner, called attention to the rights of land owners and occupants in hunting.

"Any resident of the state and any member of such person's immediate family do not require a hunting license to hunt on their own land or land that is leased," Mr. Cravens said. "Such land, however must be occupied as a permanent abode.

"This exemption covers only wild birds or quadrupeds which may legally be taken, except deer, and the manner of taking must also be according to law. Naturally such hunting can only be done during regularly prescribed open season," Mr. Cravens concluded.

HAMBURGER DAY CROWD AT WARREN TO HEAR PETERSEN

Former Governor to be Main Speaker at Festivities Saturday

Hjalmar Petersen, former governor of Minnesota and present chairman of the railroad and warehouse commission, will be the principal speaker at Warren's Third Annual Hamburger Day, Saturday, October 2, with the entire Northwest being invited to attend.

Hamburger Day will open with a parade at 10 o'clock featuring four high school bands, the Cameron Scotch Highlanders' Cadet Pipe band from Winnipeg, clowns, pets, decorated bicycles, etc.

Mayor H. E. Warriner of Winnipeg will deliver a short address at 11:30 A. M. while in the afternoon a program of stunts and contests, band and professional entertainment will be provided for the anticipated crowds. Mr. Petersen will speak at 2 P. M.

Hamburger sandwiches and coffee will be served free of charge commencing at noon. A quarter of a ton of hamburger has been ordered for the occasion, which will be fried in four huge griddles, at a special stand. Under the plan approximately 100 sandwiches a minute can be served.

In the evening Wade's troupe of Canadians will present a 45 minute program of stage novelties followed by an amateur contest for which cash prizes will be offered. A merry-go-round, ferris wheel and kiddie ride is being provided to help entertain the children. Two free dances will close the celebration.

151 Drivers in August Lose Right to Use Cars

Characterizing the increase in Minnesota drivers' license revocations from 80 during August, 1936, to 151 during August this year as "the fruits of stricter enforcement," Gil Carmichael, director of the drivers' license unit of the state highway department, this week made public his "round-up" report for August.

The fact that suspensions dropped from 90 for August just passed to 57 for August, 1936, was advanced as additional evidence that courts and officers are less inclined to show the foolhardy, death-dealing driver sympathy.

Every revocation in August, the report disclosed, was for driving while intoxicated. Hennepin county led with 28, St. Louis was next with 21 and Ramsey third with 15. Mower county officials denied the use of cars to five drivers. During the month only one woman had her license revoked.

For the year to Sept. 1, Carver, Clearwater, Hubbard, Murray, Nicollet, Red Lake and Wilkin counties have had no drivers license revocations for any cause. For that period, 198 Hennepin county motorists lost their licenses. Of the 809 cards taken away this year, 794 were for drunken driving, 10 for failure to stop and disclose identity, two for manslaughter and the remainder for felonies. The greatest number of offenders were from 21 to 30 years old. For the three years and eight months the drivers' license unit has existed it has reported 3,162 revocations, 3,012 for drunk driving.

Patrol Arrests 892 in August; Aid Given 5,357, J. P. Arnoldy Reports

In August the Minnesota Highway Patrol made 892 arrests, according to a report by John P. Arnoldy, patrol chief, to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner.

Corrections for improper equipment led for the month with 248 drivers being brought into court. Speeding was accountable for 93 arrests, going through a "stop" sign for 98, careless driving for 89 and driving while drunk for 67.

During the month 13,013 warnings were issued, 3,641 for improper parking, 2,331 for excessive speed in dangerous places, 2,277 for driving in the wrong lane and 1,581 for improper lights. "Must repair" tags for improper equipment were handed to 1,885 drivers.

The arrests resulted in $10,959.20 in fines. Another $10,350.38 was gathered in by highway patrol license corrections. Fine totals amounted to $65,849.01 for the year up to Sept. 1. License plate corrections for the same period totaled $192,271.47.

During the month the patrol was on duty 23,232 hours, 3,913 of which were for special detail. Aid was given to 5,357 cars and first aid treatment to 29 injured persons.

Work Started on State's Second Biggest Highway Job, Anoka to Elk River

The State Highway department this week began work on what is believed to be the second largest single highway construction project ever covered in Minnesota by one contract and also one of the most vital from the standpoint of solving the traffic congestion and safety problems created by ever increasing motor vehicle travel.

Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg announced that the contract was awarded for construction of the 11.6 mile, divided-lane "super highway" on T. H. No. 10 between Anoka and Elk River. McCree and Co. and Phillipi Brothers, both of St. Paul, were successful bidders with a bid of $456,128.06.

Other contracts awarded this week by Commissioner Elsberg, which like the Anoka-Elk River project will be financed out of matched federal aid funds, include bridges, grading, and graveling projects in St. Louis, Chippewa, and Blue Earth counties.

With the construction season growing shorter and the tourist season nearing an end, the Highway department's specifications required the contractors to start work on Monday of this week and complete the super highway job by September 1938.

The contract requires that traffic shall not be hampered over this important arterial during the construction period. The present traffic lane will be used until a new parallel thoroughfare has been completed.

When the new road is completed, all traffic will be routed over the new lane until the present old road has been straightened, widened, repaired, and resurfaced. When both lanes are complete next fall, this important highway will consist of two parallel, one way pavements, each 24 feet wide and separated by an island varying from 20 to 60 feet in width.

The route of the present road will carry north bound traffic and the new road will carry southbound traffic into the Twin Cities. The new lane will be bituminous surface and the old lane, or northbound lane, will consist of bituminous surface over the present concrete pavement.

The new divided highway, Commissioner Elsberg said, is expected to eliminate virtually all of the "bottle neck" traffic congestion now prevailing on this stretch due to the many highways that converge into it both at Anoka and Elk River.

PIRATES LOSE TO T. R. F. SQUAD FRIDAY 43 TO 0

Prowler Eleven Wi[illegible] Home Game

For some 25 or more odd years, representative football teams of Thief River Falls and Crookston have been engaged in their annual tussle; Dame Fortune smiling sometimes on one team, and then on the other. But it took the 1937 Prowler aggregation to hand the Pirates the most humiliating setback in the history of the rivalry.

The story of the battle [illegible] to be found in the 43-0 score [illegible] rather in the almost irresistible offense launched by the linemen and the near impregnable defense they set up after they lost the ball.

The Prowlers took the offensive immediately after the starting whistle, Caldis crashing over for two tallies, one from the six yard marker, the other from the two. Quale failed each time to shoot the ball between the uprights for the extra point.

Nesse opened the second quarter with a bang when he smashed his way for 65 yards and [illegible] touchdown after receiving [illegible] punt. Bredeson missed [illegible] the extra point, but retaliated some time later, by lugging the pigskin over the line for six more points. Quale's place kick went wide and the score remained at 21-0.

Bredeson, who incidentally is a reformed guard and has been groomed to fill the right halfback post vacated by Hill, accounted for all the scoring the third quarter. The scoring consisted of two touchdowns which resulted from short line bucks. Shanahan brought the spectators to their feet with a nice 20 [illegible] gallop. Tunberg broke into [illegible] scoring column late in the final quarter when he received a pass and went the remaining 32 yards to the goal.

The Prowlers held their opponents to 1 first down, while chalking up 12 for themselves. The line again displayed [illegible] backing and a stonewall defense.

Thief River's passing attack was not [illegible] as effective as it was in [illegible] Lake Falls encounter, [illegible] did complete 7 passes [illegible] 20 attempts for a total of 87 yards.

The lineups were as follows:

T. R. F.	Crookston
Quale, LE	H. Sampson, LE
Stadum, LT	Rudell, LT
Eide, LG	Esker, LG
Hanson, C	McKenzie, C
Johnson, RG	Moline, RG
Mattson, RT	Haugen, RT
Lorentson, RE	Turnquist, QB
Booren, QB	Senn, LH
Nesse, LH	Hegland, RH
Bredeson, RH	Moe, FB
Caldis, FB	E. Sampson, RE

Substitutions: T. R. F. [illegible], Mullin, Thomas, Hex[illegible], Tunberg, Mickleson, [illegible] Stadum, Holmberg, [illegible]

Touchdowns: T. R. F. [illegible] son, 3; Caldis, 2; Nesse, 1; Tunberg, 1.

Debaters Will Discuss "Unimerical" Legislation

The new handbooks for debaters have come, and the debate question this season is:

Resolved:

"That the several states [illegible] adopt a unicameral system of legislation."

Those interested in debate work should begin looking for material as soon as possible so they will have an idea of what it is all about. The tryouts for the team will be soon and those especially interested may see Mr. Peterson.

Miss Dock [illegible] she will be getting some pamphlet material on this subject in the near future. This material promises to be of help to those interested in debating this season.

Some material on this subject may be found in the following periodicals:

The Christian Science Monitor from June 16, 1937; The Literary [illegible] 11, 1937 issue and May [illegible] issue of Time; Literary Digest from January 2, 1937; and also the May 22 and June 16 issue of News Week.

These are all quoted from the Readers Guide. For further information on this subject, refer to that periodical.

BAND NOTES

The Lincoln High School band has been recently honored by an [illegible] from Grand Forks to [illegible] the parade Monday celebrating President Roosevelt's visit to Grand Forks. The band will leave [illegible] Monday morning and march in the parade, past the reviewing stand on which President Roosevelt will be seated. Grand Forks is providing the members of the band with a free lunch at noon. This opportunity to see the President of the United States will provide quite a thrill for the band members. It isn't very often that people in this part of the country have a chance to hear the President personally and it will be an interesting experience for all.

On Saturday, Oct. 2, the band is going to Warren to help celebrate Limburger day there. The following Saturday the Warren band is coming here to celebrate the corn festival. For all these appearances the band will have to march which means that a lot of practice in marching and making formations will have to be put in this week.

The white sweaters for the band members have been ordered and should be here in a week or two. These sweaters will make very nice outfits to wear at basketball and football games.

Distance Between Earth and Sun

Once each year the distance between the earth and the sun is at a minimum and six months later at a maximum. Similarly, every twenty seven days the moon passes from a position of maximum distance to a minimum and then back again. The variation between the two extremes amounts to about 13 per cent of the distance from the earth to the moon.

E. GRAND FORKS TO BE PROWLERS NEXT OPPONENT

Little Green Wave to Test Prowler Squad

Tomorrow evening the so far impregnable Prowler eleven will be thrown into contact with their first real opposition when they meet the Little Green Wave at East Grand Forks. Local supporters who will follow the team to that city should, and I think will, witness one of the hardest fought games on the Prowler's schedule. The way the situation is viewed now, there will be three really tough games for the local boys this year. East Grand Forks is the first of the three. This doesn't mean that the rest of the games will be push-overs, it simply means that the Prowlers will find the going much rougher and harder in these three contests.

Even though the Wave has suffered two defeats in its first games, it must be taken into consideration that they were matched against two of the toughest teams in the northwest. Fargo won over them 27 to 0 and Bemidji 12 to 0. The Prowlers showed considerable improvement in their encounter with Crookston last Friday and if the game tomorrow night follows true to dope the locals will still end up on top.

Coach Lee's probable starting line-up follows:

LE	Quale
LT	L. Stadum
LG	Eide
C	Hanson
RG	Johnson
RT	Mattson
RE	Lorentson
QB	Booren
LH	Nesse
RH	Bredeson
FB	Caldis

The ever resourceful and progressive students of Lincoln High School are about to introduce another innovation in the history of the school. The innovation is in the form of a celebration to be named "Homecoming Week" which we hope will eventually become a fixture as an annual affair.

The seniors, assisted by the Progress staff, will provide the impetus of a Prowler novelty sale, parade and outdoor pepfest on the evenings of Thursday, October 28 and October 29. The beefy Bemidji Lumberjack gridders will enjoy the limelight of attraction as the opponents of the popular Prowlers on October 29 on the local athletic field as the athletic attraction. The aim of this celebration is to provide the team and the loyal fans with the pep and enthusiasm which is so essential, but seems to be lacking for that all important contest.

In an effort to swell the senior treasury, salesmen will approach fans previous to the game to furnish them with attractive novelties, emblematic of the festive occasion. These pins which will be sold at a low price, will aid the seniors in financing the projects which must be undertaken this year. Thus in helping yourself, you are helping the seniors.

An added attraction of the gala parades, pep fests, and game will be the presence of the peppy Lincoln High band under the able supervision of R. G. Riggs.

Last, but not least, there will be crowned a Homecoming queen to reign over the festival. This queen from our high school will be chosen by a popular vote by high school students. The vote will be taken in ballot form and every student will be given an opportunity to name his or her choice.

Are you going to do your part to make this celebration a success?

PROWLING AROUND

Reports from East Grand Forks proclaim that the Little Green Waves is living up to its name as the team is described as both little and green. Despite their size and lack of polish they still possess their legendary fight and hustle which has been so prevalent in previous East Side teams. A new coaching regime has been installed with George Wilson at its head. A slightly varied style of play has been introduced which has caused the team to be less advanced at this time of the season than usual but with two better defeats under their belts they are liable to be in a pugnacious mood and will not be content to take it on the chin in a horizontal position.

Don Hiney, a veteran halfback, is labelled as one of the finest punters in the northwest and will be a constant threat although he may not be up to par because of an injury in the Bemidji contest. Another back who is expected to give the Prowlers plenty of grief is the celebrated southpaw, Pershing Raymond, a triple threat ace.

A newcomer on the Prowler squad is Kevin O'Malley, a rangy sophomore, formerly of St. Cloud. Originally a back, he may be converted into a lineman. He is a bit unfamiliar with the game as played here, but he should develop into a dependable reserve at least. The Prowl[illegible] seem in a plenty of the old Irish fight if it's there. Time will tell.

The Prowlers absentee list is growing day by day. Mel Rogg[illegible] and Ray Oen, speedy ball carriers left school, Harry Oen dropped out temporarily because of work and Karl Sundberg, tackle, is out indefinitely because of a back injury that failed to improve. Unless the reserves make very rapid strides there will be some huge gaps to fill.

One position that will not cause Coach Lee any worry is the center [illegible] tain Bob Hanson, Gratty Cliff Lanke is a reserve who will fill the slot capably if Bob has to go out of the game for repairs. Floyd Mellon, a tackle, can be shifted to the pivot post if it is found necessary. We doubt if any opponent has a better center corps that the Leeman.

The Prowler "B" squad will journey to Hallock for a game with the Hallock eleven on Saturday. It is said that as the reserves go, so goes the team. This game will give the second stringers additional experience and will give Coach Lee some idea on the strength of his replacements.

A BIT OF ADVICE

Is it the day or is it you
That makes things cloudy or fair
If work and play are rightly mixed
There need be no worry there.

It's the way we think, the way we live
That keeps us looking down;
Just do your best what ere you do
And a smile will banish the frown.

Come let us decide what's right to do,
Then spend all our strength in the doing.
Why waste one's time in useless things
And spend the rest of our lives a rueing?

—Mrs. Blanche Korstad

SEPTEMBER SALLIES

In contrast to the contented cow look on a gum chewing girl's face, little B. Quale looked as though he was having quite a tough time of it Monday P. M. Anyway he was going at it quite vociferously. What would prim Peggy say?

Hector's last speech is still the topic of conversation. Anyone that can just stand up before a large audience and have the crowd rolling in the isles must have something—or maybe he lost it.

Baldy's got glasses! Baldy's got glasses.

Guess maybe there'll be a lot of kids hoppin rides to East Grand tomorrow.

It's just about time that everybody noticed Don (Pedroff) Pederson's new green sweater. How smart he looks (acts) in it. Better becoming to a freshman, me thinks.

Only 86 days till Christmas, kids. Hinteresting isn't it.

Hecky doesn't like to be heckled by freshmen girls when he is trying to listen to the "Hit Parade".

A grieved silence seems to have dropped itself around the Pharmacy and we miss our ray of sunshine, Adele Holmstrom. But not for long we hope. I can sincerely say that we wish her a speedy recovery.

Cheer leaders attention! We are greatly pleased with the choice of the teachers in our behalf and we hope for you a successful career. But we would appreciate a change from the monotonous call phrase, "Are you with me, gang?" We have no suggestions, we are leaving that to you. Thanx.

Most talked of subject—"Hecky's famous last speech," but we hope to hear more because anyone that can stand up on a stage and have the crowd rolling in the aisles as he did must have something, or else he lost it.

It'd probably be a good idea to serve some sardines or a tunafish [illegible] of football games on Friday nights. It's a good brainfood anyway.

Can't help but notice how darn sweet Don Pederson (Sir Pedroff) looks (acts) in his new green sweater. Imagine, coppin' a freshmen's line!

Cheerleaders' attention! We are delighted in the choice of the teachers in our behalf and we wish you lots of success in your careers as cheerleaders. But we are tired of hearing the same call-phrase, "are you with me?" Therefore, we would be utterly pleased and more respondent if you would do something in the way of variety. Thanx.

Just one hundred'n forty-two days 'till Xmas, kids. Hinteresting, isn't it.

Something is sadly amiss because we've lost our ray of sunshine at the Pharmacy. We are sadly grieved but we sincerely hope for your speedy recovery, Adele.

FIRST ASSEMBLY PROGRAM IS HELD

Mr. Rees Presents an Hour of Mystifying Tricks

The first assembly program of the year was held Friday afternoon in the city auditorium at 3 o'clock.

The program consisted of magic and tricks by Mr. Reese. There were approximately ten or eleven acts performed. Probably the most outstanding was the reading and answering of questions. Mr. Reese distributed several slips of paper throughout the audience. Each person receiving one wrote a question on the paper. The questions were collected by a selected girl from the audience and brought to the stage. Mr. Rees held each folded paper to his forehead and read the question aloud. He also gave the answers, two of which proved to be true later on in the day.

Several slight of hand tricks were performed which again proved that the hand is faster than the eye, among which was the ball act in which Mr. Reese produced many more balls from what seemed to us just thin air. Others were the torn paper napkin trick, the shooting of a nickle to the center of a paper ball, and the pulling of a hope through a local boy. Then there was the doubling of the quantity of seeds in the bowl and its changing to water, which never fails to arouse new interest.

Mr. Rees seemed to be "overflowing with jokes" which kept the attention of the students.

The program proved to be very interesting and was immensely enjoyed.

TEACHERS TRAINING

The Teacher Training Department has just been organized. Elmer Doran has been elected president; Caroline Lillevold, vice president; Nellie Ornquist, secretary; and Helen Moen, treasurer.

Two competing kitten-ball teams have been formed with Miss Jorde and Mr. Doran as captains. Miss Jorde has eight players on her team and Mr. Doran has seven players. Mr. Doran's ability is equal to two. (We hope). The games are scheduled to be played after school on the Wednesdays of the next three weeks. They are to be five inning games and to be umpired by Miss Bernice Syverson. Miss Stapleton will act as score-keeper.

For the past two weeks the students of the Training Department have been working on addition flash cards as first equipment for future teaching.

A music class is held every Wednesday afternoon with Miss Nelson as instructor. You can imagine Miss Lillevold (Shorty to you) singing, "Gobble says the turkey"; and Miss Hetland "Ducky Daddle"; and the whole department, "Calling, Dora!"

We have been observing Miss Augur's and Miss Mickelson's kindergarten classes at the Washington, Northrop and Knox schools; Miss Fiskerbeck's first grade reading class; Miss Viola Bredeson's third grade Art Appreciation class. It has been interesting and we all hope to become as efficient teachers as those we have observed.

Nature Study classes have been started in the fall program. We have been on out-of-door excursions examining flowers, trees and birds.

Oh, yes, by the way, alumni news reporter, Mr. Doran isn't the only alumnus taking Normal Training.

Hello, there girls—Greetings! Where were we last week and before? Must a had too much initiating on that big blowout. But now your Josies back again. And weren't them freshies just too cute for words with them paper bags on their heads. And I bet you they had sore feet after walking all of five miles.

And was that picnic fun! The poor cooks sheddin' tears from all that smoke in their eyes. For a second we thot that was the end of poor Joan up in that tree there with the "fire from Heaven". But anyway we had fun didn't we—or did we freshies. Did you all get nough to eat?

Such sprightly misses blossoming out in those pleated green shorts. When they play archery Cupid isn't the only one handy with a bow and arrow. If you want to see some amature Robin Hoods —just toddle over to the gym and see the girls and their archery.

Bye the Bye—we want all you gym josies to get limbered up. The volley ball schedule is set. Here tis:

Tuesday, Freshmen—7:30
Wednesday, Sophomores, 7:15.
Thursday, Juniors and Seniors, 8:15.

There will pile up your points for that silver cup given to one of the "L" girls with the most points above 1,000.

Hello— hello everybody! Where was I when the last issue of the paper came out—(or was it the first issue?) Well— conjure, and here I be—Josie herself! in the kee-utest new green pleated shorts —the kind the Frosh are buying this year, y'know.

And speaking of this year, did yo-all know what our gym-josies are learning a great deal of?—Archery! Yeah—so Prowlers beware! Cupid isn't the only bow and arrow addict. What's more bull's eyes are not infrequent.

Oh yes—and this was fun! The Frosh had to be initiated into the society of G. A. A. with much flourish So—They were gathered together at the appointed time—bound over to the old members and transported to the secret rendezvous where they were subjected to the ceremony which made them full-fledged members of the G. A. A.—Very solemn—very secretive, of, course. Topped off with a hamburger fry and marshmellows, it was really worth repeating—don't you know—(But do ask the frosh josies how much shoe leather is used up in a mile.)

But bye-bye now—Your Josie signing off till next issue, maybe.

INTERVIEW OF MR. REES

Mr. Ben Rees:

Do you always go to high schools for performances? No, colleges and schools of every sort.

What states have you performed in? I perform in cities from Montana as far east as Virginia and south to South Carolina on an average of 396 programs a year.

How many performances do you accomplish in one day? 3 to 4.

What is your next scheduled stop? On Monday I will perform in the Grand Forks schools, Tuesday in Climax and Warren.

Are you married? No.

What is your favorite trick? I like especially to do the slate trick.

By what means do you travel? I always travel by car.

What is your home town? Sutter, North Dakota.

Where did you study magic? There are no schools for magicians, so we pick up our tricks by association with other members of the profession.

Is this your first visit to Thief River Falls? Yes.

What is your opinion of our city? Although I haven't had a chance to look it over, your city seems to be composed of a very sociable group of people. They are much more sociable than the people in the East.

HOMECOMING TO BE INAUGURATED IN HIGH SCHOOL

Bemidji Game Is Designated as First Annual Homecoming

An innovation in high school celebrations, takes form in the proposed "Homecoming Week" The proponents of the plan are convinced that such an undertaking will be the medium for creating additional school spirit.

The week of October 25, prior to the Bemidji game, has been designated for the occasion.

To stimulate interest in the affair, a Homecoming Queen will be elected by the student body. At the end of this article will be found a ballot. Fill in the name of the girl you would like to have as Queen, also the class she is in; as senior, junior, sophomore, or freshman. It is necessary that your vote is in by Monday noon. Deposit your ballots in the box on the assembly desk. The votes will be counted and the eight girls receiving the most will run for queen. These names will be announced in next week's "Progress".

A sale campaign will soon be under way sponsored by the senior class. Small souvenier football pins with the words "Prowler" and "Homecoming", will be printed across the face of the badge. Gold and blue ribbons will be suspended from the football. Arm badges to distinguish Prowler rooters will also be on sale. These are in the shape of a shield and have Prowler written across the top and the face of a panther below. Both of these will go on sale as soon as the shipment arrives.

Other details are now being considered by committees and further developments will be printed next week.

The following is the ballot:

Homecoming Queen

GOVERNOR ORDERS DEER SEASON FOR NOVEMBER 20-25

Eastern Marshall County Is Included in Open Territory

A six-day deer season from November 20 to 25, inclusive, in twelve counties and parts of four others, was proclaimed last week by Governor Benson.

Accepting the recommendations of Herman Wenzel, conservation commissioner, the governor ordered the "emergency" season after a survey of game wardens and other observers indicated an abundant northern deer population was confronted with a possible food shortage this winter. All deer, regardless of age or sex, may be taken.

The open counties: Cook, Lake, St. Louis, Koochiching, Pine, Aitkin, Carlton, Hubbard, Clearwater, Lake of the Woods, Beltrami, Roseau, northern half of Kanabec, all of Cass north of the north boundary of Crow Wing, all of Kittson and Marshall counties east of the Soo Line.

Counties Take Over Mothers Aid Payments

Beginning this month, administration of aid to dependent children, better known as "mothers' aid," has been transferred from juvenile courts to county welfare boards throughout Minnesota. The transfer is in accordance with a law provided by the 1937 legislature creating county welfare boards, the Minnesota Taxpayers Association points out. About 4,900 families with approximately 12,500 children now receive such grants amounting to $1,600,000 annually, which is paid entirely by counties. The new law divides the cost between county, state, and federal governments, each paying one-third, and approximately $2,200,000 a year will now be available for such grants, the Minnesota Taxpayers Association points out.

H. I. Frisbie, Former WPA Engineer, Is Given Sentence at Bemidji

H. I. Frisbie, WPA area engineer, who at one time was located in Thief River Falls and Bemidji, was found guilty of appropriating state and federal funds by signing names other than his own on government and state checks. The jury brought in a charge of guilty before Judge A. L. Thwing of Grand Rapids who is presiding at district court in Bemidji. He was given an indeterminate sentence of from one to twenty years. Frisbie claimed that he was cashing the checks for a Joe Simmers whom he later paid the money to. The defense could not present the man mentioned by Frisbie as a witness.

N. Y. CONVENTION OF LEGION ENDS LAST THURSDAY

Massachusetts Man Named National Commander at Last Session

In a thunderous last session, the American Legion at its national convention in New York elected Daniel Doherty, of Woburn, Mass., as its national commander Thursday after recommending vast increases in the United States military establishment which would give the nation the largest navy in the world and bring the standing army to 180,000.

The 19th Legion conventin, too, hit obliquely at violence in labor disputes and sharply underlined its reaffirmation of the rights of personal liberty and private property.

Upon other issues it took an expected stand, denouncing Communism, Fascism and Nazism, and urging national legislation "that will punish American citizens who advocate overthrow of our government by force, fraud or violence, and deport all aliens who so advocate such overthrow."

The election was the high spot of everything since the spectacular, record-breaking Fifth avenue parade of Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Doherty's victory over his strongest opponent, Ray Kelly of Detroit, became obvious as Virginia's spokesman shouted out "18 for Doherty!" and when Washington state was called next, Stephen Cradwick of Seattle, who himself had been put in nomination, cast Washington's 23 votes for Doherty.

Don't Sell Gasoline to Drunks, Is Request of Safety Project Leader

An appeal to all gasoline station employees throughout the entire state of Minnesota to refuse to sell gasoline to drivers who are unmistakably intoxicated was made today by W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the state highway department.

"The co-operation of filling station workers and owners has been solicited by safety groups and automobile clubs in other parts of the country and hundreds of oil station companies have pledged to withhold gasoline from drivers who are visibly drunk," the state safety chief said. "I urge oil stations in Minnesota to join in such a drive. Automobile clubs and the chambers of commerce of the various towns could do a fine turn for motoring safety by requesting the gasoline trade in their communities to aid in this move to keep potential killers off the highway."

"I do not favor unofficial informers generally," Mr. Rosenwald said, "but it would seem to me to be a fair thing if oil station employees, or any private citizen, would also report drunken drivers to the police when their condition makes them a menace to life and limb on our streets or highways."

Legion Band Members in Crookston Last Sunday

FINDERS NOT ALWAYS KEEPERS, MAN LEARNS

Canby.—"Finders keepers; losers weepers," decided a farmer residing west of here when he saw a wad of bills drop to the floor in a local store, but within a short time he learned that "finders" are not always "keepers." He picked up the money and slipped it into his pocket, unobserved—he thought. A clerk in the store, however, had seen Frank Millard, a customer, drop the money and had also seen the other man pick it up. When Mr. Millard asked him to return the bills he said he had spent all but ten dollars which he returned. The remaining fifteen dollars were obtained later by a policeman.

SUMMONING OF DISTRICT COURT JURY DEFERRED

Judge to Meet With Attorneys Monday to Set New Date

NO CASES REPORTED READY FOR TRIAL

Several Cases Settled Out of Court or Otherwise Disposed of Petit jurors who had been summoned to appear Monday for duty in the October term of Pennington county district court were notified early this week not to appear until further notice, Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund announced. Judge M. A. Brattland has arranged to meet with attorneys next Monday to decide when or if the jury shall be summoned.

Deferring the summoning of jurors was due to the fact that none of the attorneys in cases on the calendar expressed their readiness to have the actions get under way October 11, the date scheduled for the assembling of the jury. Several cases also have been settled out of court.

At the opening of the term at the court house last Monday, with Judge Brattland presiding, it was announced that the cases of Torjus Hemmestvedt vs. Arthur B. Hanson et al. and Christ Paulson vs. Hans R. Stengaard and Peter R. Stengaard had been settled out of court, while the action of Bessie L. Hill vs. Burtis W. Hill was stricken from the calendar. The case of the State of Minnesota vs. Donald Houfek was continued over the term.

Mr. Evenson sustained several broken ribs, possible skull fracture and a laceration above his right eye.

University Farm Will Present Special Exhibit of Sheep

Sheep men who attend the Pennington county ram sale and exchange day at the fair grounds in Thief River Falls Tuesday, October 12, will see a special exhibit of sheep from the Minnesota agricultural experiment station, University Farm, that have been fed on Red River Valley feeds.

The county agent, Howard E. Grow, says these 12 lambs were purchased in the Valley and then fed out experimentally at University Farm this summer on Valley-grown alfalfa and prairie hay. Seeing these sheep and hearing the results of the trial explained will answer the questions, "What is a suitable ration for wintering sheep in the Red River Valley?" "Is phosphate needed?" and "Must extra protein be supplied?"

One of the extension livestock specialists will be on hand to report the experimental trials and to talk on the selections of breeding sheep and general lamb feeding and management problems. With such a program and the opportunity to look over the rams that will be offered for sale, this event promises to be of unusual interest and value to every sheep breeder, says the county agent.

High quality, purebred Hampshire and Shropshire rams consigned from several prominent breeders will be available for inspection and purchase at prices quoted by the breeder. No one will be under obligation to buy, but those making purchases will be required to make full settlement at the time of purchase. Part of the purchase price, however, will be withheld from the breeder until registration papers are delivered.

The sale will begin at 10 o'clock and close at 4:00. Every farmer needing a ram or who is interested in better sheep is invited to be present.

Wrestling Giants to Battle it Out Friday

[illegible]signed Corn Palace

RUSSELL ANDERSON

Who created the design for the highly attractive corn palace which today stands completed in front of the arena, and which will be dedicated with appropriate exercises this evening. In addition to designing the structure, Mr. Anderson has been active in supervising its construction, a large part of the work being done by volunteer labor.

Lou Plummer, the old riot maker and the most villainous of wrestling villains, will furnish plenty of fireworks at the wrestling show to be held Friday night at the Thief River Falls Auditorium under auspices of the American Legion in co-operation with the fall festival committee. Lou will meet Glen Undlin, a tough boy from Chicago who has been through some rough going himself, and who is large enough and rugged enough to let "Leering Lou" cut loose without any danger of mayhem being committed.

Plummer won his match in Minneapolis Tuesday with Mayes McLain and also won the right to meet Bronko Nagurski, world's champion in the near future. In his match Tuesday Plummer won the fall in 38:12 when McLain lunged at him and missed. The force of the block sent the Indian heavily into the ropes, almost knocking the wind out of him. Lou quickly picked up McLain and bounced his back over the supporting steel braces. He repeated the performance several times and McLain dropped limp to the floor with Plummer on top of him for the fall.

George Sauer, of Lincoln, Nebraska who also appears here Friday night, won his match in a record time of 59 seconds on the same card Tuesday against Lou Steinu of New York. Sauer will take on Karl Koopman, of Minneapolis as a semi-final on the local show Friday, and Frank Topas of Minneapolis will tangle with Pete Frosia of St. Paul in the quarter finals. Red Melvie of Viking and Swede Hendrickson of Oklee will add some local color to the affair when they perform in the preliminaries.

Reserved seats for the show have been moving rapidly and a capacity house is looked for by the committee in charge. A. F. Berge has announced that he still has some good ringside seats available and that the box office in the Auditorium will open at 6:30 Friday night. Doors to the huge Auditorium will open at 7 P. M. when several hundred general admission seats will be available. The show will get under way at 8:30 P. M.

Medical School FOUR YEARS

The four years required Medical School study is divided approximately as follows:

1st Year—The future Doctor of Medicine must master the fundamental science of the human body: such as Embryology (development of human being); Physiology (study of all organs in health); Anatomy (study of body structure in health); Histology (microscopic study).

2nd Year—Intensified form of above studies. Beginnings of study of Pathology (effect of diseases on various organs); Diagnosis (comparison of diseased organs to healthy).

3rd Year—Under trained instructors and practicing physicians, the embryonic Doctor begins to meet patients, watching actual clinical practice, diagnosis and treatment, working from nine to twelve hours a day, six days a week for thirty-six weeks.

4th Year—Continuation of third year, constant training in rational treatment based on careful examination and diagnosis. The student is required to be responsible for twenty or more prenatal cases, and attend delivery under supervision of a specialist.

After completion of these four years, he goes through stringent examinations before being allowed to graduate. Medical Schools, Medical Associations and the laws of your State all are constantly working together to prepare your Doctor to be more competent and thorough!

FIRST TIME MEET FOR TWO COUSINS

Luverne.—A strange drama of coincidence was unfolded at Steen last week when two cousins, neither of whom knew of the other's existence, met for the first time. Mrs. Jack Denekamp of Middlepark, N. J. came to Steen to visit at the home of the Rev. Wm. DeJong and chanced to remark that she had no relatives in this country except a cousin of whom she had lost all trace. Upon mentioning the name Mrs. Denekamp learned to her surprise that the cousin was a Steen woman, Mrs. Frank Wassenaar. Had it not been for the eastern visitor's chance remark, the two women, who are second cousins, would never have known their relationship.

Man Bound Over After Alleged Clothing Theft From Two Local Stores

Appearing at a preliminary hearing in municipal court Tuesday afternoon to answer to a second degree grand larceny charge, James Waddell, giving his address as Birmingham, Alabama, was bound over to district court, and his bond was set at $1,000. His arrest grew out of the alleged theft from two local stores Saturday evening of a quantity of clothing, including three pair of trousers, three shirts, a leather coat and gloves. The garments were later recovered after being found in the possession of Albert Kumnala, who gave his address as Cromwell, Minnesota. Kumnala was brought before Judge Lincoln Arnold in municipal court Wednesday, when a preliminary hearing was adjourned for ten days.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

MANY HANDS MADE THE WORK LIGHT

There is an old text book adage to the effect that many hands make the work light. The building of the corn palace has proven the old adage right. Many hands accomplished a tremendous amount of work in the short period of two and one-half weeks and the result is a really outstanding community accomplishment.

In every sense of the word the corn palace is a community achievement. Hundreds of residents of the city and neighboring farm territory co-operated in its building. While a few individuals undoubtedly deserve special recognition, to distribute such recognition fairly would be impossible. So we won't attempt it. The only reward of those who have given so liberally of their time will be the satisfaction they derive from having helped. In most cases that reward will be sufficient.

It might be proper to make just one exception in this case. It will not detract from the sacrifice of any other individual to suggest a round of cheers to Russell Anderson, the young man who designed the building and superintended its construction. What little sleep he has gotten during the past two weeks he must have taken on the run because it has seemed to us that he has been on the job twenty-four hours a day and for a remuneration that under no circumstances could be called compensation. So a round of cheers and a tiger to Mr. Anderson for bringing the project through on schedule time and in such a creditable manner.

Outside of this the thing will speak for itself. Judging from the comments we have already heard we know that the reaction of visitors to our city during Corn Palace Days will be favorable. So let's enter into the spirit of the occasion and celebrate. There's a long winter ahead of us and it will be a long time before another harvest is out of the way.

No community ever had two finer citizens than Walt and Herb Jung. It took us several years to get well enough acquainted with them to know which was Herb and which was Walt but after we did learn to distinguish one from the other we discovered it really wasn't important after all. They are both good public spirited citizens and we are going to really enjoy dropping in for coffee and doughnuts at their expense Saturday.

One more week of dry weather would mean a lot to us up here in this corner of the state. One more week of threshing would clean up all of the late flax and sweet clover and convert a lot of otherwise useless shocks into money.

In the present trying international crisis, our country is fortunate in having at the head of its diplomatic service such a man as Cordell Hull. At any rate he has impressed us as being particularly able, in spite of the fact that, in our opinion, his reciprocal trade treaties are detrimental to agriculture. He handles himself well, however. He's about the only administration spokesman in Washington who can discuss national problems without calling his opponents vile names. Under all circumstances he has conducted himself in a statesmanlike and gentlemanly manner and as far as we're concerned, whatever he thinks we should do about the international situation, we're for him.

HAVE THE DAIRYMEN STRUCK IT RICH?
(Northfield News)

"Laugh and the world laughs with you" seems to be the motto of those optimistic souls who see in the season's good harvest the high prosperity and complete emancipation of the farmer. It is well enough to get excited about the crops and to find satisfaction in improved agricultural conditions, but it is also well to keep in mind the true state of affairs. The facts are all too obvious that farmers are not yet overwhelmed by prosperity.

Take the dairy marketing conditions for example. Storage stocks of butter on August 1 had increased 25% over a year ago to a total of 124,000,000 pounds, with production increasing. While the sales of butter in June were lower than last year, the sales of oleomargarine increased two million pounds to a total of 27,585,954 pounds, altho the total oleomargarine sales for the first six months of the year were five million pounds less than during the same period last year. Cheese in cold storage has greatly increased, as have evaporated milk stocks and skim milk stocks.

Citing these facts, the Bulletin of the Twin City Milk Producers association comments as follows: "Taking 1910 to 1914 as a base all articles bought by farmers on June 15 of this year cost 131 or 31% above the base. On the other hand the purchasing power of dairy products was only 87. Purchasing power of dairy products is lower than the purchasing power of other farm products. Legislation has increased the cost of the products the dairyman buys, while it has done very little if anything to raise the price of dairy products."

These are not pleasant facts, but they have to be faced if the problem of dairying, as one branch of the great agricultural industry that is out of line, are to be solved. Optimism surely has its place, but it should not obscure the true state of affairs, least of all in the field of government and economics.

The number of unemployed decreases but slowly. You see, so many men disagree with their boss about politics.—Faribault Daily News.

The nations of the world are agreed on only one thing. That is that Japan needs a licking and that some other nation ought to give it to her.—Hobson (Mont.) Star.

After Senator Guffey made his close-of-session speech threatening to weed out of the Democratic party those senators who voted against the Supreme Court enlargement bill, Senator Connally of Texas was asked whether he thought Guffey should resign as chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee. The first murder in the Middle West or West by an "infernal machine," now known as a bomb, occurred in June of 1856 in Cincinnati. A small box was received at the Marine hospital, and when it exploded, it killed two persons and shattered the room in which it was opened. After an investigation and some sleuthing by the police, a man was arrested, convicted and sentenced to the gallows.

LOCAL CITIZENS HEAR PRESIDENT AT GRAND FORKS

Auxiliary Drum Corps and High School Band Share in Reception

Greeted by a huge crowd from thruout Eastern North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota, President Franklin D. Roosevelt spent three hours in Grand Forks Monday morning and spoke at the dedication of the new WPA-constructed grandstand at the Grand Forks fair grounds.

Present to get a glimpse of the nation's chief executive was a large delegation from Thief River Falls and other nearby localities. The local delegation included the Legion auxiliary drum and bugle corps and the Lincoln high school band, both of which units performed during the morning.

Twenty thousand farmers and city folks alike, jammed into the state fair grounds, heard the President insist in positive terms that quick passage of a control bill is necessary to national well being. He speculated whether the supreme court might approve a bill saying to the farmer: "If you do thus and so, the government will do thus and so," although he saw little "practical difference" between that and the old AAA, which the court held illegal.

Toward the end of having a law in time for planting of all major crops next year, he hinted strongly a special session of congress would be called, but aides warned the speech did not commit him to that.

D., 3 sisters, Mrs. Ole Tharaldson of Glenwood, Mrs. Axel Almquist of Minneapolis and Mrs. Carl Benhardson of Czar, Alb., Can.; and three grandchildren. Her father, one brother, and two sisters preceded her in death.

CITY SET FOR CORN PALACE FESTIVAL OPENING TONIGHT

by Emmet Wright, in charge of this portion of the program.

The wrestling program Friday evening, details of which are given elsewhere in this issue, will get under way in the Auditorium at 8:30 and will feature a match between "Leering Lou" Plummer of Baltimore and Glen Undlin, Chicago piledriver.

The pet parade will be the big event Saturday afternoon, getting under way at the corn palace at 2 o'clock and making a circle of the business district. In preparation for the event, children are already beginning to brush and groom their pets and rehearse their tricks. Several hundred entries are expected, and there will be gifts for all contestants. Participating in the parade will be the Warren, Red Lake Falls and Lincoln high school bands.

Additional music Saturday will be provided by the Legion auxiliary drum corps and by the Ninth District band, which will arrive in the city in the afternoon and will spend the evening here.

The outstanding event Saturday night will be the crowning of a Corn Palace queen and a Miss Thief River Falls as the climax to a voting contest which has been under way the past several weeks under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The ceremony will take place in the course of a gala dance in the arena.

The streets of the city have been gaily decorated for the occasion with colored lights, while the buildings are festooned with bunting and banners, presenting a most pleasing appearance.

DUCK HUNTERS ARE SET FOR START OF SEASON SATURDAY

Shooting Permitted Until November 7, Director Announces

Duck hunters are anxiously waiting for the zero hour Saturday morning when the 30-day season gets under way. Shooting will be permitted from October 9 to November 7, from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. each day, both dates inclusive.

State game wardens have been instructed to make every effort to enforce federal regulations pertaining to hunting of migratory waterfowl this season particularly with reference to protected ducks, Harry E. Speakes, director of the division of game and fish, announced today.

"Wood ducks, ruddy ducks, bufflehends, redheads and canvasbacks are the ducks afforded complete protection by both federal and state regulations this fall. It is illegal also to take swans and greater and lesser yellowlegs.

"Federal authorities are concerned with threatened extinction of certain species of wild ducks and as a consequence full protection was given these ducks throughout the country", Mr. Speakes said. "We cannot alter these regulations and must make every effort to see that hunters observe them.

"There is considerable difficulty in distinguishing the various species of wild ducks while in flight so hunters should familiarize themselves with markings and flight characteristics of the protected ducks. It should be borne in mind that redhead and canvasback ducks are partial to lakes where wild celery abounds."

"Duck hunters must provide themselves with both state small game hunting license and federal duck stamp costing one dollar," Director Speakes cautioned. "The duck stamp must be validated with signature written in ink across the face. Duck stamps must be secured by all duck hunters 16 years old or over.

The daily bag limit for migratory waterfowl is 15 birds in the aggregate of all kinds of which number not more than 10 shall be ducks, not more than four shall be geese, not more than 12 shall be Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe and not more than 12 shall be a combination of rails and gallinules.

The possession limit for migratory game birds is 30 in the aggregate of all kinds of which not more than 10 shall be ducks, not more than five shall be geese, not more than 25 shall be coots, not more than 15 shall be Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe and not more than 15 shall be a combination of rails and gallinules.

New Schedule of Fees for Caring for Relief Clients Is Announced

A new schedule of fees for medical care of relief clients has been mailed this week to county welfare boards and relief workers in all counties receiving state aid by State Relief Administrator L. P. Zimmerman.

This new schedule for the first time names standard fees for services and issues standard instructions to be followed by all relief workers without exception in aiding the needy in their districts to secure medical and hospital care.

It differs in several important particulars from the old FERA schedule, the famed "Number 7", issued from Washington early in the history of federal relief. Hospital care is permitted according to the new schedule and certain definite amounts are set for payment of hospital fees.

The right of the patient to choose his own physician is also specifically stated in the instructions to county workers. This right is guaranteed in the new relief bill passed at the last session of the Legislature which permits to relief clients a choice of vendor for any approved products or services, provided the vendor in each case abides by the regulations.

BORROWING BOOTS CLASSED AS SIN?

Minnesota.—Borrowing a book and not returning it has become the "pardonable sin" in these United States, but to borrow a man's boots and forget to return them—well, how would you classify that act in the category of earthly sins? Virgil Gislason, a Minnesota man, would like to know. Some months or weeks ago (he's rather vague as to the time) Virgil lent his boots to a friend, and proceeded promptly to forget about the incident. What's worse, he's even forgotten the identity of the friend—and that eliminates the use of the old scare gag that "the party is known." The fact is, it took the approach of chilly fall days and the prospect of pheasant hunting to bring the matter to mind. And in the meantime Mystery Man walks to and fro, probably wearing Virgil's boots, and probably not. All of which is by way of saying that, unless the borrowing friend is a real friend, and responds to a gentle request for their return, Virgil is out a pair of good boots.

SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD HAS OFFICE IN GRAND FORKS

To Serve Pennington and 7 Other Counties in Minnesota

Announcement of the opening of the Grand Forks field office of the social security board in the post-office building was made today by Fred M. Wilcox, regional director of the board in Minneapolis. This is the third unit of the social security board to be established in North Dakota, the other offices being in Fargo and Minot.

The Grand Forks office will serve residents of sixteen counties in North Dakota and eight counties in Minnesota. In Minnesota, the counties to be served are Kittson, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, and Roseau. It is estimated by the social security board that there are 32,442 persons living in this area who are included in the federal old-age benefits system.

In common with all field offices of the Social Security Board, Mr. Wilcox stated that the Grand Forks office will have three main functions:

To assist claimants and to provide forms for the filing of claims for lump sum and death benefits now payable under the Social Security Act.

To distribute blanks to employers and employees wishing to file applications for social security account numbers or identification numbers, and to assist persons in filling out such blanks. Mail applications for account numbers will be received and forwarded to Fargo for completion for the time being, but numbers applied for personally will be issued at the Grand Forks office.

To answer inquiries on Federal old-age benefits from employers, employees, and the general public.

The Board's office will have no jurisdiction over social security taxes, Mr. Wilcox said. Persons in Minnesota wanting information or blanks for the payment of taxes should communicate with the collector of internal revenue, St. Paul.

Those who brood over things, usually hatch out something.

[illegible] DECEIVES MANY OLIVIA PERSONS

Olivia.—"Somebody had better set their watch," was the remark passed along the street here one afternoon at 5:30, when a long blast of the village siren seemed to indicate an error in time, but turned out to be a fire alarm. While several short blasts of the siren represent a regular fire alarm, the change of signal to indicate the fire was out of the village limits caused confusion because it sounded so near store closing time. The incident was all the more puzzling when the church Sexton began to ring the church bell in a manner customary for years at the hour of six o'clock. Although business was about to suspend for the day, closing time was not expected as soon as siren and bell ringers had business men to believe.

PROWLERS WIN OVER E. G. FORKS 25 TO 0 FRIDAY

Local Aerial Attack Defeats Green Wave

Last Friday the Prowlers kept their slate clean when they added another victory to their growing list by defeating the Little Green Wave by 25-0.

The golden-clad boys showed a marked improvement in their offense although the punt receiving is definitely below standard. East Grand Forks also seemed to have little trouble in working a reverse through the line, many times being stopped from a touchdown only by Prowler backfield men who came to the assistance of the line. However, Coach Lee's boys proved to the East side supporters, and others, that their reputation of being a good, flashy aggregation is not just a rumor. In the opening minutes of play Lorentson snagged a neat pass from Nesse and when he was hit by a rival tackler tossed a neat lateral to Quale. The latter ran unmolested over the goal line for the first touchdown of the game. Again in the last quarter Nesse completed a forward pass to Quale, who again scored. Lorentson, rather unexpectedly, followed suit a few minutes later, thus giving the Prowlers three of their four touchdowns as a result of forward passes. The other counter came in the last period when Booren plunged through the line from the six-yard marker.

Several articles have appeared in northwest papers commenting very favorably on the Prowler's elaborate passing attack and on butter-fingered ends missing but few balls. True, Coach Lee has developed a good aerial attack but as yet the receiving is far from what it is pictured to be in some of these glowing accounts. In their first game of the season, with Red Lake Falls, the locals fired sixteen forward passes completing nine of them. Against Crookston twenty passes were thrown and seven rested safely in a teammate's arms. In the contest with the Little Green Wave the Prowlers threw twenty-two, completing six. This gives a total for the three games of fifty-eight passes thrown and twenty-six successfully. The Prowler's opponents of the first three contests have thrown a total of thirteen passes and of these have completed only three. The locals intercepted five, and the remaining five fell incomplete. From these facts and figures it is evident that the local's pass defense rather than their aerial attack, is above average.

East Grand Forks found this to be true after the Prowlers knocked down three of their six passes and intercepted the other three. The Wave's main asset seemed to be in the form of Hanson, a diminutive back who several times carried the ball for substantial gains. Raymond and Larson, two more backfield men played leading parts in the opponents offense.

The Prowlers were credited with twelve first downs in contrast to East Grand's three.

The starting line-ups:

Prowlers		East Side
Quale	LE	Peterson
Stadum	LT	Johnson
Eide	LG	Gardner
Hanson	C	Johnston
Johnson	RG	Crumley
Mattson	RT	Olson
Lorentson	RE	Baker
Booren	QB	Larson
Nesse	LH	McGowan
Brodeson	RH	Raymond
Caldis	FB	Kniesacker

Touchdowns: Prowlers—Quale 2, Booren 1, Lorentson 1.

Conversions: Quale 1 out of 4.

Penalties: Against Thief River Falls—4 amounting to 30 yards. Against E. G. F. none.

Juniors Hold Meeting To Pick Years Officers

The junior class held a meeting Thursday afternoon to elect class officers and class advisors. This meeting was presided over by Ralph Gustafson, last years president. Those selected were Loren Stadum, president, Joan Dahlquist, vice president, Clifford Lunke, treasurer and Martha Havel, secretary. It was evident that the juniors like their athletics as Mr. Gabrielson and Miss Helquist were over-whelmingly elected as advisors.

Tuesday afternoon, members of the senior class chose their class ring. A committee composed of Clarice Berg, Edna Jorde, Mary Chommie, Margaret McKechnie, Robert Smith, Raymond Altoff, Erling Melby and Roy Lee chose two rings from each of four companies. The class then selected the ring of which the majority approved. The rings will be ordered from the Josten Company through Mr. Wangenstien.

Juniors and sophomores divide honors—in members with a yew for the "paws up" game—about the same number each—with Marcella Johnson handling the soph's and Ellen Halos keeping the Juniors on the top line.

Your schedule, Volleyballers is:
Tuesday—frosh—7:30.
Wednesday—sophs—7:15
Wednesday—Juniors—8:15.

And judging by first response on a cold and clammy night—we're agoing to go places.

Did you know, gals—that from this day forward your record—good, bad, or indifferent, will be placed on cards and filed away in a cabinet? Yup—forever —or at least ten years—mebbe for your grandchildren's inspiration. Frinstance if you tell Josie Am you were Posture Girl or "glamorous" all athlete—you had better be sure it was on the books—She could check up.

NOMINATIONS FOR QUEEN ANNOUCED

Five Are Chosen to Run For Queen, Ten for Attendants

With less than one month remaining in which to complete arrangements for the first Homecoming celebration, the various committees are busy formulating plans to make the affair a success.

One of the greatest steps in that direction has been made this week. The results in the nomination for the Homecoming queen and her attendants have been tabulated and are as follows:

For queen: Margaret Jacobson, Yvonne Anderson, Margaret McKechnie, Lorraine Baken, Fae Belcher, Lorraine Amundson.

For attendants: Dorothy Roberge, Adeline Lorentson, Anna Hanson, Marcella Ruane, Joyce Olson, Joyce Bennes, Elaine Douglas, Frances Stenberg, Dorothy Borgen, Adelaide Peterson.

The Queen and two attendants will be selected from these candidates in a final vote to be made soon.

The homecoming badges and arm insignias have been sent for and should arrive soon. They will be put on sale at a price that every student can afford.

Committees on decoration and entertainment have been selected and are already working in order to make the celebration the most spectacular in the history of our school. Indicative factors now point to an occasion destined to become an annual affair.

THRU THE KEYHOLE

And does that L. H. S. band ever "get around". Warren on Saturday, Grand Forks on Monday, and Bemidji pretty quick. You better get you a piccolo and start in now.

A bit of advice not to be ignored girls and boys when you leave your own fair city—remain loyal to your home town guys and gals —or the consequences may be disastrous.

And who was Don I. cruising around with on Sunday Eve— at that romantic spot known as the cemetery? I'll just bet it was a gurrrell—

Time rolls on! Gee—ma we only want seventy-five per—not every one makes it to Warren in 20 minutes and Grand Forks in 40 minutes.

—Too little sleep just don't agree with us—Fri., Sat., Sun., Mon.— No, I can't stay in next week and miss that gigantic festival but then there's another week.

EDITORIAL

At the pep fest some time ago Lincoln High School faculty selected three competent cheer leaders, Joan Dahlquist, Elaine Douglas, and Marjorie Helquist to guide Prowler rooters through the 1937-1938 season. We have the leaders but we have yet to show that this school will support the leaders with the pep which is requested by these pep leaders. Why doesn't the student body and the rest of the football fans support the Prowlers with a showy demonstration of enthusiasm?

Our football agregation has played and won three contests handily, without hardly a voice raised in encouragement or praise for the straining gridders who were fighting to win for you. There was always a sufficient crowd present at these games to give their vocal support but with the usual result—silence. We hope it will not always be thus.

What will your reaction be if the valiant Leeman are found in the shadows of their goal posts fighting against defeat. Are you going to sit back and bite your fingernails instead of cheering in unison to instill pep in the team. Of all times, that is the time they need your encouragement. What will your reaction be when the Prowlers are knocking at the opponents goal line, when only one yard is between the team and victory? That is when the going is toughest for the offensive. A lot of pep will aid to put the score across. It will assure the team that the fans are behind them, confident of success. The nervous tension of the squad will be lowered and your support will be rewarded.

The next time our cheer leaders solicit your support, whether it be at a pep fest or at a football game, show that our high school has a peppy student body to match the progressive Prowlers. Let's help to make the task of these cheer leaders an easier one with a willing and vibrant exhibition of real pep.

LOCAL BAND GOES TO GRAND FORKS

Warren Invites High School For Annual Hamburger Day

The Lincoln High School band, under the direction of Mr. Riggs, combined work and pleasure last Saturday when they journeyed to Warren to take part in Warren's Hamburger Festival. The Band, wearing their uniforms, took part in the parade at ten o'clock in the morning, gave a concert in the park at four o'clock, and played in a massed band concert in the evening. The Alvarado, Warren, Stevens and Thief River Falls school bands took part in the celebration.

Monday the band was indeed thrilled when they went to Grand Forks to play selections when President Roosevelt visited that city. A band was stationed on each street corner and played selections while the preparations were being made for the President's tour through Grand Forks and East Grand Forks. All the band members were given an opportunity to see the president.

The band's activities are not ended by any means. They will play in the parade next Saturday at the corn festival, and they have been invited to give a concert on October twenty-first at the Northern Minnesota Education Association in Bemidji and are going to play at the P. T. A. meeting on the 18th of this month. Besides these engagements, the band will play at the remaining football games to be held in Thief River Falls.

DROPS IN THE BUCKET

It must be the uniforms that got them—we mean those snazzy Scotch Cadets from Winnipeg and generous too! Take a squint at the classy uniform buttons those three Senior girls are flashing about!

Who was the little trumpet player (boy) who yelled, "Hi-ya Frank!" as President Roosevelt rode by?

We really do like those flashy shirts the boys are wearing even if they do look like Bemidji's lumberjacks.

Autumn seems to bring out the love of nature in some of our football players, right, Cliff L., Jewell S., Wes. J., and Ray B.

Well, Yvonne, all we can say is that you've got something there and you are pretty darn lucky.

It might even come to hair pulling and stuff—yea, we mean this election for Homecoming queen— but anyway its lots of fun.

Seems as though one of our foremost romances has been continually omitted from our scandal, but never again especially since it concerns "Squirt" A. and Floyd N.

Betcha a lot of "fish" can tell about being packed in like sardines over the week-end. If you can't believe it, just ask us!

PROWLING AROUND

Austin Shanahan, the elusive Prowler ball toter, has certainly arrived in a big way. In a hilarious ruckus at Hallock last Saturday the newest Prowler surprise reeled off three touchdowns, all on long runs. The game, which the Prowlers "B"s copped 32 to 0 was a rough encounter with almost every statute in the football rulebook being violated. All in all, the contest gave the Prowler reserves some much needed experience which will come in handy when they collide with a Fosston eleven on Saturday. Fosston received a bruising defeat recently from the Warren "A" team out should give the local "B"s a sterner test.

At last, the Prowlers are receiving some attention in outside circles. In the Grand Forks Herald, Fred J. O'Neil accords Coach Lee and his passing combination Nesse, Lorentson and Quale much praise. Mr. O'Neil regards this "passing and catching" trio the best he has seen in high school circles for three years. That takes in a lot of territory. The Herald columnist would have enjoyed an additional eyeful if Clark Mickelson, the third high grade end, had been given a real chance at the ball shagging art. Mick doesn't possess the driving power of Lorentson or Quale so he is therefore relegated to a substitutes role but he can be depended on to hold his own with any end in the district.

The Prowlers will see a back that is regarded as one of the finest all-around men in eastern North Dakota when they face Grafton. He is diminutive Ray Morgan, a passer, punter and ball carrier of high brand. Besides Morgan, the Grafton Stalwarts are Jean LaMorre, center, Walter Zinke, tackle, Ted Dahl, end and Johnny Bergh, halfback. Outside of these, there is little to fear in the North Dakotans lineup but the pessimistic Prowlers fear these may be sufficient to stop the vaunted Lincolnites attack. Your columnist is going out on the limb by predicting a Prowler victory by at least two touchdowns.

PROWLER ELEVEN TO MEET STRONG GRAFTON TEAM

Ranks Among Strongest Teams to Meet Prowlers

After hurdling two major stumbling blocks, George Lee's "marauding Prowlers" will attempt to scale perhaps the greatest obstacle in their path toward an undefeated season when they tangle with Grafton, Friday.

Although Leo May's boys do not boast a very auspicious record to date with a loss to Wahpeton and a 0-0 draw with Grand Forks, they are just now rounding into form and will be out to avenge last season's setback at the hands of the Prowlers.

The gridders from out Grafton way again flaunt a stout line and a flashy backfield, paced this year by diminutive Ray Morgan, who has proven on numerous occasions to be a touchdown threat.

The Lincoln team that last year humbled the "Spoilers" is this year almost intact, whereas the Grafton squad was greatly depleted by graduation. The Grafton squad was greatly depleted by graduation. The Grafton game has repeatedly been a hard fought tussle, last year being the first time in a long stretch that the locals have upset the dopsters by tripping the highly touted Grafton eleven.

Prowler hopes will be strengthened by the probable return of Carl Sundberg burley tackle, to the lineup. None of the local players participating in the East Grand Forks game were injured to any extent and the team should be in fine condition for the tussle.

With successive wins over Red Lake Falls, Crookston, and East Grand Forks, the home team will be out to make their victory string four straight at the expense of Grafton.

American Boy Introduces A New Football Game

In the early fall issues of THE AMERICAN BOY there'll be presented the story of a new game—six-man football—fast as professional football, wide open as basketball, thrilling as hockey!

The game came to life through the need of small schools for some substitute for 11-man football, which was too expensive. Stephen Epler, a Nebraska graduate student in athletics, developed the game of six-man football to meet this need. In six-man football anybody can score, the possibility of injury from mass plays is minimized, and the game is open enough for spectators to follow every exciting development.

The new game is a hit. New schools are taking it up every day. In coming issues THE AMERICAN BOY tells the world about this practical new game. In addition, it presents The American Boy Official Handbook, which can be obtained from the magazine at 20 cents a copy, or 15 cents when bought in bulk.

NOTE: Subscription prices of THE AMERICAN BOY will be raised in the near future. Send your subscription order at once to take advantage of the bargain rates now in effect: one year at $1.00, or three years at $2.00. Foreign subscriptions 50c a year extra. Send your name, address and remittance to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. On newsstands the price is 15c a copy.

PLANT TREE SEED THIS FALL, URGES N. W. SCHOOL HEAD

Can Establish Tree Nurseries at Slight Expense, Says McCall

Farmers who need trees for shelter or ornamental planting should take advantage of the heavy seed crop of green ash species and gather the seeds now before they are lost, according to Superintendent T. M. McCall, of the Northwest School, Crookston.

Farmers who have been cooperating with county agents, Northwest School students, and 4-H club members who have been planting the seeds are getting excellent tree nurseries established at no appreciable cost. The potential possibilities of one bushel of ash or other tree seed are greater than many people imagine.

Superintendent McCall reports that one bushel of ash seed planted on a farm near Crookston produced more than five thousand seedling trees when planted in a garden plot 12x132 ft. Five thousand trees planted in rows of a windbreak 6x8 feet would plant approximately three acres of land. Many 4-H club members who planted four-ounce packets of ash seed sent out in 1935 produced more than two hundred trees on small plots of a few square feet.

Green ash and boxelder can be planted directly in a seedling row this fall. It is best to delay planting until late October or early November before the ground freezes. Rodents may prove troublesome to early fall planted seeds. Many tree seeds such as Russian olive and nut seeds can be stored in sand and other seeds stored dry; however, for the tree planter with but little time available the fall planting is best.

Check Your Car Exhaust for Gas Escaping Fumes

"Beware of carbon monoxide, the stealthy killer!" This is the cold weather warning issued by W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the state highway department.

"Check your heater and exhaust connections carefully and regularly," Mr. Rosenwald admonishes. "The deadly gas, which is odorless and subtle, creeps on a car driver in a closed auto or garage without warning of any kind. The first indication of attack is a weakening knees and by that time a victim, although still conscious cannot walk or even crawl away from the danger."

The safety chief said the best way to combat this winter murderer is always to leave your garage door open when you are inside, to shut off the car motor as soon as possible and to keep a constant eye on your heater and exhaust fittings. Every year, he pointed out, hundreds are killed merely by sitting in cars with windows closed tight. Fresh air, he said, is the best remedy for the deadly fumes.

They called their hired girl Japan, because she was so hard on china.

MORE ABOUT THE DIONNES

The Dionne quintuplets had 45,000 visitors in June of this year. Although no fee is charged for a glimpse of the celebrated youngsters the visitors spend thousands of dollars. Papa Dionne through his sales of souvenirs, postcards, his signatures and various other articles in his store across from the hospital must take in around $1,000 on good days—perhaps much more. His overhead is light as clerk hire is cheap there and rent is low. We did not learn whether or not Dionne owns the land on which the store is located. But if every visitor spends from 50 cents to a dollar in the store the father of the quints certainly has a nice income.

It is said Dr. Dafoe does not receive a large salary or any other supplementary sums. We understand he does not care to make any large amount of money from the chance that he was the physician who officiated at the birth of the quints. Still, we do not see how he can avoid becoming reasonably comfortable financially. Contact with the relatively luxurious levels of living that are common in the doctor's life now must necessarily produce results. As to the wealth of the quints, a Canadian government report of this year shows they are now worth $543,000 and are assured of an income of $200,000 a year for two years at least. This is derived from movies and from indorsements of various foods and other articles used in the care of the quints.

While a great deal of money is being made just because a generous stork brought five babies to a humble French mother in the frontier community of Corbiel, Ontario, on a May night three years ago there is little evidence of commercialization. Even Papa Dionne's stance in the velvet draped booth seems more like an act of self-defense than an aggressive move to make money. This is true of the clerks in the store as well. Nobody tries to force any purchase on visitors. They seem almost indifferent. This is true of the clerks at Callander also. In a drugstore there the writer was able to buy postcards two for a nickle that were five cents each in the Dionne store. There was no evidence of hurry or bustle in the drugstore and the girl clerk did not appear a bit excited. She said business was very good, however.

The most spectacular feature of the entire quints setting is an establishment maintained by Madame Label, midwife, who served at the birth of the quintuplets and Madame LeFlor, their first nurse. This building looms conspicuously as one nears the hospital and large lettering on its roof and sides suggests a sideshow. The two women offer to tell the "whole story", which somehow reminds one of a fortune teller's "see all, know all". We wonder that the Canadian government permits this blatant move to capitalize on a fortunate circumstance.

By the way, those who may be inclined to ponder on the great change in care of babies since pioneer days here and the treatment of the Dionne five and babies born here in the early years may be surprised to learn that the writer encountered a striking bit of proof that there is little difference in the results accomplished at least in some cases. We purchased a picture of the quints from an older sister of the five in the Dionne store. She is eight years old, we understand and is just about the healthiest and prettiest child we ever saw. Now it is a matter of record that the Dionne children born before the quints received the most ordinary care, the only care possible in a primitive frontier setting, yet from what we could learn this sister is just as healthy and bright as the quints—and she did not receive special care until three years ago at the most we doubt if she has ever had any extra care.

Another matter that should be dealt with here, we think, is the matter of roads. The truth is that most of the main highway from Toronto to Callander was either paved or well ballasted with gravel before the quints were born as it is a main highway to the great gold fields of Ontario which begin about 100 miles north of Callander. North Bay, nine miles north of Callander is a modern city of about 17,000 inhabitants and serves as a starting point in the region of the mines. Too little is known in America of these mines. They produce a large share of the world's gold and many prospectors and muckers have made millions in these fields. Still we'll wager that for net profit the quints beat the best mine up there, at least when operating costs are considered.

Along the highway leading from Toronto there are tourist cabins that were not there before the quints were born and there are many more filling stations. An idea of the change in this way may be gained from the fact that north of North Bay one travels 90 miles without encountering a filling station.

The scenery along the highway is well worth seeing and we believe vacationists can combine sight-seeing enroute from Minnesota with the trip to Callander and make the journey a most desirable one.

More Students Enroll in Business Courses at Northwest School

The soil conservation program and the social security legislation has been quite largely responsible for the increased demand for instruction in commercial subjects at the Northwest School of Agriculture, according to Superintendent T. M. McCall. Students in increasing number are electing the business subjects to supplement the vocational and academic work offered in the regular courses. A marked increase in advance enrollment has been noted in the advanced course of accounting and secretarial science, which are offered to graduates of high schools and agricultural schools.

SOCIAL BLACKLIST FOR HEAVY DRINKERS

"Young gentlemen who follow the "chicken-patty trail" of debutante parties, in and around New York, are faced with a stricter ban than ever on serious drinking this season", says an Associated Press story of August 2, appearing in various eastern papers. The article continues: "Men who get drunk at coming-out parties this year will find themselves blacklisted and not invited again," said Miss Mildred Chapman, a cheerful grey-haired woman, who, as one of New York's leading social secretaries, knows all about the dread little black books which may turn a budding young berry wall into a social outcast.

Not that there won't be plenty of liquor. Some of the lavish big parties figure on $8 or $9 a head for liquid refreshment.

All told, the larger debt parties cost anywhere from $2,800 to $25,000, depending on the number of guests, which run from 200 to 1,000.

"Advance bookings show that 1937 will be the biggest deb season since 1929," said Ted Saucier of the Waldorf-Astoria. According to the press, he cited "one party for 1,000 guests which left the head of the family with a $25,000 headache."

For that party two 20-piece "name" bands cost $5,000, the supper came to $4,000, the liquor bill was $9,000 and the decorations $7,000.

SPUD PICKERS STRIKE FOR INCREASED WAGES

Minnesota Lake—The CIO and AFL may have their labor troubles but last week such troubles hit a Minnesota Lake farmer when Art Putz' spud pickers went on a "sit-down" strike for higher pay. It all came about when the "laborers" held a conference with their leader and decided that 3½ a bushel was not enough for picking up potatoes. After a few moments of secret balloting they decided to strike for five cents a bushel. Mr. Putz was called to confer with the leader of the youthful strikers and an agreement was reached, whereby they got their five cents.

It Happened at the Capitol

State Fair time in Minnesota brings together people from all parts of the state and wherever there is a large group of voters you can depend on finding politicians of all degree. This year's fair was no exception and climaxing the whole week as far as politicians and political discussions were concerned was legislative and editorial day when office holders, would be office holders, and former office holders were busily engaged in sounding out sentiment from the rural editors and legislators who were gathered from all parts of the state.

This is supposed to be an off year in politics, a time for quiet maneuvering in preparation for the election next year, but the situation is far from quiet—one would almost think an election was to be held this Fall.

Petersen Renews Attack

By far the chief subject of discussion was the 1938 governorship race and this discussion revolved around former governor Hjalmar Petersen whose open break with the farmer labor state committee made headlines in the papers that day and who was there in person to back up his statements as quoted in the press.

The rift between Hjalmar Petersen and the state administration group dates back to the 1936 Farmer Labor Convention where Petersen was given short treatment by the office holding delegates who nominated Governor Benson. Following the convention an armed truce seemed to be in effect but underneath a surface quiet there was increasing evidence of bitter feeling. This feeling flared up on several occasions during the past six months when Petersen has been frankly critical toward the governor's administration and free in his attacks on what he calls the "Mexican Generals" who he claims dominate party affairs. Most prominent of those Petersen has assailed are Abe I. Harris, editor of the Farmer Labor Leader, Art N. Jacobs, secretary to the speaker of the house, and Roger Rutchick, secretary to the governor.

Apparently worried over Petersen's frequent attacks on the state administration and his supposed plans to oppose Governor Benson in next year's election, party leaders sought to thrash out differences between the two in a secret meeting last week, but their hopes for peace were dashed when Petersen turned them down flatly and became even more outspoken in his attacks.

Involved in the discussion was the proposal that Petersen forget his differences with the administration now and wait for the party's nomination for governor in 1940 when Benson, it is said, hopes to run for the United States Senate. But these blandishments fell on deaf ears so far as Hjalmar was concerned.

"I am for the ideals and principles of this party," Petersen said. "I stand for true democracy and therefore am bitterly opposed to an inside machine selecting candidates for important public offices. I will make no agreement with people in whom I have no confidence."

Will Make No "Deals"

Questioned about his attitude toward the 1938 farmer labor convention which will indorse candidates, Petersen declined to commit himself but did assail the 1936 state convention of the association which indorsed Benson as having been "packed", and flatly refused to enter into any "deals" with respect to next year's convention.

"I stand back of every word that I have said", he told the committee. "And if the convention of 1938 is a repetition of 1936, certainly I will have nothing to do with it. I shall not be bound by the dictates of the convention when its membership is composed of delegates made up of state employees."

Finally Petersen said he "would consider" talking things over with Governor Benson, but that he would not confer with Roger Rutchick, the governor's secretary, Abe I. Harris, editor of the Leader, or Art N. Jacobs, secretary to the speaker.

At the Thomas Jefferson dinner last week in Minneapolis, John Regan, a twice defeated candidate for governor on the democratic ticket, "let loose a blast" at enemies of the party, stating that the candidates should be selected from their own ranks and said, "I would rather see a genuine Democrat beaten than some outsider running under our colors be elected." He then told of the two candidates who withdrew, saying, "Pat Delaney and Fred Curtis sold us out when they withdrew as candidates for U. S. Senator and Governor." People throughout the state are wondering what will become of the democratic party. Many ask, "Will there be a party? Where can they get candidates now that the boys have all "sold out" to those in power in the state?" The people are wondering what kind of a line-up can be made, with everyone considered to run feeling that they will be instructed to withdraw shortly before the general election, following being elected at the primaries.

"Tin-Horn Politics"

At a recent meeting in St. Paul, O. L. Kaupanger, secretary of the Minnesota Izaak Walton League of America, stated that the way the conservation department of the state is run "is most deplorable, alarmingly so." He states that it was "high time we do something to awaken hearts and consciences of our people and give a statewide expression of protest." People of the state have observed in many sections that politics has played a big part in putting in inefficient wardens, and wardens who should be paid more for their efficient service are being underpaid. People are asking "Who is paying the bill if it is not the people of Minnesota who pay a license fee for fishing and hunting?" Mr. Kaupanger stated that there is no way to straighten out the matter unless tin-horn politicians are done away with.

On the Fence

With Elmer Benson and Hjalmar Petersen figuring on being the candidate for the F-L governorship next year, the office holders, hanging onto the banner of the present administration, are wondering what to do. It is the view of many people that the machine is hard to beat at the primaries, which would return the present governor to a chance at the fall election next year, but people throughout the state have voiced their opinions to the effect that Hjalmar would make the best governor, due to being more sincere, and would work more for the interest of the people. Now the question arises in the minds of the majority party office holders of the state, we are told, "who will it be—Elmer or Hjalmar."

David Lundeen Resigns

During a stormy session of the State Executive Council, at which State Auditor Stafford King presented a resolution that David Lundeen, disbarred attorney, be requested to resign as Director of Veterans' Welfare, the resignation was presented effective October 1. King then withdrew his resolution. No indication has been given as yet on the appointment of Lundeen's successor.

BIG FORK RIVER FLOWS TWO WAYS

Blackduck.—Talk about not getting any place. Even water in a river can't get anywhere when it first flows in one direction and then in another. But that's what the Big Fork River does, and the facts can be vouched for by government officials. The Big Fork river at a point near the U. S. Forest Ranger station at Dora lake, about 20 miles east of Blackduck, flows north under normal conditions. Following the heavy rains of two weeks ago the water at that point raised several inches above the elevation of the source of the river and began running south. The river has a fall of only 11 inches in the nine miles from its source in a swamp to Dora lake ranger station. The strange sight was observed by forest ranger P. J. St. Amont of Blackduck and his assistant, D. F. Ferguson.

CHILD OF 6 UNHURT FROM 30-FOOT FALL

Morris.—Martin Mortensen, aged 6, suffered no injuries when he fell from a height of 30 feet after climbing the outside ladder of a 30-foot silo. He landed on a pile of feed which his father had put on the ground near the silo for the cattle. Six-year-old Martin was accompanied on his adventuresome climb by his sister, Marie, who is seven years old, while Olive, aged nine, remained on the ground to watch the youthful climbers. Little Marie completed his climb without falling. The three are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mortenson who live near Randolph.

RIDE IN BORROWED CAR HAS COSTLY ENDING

Annandale.—Driving a borrowed car had a costly ending for a Maple Lake man who paid a fine and costs amounting to $100 after going for a ride in another man's car parked in front of a grocery store. Harry Kennedy of Staples, stopping in Annandale to visit his sister, did not expect to lose his car, but such was the case at least for a short time. He had driven in from the twin cities with a new car and stopped at a local store. Following him into the store was the Maple Lake man who walked to the rear of the store, turned and walked out. He stepped into Mr. Kennedy's car and drove away just as Mr. Kennedy came out to go to his sister's home to join the family at supper. After reaching Maple Lake with the "borrowed" car, the driver returned to Annandale and then drove back to Maple Lake where authorities picked up the man and placed charges against him.

Florida annually produces more than a hundred thousand carloads of fruits and vegetables above her own needs, avers the state Chamber of Commerce.

Osprey, Harmless Bird

The osprey, intermediate in size between large hawks and the eagles, is a picturesque, harmless bird of the lake shores. It lives entirely on fish which it catches in its powerful talons as it drops from the sky.

SPUD PICKERS STRIKE FOR INCREASED WAGES

Minnesota Lake—The CIO and AFL may have their labor troubles but last week such troubles hit a Minnesota Lake farmer when Art Putz' spud pickers went on a "sit-down" strike for higher pay. It all came about when the "laborers" held a conference with their leader and decided that 3½ a bushel was not enough for picking up potatoes. After a few moments of secret balloting they decided to strike for five cents a bushel. Mr. Putz was called to confer with the leader of the youthful strikers and an agreement was reached, whereby they got their five cents.

It Happened at the Capitol

State Fair time in Minnesota brings together people from all parts of the state and wherever there is a large group of voters you can depend on finding politicians of all degrees. This year's fair was no exception and climaxing the whole week as far as politicians and political discussions were concerned was legislative and editorial day when office holders, would be office holders, and former office holders were busily engaged in sounding out sentiment from the rural editors and legislators who were gathered from all parts of the state.

This is supposed to be an off year in politics, a time for quiet maneuvering in preparation for the election next year, but the situation is far from quiet—one would almost think an election was to be held this Fall.

Petersen Renews Attack

By far the chief subject of discussion was the 1938 governorship race and this discussion revolved around former governor Hjalmar Petersen whose open break with the farmer labor state committee made headlines in the papers that day and who was there in person to back up his statements as quoted in the press.

The rift between Hjalmar Petersen and the state administration group dates back to the 1936 Farmer Labor Convention where Petersen was given short treatment by the office holding delegates who nominated Governor Benson. Following the convention an armed truce seemed to be in effect but underneath a surface quiet there was increasing evidence of bitter feeling. This feeling flared up on several occasions during the past six months when Petersen has been frankly critical toward the governor's administration and free in his attacks on what he calls the "Mexican Generals" who he claims dominate party affairs. Most prominent of those Petersen has assailed are Abe I. Harris, editor of the Farmer Labor Leader, Art N. Jacobs, secretary to the speaker of the house, and Roger Rutchick, secretary to the governor.

Apparently worried over Petersen's frequent attacks on the state administration and his supposed plans to oppose Governor Benson in next year's election, party leaders sought to thresh out differences between the two in a secret meeting last week, but their hopes for peace were dashed when Petersen turned them down flatly and became even more outspoken in his attacks.

Involved in the discussion was the proposal that Petersen forget his differences with the administration now and wait for the party's nomination for governor in 1940 when Benson, it is said, hopes to run for the United States Senate. But these blandishments fell on deaf ears so far as Hjalmar was concerned.

"I am for the ideals and principles of this party," Petersen said. "I stand for true democracy and therefore am bitterly opposed to an inside machine selecting candidates for important public offices. I will make no agreement with people in whom I have no confidence."

Will Make No "Deals"

Questioned about his attitude toward the 1938 farmer labor convention which will indorse candidates, Petersen declined to commit himself but did assail the 1936 state convention of the association which indorsed Benson as having been "packed", and flatly refused to enter into any "deals" with respect to next year's convention.

"I stand back of every word that I have said", he told the committee. "And if the convention of 1938 is a repetition of 1936, certainly I will have nothing to do with it. I shall not be bound by the dictates of the convention when its membership is composed of delegates made up of state employees."

Finally Petersen said he "would consider" talking things over with Governor Benson, but that he would not confer with Roger Rutchick, the governor's secretary, Abe I. Harris, editor of the Leader, or Art N. Jacobs, secretary to the speaker.

At the Thomas Jefferson dinner last week in Minneapolis, John Regan, a twice defeated candidate for governor on the democratic ticket, "let loose a blast" at enemies of the party, stating that the candidates should be selected from their own ranks and said, "I would rather see a genuine Democrat beaten than some outsider running under our colors be elected." He then told of the two candidates who withdrew, saying, "Pat Delaney and Fred Curtis sold us out when they withdrew as candidates for U. S. Senator and Governor." People throughout the state are wondering what will become of the democratic party. Many ask, "Will there be a party? Where can they get candidates now that the boys have all "sold out" to those "in" power in the state?" The people are wondering what kind of a line up can be made, with everyone considered to run feeling that they will be instructed to withdraw shortly before the general election, following being elected at the primaries.

"Tin-Horn Politics"

At a recent meeting in St. Paul, O. L. Kaupanger, secretary of the Minnesota Izaak Walton League of America, stated that the way the conservation department of the state is run "is most deplorable, alarmingly so." He states that it was "high time we do something to awaken hearts and consciences of our people and give a statewide expression of protest." People of the state have observed in many sections that politics has played a big part in putting in inefficient wardens, and wardens who should be paid more for their efficient service are being underpaid. People are asking "Who is paying the bill if it is not the people of Minnesota who pay a license fee for fishing and hunting?" Mr. Kaupanger stated that there is no way to straighten out the matter unless tin-horn politicians are done away with.

On the Fence

With Elmer Benson and Hjalmar Petersen figuring on being the candidate for the F-L governorship next year, the office holders, hanging onto the banner of the present administration, are wondering what to do. It is the view of many people that the machine is hard to beat at the primaries, which would return the present governor to a chance at the fall election next year, but people throughout the state have voiced their opinions to the effect that Hjalmar would make the best governor, due to being more sincere, and would work more for the interest of the people. Now the question arises in the minds of the majority party office holders of the state, we are told, "who will it be—Elmer or Hjalmar."

David Lundeen Resigns

During a stormy session of the State Executive Council, at which State Auditor Stafford King presented a resolution that David Lundeen, disbarred attorney, be requested to resign as Director of Veterans' Welfare, the resignation was presented effective October 1. King then withdrew his resolution. No indication has been given as yet on the appointment of Lundeen's successor.

BIG FORK RIVER FLOWS TWO WAYS

Blackduck.—Talk about not getting any place. Even water in a river can't get anywhere when it first flows in one direction and then in another. But that's what the Big Fork River does, and the facts can be vouched for by government officials. The Big Fork river at a point near the U. S. Forest Ranger station at Dora lake, about 20 miles east of Blackduck, flows north under normal conditions. Following the heavy rains of two weeks ago the water at that point raised several inches above the elevation of the source of the river and began running south. The river has a fall of only 11 inches in the nine miles from its source in a swamp to Dora lake ranger station. The strange sight was observed by forest ranger P. J. St. Amant of Blackduck and his assistant, D. F. Ferguson.

CHILD OF 6 UNHURT FROM 30-FOOT FALL

Morris.—Martin Mortenson, aged 6, suffered no injuries when he fell from a height of 30 feet after climbing the outside ladder of a 30-foot silo. He landed on a pile of feed which his father had put on the ground near the silo for the cattle. Six-year-old Martin was accompanied on his adventuresome climb by his sister, Marie, who is seven years old, while Olive, aged nine, remained on the ground to watch the youthful climbers. Little Marie completed his climb without falling. The three are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mortenson who live near Randolph.

RIDE IN BORROWED CAR HAS COSTLY ENDING

Annandale.—Driving a borrowed car had a costly ending for a Maple Lake man who paid a fine and costs amounting to $100 after going for a ride in another man's car parked in front of a grocery store. Harry Kennedy of Staples, stopping in Annandale to visit his sister, did not expect to lose his car, but such was the case at least for a short time. He had driven in from the twin cities with a new car and stopped at a local store. Following him into the store was the Maple Lake man who walked to the rear of the store, turned and walked out. He stepped into Mr. Kennedy's car and drove away just as Mr. Kennedy came out to go to his sister's home to join the family at supper. After reaching Maple Lake with the "borrowed" car, the driver returned to Annandale and then drove back to Maple Lake where authorities picked up the man and placed charges against him.

Florida annually produces more than a hundred thousand carloads of fruits and vegetables above her own needs, avers the state Chamber of Commerce.

Osprey, Harmless Bird

The osprey, intermediate in size between large hawks and the eagles, is a picturesque, harmless bird of the lake shores. It lives entirely on fish which it catches in its powerful talons as it drops from the sky.

FARMERS ALSO NEED MECHANICAL TRAINING FOR MODERN EQUIPMENT

In visiting successful farms, one's attention is again and again called to how much the farm is becoming mechanized. The milking machine outfit is driven by a gasoline engine and the old windmill is replaced by another gas engine so that the farmer no longer has to depend on the wind. (Many of us can recall the olden days on the farm, when one or two of the hired men often had to fill the water tank on a hot day when no wind was available to spin the old windmill.)

Many farmers have farm lighting plants and are installing oil burners to heat their homes; while tractors are in operation on nearly every farm.

Dunwoody Institute (Minneapolis) is offering training for the young man on the farm who wants to know how to operate or install farm lighting plants and stationary gas engines; how to repair, overhaul and operate the farm tractor; how to do a small amount of light blacksmithing on a repair job; how to draw up a small farm building like a granary; how to make out a bill of material and then complete the job; how to make a cement watering trough and how to paint the woodshed or to paper the spare bedroom.

Each year an increasing number of young men from the farm, during the mid-winter months when the farm work is not pressing, come to Dunwoody and put in one, two or three months in training along the lines that they can daily use on the farm.

Dunwoody is in operation from August 16 to June 16 each year and new students may enter any date.

SPIDER SPINNING WEB TO TRAP BIRD DIES IN WAIT

Ortonville.—A spider was waiting for the kill and its victim who was a full grown humming bird, but the miniature one sided "survival of the fittest" battle was stopped by BB shot from the air-rifle of Richard Karn who killed the spider before it had a chance to feast on its prey. An unusual occurrence for spiders to attack such a large prey, the humming bird had apparently been taken unawares after it had accidentally flown into the garage of Dr. B. R. Karn and the large spider had deftly spun its web around the bird so that it was suspended, wings folded backward, completely enmeshed in the web below an electric wire. Web completed, the spider waited a foot away for the bird to die. The Karns reported that according to appearances the bird had been bitten. And so it was that the bird and spider were found. The humming bird died shortly after it was released from its prison.

STUDENTS ADVISED THERE IS NO EASY WAY TO EDUCATION

University Freshmen Are Addressed by Acting President Ford

College students can't attain their educational goal by "thumbing-rides in the rumble seat of the college curriculum", said Dean Guy Stanton Ford, "you must take the wheel, find the self starter within yourself and step on it. Don't resent it if the faculty does some back seat driving—they've been over the route before. You can easily ditch yourself and the hopes of your parents and teachers if you let your purposes wander and miss the warnings, or steer for soft spots in a college course."

Continuing Dr. Ford said: "Whether you realize it or not, the simple act of your matriculation was one of the most significant acts of your life. It has given you a status of significance of which you can never divest yourself even if you were to cancel out tomorrow.

"You have a privilege reserved to one in a hundred in the United States and to one in thousands elsewhere in the world. You are a different person in your own eyes and can never escape the obligation of being a different and privileged person in the eyes of millions of your fellows who are denied opportunities open to you or who will later realize too late what they missed by not going to college."

Dean Ford also read a message to the student body from President Coffman who is on leave this year recuperating from an illness. President Coffman urged the newcomers to keep one dominant purpose in mind—to further their educational development.

"No one can 'give' you an education," Dr. Coffman's message read. "In the last analysis, you must educate yourselves."

Pheasant Hunting Cut to Only Three Half Days

A drastic shortening of the pheasant season from nine half days to three half days from October 16 to October 18 inclusive was announced last week by Commissioner Herman C. Wenzel. The action was taken after a second survey by game wardens indicated a marked shortage of pheasants. No change was made in the open territory because of the danger of "burning out" pheasants if the hunting area were further reduced, Wenzel said. Shooting during the three-day season will be from noon until 5 p. m. Bag limits remain the same.

He will succeed the Rev. R. N. Holsaple, who resigned last June to re-enter the pastorate at Cass City, Michigan. Early Referendum Vote Favors Potato Control

The agricultural adjustment administration announced Monday in Washington that preliminary referendum returns indicated that more than three-fourths of the producers in three commercial late potato producing areas favor marketing agreements and orders to regulate the handling of the crop.

The referendum, held from September 13 to 25, showed the largest majority in favor of the program in the north central area. Ninety-two per cent of voting producers in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Red River Valley of North Dakota favored the program.

Producers in an area, which included part of Maine, voted 56 per cent against the program.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

An immediate, enthusiastic response to the farm conference called by Governor Benson has been reported throughout the state. Farmers who have received a very small part of the "Million dollars a day" which Twin Cities papers asserted was lining their pockets have welcomed the plan to seriously consider farm problems and prepare the ground for needed legislation at the next session of Congress.

Commissioner of Agriculture Ommodt, after talking with farmers and leaders of farm organizations, stated that the real, dirt farmers who know what they are up against are going to write their own demands. No program will be laid out beforehand, although discussion will follow the points outlined by Governor Benson calling for protection against falling prices, improvement of tenancy conditions, and maintaining economic gains made through good harvests.

The Governor, in his labor Day address at the State Fair, pointed out that there can be no real prosperity for the farmer unless the city worker, who is the farmer's principal customer, receives sufficient in wages to buy the products of the farm.

Stressing the need for a real solution for farmers' problems, Governor Benson asserted, "When they tell you that in 1937 Minnesota's farmers will probably receive a gross income of a million dollars a day, they do not also tell you that over $600,000,000 in debts are piled up against those farmers and that 69 per cent of our farms are mortgaged."

These farmers are still in need of a lift, the Governor continued, and a steady market is a vital factor in affording them some measure of security.

Governor Benson's position that the farmers problems are far from solved by increased income during 1937 are fully borne out by a study prepared by Labor Research Assn.

It states that the increase in farm income of about 70 per cent since the low point of the crisis still leaves farmers gross income more than 20 per cent below the average yearly totals for the period from 1923 to 1929.

The grasshopper infestation which has menaced crops in a wide belt of southern counties for the past six weeks now seems to be in control, state entomologists reported last week.

Counties centered in the area about Rochester and Winona are now nearly free of the pests, the county agents say. In the Twin City sector the same story is true. Credit for the thoroughness of the clean up work must be shared by state entomologists, working in connection with the state departments of agriculture and highways, and the county agents, state officials declare.

The flood situation in the northwest corner of the state entails greater losses than was first supposed. As many as 7,000 farmers have suffered heavy losses and at least one third of them must be aided by federal and state agencies, if only in feed for livestock. State agencies report that the aid work is being done.

Farmers have been warned recently by agriculture departments heads to beware of unlicensed produce buyers. Altho there is a state produce buyers licensing and bonding law, L. H. Brodrick, head of the division of wholesale produce merchants, points out that it is physically impossible to check on every one in the state, and that farmers can save themselves many thousands of dollars a year by aiding the division. If farmers ask to see buyers licenses before doing business with them they are doing themselves an important service, because unlicensed merchants are not liable to action by the Department of Agriculture. Recovery of losses made while doing business with licensed dealers can be effected, Brodrick states, but only if complaints are filed with his division immediately.

The Governor's office has reported that it had effected the settlement of still another strike last week—the strike of truck drivers working on a contracting job in Zumbrota. After continuing the walkout for two weeks, the drivers were able to win an increase in wages, a closed shop on the project, and the establishment of a grievance committee. The workers belonged to the Faribault general drivers union, local 458, while the struck firm was Hackstrom and Midness, contractors. This brings to ten the speedy strike settlements effected by the Governor this year.

LEMKE SLAPS GOVERNMENT FARM POLICY

N. D. Congressman Speaks at Corn Palace Rites Thursday Night

MEN FROM 6 COUNTIES SHARE IN DEDICATION

Large Audience Attends Outdoor Program in Front of Arena

With representatives of six Northwestern Minnesota counties participating, the corn palace, central feature of the Thief River Falls fall festival, was formally dedicated last Thursday evening in the presence of a large audience. The principal address was delivered by William Lemke of Fargo, congressman-at-large from North Dakota, who devoted most of his remarks to a criticism of the administration's farm policies.

The program was preceded by a half-hour concert by the Lincoln high school band, following which Supt. Morris Bye, presiding, introduced the county representatives including A. W. Sommers, chairman of the Marshall county board; J. A. Salisbury, Kittson county agent; Howard Grow, Pennington county agent; Frank G. Grenier, Red Lake county board chairman; M. C. Wangsness, Roseau county agent; and Adolph Skyberg, chairman of the Polk county board. Each of the men spoke briefly, as did Ralph F. Crim, agronomist at University Farm, St. Paul, who praised the corn palace and the quality of the exhibits in the ear corn contest.

After a salute by the auxiliary drum corps, Congressman Lemke opened his address by asserting that the farm problem is not one of overproduction but rather underconsumption and maldistribution, striking at the same time at the government's crop limitation program.

Stating that the United States imported $36,000,000 worth of nuts last year, Mr. Lemke said, "I thought we had all the nuts in the world in Washington." He also outlined his own program designed to provide cost of production plus a profit, as well as giving details of the Frazier-Lemke farm loan refinancing bill.

In closing the speaker supported the position of the supreme court as against that of President Roosevelt, asserting that the nation's presidents have vetoed more than ten times as many acts of congress as have been overruled by the supreme court.

WILD LIFE EXPERT SPEAKS TO GARDEN GROUP ON MONDAY

P. N. Chase of Mud Lake Project Tells of Conservation Movement

Philip N. Chase, junior refuge manager with the bureau of biological survey, stationed at Mud lake, addressed the Thief River Falls Garden club Monday evening at its final meeting of the current year. He was introduced by Mrs. L. G. Larson, club president, who pointed out the value of birds in relation to growing things.

Mr. Chase called attention to the expanding federal conservation movement, which now embraces land, waters, health, fisheries and other natural resources, in addition to wild life.

The speaker stated that the acquisition of wild game refuges by the department of agriculture was authorized in 1929, and has since made rapid headway. He described in detail the Upper Souris migratory waterfowl refuge near Minot, N. D., where he was formerly employed, and showed pictures illustrative of various features of the project. He also cited the important part played by CCC camps in the creation of refuge areas.

COUNCIL CITES RULE ON FIRES OUTSIDE CITY

Fire Department Advised It Cannot Take Equipment Beyond Limits

$30,000 IN BUILDING PERMITS APPROVED

New Peddler Ordinance Gets Its First Reading Tuesday

The city council, in a busy October session Tuesday evening, took action to instruct the fire department to heed the regulation against responding to fire calls from outside the city limits; approved more than $30,000 in building permits; and heard the first reading of a new proposed ordinance directed against peddling in the city.

Action on outside fire calls resulted from a discussion by the council with members of the fire department in which it developed that insurance underwriters' regulations prohibit the department from taking its equipment outside the city limits and thus jeopardizing property within the city in case a fire should break out at the same time.

It was also pointed out that the fire truck is of little avail when deprived of a water supply, as the tank on the truck carries only 103 gallons of water in addition to chemicals. While reluctant to work any hardship on those living outside the city, councilmen pointed out that their first obligation is to protect Thief River Falls property, and that, with only one piece of equipment available, the fire underwriters' ruling leaves them helpless in the matter.

Building permits were approved at the session for L. B. Hartz Stores, for a warehouse 198 feet long and 94 feet wide on the Great Northern right-of-way to cost an estimated $20,000; L. L. Hall, warehouse 65 by 200 feet on the new Soo Line spur to cost $6,500; Robertson Lumber company, coal shed, $785; and Palmer Hanson, residence on Tindolph av., $3,100.

The new ordinance to prohibit uninvited solicitors or peddlers from calling at homes in the city was read by City Attorney Theodore Quale. It is based on the widely known Green River, Wyoming, ordinance which has stood up under numerous court tests.

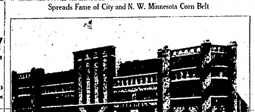
The council set November 9 as the date for the hearing on the assessment rolls submitted by R. F. Umland covering sidewalk, curb and gutter projects on Crocker av. and Kendall av. south of East Third St.

A proposed ordinance that would establish a plumbing code was submitted by the state board of health and was referred to Mr. Quale for study, as was the draft of a model ordinance submitted by the state liquor control commission designed to regulate the sale of non-intoxicating malt liquor.

School Patrol Will be Placed at Main and 4th

Attention of local motorists is called to the fact that a school patrol has been organized at Central school for the purpose of safeguarding pupils crossing Main av. at Fourth st. while en route to and from Lincoln high school. The pupils make two trips a day between the two buildings.

Spreads Fame of City and N. W. Minnesota Corn Belt



No feature of a fall festival in Thief River Falls in recent years has aroused as much favorable comment as the erection of the large and highly attractive corn palace in front of the arena. Ear corn from six Northwestern Minnesota counties was used in its construction under the direction of Russell Anderson, who also designed the edifice. Representatives of each of the six counties participated in the dedication ceremony last Thursday evening when the principal address was delivered by William Lemke, congressman-at-large from North Dakota.

CORN PALACE DAYS ATTRACT MANY TO CITY

Crowds From Thruout Region Entertained by Varied Program

MUSICAL GROUPS ARE ACTIVE DURING EVENT

1350 Persons Witness Queens Coronation Saturday Evening

In point of attendance and general success of the program, the corn palace festival held in the city last Thursday, Friday and Saturday was generally acclaimed as one of the best fall events to be staged here in recent years.

The festivities opened Thursday evening when, despite the chilly air, a large audience gathered for the dedication of the impressive corn palace, the principal address being given by Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota. An added feature was the presence of a large delegation of Bemidji citizens accompanying their Elks band and Paul Bunyan's Blue Ox, which inspired much comment.

The visiting musical group, together with the auxiliary drum corps and the Lincoln high school band provided music during the evening, and the two latter organizations also did their full part to make the last two days of the festival a success, appearing on the streets at frequent intervals. Additional music was supplied Saturday evening by the Ninth District band, which played on the streets as well as in the arena with the drum corps.

Street crowds Friday were entertained by offerings of the Cowboy Quartet from Minneapolis, as well as by local amateur talent including Leroy Rupprecht and the Hruby sisters. The wrestling program at the Auditorium Friday evening was attended by a gathering that taxed the capacity of the huge structure.

Weather typical of late summer prevailed Saturday, the closing day of the festival, and combined with the program to attract to the city the largest crowds in many months. The pet parade in the afternoon proved to be a highly successful affair, and won much favorable comment from the hundreds of persons that viewed it.

The three-day event came to a smashing climax Saturday evening with a dance in the arena that attracted 1350 persons. The feature of the evening was the crowning by Clarence Sande, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, of Miss Anna Hanson as Corn Palace queen and Miss Helen Anderson as Miss Thief River Falls. The two young ladies were the winners in a voting contest staged by the Junior Chamber, second places being won respectively by Miss Eunice Hillyer and Miss Lucille Holmgren.

37 RESETTLEMENT FARMS ARE SOLD UP TO THIS WEEK

Construction Program Will Halt for Winter Season December 1

Construction of buildings on farms included in the Thief River Falls resettlement project is scheduled to continue until December 1, by which time 90 sets of buildings will have been completed in this area; it was announced this week by J. W. Taylor, in charge of the local office of the farm security administration. Plans call for completion of twenty additional sets of buildings next spring.

The huge task of selecting from hundreds of applications the families to occupy the farms is now well under way, Mr. Taylor stated, adding that up to the first of the week 37 farms had been sold on contracts extending over a period of forty years, with an average annual payment of $287. The payments include interest at the rate of three per cent and a payment of 1.32 per cent of the principal amount.

Mr. Taylor explained that if, after making several payments, the purchaser desires to surrender his contract, he may recover the major portion of the principal payments made up to that time. Farms sold to date are mostly tributary to Thief River Falls, with a few others in the Warren and Oklee vicinities.

Annual Guest Banquet Opens Woman's Club's 24th Year of Activity

The twenty-fourth year of activity of the local Woman's Club, organized in 1914, was officially opened Tuesday evening with the guest banquet held in the downstairs parlors of Trinity church. The program for the annual affair, the most important of the club year and the only one to which guests are invited, included a six-thirty dinner, convention reports, discussion of club matters, and numbers by guest artists.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop, club parliamentarian, presided as toastmistress, opening the program with a few pertinent remarks, which were followed by ensemble singing under the direction of Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes with Mrs. Arthur Hamilton playing the piano accompaniment. The evening's entertainment features were rendered by a group of male guest artists. Harold Kelly, diminutive violinist, presented two selections, accompanied at the piano by Donna Lou Kriel. Walter Ekeren, accompanied by Mrs. Hamilton, sang "The Spirit Flower", "My Beaming Eyes", and "A Memory". A group of highly entertaining chalk talks were given by Clarence VeVea.

As a token of appreciation from the local club, Mrs. Bishop presented Mrs. C. W. Vorachek, past-president of the local club who is now serving as president of the Ninth district of the Minnesota Federation of Woman's clubs, with a corsage. Mrs. Vorachek responded.

Mrs. Jack McKechnie, club president, was presented to the club by Mrs. Bishop, and following a few remarks called for the reading of the minutes of the club's final meeting last season on May 19 and the meeting of the executive board September 14. The minutes were read by Mrs. Ed Johnson, acting secretary. The club voted to permit the use of the club rooms on Wednesday afternoons by Mrs. Camille Dostal for her children's recreational projects and also voted to allow the Degree of Honor lodge the use of the rooms for meetings on the third Tuesday of each month and one Saturday during the month. The request was made by Mrs. Mayer-Oakes in behalf of the lodge.

To give guests and prospective members an idea of the club's activities, Mrs. McKechnie introduced the chairmen of the five groups, who outlined their plans for the season. Mrs. George Biddick spoke for the Young Matrons group; Mrs. A. F. Berge for the Penates, Mrs. L. B. Hartz for the Drama, Mrs. L. G. Larsen for the Current Events in the absence of Mrs. Mary V. Shaw, chairman of the group, and Mrs. C. H. Jung for the Music group. Mention was made of plans for organizing an Art group to supplement the work done by the other five groups.

A letter from Mrs. B. O. Norby tendering her resignation as club secretary was read by Mrs. Johnson, who has been appointed to act as secretary until action can be taken by the club. A project for furnishing the Woman's club rooms, and an attendance contest among the five groups were explained briefly. Mrs. H. A. Brumund, district chairman for the American Red Cross, appeared before the club explaining the work of the organization and asking for a motion on a club donation. The club voted a five-dollar membership in the Red Cross. Reports on the district convention at Fergus Falls and the state convention at Stillwater were given by Mrs. McKechnie and Mrs. Vorachek, respectively. The program closed with ensemble singing.

The banquet tables were laid with white and lighted by tall white candles, bittersweet in copper containers adding a festive autumn note for the occasion. Covers were placed for 84 club members and guests.

LIME-BURNING IS NOW BIG INDUSTRY

Early in the history of the country many crude lime kilns were built, and much lime was burned, wherever out-croppings of limestone were found. Most of this lime was used for building purposes but much of it too went on the land after it had become air-slacked. Wood was cheap and abundant and was used in burning the limestone. The waste lime, mixed with the ashes, was often sold cheaply, as lime-ash. Today, states a writer in the Rural New-Yorker, most of the limestone that is used for making building lime is burned in large plants, and commonly with coal or oil, and any by-product often has to be shipped by rail or hauled long distances, adding much to its cost.

Between 1850 and 1870 there was an agitation in favor of ground gypsum or land plaster for use on the land. A commercial drive in selling this product brought it into widespread use in the East. Much of the stone came by boat from Nova Scotia to Boston, New York and other coast cities, where it was finely ground and shipped to all the coastal states.

Gun for Plowshare

The Biblical ideal that swords might be beaten into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks was attained symbolically in a recent celebration in Mexico, the twenty-sixth anniversary of the 1910 revolution. Before a large gathering at Torreon Coahuila, the oldest officer remaining who was in the 1910 revolution, Felipe Munguia, was given the honor of standing before the president. Approaching the president, the officer handed him an old-fashioned musket. Accepting it, the president in turn presented the officer with a plow to signify that Mexico has turned from fighting to tilling the soil.

Blind Present Opera

Written and performed entirely by blind people, "The Stowaway," an opera, was pronounced a success when presented recently at Sheffield, England. The composer was A. All parts were played by sightless men and women, who know their roles perfectly and moved about the stage with surprising assurance.

Community Church Holds Executive Board Dinner

The members of the executive board of the Community church and representatives of each of the church departments enjoyed an annual get-to-gether dinner in the church parlors Monday evening, at which time A. G. Gabrielson reported on the layman's convention held recently in Minneapolis in connection with the pastor's conference at Hennepin Avenue Methodist church, and the various department representatives gave a resume of the year's work ahead. Mrs. Ralph McCain represented the ladies, C. S. McReynolds the Sunday school, Ardith Schultz the Epworth league, and Andy Anderson the congregation. After the dinner the board and each of the groups disbanded into their own particular groups to hold short business sessions. The pot-luck dinner was served by the ladies aid.

How Broccoli Is Cooked

To cook broccoli cut the bunch into lengths suitable for serving, and cook it in a large quantity of salted water until tender. It is difficult to give the length of time for cooking because it depends entirely on the age of the broccoli. If the broccoli is cut at the proper time, the whole bunch can be cooked and eaten. Broccoli has long been popular in southern markets, but in the last few years it has been found widely in our own city markets.—Alice M. Child, Division of Home Economics, University Farm, St. Paul.

How Middle Names Started

Middle names have been used from a very early period. Originally the Romans used only one name, but soon adopted three, namely, the praenomen or forename, the nomen or name, and the cognomen or surname. The first marked the individual, the second the clan or tribe, and the third the family. In the early Christian church names were given on baptism or admission into the church. The number of Christian names varied, depending upon the selections by the godparents.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

SIXTEEN TO ONE

On June 8 the Georgia drys once more gave old Bill Booze the boot. This is the second time in two years, and the majority in 1937 was sixteen times as great as that of 1935. This decisive swing of sentiment to the dry side is widely credited to the general flouting of the regulatory liquor laws in the states which have gone wet. As between abolition laws that do not abolish and regulatory laws that do not regulate, the sentiment in Georgia has veered strongly away from permissive or regulatory legislation.

Some observers advance the theory that this changing sentiment revealed by the local elections in Illinois, Maine, Minnesota, Ohio, Texas, and other states, as well as by the recent results in Georgia, may be traced largely to the indifference of the Federal Administration to the evil conditions which both the platform and the President had solemnly and emphatically covenanted to prevent. The platform and the President, when pleading for votes, definitely and earnestly promised to protect dry states from illegal invasion of their territory by the emissaries of John Barleycorn. But practically every safeguard that had been set up to protect dry areas in the Pre-Prohibition days was swept off the statute books by almost the first legislation passed after the 1932 election.

The President, after his election, vehemently promised that "by no possibility, at any time or under any condition, at any place or under any circumstances, shall the saloon or its equivalent be allowed to return to American life." These promises have been ignored. Before the Eighteenth Amendment there were 177,790 saloons in the United States. Government reports that there are now 422,587 places where liquor is sold at retail, and many of the [illegible] so vile and morally sordid that the respectable liquor press unsparingly condemns them as socially odious—and Georgia increased her dry majority sixteen to one.—W. G. Calderwood

LEGHORN HEN MOTHERS EIGHT SMALL KITTENS

Sleepy Eye.—A leghorn hen, apparently overcome with maternal instinct is sharing with a cat on the Ed Friton farm north of town, the duties of caring for eight small kittens. The hen "took" to the kittens shortly after their birth and stays with them practically day and night, except at lunch time, when the mother cat appears. Mrs. Friton moved the kittens once to see if the hen would follow them and she did. The cat does not object to the way in which she is being relieved of her responsibility in caring for her offspring.

WOMAN HURT IN AN UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

Hutchinson.—The bombing of a Chinese city from the sky would hold little terrors for Mrs. Hans C. Hanson of this city who is suffering from scalp lacerations sustained when she walked along main street in peaceful Hutchinson. A piece of brick which came hurtling off a store roof hit Mrs. Hanson's head, fairly ruining her hat and causing lacerations of the scalp. Aside from a painful injury and a shock, Mrs. Hanson is not much the worse for her misfortune. She was taken immediately to a local physician's office to have the wound dressed.

Says He Was First to Ripen Squaw Corn Here

Father Adolph Dingman of St. Paul, former local pastor, upon hearing of the corn palace festival here last week, wrote local friends the first ripe squaw corn in the county was brought by him into the office of Daniel Shaw August 20, 1915. He stated that if the grower will raise his own seed corn locally, he can depend on raising a crop, as locally-raised corn will mature two weeks earlier than the imported varieties.

PRESIDENT CALLS SPECIAL TERM OF CONGRESS NOV. 15

Outlines Program In Radio Address Tuesday Evening

President Roosevelt called a special session of congress for November 15, then outlined with pointed emphasis Tuesday night a legislative program designed to help agriculture, industry and labor produce "a balanced abundance without waste".

While the current year has, generally speaking, been economically good, he told the nation in his tenth "fireside chat," there are many groups which "still have less purchasing power and a lower standard of living than the nation as a whole can permanently allow."

The President called for:

Crop control legislation to stabilize farm income and the nation's food supply.

Wage and hour legislation to increase the income of low-paid employes and, he said, thereby increase production of the things they would buy.

Land use legislation, spreading the TVA idea to other sections, and providing new expanses of fertile soil to which families in the dust bowl and other poorly productive sections may move.

Anti-trust legislation "to end monopoly—not to hurt but to free legitimate business."

Government reorganization to make the processes of democracy "work more efficiently."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke from the White House after announcing the calling of a special session of congress at a two-minute press conference late in the afternoon.

MUSICAL COWBOYS WERE FORMER RESIDENTS HERE

Saturday Marks Opening of Pheasant Shooting

Minnesota's annual open season for the taking of ringnecked pheasants, cut to three half-days following a second survey ordered made by Conservation Commissioner Herman C. Wenzel, starts Saturday noon. Pheasant hunting will continue Sunday and Monday, October 17 and 18, with shooting permitted each of the three days from 12 o'clock noon until 5 p. m.

"Persistent reports reaching me that ringnecked pheasants were scarce and that in many counties foundation stock would be jeopardized by too long an open season caused me to have a second survey made," Mr. Wenzel said. "A much below normal spring hatch and a marked increase in natural enemies of the pheasant has brought about the decline in numbers." Fifty two of Minnesota's 87 counties are open to pheasant hunting this season, none of which are in the northern part of the state.

A Popular Animal

The giraffe has always been one of the most popular animals at the zoo. The name is said to mean "one who runs swiftly" because, although his gait is awkward, he moves quickly. One of his peculiarities is his lack of voice. He is usually mute, and at best is capable of only the feeblest bleat. His horns are not of great use. When attacked he kicks like a horse. He represents one of the sole survivors of a giant species.

Only One Candidate to Date in City Election

With the deadline for filing for municipal offices set for next Monday, October 18, only one candidate had entered his name up to this morning as a candidate in the city election Tuesday, November 2. The lone aspirant is Richard G. Mabey, who is seeking the post of special municipal judge. Most, if not all, of the incumbent officials are expected to file to succeed themselves.

Potato Growers Urged to Submit Entries in Valley Show Nov. 3-5

Final appeal to potato growers in the Minnesota Red River Valley to select their samples for the annual Valley potato show to be held in Moorhead November 3, 4, and 5, was made this week by show officials.

All growers who have not already done so are urged to pick their samples before digging operations have been completed and enter them in the competition for which approximately $500 in cash prizes, ribbons and plaques will be given. An outstanding feature of this year's show is the competition between counties. The county showing the best exhibit will receive a handsome plaque.

Meanwhile 2,000 programs and premium lists covering all details of the show have been mailed or distributed to growers and others interested throughout the Valley.

E. P. Barrios, Donaldsonville, La., nationally known agricultural agent for the Texas and Pacific railroad, an authority on marketing and marketing conditions, will be one of the outstanding speakers. He will talk at 2 p. m. on Thursday, Nov. 4, in a program at the American Legion Memorial hall, where the show is being held. Skuli Rutford, St. Paul, extension specialist on the state soil conservation committee, will be another speaker. Others also will appear on the program, discussing topics of interest to potato producers and shippers.

Wednesday, November 3, is entry day and entries will be received from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. on that day.

At 2 p. m. Thursday the Red River Valley Potato Queen will be chosen from among the candidates from 11 counties, and the second and third place winners will act as her attendants. The queen will receive a free trip to Chicago and the other two winners will get a free trip to the Twin Cities.

Doctors Warn Against Playing With 'Dry Ice'

Blowing off "steam" from a piece of dry ice is not a safe pastime, according to a bulletin issued today by members of the Minnesota State Medical Association's committee on public health education.

The doctors call attention to the danger because dry ice or carbon dioxide snow is coming into common use for the packing of frozen products, and is correspondingly easy to secure. The children in many parts of the country have developed a new pastime. They put a small piece in their mouths and blow off steam. Recently one small boy swallowed his piece by mistake and very nearly died as a result.

Only real ice frozen from clean water is safe for any use that involves taking it into the mouth. Carbon dioxide snow is not real ice and parents and teachers should [illegible] little instruction on the uses of this modern aid to packing frozen products; also on the dangers involved in misuse.

SCHOOL BOARD IN OCTOBER MEETING MONDAY EVENING

Takes Action to Change Method of Operation of School Buses

The Thief River Falls board of education held its regular October session Monday evening, and disposed of a number of matters that came up for consideration.

Following a discussion in which it was revealed that expenses for gas and oil on some of the bus routes have been higher than was anticipated, it was voted to place the drivers on a fixed salary, with the school district paying for the gas and oil consumed.

It was decided to purchase shower stalls in the girls' shower room in the Lincoln school building. Also approved was the purchase of sound-film equipment to show educational films as a part of the course of instruction.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

A SIGNIFICANT SPEECH

In a speech delivered at Chicago last week, President Roosevelt expressed views on the present serious international situation that define quite clearly the administration's attitude toward Italy, Germany and Japan. In language that could not possibly be misunderstood he aligned our nation definitely on the side of the opposition to those aggressor nations that are now threatening the peace of the world. The speech was delivered to the people of Chicago. In effect, however, it was a declaration to the rest of the world that our nation would not sit idly by and, by our indifference, give sanction to international lawlessness.

It is as an ultimatum to the governments of Italy, Japan and Germany that the Chicago speech has far-reaching significance. The war lords of those countries, who probably were greatly encouraged by our neutrality laws, now know that they cannot depend upon those laws for protection under all circumstances. Knowing that may have a sobering influence on them.

There is justification for the charge that the unwillingness of our country to assume a share of the responsibility of maintaining world peace is to some extent the cause of the present deplorable conditions thruout the world. The fact that our country served notice a few years ago that we would, under no circumstances, meddle in the affairs of other nations, certainly gave encouragement to those war lords who wanted a free hand in extending their power.

This being true, it is possible that if our country had taken the position a few years ago that President Roosevelt pledged us to in his Chicago speech, much of the aggression that has already taken place would never have been started. There is hope that the Roosevelt declaration may yet check the wave of war that has already gained such momentum. A solid front by the other nations of the world may bring the rulers of Italy, Germany and Japan to their senses. If it does not, then, in self-defense, it can be only a matter of time before action will be forced upon us.

TWO TERRIBLE EVILS
(New York World Telegram)

A few days ago we urged you to read a series of articles on taxation by the author economist, John T. Flynn. We told you that these articles were of vital interest to you. Now that their publication has been completed we want to give special emphasis to some of the statements Mr. Flynn made, and so we reprint them here:

"Taxes in the last fiscal year, federal, state and local, amounted to $12,500,000,000. We spent a lot more than we raised by taxes. In 1936 we spent about $17,000,000,000. If relief expenditures continue it is estimated that by 1940 our government costs will be between $18,000,000,000 and $22,000,000,000.

"The recovery expenditures of the federal government alone have amounted to about twenty billion dollars. And every dollar of it has been borrowed. We still owe it. The government still has to find this money some way and some day. And of course the only way is by taxes.

"Ahead are burdens, immense burdens—taxes and more taxes and ever more taxes. We rejoice in the present pleasures of recovery now and refuse to think that presently we shall groan under the load of the bills which we pile up.

"If the government were to confiscate every dollar of income of every man who earned $5,000 or over, it would get only about ten billion dollars. It would still be short $2,500,000,000 of collecting the last fiscal year's tax bill; or short $7,000,000,000 of collecting the amounts spent by federal, state and local governments in 1936. It may be all right to tax the rich as severely as possible, but the great burden of the tax bill will have to be paid in the end by the small fellow.

"The government doesn't hit him (the small fellow) with an income tax as it does his rich brother. It takes the tax out of him without his really knowing about it. Seventy per cent of the taxes collected in this country are hidden taxes.

"In our effort to run away from taxes, to escape facing taxes squarely, we have run into terrible fiscal evils—government borrowing and hidden taxes. The great need of the time is an abandonment of both. When the citizen sees what he is spending and knows what he is spending it for he will be more scrutinizing of government spending policies."

J. R. Landy has been dismissed from the post of internal revenue collector because of what the Treasury officials call "an unsatisfactory record." Except for this brief statement, the reasons for the dismissal (including the one given) are a profound mystery. Landy has been a prominent Democratic worker in this state for many years and richly deserved the plum to which he was appointed two years ago. That he was not competent to handle the duties of the office is incomprehensible. It is possible that the party wanted to iron out some patronage problems, and it is also possible that the partial return of editorial independence to the columns of the Olivia Times of late may have had something to do with it. The Treasury department appears shocked that Landy made a political contribution of $1000 at the time he was appointed, and Landy [illegible] he was offered from [illegible] if he would resign. That indicates pretty fast company for a Democrat of Jacksonian simplicity.—Morris Tribune.

State Agency Seizes Supply of Fake Butter

Two Ohio and one Illinois manufacturing concerns have found that imported cocoanut oil cannot be sold in Minnesota as butter, according to a news release issued by the division of consumers research, of the Minnesota department of agriculture. Fifty thousand pounds of a product labeled "butter" were seized this week by inspectors, and a laboratory test failed to disclose any butter content, but it was found that cocoanut oil was the principal ingredient.

FISHERMAN'S AUTO IS HALTED BY FIRETRUCK

Sleepy Eye—A blazing trailer was a new high menace of which four Morgan fishermen became aware when they were pursued by the Little Falls fire department which extinguished a fire in the motorists' trailer after a filling station attendant had turned in an alarm. Frank Schluck, Emil Netzke, W. J. Bandemer, and Felix Fromm, all of Morgan, were enroute to Stewart Lake on a fishing trip when the fire started. A service station attendant spotted the fire and tried to hail the fishermen. Failing, he telephoned the Little Falls fire department, members of which set out in pursuit. The fishermen were unaware of the fire. On the trailer were a small row boat, bedding, clothing, camping equipment and several containers of gasoline. Mr. Bandemar suffered minor burns when he tried to unhitch the trailer. A wheel was charred and one side of the boat was burned as were a quilt and blanket. Resuming the journey, the men discovered that the canvas cover was on fire a second time, but after putting out the blaze they were able to resume their trip.

SITTING ON WASP NEST "NO FUN", BOY LEARNS

Blue Earth.—It's no fun to sit on a wasp's nest, at least four Blue Earth youngsters learned by painful experience when from one of the boy's body and scalp more than 75 wasp stings were pulled. While at play one day last week Caroline Janda, Rosalie Bassett, and Charlotte and Buddy Chilson happened to play around an old tree stump, but failed to notice that it was inhabited by wasps. The wasps didn't like the disturbance and proceeded to defend themselves. All of the children were stung, but little Buddy got the worst of the affair. His scalp and body were full of stingers, so that a physician pulled out 75 in addition to those pulled out by the boy's mother.

Escape in Siberia

SIR HORACE PLUNKETT of England, or "Bal" Plunkett as the cowboys in western Nebraska and eastern Wyoming in the early days knew him, had some thrilling adventures on the American frontier, but his narrowest escape from death was in Siberia.

One day his horse went lame near a Russian village. Being in a hurry to reach St. Petersburg he left his horse there and hired another one, hitched to a sleigh. In the midst of a dark, dismal forest he heard a howl and saw a huge timber wolf pursuing him.

Sir Horace lashed his horse to a mad gallop, but the wolf gained on him at every leap. Just as the beast leaped, Sir Horace dropped down into the bottom of the sleigh. The wolf sailed clear over him and lighted on the horse's hindquarters.

The terrified horse kept on running even after it was [illegible]. Then Sir Horace sprang up, [illegible] the wolf a terrific cut. With a howl the beast sprang forward just as the horse [illegible] fell out of the [illegible] dropped on the wolf.

LARGE SWEET POTATOES ARE RAISED IN OLIVIA

Olivia.—A bushel of sweet potatoes, many of them exceptional [illegible] last week by Warren Heins, who has been experimenting with the growth of southern plants for the past two years. While most of the potatoes harvested were of normal size, Mr. Heins had several specimens which weighed as much as one pound and eleven ounces. Last spring fifteen sweet potato plants were shipped in from Georgia and transplanted here early in June. Mr. Heins' results, a bushel of potatoes from 15 plants, considered a good yield, indicate that climate and growing conditions in Renville county are adaptable for growing sweet potatoes.

'That Tired Feeling' Is Friendly Warning, Says State Medical Society

Fatigue is a friend to be welcomed, not an enemy to be resented and fought against. Members of the public health education committee of the Minnesota State Medical association urge tired people not to whip themselves to extra effort, longer hours, attendance at exhausting parties.

For the healthy, fatigue is a sure sign that rest, relaxation and sleep are the things that are important and really needed, not the trading extra pieces of work, or the extra appearance at a party. Excellent as parties may be for the fresh and unfatigued, for the overworked, it is a sign that every acceptance, not will power, is needed.

In the end that unheeded fatigue may exact months of inactivity and pain for both, while work or the party that should have been put off to another day will mean nothing to the fatigue victim, employers, family or friends.

To take drugs for the express purpose of overcoming fatigue is little short of criminal, according to the doctors. In that case, the poor overworked body is driven beyond its fatigue level while the drug, or, in some cases, alcohol provides a temporary and unreal false sense of well being. The net result is simply a violently overtaxed body mechanism and a machine whose life capacity is definitely diminished and [illegible].

PEAT LAND YIELDS VEGETABLE CROPS

Princeton.—A reclamation miracle in northern Minnesota—vegetable wealth may be mined from soil in the local farming district for this year a [illegible] yielded 6,000 bushels of onions. Energy, pluck, and a little luck have been three important factors in turning a waste tract of land in what is known as the Big Bog, one mile northeast of Princeton, into a fertile farming area which produces large crops of vegetables each year. During the last 3 or 4 weeks the 6,000 bushel crop of Yellow Globe onions has been harvested, the project giving employment to a large number of men during the season. The entire crop was pulled by [illegible], graded in the field and then trucked from where the onions are shipped to [illegible] houses for storage and [illegible] market. The crop was not raised without considerable expense, but forgetting all financial consideration, [illegible] those level fields dotted with onion sacks, a group of men busy, on a September morning grading and loading became an inspiring sight.

BANANA IS ONE OF THE OLDEST FOODS

The banana is probably one of the oldest of human foods. Its origin is in doubt. Some authorities say it is native to India and China; others that Columbus found it growing in America. As known today the banana is the result of centuries of cultivation, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Bananas were practically unknown in the United States until shortly before the Civil war. Prior to that those reaching American shores were regarded as curiosities. In 1934 some 41,096,000 bunches came into the United States.

Although there are hundreds of varieties of bananas now on the markets, the principal commercial one is the familiar yellow skinned fruit which comes chiefly from Honduras. Red bananas do not find favor because of their strong flavor.

Few foods can compare with the banana from the standpoint of economy; their average price throughout the past year being but 5 cents a pound. For this small outlay the purchaser gets a good amount of vitamins A, B, C, D, and G, an alkaline forming food; those minerals that are necessary to health, and wrapped in a naturally sanitary package.

The fruit with small brown dots covering the greater portion of its surface is riper than the clear yellow banana.

They should never be kept in an ice box, as this ruins the flavor and prevents maturing. One of the best methods is to place them in a paper bag with a string tied tightly about the opening, and hang them in a moderately cool room.

Cigar Tastes Corrected by Proper Soil Treatment

The poor taste and aroma of some cigars can be corrected by proper soil treatment, according to the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment station.

"Experienced cigar smokers," said Dr. P. J. Anderson, of the tobacco substation, "frequently correlate the taste with the appearance of the ash on the cigar. A dark muddy ash in most cases is associated with poor taste and aroma; while good cigars produce lighter colored ashes," reports the United Press.

The dark ash was found attributable to excess potash in proportion to other bases, causing incomplete combustion of the carbon, "and the gaseous products thus obtained are not so pleasant to the smoker as those resulting from full combustion."

"Good Luck" Bird Misnamed

Bird of good luck to many native tribes, the hammerkop has become an ill omen to people of Johannesburg, South Africa, who have goldfish ponds. Many ponds have been denuded of fish by the feathered fishermen. Haunting small creeks, they feed on frogs. Recently a Johannesburg resident put a frog pond near his pools of goldfish. Both frogs and goldfish began disappearing and soon all were gone. His experience has become the lot of many keepers of goldfish, but now that the hammerkop is fond of fish they do not know whether it will be worth while to restock ponds. The hammerkop builds a nest six feet in diameter with only a small opening for exit and ingress, usually on a hidden rocky ledge.

MAN DIES AFTER BRIEF REUNION WITH BROTHER

Fertile.—Providence and a strange fate intervened last week to reunite two brothers, who had not seen each other in more than 43 years and allowed them a short visit before death claimed one of them. A. C. Christensen of Bella Coola, British Columbia arrived last week at Fertile at the home of his brother, the late Morten Christensen to pay him a long deferred visit. Although the illness was serious and he knew he did not realize that death was imminent. The next morning, a few hours after the brothers had met again and enjoyed a pleasant visit together, Martin Christensen died.

WAIT 15 MINUTES TO PUT OUT FIRE

Hopkins.—Because a fire-call contract had not been signed the Hopkins fire department last week could not go to work for 15 minutes after receiving a fire alarm. Consequently, a roof blaze at the [illegible] Hutter home, Glen Lake, was not extinguished until damages exceeding $1,000 had been done. An alarm was telephoned to the Hopkins fire department, but because of the "guarantee contract" regulation the fire chief was unable to order out the equipment. The department can answer calls outside the village limits only when the property owner has agreed to pay for the call on an hourly basis. The fire chief immediately telephoned Mrs. Hutter in Minneapolis who gave him the name of the insurance company covering the house. Informed that the house was already burning, that it probably would burn to the ground if the flames were left, and that chances were good for the Hopkins firemen to stop the blaze, the company verbally guaranteed payment. A truck and company of firemen were then dispatched immediately to the scene of the fire. While the fire chief rushed through the series of telephone calls, a hastily formed brigade of employees from nearby Glen Lake Sanatorium had kept the flames from running wild.

THRONGS ATTEND WRESTLING CARD FRIDAY EVENING

Lou Plummer Winner of Rough Match With Glen Undlin of Chicago

That the sport of wrestling has a large following in this section of the state was indicated Friday evening when the capacity of the Auditorium was taxed by the crowd of fans that attended the program arranged by Bill LaFave under auspices of the local Legion post.

Altho "Leering Lou" Plummer of Baltimore comported himself as usual in anything but a gentlemanly manner in his match with Glen Undlin of Chicago, the bout, for excitement, did not equal the one last spring in which Abe Kashey appeared here. Plummer, who—apparently—outweighed his opponent, won the fall in 22 minutes after succeeding in winning boos from the crowd for his rough tactics.

George Sauer in the semi-final event gave a good exhibition of the sport and won the fall from Karl Koopman in 21 minutes. In the quarter-final match Frank Topas won the decision over Pete Frosia after a hard-fought battle continuing 26 minutes. Red Melvis of Viking won the preliminary match over Swede Hendrickson of Oklee, getting his fall in six minutes.

HAT ON ANOTHER'S HEAD—IN CHICAGO

Cloquet.—"It's a small world after all!" In fact, it's so small that a Cloquet man's hat landed last week in Chicago on another Cloquet man's head. Joe Dunphy, a local man, was surprised when he was the only passenger on board a bus who could wear a black hat found on the rack of the bus when it arrived in Chicago last Sunday morning, but his biggest surprise came when he looked at the lining and found that the hat bore the label of a Cloquet clothing store. "This small world!" was Mr. Dunphy's first expression in reporting the incident and informing persons in his home town that he would be glad to return the hat.

County Test for Bangs Disease Now Under Way

The work has started on the testing of Pennington county cattle for Bang's disease. Some veterinarians are already in the county, and more will come next week, while a laboratory will be set up in Thief River Falls to facilitate the work. Dr. H. E. Wilson, veterinarian in charge, has been working with Howard E. Grow, county agent, for the past two weeks in getting committee men to work at signing contracts with cattle owners who have not previously tested. This work is progressing satisfactorily and it appears at this time that nearly all of the cattle in the county will be tested before long, Mr. Grow said.

STATE INSPECTOR CHECKS ILLEGAL DRUG SALES HERE

Declares Sales Must be Made Only by Registered Pharmacists

Bert Meurling, attached to the inspector's division of the Minnesota state board of pharmacy, checked up on Thief River Falls Monday. He reported that aspirine substitutes, alkalizers, and other items had been discovered being sold illicitly. Arrests are pending, he stated.

The state pharmacy laws restrict all drugs, drug compounds, drug substitutes, chemicals and poisons, strictly, to the premises of a licensed and registered pharmacist. The penalty for every violation is $50 and costs. Mr. Meurling explained that the pharmacy laws are to watch and safeguard the public health. They were enacted to check unschooled and often criminally careless handling of household drugs; and to strengthen the barriers against any further expansion of the dread narcotics traffic.

Two Fined During Week for Reckless Driving

Clifford Nyhus of Goodridge was taken into custody early Saturday morning on Horace av. at Second st. on a reckless driving charge after narrowly averting a collision. In municipal court Saturday was given a fine of $35 or the option of 30 days in jail. He had not paid the fine early this week. Leo Hagl of Red Lake Falls was picked up on a similar charge on East Third st. Monday evening. Judge Lincoln Arnold Tuesday fined him $35 and ordered his drivers license suspended for nine months.

RED LAKE RIVER PROPOSAL PASSES ANOTHER HURDLE

Water Control Plan Wins Approval of National Committee

The $13,700,000 program for control of water supplies in the Red river valley which was mapped by the tri-state water commission in Minnesota, North and South Dakota has been approved by the national resources committee at Washington, D. C.

The plan, according to Henry Holt, vice chairman of the North Dakota water conservation commission, still must receive the approval of army engineers and congress before work can be started.

Listed for immediate investigation and construction work was channel improvement and control works for the Red Lake river at an estimated cost of $780,000 and construction of the Baldhill reservoir on the Sheyenne river at a similar cost.

Prompt action was recommended for dams on the Red river and tributaries both north and south of Grand Forks and for later construction the report recommended channeling of the Red river between Fargo and Canadian boundary.

Regarding the Baldhill dam, proposed at a Sheyenne river point about 15 miles north of Valley City, Holt said this dam is not approved by the tri-state commission which desires the dam located in Benson county south of Minnewaukan, farther up the river. Water provided for in the Missouri river diversion plan would be needed to furnish sufficient supplies to fill this reservoir, he said.

Major objectives of the long range plan, as announced by the Associated Press in the Washington story included:

Conservation of run-off in lakes and reservoirs and its release to stream channels at a rate providing a dependable supply of water at the principal cities.

Abatement and prevention of stream pollution.

25 County Farmers to Join in Farm Practices Meeting in City Friday

Twenty-five farmers from various parts of the county will meet in Thief River Falls Friday, October 15 for the first of three meetings that will be held this fall to recommend farming practices for the county. McNulty, marketing specialist from the University Farm, will have charge of the meetings. The second and third sessions will be held October 29 and November 5.

13 Purebred Rams Sold at Fair Grounds Tuesday

The ram exchange and sale held at the county fair grounds Tuesday was a success, county agent Howard E. Grow said today. Sheep producers in the county purchased 13 purebred rams both of Hampshire and Shropshire breeding. These rams will improve the quality of sheep in the county as they all came from some of the best purebred flocks in the state, Mr. Grow stated.

At a meeting of Judge M. A. Brattland with interested attorneys in his chambers Monday, the matter of summoning a jury for the fall term of Pennington county district court was left undecided until after the Kittson county term of court opening at Hallock November 8. It was indicated that if it appears necessary at that time the jury will be called to assemble November 16.

Shoplifter Sentenced to Serve Three Years in State Institution

James C. Waddell, transient, who was arrested last week in connection with the theft of articles of clothing from two local stores, pleaded guilty to a second degree grand larceny charge Tuesday afternoon before Judge M. A. Brattland in district court, and was sentenced to serve a term not to exceed three years at St. Cloud. Police Chief A. B. Stenberg had sent in Waddell's fingerprints to the federal bureau of identification at Washington, which advised him that Waddell had been arrested eight times since 1930 on larceny, burglary and vagrancy charges.

Officials Visit Grain Inspection Office Here

Railroad and warehouse commissioner, Harold R. Atwood and Mons E. Jerdee, chief grain inspector of St. Paul were visitors in this city Wednesday for the purpose of inspecting the branch office of the grain inspection department here.

Commissioner Atwood was well pleased with the record compiled by the local department during the last year. The inspection tour also covered Duluth, Staples, St. Cloud, Glenwood and Willmar.

PROWLER ATTACK DEFEATS GRAFTON LAST FRIDAY 25-0

Coach George Lee's Boys to Play Mahnomen Team Tomorrow

Interspersing tricky double reverses and sharp line thrusts with short passes over the line, Coach George Lee's Prowler football team scored in every quarter but the last Friday to defeat Grafton's club, 25 to 0.

The game was only five minutes old when the Prowlers scored after a march from their own 42-yard line. They clicked off four first downs and Ray Bredeson, halfback, scored only to have the ball called back for a Thief River Falls penalty of 15 yards. The Prowlers drove right back, however, Bredeson carrying the oval from the 2-yard stripe. Quale's kick was wide.

The Prowlers recovered a fumble on Grafton's 42. Bredeson had made first down on the 31 and Lowell Nesse passed to Don Lorentson, end, who was stopped on Grafton's 1-yard stripe. Caldis plunged over center to score, and Quale's place kick made it 13 to 0.

Nesse raced 27 yards through tackle to score minutes later but Quale's placekick missed the crossbar.

Early in the third period the Leemen started another drive. A pass from Nesse to Hooren put the ball on Grafton's 40. Nesse made a first down on the 26, then scored on reverse from that line. Quale's attempted kick failed. Grafton came to life in the waning minutes of the third period, clicking off three first downs, but the attack bogged down on the Prowlers' 41.

In each of the four games played this fall, the Prowlers have won by a margin of at least 25 points, being scored on to the extent of only one touchdown, and that in the first game of the season against Red Lake Falls. The Lincoln eleven will meet its next test Friday when the local boys journey to Mahnomen for a contest.

STATE PTA HOLDS ANNUAL SESSION IN ST. PAUL TODAY

Delegates From More Than 600 Units Present at Meeting

Delegates from more than 600 parent-teacher associations thruout Minnesota, including Thief River Falls, assembled Tuesday in St. Paul for the fifteenth annual convention of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. A. L. Lathers of Duluth, state president, is in charge of the sessions, which will continue thru Friday.

Wednesday's program was centered around the theme "Progress in Homemaking and World Good Will," while "Progress in Education" is being stressed this afternoon in an address by Dr. Lyman Bryson, professor of adult education at Teachers college, Columbia university. "Progress in Health and Safety" will be the theme of Friday's sessions, at which addresses will be given by representatives of the Minnesota Public Health association and other groups.

Mrs. B. O. Norby, district president, and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr., delegate, left Monday to represent the Thief River Falls unit at the St. Paul meeting.

Included in the group are Mrs. H. A. Brumund, roll call chairman; Mrs. Mary V. Shaw, chapter chairman; Mrs. J. A. Hansen and Mrs. Oscar Gunstad of the St. Hilaire branch.

ENROLLMENT AT N. W. SCHOOL SETS ALL-TIME RECORD

Housing Facilities Taxed to Care for Large Number of Students

All time enrollment records were shattered at the Northwest school of agriculture at Crookston when its doors were open for the fall term on October fourth. Enrollment figures released by Registrar J. W. Milner disclose a registration at 391 students on the opening day with a total of 426 on October 8 and an indicated total for the term of 450. The all-time high enrollment record up to this year was made in 1936 when the total registration reached 401.

The housing of the students has been a difficult problem according to Superintendent T. M. McCall. Mr. McCall reports that rooming facilities for girls have been taxed to the limit at the school, that the present girls' dormitory, health service, home management house and a classroom converted into a ward were inadequate to house all girls enrolled, a house in Crookston which accommodates eighteen girls has been pressed into use and additional rooms will be needed.

The boys' dormitories are equally crowded and three boys have been assigned to each of sixty rooms originally intended for two. All Red River Valley counties are represented in the student enrollment.

HOUSE MOVED 70 MILES BY CREW

Elbow Lake.—A novel sight was observed here recently when a 22x28 foot dwelling house, mounted on steel truck wheels and drawn by a large caterpillar tractor, was moved into town, a distance of 70 miles, to be placed over a basement and foundation which had been built for it. The house, owned by A. O. Steenslund, who is employed at the Elbow Lake mill, was brought here from Milan, a distance of about 70 miles by the route taken. Only five days were required for the actual moving after the building had been raised from its former foundation and placed on wheels. After timbers had been placed under the building, it was mounted on three 4-wheel steel trucks and these fastened together with bars for steering purposes. The long move was made without perceptible damage to the building.

RUDY GMITRO

Backfield star on the University of Minnesota football team, who in Saturday's game against a powerful Indiana eleven, made a spectacular 29-yard gain that eventually resulted in a touchdown, giving the Gophers the victory by a 6-0 margin. Gmitro is a former Minneapolis high school star, and is now playing his final season of football. He is five feet eight inches tall and weighs 165 pounds.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

The farm conference held in St. Paul last week at the call of Governor Benson came up to and even surpassed expectations. The house chamber was packed with dirt farmers who did not hesitate to come forward with their earnest suggestions. Leading officials of every statewide general farm organization and cooperative were present. Unity and hope reigned.

A constructive farm program, not forgetting the good portions of the New Deal plan but going a considerably greater distance along the progressive road, was adopted. A broad committee of substantial farmers and farm leaders was left to work out details of the general program laid down.

But the conference was unwilling to stop with the work only just started. After praising Governor Benson for calling this conference, the farmers ask him to call another, this time a broader one to include farmers of neighboring states. It will be necessary, they know, to rally their brother farmers throughout the whole country if the program is to be put through Congress.

Nor did they forget their major ally, labor. Minnesota farmers a long time ago learned the vital necessity of these two groups working together. Consequently it is fitting that they lead the way in farmer and labor cooperation on a national scale. A resolution urging economic and political cooperation between the two groups was passed.

In an attempt to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors, Commissioner Maloney of the state liquor control commission has issued a model ordinance drafted by Attorney General William S. Ervin.

This contains all the provisions of the state law and puts strict regulations upon 3.2 beer places. It provides penalties for the sale of intoxicating liquors without a license and calls for automatic revocation of such a dealer's beer license. It is considered that the adoption of this ordinance would insure a more general compliance with the state liquor control law.

Protection for the consumer is being urged as the cost of living mounts. Already, finished manufactured products cost 10 per cent more than last year and clothing, furniture and rents are all going up with the end no where in sight. Meats, poultry, butter and eggs are also scheduled for a boost in prices. Wages no where are keeping pace with the rise in cost of consumers goods, which means that the mass of consumers will have to curtail buying.

Creation of a government agency to study consumers problems is considered a means to bring home to food processors and manufacturers the disastrous effects on both farmers and city people of prices out of proportion to income.

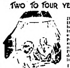
Hospital patients sometimes fail to realize that an Interne is actually a Doctor, who has passed his Medical School tests and been through from 6 to 8 years of preparation. From 2 to 4 years is the average Internship.

INTERNSHIP TWO TO FOUR YEARS



During Internship the Doctor visits patients between calls of attending Physician, acts in emergencies, keeps patients comfortable and assists in operations or wherever a second Physician is needed, but does nothing on his own initiative.

This very valuable training under older and more experienced Doctors is highly concentrated practice. Each two years of internship is about equivalent in experience to five years of private practice.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

PROWLERS' AERIAL ATTACK BEATS GRAFTON 25 TO 0

Nesse, Caldis, Bredeson Score for Local Squad

Running true to hope; Grafton was the toughest opponent the Prowlers have encountered thus far in their schedule. Although by the score, 25-0, it would seem that the North Dakotans were no harder than East Grand Forks, such was not the case. The Lincolnites met little trouble in the first three periods but in the fourth quarter they were forced to stave off a goal line thrust pushed by the Spoilers. However the ball went to Thief River on downs and Nesse punted out of danger.

The Prowlers made their first touchdown in the opening period after receiving the kick-off, making four first-downs, completing a thirty yard forward pass, and a plunge over the goal from the one-yard marker. The extra point was not converted. The second quarter yielded two more counters for the locals, the first made by Caldis through the line and the second by Nesse on a fake reverse, the same play that gave the Prowlers so many touchdowns last season. One of Quale's kicks for conversions was good and the score stood at 19-0. The last touchdown came in the third period when Nesse picked up a fumble and ran around end.

The starting lineup:

Prowlers		Grafton
Quale	LE	Laura
Stadum	LT	Anderson
Oen	LG	Greenburg
Hanson	C	Holles
Johnson	RG	Donnelly
Mattson	RT	Zinke
Lorentson	RE	Dahl
Borren	QB	Johnson
Nesse	LH	F. Homme
Bredeson	RH	Bergh
Caldis	FB	LaMoure

Substitute: Grafton-Mott, Evans Homme, T. R. F. Hess, Lanke, Mickelson, Sundberg, Tonberg, Shanahan, Stadum, Olesen.

Touchdowns: Grafton, 0, T. R. F., Bredeson 1, Nesse 2, Caldis 1.

Conversions: Grafton, 0, T. R. F., Quale 1 out of 4.

PROWLERETTES CORNER

Hi-Ho my Merry Ones—

And, oh Josies! I was so disappointed. No merry-go-round ever breaks up or down whilst I'm around But calm myself—better times are in the offing—what with the Bemidji game Home-coming and all. Get yourself a Prowler badge "G. A. A.'ers"—Let's bear those "standards proudly on high."

Well—believe me or not, the Josies are on the way to what a well-rounded girl will look like in 1937-38. Look to these figures, girls! Chin up, shoulders back, tummies unmentionable, a lift in the step and sparkle of good living in the eye, brown, blue, green, or hazel. (If I missed up on some hue—let me know).

The Josies dropped a few years and took to the floor in a game of Crab Ball, just a bevy of sweet young things looking like bugs in a rug—if there had been a rug. (and I heard that there could be a course in sportsmanship and good nature offered in this establishment. Oh, me—always a few—thank heaven for the many.)

Fosston Falls to Prowler B Team

Although handicapped by a lack of reserve strength, the Prowler "B" grid team managed to eke out a 6-0 victory from a stubborn Fosston team at Fosston Saturday.

At the beginning of the first quarter it looked as if the invaders goal might be crossed. Capitalizing on a series of fumbles in the Prowler backfield, Fosston advanced the ball to the local's 15 yard line at which point the defense stiffened and Fosston lost the ball on consecutive downs.

The stage was set for the only score when, in the second quarter, Shanahan booted a high punt. The Fosston safety man muffed the ball and Eide recovered for the locals on the Fosston 20 yard marker. On the next play, Anderson skirted end for seventeen yards. The Fosston forward wall stiffened at the point but on fourth down, Tunberg lugged the pigskin over the goal on a flying wedge play.

For the most part the play was centered in the middle of the field or slightly into Fosston territory. The Fosston boys displayed a very good pass defense, scoring a great many of the tosses intended for Prowler receivers.

The only time the men from down Fosston way proved to be a serious threat was late in the fourth quarter when, having intercepted a Prowler pass, they began a determined march up-field which was cut short by the closing whistle after they had reached the Prowler 30 yard line.

The starting lineup for Thief River was:

Ends—R. Mickleson and C. Mickleson

Tackles—Melby and Eide

Guards—Wood and Froseth

Center—Lanke

Quarterback—Tunberg

Right halfback—Anderson

Fullback—Stadum.

Substitutions were: Hovle, Woolhouse, and Buster Anderson.

BAND NOTES

The large crowd attending the corn festival last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday was well entertained by the high school band. On Thursday evening at seven-thirty, the band gave a half hour concert in front of the corn palace. The following selections were played: "New Colonial March", "The Westerner", "His Honor," "Coast Guards", "Transcontinental," "Our Commander," and "Trombone Antics."

On Friday afternoon at four o'clock the band marched through the business section of town playing several numbers as they marched.

The pet parade on Saturday afternoon was headed by the band. The band members, who were dressed in their uniforms, led by the two drum majors, Lois Ann Peterson and Bernice Larson, made an attractive appearance on the street. The Warren band and the Red Lake Falls band were invited to come and participate in the parade. The three bands, playing, provided music enough for a great part of the afternoon.

Saturday night a group of about twenty band members got together and paraded around town playing as they marched. The crowds uptown enjoyed this just as much as the band members did.

CORN FESTIVAL PROCLAIMED TO BE HUGE SUCCESS

Students Have Good Time; Large Numbers Attend

The celebrated corn festival held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday in this city furnished considerable entertainment for the students of Lincoln high school.

On Thursday evening, Bemidji brought "Babe" their Blue Ox, belonging to Paul Bunyan, down and made up a parade. Paul Bunyan was unable to come, probably a result of a slight cold. Following the parade, the beautiful Corn Palace was unveiled and dedicated by the Honorable Wm. Lemke. Immediately after there was a dance in the Corn Palace.

Friday morning and afternoon the singing cowboys entertained the people on the streets. That evening our football team ushered at the wrestling match, which took place in the city auditorium. Following the wrestling, another dance took place in the Corn Palace.

The pet parade, one of the most important events of the three days made up the afternoon program on Saturday. About 75 or more youngsters of the community participated. After this the contestants were treated to ice cream and candy, and were admitted free to the matinee at the Avalon Theatre. During the day several bands both from out of town and from our own school marched through the streets. The outstanding event Saturday night was the crowning of Miss Thief River Falls and The Corn Palace Queen as the climax of a voting contest which has been under way the past few weeks. Helen Anderson, a 1937 graduate of this city became Miss "Thief River Falls." The "Corn Palace Queen" was—and oooh, were we proud, Ann Hanson. Ann was robed in a cape made up of corn kernels for the crowning.

The music for the dances was furnished by the famous Wit Thoma and his orchestra.

An added attraction was the small carnival, consisting of three rides, a gold digger machine, and several stands on the corner of Main Avenue and Second street.

Many students attended the dances and had a grand time over the week end.

TATTER AND PRATTLE

And do we ever like to see the faculty members "trypin the light fantastic" over the week-end—there's a lot more dances coming up.

And did you all notice that diamond studded watch on Ann H? Congratulations Ann—you sure deserved it—

Did you notice all the freshmen talent at the dance? The meek little things were a bit weary—well Dorothy B. and Marilyn N.—you gotta learn sometime and nows the time.

Notice all the sleepy-heads in school on Friday? Could it be—but, of course, it couldn't be that the Corn Festival was responsible.

Getting up at 5 a. m. is no joke—even if we do like duck dinners.

The teachers seem to be turning out en masse(as us Freshmen would say) at the Arena hops.

The mid-season football mark has been passed and the Prowlers are again being acclaimed as the "undefeated" Prowlers. Four games have been played and the Lincolnites record stands at four wins and no defeats. The Leemen's complete mastery over their previous foes can best be exemplified by cold statistics which are perhaps more reliable than hot adjectives. They have compiled the overwhelming total of one hundred and twenty-six points to their opponents six in four contests which gives the Prowlers the high average of over thirty-one points per game. In none of the games have the Prowlers scored less than twenty five points. We are willing to wager that if the first contest were replayed our foes would not advance the pigskin beyond the Prowler twenty yard line. It was in this game that the six points were registered before the Prowler defense was not fully developed and were not accustomed to working together. We wonder if pessimistic local fanatics are ready to concede that Coach Lee has a real ball club.

Three contests remain on the locals' suicide schedule. Mahnomen, Warren and the Bemidji Lumberjacks have yet to feel the onslaught of the Leemen's crushing attack. The Prowlers are slight favorites to whip the Mahnomen eleven, top heavy favorites over Warren, and should not be rated worse than even choices against the Lumberjacks. Some ardent fans are even giving the Lincolnites a 50-50 chance to close the season undefeated. This is expecting a bit too much, but with enthusiastic support, a lot of team fight, and a bit of luck here and there it still must be regarded as a possibility.

There is but one way those of us who are not on the team can help to continue the Prowlers reputation and that is by lending our whole hearted support in the remaining contests.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

This person is tall and has a medium light complexion. She is 17 years of age and is nuts for banana splits. She favors French I of all her subjects and she loves a good basket-ball game. Evy (her nickname) feels that the book "Beloved Woman" by Kathleen Norris should be filmed and that the cinema "Married Before Breakfast" beats all. She is not partial to any star except Bette Davis and that's only because Evy doesn't like her. Nope, guess again. This person reads Fritz Ritz every day. She hates to hurry and says as much by exclaiming "Oh Bunk!" Singing is her secret ambition and Lulu Belle is her inspiration.

You guessed it—Evelyn Arlyne Bredland.

He is tall, dark and he's an egotistical-looking thing to say the least but I s'pose that's a matter of opinion, eh, Lorraine Baken? (That lets the cat out of the bag). Well anyway, he was born in 1920 (17 years ago if your reasoning facilities are in a run-down condition) and he's a born "football and basketball both" player. He says his nickname is Gordy but I call him Algerman. Algerman reads books by Melville, "Moby Dick" being the one. This boy likes anything if its food. He likes all of his subjects but none in particular. His favor goes to the cinema, "Varsity Show" and his favorite stars are Rosemary Lane, Rosemary Lane, and Rosemary Lane. Gordy's hobby is listening to the radio and he's in love with "popeye, the Sailor Man." His exclamations are frequent and varied. He yearns to be successful but feels inspired by no man. (Independent cuss!)

No need for guessing, it's James Gordon Caldis.

"Lefty" is a hefty! His height is medium and so is flower-like complexion and his hair loves his face. Of course you all know that he is an ardent football fan and player. He likes no subject in particular but he goes for coconaut pie any time. "Lefty" emphatically does not read books. He likes the movie "Slim" and anyone who might happen to play the parts in it. I forgot to mention "Lefty" is 17 years of age, and this probably accounts for his dislike of "guys who talk too much". When I asked what his pet exclamation was he replied that what he said wasn't publishable. Hm, nice boy! He reads "Bringing Up Father" daily. This guy wants to be a football player so he's modeling himself after Widseth, co-captain of the Gophers in 1936. We know this is foolish because Lefty is none other than Raymond Gilbert Bredeson.

EXCHANGE

The students of the Warren High School have organized a new athletic club named the "Warren Hi Athletic Klub." It has been formed to sponsor pep and if they need that little three lettered word as much as we do—well, I think it's a keen idea and here's to them!

We see by the Oklee Hi Times that they too have dense freshmen. One of the teachers was testing the late eighth graders intelligence and she said, "Who said, 'I came to buy Caeser'?" "Please teacher," said the Frosh, "I betcha it wuz the undertaker." Some thinking, huh?

The "Concordian" informs us that Miss Stella Myrom, a former student of Lincoln High, has been elected president of the Omicron Tau Delta, a home economics club.

The senior band of the Sherburn high school has an enrollment of 32 players and will have a new musical folio, the "Festival Band Folio."

The Oklee school paper seems to be one up on us. They have some good jokes concerning freshmen but then—

Frosh: "I've come here to make an honest effort."

INDIANS SLATED TO BE PROWLERS NEXT OPPONENT

Mahnomen Team Prepared to Trip Undefeated Prowlers

Although earlier predictions on this sheet stated that the Prowlers would meet only three really strong teams in their schedule, namely, East Grand Forks, Grafton, and Bemidji, later developments have proved different. Mahnomen could be substituted for either of the first two teams and the prediction would run closer to form.

Late reports from Mahnomen state that public spirit for the Thief River Falls game on Friday is running high, nearly to the point of boiling over. The Indians will be celebrating their annual homecoming which will only add to their spirit and zest. Still smarting from last year's 33 to 0 defeat Mahnomen is to quote Coach Lee "lying in the bush for the Prowlers". This is absolutely correct and for that reason an upset is possible.

The locals are expected to go into the game at full strength, none of the boys having been injured in last week's contest with Grafton. "Babe" Nesse, shifty left halfback and "Bones" Stadum, left tackle, have been taking practise light this week because of an auto accident on Sunday. However, neither of the boys suffered any serious injury and will play Friday against the Indians. Mel Houghom, who has been absent from school and the team because of work reported for practise on Monday but eligibility rules will undoubtedly keep him out of the game tomorrow afternoon.

OCTOBER OGGLING

Remember that hair-pulling that was mentioned last week? Well—the statement still stands only on stronger legs.

Guess the Senior class has got everything—no comments, Underclassmen! As a matter of fact they've even got cooperation-plus. For instance Caldis and Lorentson (the toughest one). No insinuations but we saw said fellow scratching the other guys head.

Seems as though the atmosphere is warm—or may we say hot among a selected group of mixed students. And it's all on account of that haunting habit of us all talking when and where talking's not needed.

What would the town do without the high school? Just think what the Corn Festival would have done without us, particularly Ann H. You did right well for yourself there, Ann!

And don't forget the Senior sales campaign. It won't hurt you folks to dig out a cent or 35 for the Seniors. If you don't, they'll pester you until you will dig for relief!

Sophomore Class Meeting Held Thursday Afternoon

Last Thursday after school, the sophomore class held its first meeting to elect their class officers for the year. Donald Pederson, last years president, called the meeting to order and asked for nominations for the different officers.

It seemed that the pupils wanted to nominate half the class before starting to vote. Finally a motion was made and carried, that only three persons were to be nominated for each office.

After all the votes had been cast and counted, it was found that Wayne Bredeson has the honor of being the sophomore class president. The following were elected to the other offices: Loren Jung, Vice President, James Borreson, secretary, Kevin O'Malley, treasurer, and Mr. Harrison and Miss Dahlen, advisors.

PROWLING AROUND

Last year the Mahnomen Indians came here with the reputation of having lost only one game in three years. They suffered a rude setback, when coach Lee's aggregation humiliated them with a 33 to 0 walloping. The Prowlers find themselves in almost a similar position when they face the Indians on foreign ground next Friday. Mahnomen will not only be fighting for revenge but to end the Prowlers undefeated record at four straight. With due respect to what Nebraska did to Minnesota, we see a Prowler triumph by at least three touchdowns despite the fact that Mahnomen is expected to furnish the stoutest opposition to date.

Two of last year's regular Prowler backs are finishing their high school football careers on distant gridirons. One is the quarterback, Roger Wessling, a precision like blocker, who has seen some service on the big Minneapolis Central eleven. The other is swivel-hipped Pomeroy Hill, the fleet halfback and scoring leader of the Prowlers in 1936. Hill is a regular halfback on the undefeated Fargo high eleven which recently whipped the famed Minot Magicians 13-6. Hill scored one of the touchdowns for Fargo. Captain Milt Nesse of the '36 eleven is considered as one of the most promising Frosh ball carriers at St. Olaf college at Northfield. These accomplishments speak well of the brand of football taught here by Coach George Lee.

When the time comes to select the most valuable player on the Prowler squad, Loren "Bones" Stadum is going to receive a lot of consideration. "Bones" has been a bulwark on defense at tackle in all of the games played to date besides being a powerful charger on offense. In the Grafton game, big "Bones" rampaged like a huge army tank out of control to spill Grafton backs for losses repeatedly. On offense he blasted holes large enough to drive a locomotive through, and was generally accepted as the star of the game. His game last week was no exception either. He's just one swell ball player, that "Bones" is.

CHORUS

The mixed chorus is making rapid developments. They are memorizing various pieces and in a short while, they will be able to present them. The glee clubs and boy's octette is also making progress.

SENIORS HOLD HOMECOMING PEP FEST LAST MON.

Candidates for Queen and Attendants Are Chosen

You all know we are to have a homecoming, but do you know what a homecoming is?

Most colleges and universities and some high schools have homecomings. At this time they invite the alumni of the school to come and look at the school, football team, and the program prepared for them.

This year Lincoln High has decided to have their first annual homecoming. It is to be held at the time of what we think is the toughest game of the season. That game will be held Friday, October 29, at 8:00 o'clock with our Prowlers versus Bemidji. So far this team of Lincoln High has been undefeated.

Thursday, October 28 the program will be carried out.

The greatest pep parade Lincoln High has had will be held Thursday night with all classes represented. Yells and the like will be given at different street corners to create a gigantic amount of pep. The parade will start from the school and end at the baseball diamond behind the school where a big bon fire will be held and stunts given by each class.

Friday night prior to the game another pep parade will be held to create an interest and get the biggest crowd possible for the games. Those participating in the parade who plan to go to the game will have seats reserved for them, so there is no need of worry about getting a seat.

In order to create a little more pep, souvenirs have been acquired and will be sold to all. Five hundred footballs have been ordered, but as yet, have not arrived. The footballs are gold with Homecoming—Prowlers—1937 written on them. Extending from each is a blue and gold ribbon. These are to be sold at the price of 15c, the cheapest price possible.

To go on sale immediately are blue and gold badges to wear on your sweaters, jackets, or coat sleeves. These have a picture of a panther and Prowler written on them. They are to be sold for 20c.

Every homecoming has its queen and attendants. The ten candidates for attendents are, in order of their standing: Adelaide Peterson, Dorothy Borgen, Dorothy Robarge, Adelaine Lorentson, Anna Hanson, Joyce Olson, Marcella Ruane, Frances Stenberg, Elaine Douglas, and Joyce Bennes.

The six candidates for queen are, in order of their standing: Margaret McKechnie, Lorraine Baken, Lorraine Amundson, Margaret Jacobson, Yvonne Anderson, and Fae Belcher.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

NO HANGOVERS FOR U. S. A. EMPLOYEES

Under the Administration that brought back legalized liquor, drunkenness is strictly forbidden for all Government employees. W. H. Reynolds, administrative assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury, has set down the order prohibiting all drinking by Government employees during working hours, including the lunch period, and all drinking at any time that results in the employee coming to work in the morning under the influence of liquor. There is the same penalty for drinking during leisure hours, if such drinking produces noticeable effects, as drinking during working hours. And the penalty is heavy; suspension for sixty days without pay, if the employee's record otherwise is good and it is a first offense; instant dismissal, if the record is bad or it is a second offense. Thus the Administration that expected to increase its revenues by heavy taxes on beverage alcohol, legally recognized, and succeeded in that purpose, has found its own workers handicapped by drinking.

LADY ASTOR, C. H.

The best known woman's name in the Coronation Honours list was that of Lady Astor, who becomes a Companion of Honour. Had the conferment of honours been in the hands of the liquor trade she would probably have received a brickbat instead of a bouquet, for she is one of the most fearless, as well as one of the wittiest, of its opponents.

Where these lines meet is "THE END OF THE ROAD"
INFERIOR, temporary highway surfaces clamor for more and more maintenance and reconstruction year after year. Eventually, any new roads are out of the question. All the annual road money goes for upkeep! Then, "the end of the road" has been reached, both literally and figuratively.
But Here's Big News!
Taxpayers save from $88 to $469 per mile per year in the cost of surface maintenance on concrete highways compared with other types of pavement.
This statement is based on the actual reports of surface maintenance costs on 135,000 miles of pavement in 21 states—every state that publishes these records.
Concrete is the standard by which all roads are judged... insuring maximum safety, comfort and economy for motorists. High visibility at night...easy on tires, gas and repairs.
Demand concrete for your roads.
Following figures, taken from Minnesota Highway reports, show that Maintenance costs are increasing more rapidly than motor vehicle revenues:

Year	Motor Vehicle Revenue	Maintenance Costs	Per Cent
1933	$4,233,955	$3,279,060	84
1934	8,004,153	6,241,963	79
1935	6,963,930	7,600,222	110

STATE TAX LEVY PAYABLE IN 1938 TO BE TEN MILLS

Rate Certified to Counties by State Auditor Stafford King

A state tax levy of ten mills, of which 6.95 mills is for relief and old age assistance, was certified to county auditors Thursday by Stafford King, state auditor.

The levy, on 1937 taxes payable in 1938, makes no provisions for the general revenue fund, but it is the highest possible under the law passed by the last special session of the legislature, King said. In 1936 the levy was based on 12.15 mills.

Based on an estimated revenue of approximately $1,100,000 from each mill of tax levy, the relief appropriation would total nearly $7,650,000, he said.

However the state auditor explained, a considerable part of the relief appropriation is for expenditures for that purpose since 1933, for which certificates of indebtedness were issued. Part of these certificates will become due each year for some time to come, he said.

While the levy certified is not sufficient to take care of all state expenses, there are two sources provided by law by which money may be secured for the general revenue fund.

The legislature, when it limited the state tax levy to ten mills, also gave the state executive council authority to borrow up to $9,000,000 for the general revenue fund and a standing act permits the state to temporarily overdraw the fund up to $6,000,000 by using other moneys of the common wealth.

King said it is estimated approximately $11,000,000 will be received from the ten-mill tax.

It is difficult, however, to figure the income the state will receive for the fund from other taxes, such as gross earnings, inheritance and iron ore royalty taxes, he said and therefore it is impossible at this time to determine the amount of the overdraft which will accrue to the fund in the next two fiscal years, ending June 30, 1939.

MOTORIST GETS OWN CHANGE AT STATION

Ortonville.—A light fingered artist "made his own change" when he stopped for gas recently at an oil station at Cashtown in the western part of the state, and the net result was a five dollar loss to the station attendant. The man, with a woman and child, drove up to the station to purchase three gallons of gas, which were put in by the relief attendant while the driver got out of the car, saying he wanted to get a drink of water for the woman and child. First, however, he instructed Robert Zeck, the attendant, to fill the radiator. While Zeck was busy outside, the driver opened the desk drawer in which money is kept and pocketed a five dollar bill. Going out, he nonchalantly paid for the three gallons and drove off. Zeck, noticing the loss shortly after, notified police, but the man was not to be found.

Red River Valley History

By Wm. V. Working

High School Football in 1908

Sometimes it is permissable to write an article designed to interest especially only a select few. Today we present an article from the Thief River Press of Oct. 2, 1908, addressed to the students of the Thief River Falls high school, particularly the members of the football squad which embraces (pardon the pun), we take it, also the young ladies of the high school who are interested in the game—and the players. Here is the article:

"First Football Game Tomorrow

"Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the fairgrounds in this city will occur the first football game of the season when the Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls high school teams meet in a gridiron battle. All previous games between these teams have resulted in overwhelming victories for the county seat town, but prospects are more than favorable for a change in the tide of fortune this year.

"The local team is made up of some mighty fast players, though nearly all of them are new at the game. Prof. Deal, who is coaching the team, is a master of the open game and has done some remarkable work in whipping the players into shape.

"Two hours of practice each evening since school started has been the regular routine, the working consisting of signal practice and falling on the ball. On Tuesday the tackling dummy was put into use for the first time. The main idea now is to keep the players in the game and not allow them to fear their opponents as do most first-year men. The following lineup, which is subject to change, will give a good idea of the strength of the team:

"At present there are about 20 candidates for the first team, all of whom will be used in tomorrow's game. The team will average about 120 pounds, a good average for a high school team.

"Fosston, champion last year, will come for a game on October 10, while the team will go to Warren to play October 17. Games are being arranged with Fertile and Crookston as are also return games with the other teams. Prof. Deal has a large variety of plays, using at present about 20 different ones."

In those good old days below "Doc" Williams was the football coach at the University of Minnesota and the game was at an early high tide. In northern Minnesota when the chill of fall lent a tang to the air football was the order of the day, so to speak. In truth, it had not as yet become as solidly entrenched as it is today but its very novelty added to its popularity then.

That was 29 years ago. Boys of high school age then are grandfathers now in a few instances at least. Their sons long ago passed through their football experience. Too, the changes that have taken place in the playing of the game, in the rules, in other words, are remarkable. In fact, it probably would be difficult for one who last saw a football game in 1908 to recognize the 1937 brand as its modern version.

In 1908 football teams traveled usually either by train or team as automobiles were few and in this section roads were not so good for motor vehicles. But that fact did not detract one whit from the appeal of the game or the trip to a neighboring town. It is probable, on the other hand, that the very fact that travel was more arduous or as common made these journeys all the more desirable.

The writer has tried to recall the names of some of the Minnesota University's stars of that year but cannot do so. However, it seems probable that the great Johnny McGovern was at or near his zenith as a gridiron star in that year. Much water has gone under the bridge since then and many a pigskin has gone into the discard but the game still reigns supreme in the fall in America, at least in the northern half of the country.

The writer does not know just what the prospects of the 1937 Thief River Falls high school grid team are and confesses he has not read any item about the team that may have appeared in the Times recently, but he wishes the team the best of luck.

Growing With Your Child

Shock Absorbers

University of Minnesota Institute of Child Welfare

"There are in the United States," says Dr. Frankwood Williams, "some 200 public hospitals for those ill of mental disease maintained by the various states or by the Federal government. . . The annual maintenance costs amount to approximately $63,673,159.60. There are admitted to these hospitals each year 70,000 new patients.

"This meant that there were, somewhere within the United States, 700,000 persons going daily about their work, in the homes, in the schools, in the universities, in the offices and factories, all of whom would have found his or her bed in a hospital for mental disease by the time ten years had passed."

This, and other statements as staggering to the imagination, have made us aware in a vague sort of way of the tremendous problem of finding and organizing ways and means of preventing nervous and mental disease. Without going into the question of background reasons for such conditions it is obvious to all of us that in a world of hurry and confusion, of almost savage competition and strain, everyone needs frequent, if temporary, release from the stresses of "civilized" life. Each of us needs ways of finding himself, of expressing his individuality in work or play that has meaning and value to himself alone.

Shock absorbers, we might call such ways and means of warding off the stresses that threaten mental health. Avocations by which an individual is safeguarded against being rubbed on the raw, against being crushed and belittled by the forces that emphasize his unimportance, are wholesome when they restore to him some of the natural confidence and resiliency with which all normal children start out in the world.

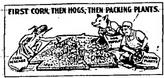
But why wait until strain is present? Why not build up in children such possibilities of self-expression that they have certain skills and interests on which to fall back, when they find themselves tired and harassed? Every time we encourage the development of an absorbing, soul-or-body-satisfying interest, we are investing in the "shock absorbers" that may help to keep nerves unstrained and mental processes well-balanced. The inclusion of worthwhile hobbies in the everyday program of every boy and girl should go a long way toward keeping them happy and sane under conditions that might otherwise prove intolerable. A well known judge finds relief from the strain of perplexing mental decisions in working on the lathe in his basement. A woman who sells insurance spends her leisure time in painting and sculpture. Both of these persons crave an outlet in manual work, something that their vocations deny them. To a person who must be constantly in the society of other people, reading may be the shock absorber that refreshes, and relieves tension. To one who must work alone a great deal, the friendliness of a hiking club may offer just what is needed.

No matter what it may be, everyone needs some interest, some ability, something that he can talk about with pride and enjoyment. If it can be something that he is a little better at than the person he's talking to, so much the better! Everyone needs to be set up now and again by a feeling of superiority that comes all too seldom.

Mercy and Humanity

When a man cares not what suffering he causes others, and especially if he delights in other men's sufferings and makes them his sport, this is cruelty. And not to be affected with the sufferings of other people, though they proceed not from others, or from causes in which we are not concerned is unmercifulness. Mercy and humanity are the reverse of these.

The Invasion of the Northwest Corn Belt—1910-34



For many years corn production has marched steadily westward and northward, closely pursued by hog raising, which, in turn, has been followed by the packing plant. The most recent invasion has been into the five Northwest Corn Belt States (Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, and the Dakotas). During the twenty-five year period (1910-1934) shown in the graph above, corn acreage increased 60%; hog production, 60%; and federally inspected hog slaughter, 140%. (U. S. Dept. of Agr.)

These changes in corn and hog production in the Northwest Corn Belt occurred simultaneously with reductions in other corn and hog producing sections. Meat packing, as a matter of necessity, followed its moving source of supply. As a result of these changed economic conditions, the Corn Belt's most flourishing industries — corn and hog production and meat packing — have gradually shifted center. This shift to the Northwest is undoubtedly one of the fundamental reasons for the growth of the direct selling of hogs in this area.

Pokey Drivers Violate State's New Road Laws, Says Traffic Engineer

"Pokey drivers are a menace on the highway and whether they know it or not are breaking the state law when their road pace forces traffic constantly to pass around them." Thus does W. F. Rosenwald, state traffic engineer of the state highway department, classify the driver who loafs down the highway with no regard for the traffic behind.

"It's true that in most instances the persons who drive 30 miles an hour in zones where a speed of far is reasonable are of the old school and sincerely look at themselves as the only drivers practicing safety on the road. Ironically, they go dangerously slow because they believe in safety.

"But if the tortoise-like drivers would consider that they are forcing traffic of normal speed to flow around their cars thereby chancing headons with traffic from the opposite direction. If they would consider the chances that impatient drivers will take to pass them, if they would consider the wear and tear on the nerves of the drivers behind them, they cannot help but become aware that they are not safe drivers but dangerous drivers who at times constitute a bigger threat to life and limb than the motorist who consistently drives over sixty. They gamble with their neighbors' lives if not with their own.

"Consequently the new uniform traffic code makes it a misdemeanor to drive so slow as to impede traffic. The inordinately slow driver should take into consideration others who are using the road.

The highway patrol has been ordered to pointedly warn pokey drivers to step up their speed to a reasonable rate. If these warnings are not heeded, they have instructions to bring offenders into court for prosecution.

Early English Pottery

In the Eighteenth century some of the most charming productions of the English potteries took the form of figure studies, such as pastoral groups, nymphs and shepherds, courting couples, gallants and their ladies, historical, mythological and fiction characters, birds, animals, even cottages with a bit of green grass and climbing roses over the porch—all of these realistically portrayed in the same materials of which your cups and saucers and plates are made.

STATE GAS TAX BILL TO SHOW $4,000,000 GAIN

The tax bill of Minnesota motorists for 1937 will show a gain of $4,000,000 over 1936, Joseph R. Schroeder of Minneapolis, secretary of the Minnesota Petroleum Industries committee, said at the closing session of the interstate conference on automotive taxation in Chicago. The increased revenue is due to the one cent increase in the gasoline tax and to increased consumption of gasoline in the state. This increase represents eight months collections of the additional one cent tax which became effective May 1, 1937. It is estimated that the increase for an entire year would be $6,000,000.

Carnation, an Old Flower

The history of the carnation family runs back to 300 B. C. The name was derived from the clove tree by the Greeks, due to the scent of the blooms, no doubt, the specific name of which is Caryophyllus aromaticus. The development of the carnation as a greenhouse flower has been carried on in America since 1852, and the first hybridizing work was done on Long Island.

Don't Overstrain Heart Capacity, Advises State Medical Association

A true conception of the heart and its capacity for work might prevent some people from using up their own stores of vital energy and courting heart failure before their time, says a bulletin issued today by the Minnesota State Medical Association's Committee on Public Health Education.

The Committee points out in the bulletin that each individual heart possesses its own "vital capacity", that is, a certain definite amount of energy that it can furnish under ideal conditions. This fund of energy is greater than is needed for the heart to do its ordinary work year in and year out. When the heart is forced to do more than its normal allotment of work, however, or when it encounters "bad weather" such as infections or other forms of poisoning, this energy is used up prematurely and the individual's life span is shortened.

When more than the normal amount of energy is persistently needed to supply the demand on the heart, as in the case of some athletes and others in strenuous occupations, the heart enlarges, the amount of enlargement depending upon the extra energy needed and the amount of vital power left in the heart.

This enlargement of the heart does not, in the best opinion, increase the total amount of energy possessed by the heart. It is simply a process by which the heart is enabled to expend more energy in any given time, thus expending the total amount available faster.

The heart may put out more than the normal amount of work for days and years and even decades. But in the end, barring accidents, death will come sooner because of it.

Minnesota NRS Reports September Placements

The 27 offices of the National Reemployment Service in Minnesota made a combined total of 6,430 placements during September, according to R. S. Eldevik, manager of the Thief River Falls office, who has just received a state report from his headquarters office in St. Paul headed by Dreng Bjornaraa, state director. Of these placements, 2,854, or 53 per cent were in private employment, the remainder in public projects, such as P.W.A., highway, etc.

A further breakdown of the figures, reveal that 879 of the jobs were handled through clearance procedure, indicating that it was necessary to refer this number of men from area to area where workers were needed but none were available locally.

During September 2,311 new applications were received by all offices, including 154 from the local office. All NRS offices in the state had in their active files at the end of September 42,912 applications, including 2,777 war veterans.

"BORROWED" GAS ISN'T RETURNED

Austin.—Although their faith in man's honesty has been dealt a severe blow, Doris, 9, and Agnes, 11, still cling to the hope that a motorist will return the can and gasoline he borrowed from them. Doris and Agnes were alone in the D. H. Duffy farm home four miles east of Austin when a man in overalls and cap came to the door. He asked for gasoline, and when told by the girls that they did not know whether there was any gasoline in the house, the man demanded, "Well, look around for some." The girls found a three-gallon can, about half full, and gave it to the man who promised that he would go to the nearest gas station to fill his tank and that he would then return the can and the gasoline. Although there is a gasoline pump [illegible] east and another one mile west of the Duffy home, the "borrower" did not return.

Five other divisions will hold meetings next week, October 21 to 22, at St. Cloud, Bemidji, Winona, Mankato, and Moorhead. The final division convention will be held by the Minneapolis and St. Paul divisions in St. Paul, October 28 to 29.

The Northern Division which meets at Bemidji October 21 and 22 will be addressed by Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction of Iowa, on "The Unique Function" at its opening meeting. MANUFACTURING TRACTORS BECOMES A SIMPLE TRICK

Detroit Lakes.—Allen and Waino Wirkkanen, Wolf Lake brothers, think tractor manufacturing is pretty much a simple trick.—just another way of making a living. For more than year these two brothers have, in a small way been manufacturing tractors, inexpensive tractors which sell at from $150 to $200. Of course, the machines are homemade. That is to say, they are constructed from second hand automobile parts, each tractor being different with exception of one standard feature, that each of the twenty tractors now in use in this community actually works. Some of the tractors have Chevrolet motors, others a Star motor, and still others a Buick motor. Many of the tractors, especially those built from parts from a light car, have two differentials to give them the power needed in the fields.

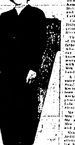
4-H STYLE QUEEN



HELEN ARBUCKLE, 20, of LeSueur, Minn., is the year's state 4-H "Style Queen", being chosen from 89 county entries by Extension Leaders at the state fair. Her costume, made in her seventh year of club work, is a black wool shantung, tailored dress trimmed with cire braid with a white silk ascot and accessories to match. Total cost was $15.65. She will represent the state's 31,000 4-H girls in the National 4-H Style Revue to be held in Chicago, December 1 as a feature of the National 4-H Club Congress, to which she receives an all-expense trip from the Chicago Mail Order Company. Lorraine Trebaus of Spring Grove was last year's entry and a blue ribbon winner.

PRISONER KICKS BUT GUESTS COMPLIMENT

Two Harbors.—Guests dropping in at the Lake county farm for dinner one day saved the veteran cook at the farm his job, for they came just when one of the inmates made arrangements to have the cook discharged. County agent Torstein Grinager, Clerk of Court Ira W. Foote, and C. M. Hillman, for whom the latchstring at the county farm had been hanging out all summer, found time Monday to make the call and arrived unexpectedly just after the inmate had announced he intended to go before the county board to petition the removal of the head of the culinary department of the farm. The menu included roast pork, baked potatoes and gravy, buttered peas, fresh cucumbers and bread, of which everyone had two helpings, topped off with two pieces of pie and spice cookies.

STEINER

Those out of town who attended the funeral of I. Olson in Thief River Falls Saturday afternoon were Elmer Gilbertson and Alice and Robert Bailey of Hartland, Mrs. S. Knol of Greenway, N. D., Oscar Holbeck of McHenry, Oscar and Conrad Berg and Mrs. T. Hoe of Hatton, N. D., Ole Berg of Kempton, N. D., and Mr. and Mrs. H. Holman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jacobson and Mrs. R. Jacobson, all of Grand Forks, N. D.

Congratulations go to Miss Eunice Hiller of this community who won a prize of $10 at the corn palace in Thief River Falls Saturday evening.

This community was shocked to hear of the death of Mrs. Agnes Waring's father, S. Olson of Thief River Falls, who passed away at his home on Tuesday morning, Oct. 5th. He was well known in this community and had many friends here. We sympathize with Mrs. Waring and her mother, Mrs. Olson in the loss of a loving husband and father.

A few friends and relatives were entertained at the John Whitman home Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Keene of Chillalle, Wash., who have been visiting here the past three weeks with the Whitman's. Those present were Mrs. Amanda Jobb, Mrs. Lola Leitchman and son Robert, and Elsie Waring all of Thief River Falls.

CITY COUNCIL MAKES LOWER LEVY FOR 1938

Sets Levy at $39,700 Compared to $43,520.30 This Year

RATE FOR CITY NEEDS TO BE ABOUT 28 MILLS

Outlay for the Coming Year Estimated to Total $190,760

Altho the city in 1938 will be required to retire $39,000 in bonds, $9,000 more than fall due this year, the city council at an adjourned session Friday evening voted to raise only $39,700 thru the 1937 tax levy, compared to $43,520.30 payable this year.

The reduction, City Clerk P. G. Pederson explained, is made possible by several factors, including the existence of an estimated balance in the city treasury of $14,000 at the beginning of the coming year; smaller requirements for the relief of the poor; and an indicated increase in receipts of the light and water department during the coming year.

The levy as drafted includes the following items, the corresponding figures for the past year also being given:

	1936	1937
Auditorium	$5,000	$5,000
Poor relief	12,000	5,000
Library	4,000	4,500
Permanent Impr.	8,000	4,000
Parks	4,000	5,100
Cemetery	400	1,000
Band	700	700
Paving Impr. No. 1	7,000	7,00
Sinking fund for arena bonds		5,000
Interest		1,500
	$41,000	$38,800

To these totals are to be added levies by the county auditor for principal and interest on a state loan to the city aggregating $2,520.30 payable during the current year and $900 payable in 1938, making the total levy for city purposes for the coming year $39,700 compared to $43,520.30 payable in 1937.

On the basis of the funds to be raised, it was indicated that the tax rate for city purposes will be between 28 and 29 mills, compared to the 1936 rate of 31.11 mills. The levy for state purposes will be 10 mills, compared to 12.45 for 1936, while the school district rate will remain at 38.5 mills, unchanged from 1936. City Clerk Pederson estimated that if the rate for county purposes is not set at a higher figure than 37 mills, residents of Thief River Falls will be required to pay taxes on the basis of a total rate slightly below the 1936 rate of 114.66 mills.

The council at its meeting approved a budget in which the requirements for the operation of all departments as well as bond and interest payments, were estimated at a total of $190,760. Total estimated general receipts exclusive of the tax levy were fixed at $139,820, of which amount $102,500 represents the estimated receipts of the electric light department.

Little current is being produced at present by the water turbines, Mr. Legvold said.

The facilities of the Thief River Falls cooperative creamery have recently been improved by the installation of an automatic cream can sterilizer. Washing, sterilizing and drying the cans in one operation at the rate of six a minute, G. S. Bergland, manager, stated that the new equipment will aid materially in improving the quality of cream delivered by patrons of the plant. He added that the butter output of the creamery for the first nine months of the year to October 1 is 90,000 pounds above the corresponding period last year. A price of 40 cents a pound for sweet cream butterfat was set for September deliveries, the highest figure in recent months.

JOIN RED CROSS

In connection with the forthcoming annual Red Cross roll call to be conducted thruout the nation, Mrs. Mary V. Shaw chairman of the Pennington county chapter, and Mrs. H. A. Brumund, roll call chairman, today issued the following appeal to citizens of this community:

"The Red Cross, thru you and millions of other Americans, assisted 245,000 families in the Ohio-Mississippi valley flood area last spring, giving them food, clothing, shelter and medical care, and later repairing or rebuilding and furnishing homes that needed such work. The $25,000,000 given by the American people reached the lives of 1,063,000 individuals who were affected by the high waters of those two great rivers.

"Remember those figures when a friend or neighbor asks you what was done with the money contributed during the days the radio was making appeals and the newspapers were full of high water stories. After these plain facts, which really are only a part of what the Red Cross has accomplished in the past twelve months, don't you agree that the battles of the Red Cross have been extended over a wide front?

"However, the fight is not finished, the victory is not complete. There is too much to be done, and the Red Cross must carry thru to the finish. And this work can be made possible each year only by the annual Red Cross roll call. Fall into the ranks of peacetime fighters by joining or rejoining, and while you are doing it, why not ask your neighbor to join too. We need a lot of recruits, and the struggles ahead are great. Let every one hear the call to arms in this annual drive."

PROWLERS MEET WARREN ELEVEN SATURDAY NIGHT

Win Fifth Game of Season at Mahnomen Last Friday; Score 12 to 7

With a record of five successive victories to its credit, Coach George E. Lee's Lincoln high school football team will meet the Warren high school eleven on the Lincoln athletic field Saturday evening at 9 o'clock. The contest was originally scheduled for Friday evening, but was changed to Saturday to avoid a conflict with the teachers convention in Bemidji this week-end.

The Warren team, while not highly rated this season, last Friday defeated Crookston high school 7-0, and can be depended on to exert its full strength against the Prowlers.

The local eleven met stiff opposition in its latest game played last Friday at Mahnomen, but emerged victorious by a score of 12 to 7. The Prowlers scored their first touchdown early in the game following a forward pass from Nesse to Bredeson. Shanahan and Caldis shared in the second counter in the third period. Mahnomen unleashed an aerial attack in the final quarter and scored following a successful 35-yard pass.

The interior of the theatre is modernistically decorated in shades of blue, light tan and red brown, with beautiful lighting effects provided by neon wall lights affording an infinite variety of color combinations. The seats have air-filled cushions with red backs and are spaced 32 inches apart to give ample leg room.

Mr. Baehr stated that Gail Bush, now manager of the Avalon, will also be in charge of the Falls Theatre, and will be assisted by Carl Galle of the Avalon and William Sexton of Bemidji. Programs will change Saturday at midnight as well as on Wednesdays and Fridays. The theatre is equipped with Western Electric Mirrorphonic sound facilities with six loud speakers and one of the largest projection screens in the state.

Ben Bredeson of Bemidji had the general contract for the construction of the building, while lighting effects were supplied by the Felton Neon company of Hibbing, decorating by Dahlstrom & Weinberger of Minneapolis, drapes and curtains by the National Theatre Supply company, and metal work by the Greenberg Sheet Metal Works of Grand Forks.

The Baehr interests also operate theatres in Bemidji, Alexandria, Wahpeton, Ely, Breckenridge, Park Rapids, Brainerd and two in International Falls.

DISASTROUS FIRE HITS ST. HILAIRE EARLY YESTERDAY

Two Buildings Destroyed, Third Damaged in Night Fire

The most disastrous fire in the recent history of St. Hilaire visited that village at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, destroying two buildings and badly damaging a third.

The blaze, which started in Schmidt's cafe and the origin of which was not determined, burned that building to the ground and then spread to the Bilden & Olsen structure, which also was destroyed. Before being brought under control the flames attacked the St. Hilaire Spectator office, burning the north wall and doing much damage to stock and fixtures.

Aid extended by the Red Lake Falls fire department is credited with having kept the fire from spreading further. Members of the Thief River Falls fire department went down with chemicals, but the blaze had too much headway for them to be of any avail.

MANUFACTURING TRACTORS BECOMES A SIMPLE TRICK

Detroit Lakes.—Allen and Watno Wirkkanen, Wolf Lake brothers, think tractor manufacturing is pretty much a simple trick.—just another way of making a living. For more than year these two brothers have, in a small way been manufacturing tractors, inexpensive tractors which sell at from $150 to $200. Oy course, the machines are homemade. That is to say, they are constructed from second hand automobile parts, each tractor being different with exception of one standard feature, that each of the twenty tractors now in use in this community actually works. Some of the tractors have Chevrolet motors, others a Star motor, and still others a Buick motor. Many of the tractors, especially those built from parts from a light car, have two differentials to give them the power needed in the fields.

PRISONER KICKS BUT GUESTS COMPLIMENT

Two Harbors.—Guests dropping in at the Lake county farm for dinner one day saved the veteran cook at the farm his job, for they came just when one of the inmates made arrangements to have the cook discharged. County agent Torstein Grinager, Clerk of Court Ira W. Foote, and C. M. Hillman, for whom the latchstring at the county farm had been hanging out all summer, found time Monday to make the call and arrived unexpectedly just after the inmate had announced he intended to go before the county board to petition the removal of the head of the culinary department of the farm. The menu included roast pork, baked potatoes and gravy, buttered peas, fresh cucumbers and bread, of which everyone had two helpings, topped off with two pieces of pie and spice cookies.

CITY COUNCIL MAKES LOWER LEVY FOR 1938

RATE FOR CITY NEEDS TO BE ABOUT 28 MILLS

Outlay for the Coming Year Estimated to Total $190,760

Altho the city in 1938 will be required to retire $39,000 in bonds, $9,000 more than fell due this year, the city council at an adjourned session Friday evening voted to raise only $39,700 thru the 1937 tax levy, compared to $43,520.30 payable this year.

The reduction, City Clerk P. G. Pederson explained, is made possible by several factors, including the existence of an estimated balance in the city treasury of $14,000 at the beginning of the coming year; smaller requirements for the relief of the poor; and an indicated increase in receipts of the light and water department during the coming year.

The levy as drafted includes the following items, the corresponding figures for the past year also being given:

	1936	1937
Auditorium	$5,000	$5,000
Poor relief	12,000	6,000
Library	4,000	4,500
Permanent impr.	8,000	4,000
Parks	4,000	5,100
Cemetery	400	1,000
Band	700	700
Paving Impr. No. 1	7,000	7,00
Sinking fund for arena bonds		5,000
Interest		1,500
	$41,000	$38,800

To these totals are to be added levies by the county auditor for principal and interest on a state loan to the city aggregating $2,520.30 payable during the current year and $900 payable in 1938, making the total levy for city purposes for the coming year $39,700 compared to $43,520.30 payable in 1937.

On the basis of the funds to be raised, it was indicated that the tax rate for city purposes will be between 28 and 29 mills, compared to the 1936 rate of 31.11 mills. The levy for state purposes will be 10 mills, compared to 12.45 for 1936, while the school district rate will remain at 38.5 mills, unchanged from 1936. City Clerk Pederson estimated that if the rate for county purposes is not set at a higher figure than 37 mills, residents of Thief River Falls will be required to pay taxes on the basis of a total rate slightly below the 1936 rate of 114.66 mills.

The council at its meeting approved a budget in which the requirements for the operation of all departments as well as bond and interest payments, were estimated at a total of $190,760. Total estimated general receipts exclusive of the tax levy were fixed at $139,520, of which amount $102,500 represents the estimated receipts of the electric light department.

Output of Power Hits New Peak [illegible]

The biggest day's output in the history of the Thief River Falls municipal power plant was recorded Tuesday when a total of 10,800 kilowatts was produced, according to Supt. Ole Legveld. Output for the day, he said, exceeded the peak load for any day last December, when the former high mark was attained, and indications are that a peak approaching 12,000 kilowatts will be reached some days during the coming holiday season. Little current is being produced at present by the water turbines, Mr. Legvold said.

Local Creamery Adds Cream Can Sterilizer to Plant Facilities

The facilities of the Thief River Falls cooperative creamery have recently been improved by the installation of an automatic cream can sterilizer. Washing, sterilizing and drying the cans in one operation at the rate of six a minute, G. S. Bergland, manager, stated that the new equipment will aid materially in improving the quality of cream delivered by patrons of the plant. He added that the butter output of the creamery for the first nine months of the year to October 1 is 90,000 pounds above the corresponding period last year. A price of 40 cents a pound for sweet cream butterfat was set for September deliveries, the highest figure in recent months.

County Gets $12,377.40 School Apportionment

A check for $12,377.40 representing the October apportionment of state school funds to Pennington county was received last week by County Treasurer John Gullingsrud from State Treasurer C. A. Halverson. The payment was on the basis of $5.25 a pupil for 2357.6 pupils and will be distributed with the November settlement late next month. JOIN RED CROSS

In connection with the forthcoming annual Red Cross roll call to be conducted thruout the nation, Mrs. Mary V. Shaw chairman of the Pennington county chapter, and Mrs. H. A. Brumund, roll call chairman, today issued the following appeal to citizens of this community:

"The Red Cross, thru you and millions of other Americans, assisted 245,000 families in the Ohio-Mississippi valley flood area last spring, giving them food, clothing, shelter and medical care, and later repairing or rebuilding and furnishing homes that needed such work. The $25,000,000 given by the American people reached the lives of 1,063,000 individuals who were affected by the high waters of those two great rivers.

"Remember those figures when a friend or neighbor asks you what was done with the money contributed during the days the radio was making appeals and the newspapers were full of high water stories. After these plain facts, which really are only a part of what the Red Cross has accomplished in the past twelve months, don't you agree that the battles of the Red Cross have been extended over a wide front?

"However, the fight is not finished, the victory is not complete. There is too much to be done, and the Red Cross must carry thru to the finish. And this work can be made possible each year only by the annual Red Cross roll call. Fall into the ranks of peacetime fighters by joining or rejoining, and while you are doing it, why not ask your neighbor to join too. We need a lot of recruits, and the struggles ahead are great. Let every one hear the call to arms in this annual drive."

PROWLERS MEET WARREN ELEVEN SATURDAY NIGHT

Win Fifth Game of Season at Mahnomen Last Friday; Score 12 to 7

With a record of five successive victories to its credit, Coach George E. Lee's Lincoln high school football team will meet the Warren high school eleven on the Lincoln athletic field Saturday evening at 9 o'clock. The contest was originally scheduled for Friday evening, but was changed to Saturday to avoid a conflict with the teachers convention in Bemidji this week-end.

The Warren team, while not highly rated this season, last Friday defeated Crookston high school 7-0, and can be depended on to exert its full strength against the Prowlers.

The local eleven met stiff opposition in its latest game played last Friday at Mahnomen, but emerged victorious by a score of 12 to 7. The Prowlers scored their first touchdown early in the game following a forward pass from Nesse to Bredeson. Shanahan and Caldis shared in the second counter in the third period. Mahnomen unleashed an aerial attack in the final quarter and scored following a successful 25-yard pass.

FALLS THEATRE TO OPEN DOORS SUNDAY, OCT. 24

SEATING CAPACITY TOTALS 800 PERSONS

Building Also Provides for Shops, Apartments and Offices

The new Falls theatre on LaBree av., most substantial addition to the business section of the city to be completed this year, will open its doors to the public next Sunday, it was announced today by A. W. Baehr of the Baehr-Operated Theatres, which firm erected the new structure in addition to owning the Avalon theatre.

The initial film offering will be "Life Begins in College", featuring the Ritz Brothers, Tony Martin and Joan Davis. A formal opening program will be presented during the automobile show the first week in November, it was announced.

Offering every modern appointment and facility, the new theatre occupies a site 50 by 140 feet with the upper part of the front, three stories in height, finished in Kelly stone and the lower portion in Carrara glass. In addition to providing a theatre with a capacity of 800 persons, the building has space for two shops on the main floor, five suites of offices on the second and four apartments on the third.

Provided with oil heat regulated to maintain any desired temperature, the theatre is equipped with facilities for washing and changing the air once each minute. An appreciated feature will be a crying room on the balcony for mothers with infants, where they can view and hear the program without disturbing the audience. Special facilities also will be available for those who hear with difficulty. An attractive lounge and powder puff room are located under the commodious foyer.

The interior of the theatre is modernistically decorated in shades of blue, light tan and red brown, with beautiful lighting effects provided by neon wall lights affording an infinite variety of color combinations. The seats have air-filled cushions with red backs and are spaced 32 inches apart to give ample leg room.

Mr. Baehr stated that Gail Bush, now manager of the Avalon, will also be in charge of the Falls Theatre, and will be assisted by Carl Galls of the Avalon and William Sexton of Bemidji. Programs will change Saturday at midnight as well as on Wednesdays and Fridays. The theatre is equipped with Western Electric Mirrorphonic sound facilities with six loudspeakers and one of the largest projection screens in the state.

Ben Bredeson of Bemidji had the general contract for the construction of the building, while lighting effects were supplied by the Felton Neon company of Hibbing, decorating by Dahlstrom & Weinberger of Minneapolis, drapes and curtains by the National Theatre Supply company, and metal work by the Greenberg Sheet Metal Works of Grand Forks.

The Baehr interests also operate theatres in Bemidji, Alexandria, Wahpeton, Ely, Breckenridge, Park Rapids, Brainerd and two in International Falls.

He pointed out that if the postoffice department's request fails to get proper attention, it may be necessary to shift the routes to avoid neglected sections of roads.

DISASTROUS FIRE HITS ST. HILAIRE EARLY YESTERDAY

Two Buildings Destroyed, Third Damaged in Night Fire

The most disastrous fire in the recent history of St. Hilaire visited that village at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, destroying two buildings and badly damaging a third.

The blaze, which started in Schmidt's cafe and the origin of which was not determined, burned that building to the ground and then spread to the Bilden & Olsen structure, which also was destroyed. Before being brought under control the flames attacked the St. Hilaire Spectator office, burning the north wall and doing much damage to stock and fixtures.

Aid extended by the Red Lake Falls fire department is credited with having kept the fire from spreading further. Members of the Thief River Falls fire department went down with chemicals, but the blaze had too much headway for them to be of any avail.

PUBLIC OPINION

REFLECTIONS FROM THE FARM CONFERENCE

Having attended the Farm Conference held in St. Paul, Oct. 4th, and realizing that a large number of the readers of this paper is vitally interested in the results of this conference, I shall give a brief resume of the conference as I saw it.

First of all I wish to commend our Governor, Elmer A. Benson, for calling the conference. Strangely enough, it was the first of its kind in this agricultural state. All other groups of professional and business men have their state meet, attempting to solve their common problems. It is not too early for the farmer to do likewise. Our governor is in earnest to find better solutions to the farmer's problem than those attempted as far. This is not a slam at the Federal administration. All friends of farm Legislation know that we have as yet only made a fair beginning. Mr. Muerl, who represented Mr. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, at the conference said: Farm problems are as yet only partially solved; farm security is not yet obtained in an affirmative sense."

One reason why the governor called such a conference at this time, was because the Press has been giving out false reports of prosperity and increased profits for the farmer. Such press propaganda could only have one purpose. Not to fool the farmer, because he knows better, but to fool if possible the laborer and cause him to think that the farmer is getting too much for his products, and that at the expense of the working man who is the major consumer. Industry and wealth is afraid of political union between the farmer and the laborer. Therefore if such union can be discouraged, and jealousy engendered, their objective would be gained. Another reason was that the U. S. Senate had commissioned a committee to meet with farm authorities in different states and thereby obtain some knowledge, of what the farmer himself thinks can be done by way of legislation.

The House Chamber in the state capitol was well filled with farmers from all sections of the state. Many of them took part in the discussions. Most of the speakers were constructive and revealed much thought and experience with farm problems. Much emphasis was given to the Minimum Price Plan. This, I believe, is one of the essential solutions. Our so-called "Supply and Demand" prices are only the speculator's cover for offering the farmer as little as possible, keeping him plenty poor most of the time. Once in a while a little encouragement comes along to stimulate in order that the farmer shall not quit entirely. What a minimum wage scale is for the laborer, a minimum price is for the farmer. He must be assured a fair profit price. In no other way can he be given a fair security. There are still plenty hazards for the farmer to contend with. Then, let us not forget, that nothing will stimulate business and industry more than buying power for the farmer. He is the major consumer for our industrial production. The conference was a real success. No doubt many more will follow.

Senator E. L. Tungseth

WE HAVE STARTED TO PAY

As is to be expected, the public is beginning to grumble about increased living costs. In some of the larger cities this grumble is beginning to sound like a growl. And as living costs continue to climb, which they will, the grumbling and the growling will increase in intensity. Pretty soon old HCL, the high cost of living, will be the principal topic of discussion on the street corners. By that time the politicians will have picked it up as a popular refrain and then we will hear the old song all over again about how the public is being robbed by the various groups that, according to the politicians, are always responsible for everything that goes wrong.

In other words we are now entering upon the bill-paying period of the cycle thru which we are passing. Up to the present time we have had a lot of fun. The political magicians have been performing amazing tricks. Billions of dollars have been pulled out of the empty hat and distributed among us. We have accepted these billions of dollars gratefully and with them enjoyed our fill of peanuts and soda pop, complaining only because this kind of a show hadn't come to town sooner.

Out of the magic hat have come many wonderful things. A wave of the wand gave us more pay for doing less work. A nod of the head and out popped security for everyone, no need, forevermore, to worry about anything. It has been a truly remarkable performance and we have been thrilled by the many unbelievable wonders that have been revealed to us.

But like most of the "free" shows that come to town, we are beginning to discover that this one isn't so much of a bargain after all. Before we get out of the tent we are going to pay plenty. We are going to discover, for one thing, that the billions of dollars that came out of the empty hat didn't really come out of the empty hat at all but right out of our own pockets. And we are going to discover too that the beautiful gifts that were given to us weren't given to us either, they were charged to us and whether we like them or not we are going to pay for them. That's what we are starting to do now, starting to pay the bills.

In hundreds of ways we will pay the bills. In their journey through the various stages of handling and processing, raw materials are going to pick up a heavy burden of increased costs before they return home in the form of finished products. At each step of this journey new taxes will be heaped on and the consumer will pay. It is inevitable. The consuming public will pay. It is beginning to pay now, and beginning to grumble. But the grumbling will be of no avail.

There is one alternative to this process. The governments, state and national, can repudiate their debts. They can do this in one of two ways. They can do it directly by bankruptcy. They can do it indirectly by inflation. Of the two methods bankruptcy would be the more honest. Either method would be at the expense of those who have saved. It would be more honest to tax every savings account and every settlement of an insurance policy fifty per cent than to deliberately inflate values to a point where the savings dollars or the insurance dollar would be worth only half its face value.

But in one form or another we will pay. The process of collection has barely started. The burden will be heavier later on. And rest assured that it will be heavier. Just as surely as two times two is four.

With the opening of the Falls this week, Thief River Falls can boast of having two really fine theaters. Six years ago the city celebrated the opening of the Avalon, at that time thoroughly modern throut and providing the best of facilities for the comfort of theater patrons. The Avalon was the first theater in the city built for strictly theater purposes and designed for sound pictures. In the Falls we have all the features that made the Avalon a good theater and in addition all of the conveniences that six years of development have brought, the most important of which is air conditioning. The opening Sunday will be informal. At a later date there will be a more formal recognition of this latest improvement. In the meantime, in behalf of the people of Thief River Falls, we thank the owners, Baehr Brothers, for their very substantial contribution to the city's development. A year ago they promised to give the city a fine new theater. They have kept their promise.

WE NEED ANOTHER FIRE TRUCK

Last week the fire department was instructed that under no circumstances was the fire truck to be used for fighting fires outside the city limits. These instructions were made necessary by the demands of insurance underwriters. Rates of insurance within the city limits are based to some extent on available facilities for fighting fires. It is not unreasonable, therefore, that those who underwrite the insurance should insist that the fire fighting equipment be kept available for the protection of that particular property covered by the insurance.

Yesterday morning this order was put to a severe test. It isn't easy to tell a neighboring community, threatened with destruction by a serious fire, that because of a few rules it is impossible to help them. Under the circumstances the local department did the best it could. Chemicals were rushed to the scene of the fire. But the best certainly was not satisfactory and emphasized the need for additional fire fighting equipment.

Most communities of this size have two fire trucks, one large unit for really bad fires, and a lighter unit capable of handling most of the calls. With only one truck we are helpless in the event of two fires at the same time. The addition of a light unit is necessary not only to lend assistance to our neighbors but to provide adequate protection within the city.

That situations such as we experienced here yesterday morning are not uncommon in other communities is indicated by the following news item from Hopkins in this state:

> Because a fire-call contract had not been signed the Hopkins fire department last week could not go to work for 45 minutes after receiving a fire alarm. Consequently, a roof blaze at the F. A. Huttner home, Glen Lake, was not extinguished until damages exceeding $1,000 had been caused. An alarm was telephoned to the Hopkins fire department but because of the "guarantee contract" regulation the fire chief was unable to order out the equipment. The department can answer calls outside the village only when the property owner has agreed to pay for the call on an hourly basis. The fire chief immediately telephoned Mrs. Huttner in Minneapolis who gave him the name of the insurance company covering the house. Informed that the house was already burning, that it probably would burn to the ground if the flames were left, and the chances were good for the Hopkins firemen to stop the blaze, the company virtually guaranteed payment. A truck and company of firemen were then dispatched immediately to the scene of the fire. While the fire chief rushed through the series of telephone calls, a hastily formed brigade of employees from nearby Glen Lake Sanatorium had kept the flames from running wild.

In the hustle and bustle of the last few weeks we have neglected to call attention to another big improvement in the business section of the city, the repair of the sidewalk and curb on the Standard Oil corner opposite the Auditorium. We hope other property owners will examine this piece of work and consider what a great improvement can be obtained by so small an investment. There is still time to get work of this kind completed before the cold weather sets in, which will save a lot of worries about accidents during the winter and spring months. At any rate, in behalf of those who use the sidewalks, we acknowledge with thanks the consideration shown by the Standard Oil Company in keeping its sidewalk in repair. Who's next?

> The Minnesota Automobile Association sends out publicity complaining of the excessive tax now borne by the owner of an automobile and in the very next paragraph states that they are interested in improving and extending our road system. Every cent of taxes now paid by the automobile owner in Minnesota is spent on the roads besides other millions provided by the general tax payer. If roads are to be improved, and auto taxes are to be reduced, just where is the money coming from? No, hardly anyone uses the road but the automobile owners, and certainly they are the ones who should pay the road taxes.—Morris Tribune.

> Although there were close to 3,000 people at the train, Monday to greet President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the crowd was less than a third the number that greeted him in Breckenridge, 2 years ago. The weather was warm and the skies clear; work in the fields has been completed, yet the people failed to avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing him. Is Roosevelt losing ground?—Breckenridge Gazette Telegram.

PEDALS 50 MILES TO SEE PRESIDENT

Hawley.—One of President Roosevelt's most ardent admirers in Clay county perhaps, or in Hawley, at least is young Billy Folger, who peddled his bicycle fifty miles to see and hear the president. When Billy heard that the president was to stop for a few minutes at Fargo he straddled his bicycle and set out to get his first glimpse of a United States president. The youth made the first half of the trip in fine shape and joined the thousands that jammed the railroad station to hear Franklin Delano Roosevelt. On the return trip a kindly motorist picked up Billy a short distance out of Glyndon. He was very tired but immensely happy over having seen the president.

18 YEAR OLD BILL PAID VOLUNTARILY

Redwood Falls.—A bill for three dollars incurred eighteen years ago was paid last week to a local firm. The debtor's memory was long, but that of Mike Lauterbach, the business proprietor was just as long. He remembered it. The man, who formerly lived here but is now making his home in another town, ordered flowers for a funeral from the firm in 1919. He didn't pay for the flowers until one day last week, when he called at the store, told Mike he owed him the money and laid it on the counter. "This never happened to us before," gasped the business man. "Come back and have a big beer for a receipt."

DEMONSTRATORS' AIM SOMETHING 'UNUSUAL'

Montevideo.—Members of the local civic and commerce association in cooperation with the fire department had planned to stage something new in the way of a fire prevention week demonstration and as a result sirens blew, wheels screeched, heads poked out a hundred doorways. Sure thing, it was a fire. A three-alarm blaze at that. "Hugh, thought this was fire prevention week," mumbled a curbstone wiseacre. Cars, kids and the curious followed the clanging fire trucks to a vacant lot where the tongues of a huge blaze were angrily licking the sky. But the illusion, both mental and optical, was soon shattered when Cliff Arnold mounted a rostrum and began addressing the congregated citizenry on the virtues of fire prevention.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18, 1937. Grass cattle made up almost everything available at this market at the week's opening with medium and lower grades predominating. But late last week short fed cattle came more freely than any other time this fall, and indications pointed to increasing deliveries of warmed-up or short-fed stock as fast as finishers and feeders could secure any suitable degree of fat from new crop feeds. Trade was slow and generally weak as compared with last Friday's higher close, but all slaughter classes were around 25c or more above the low time during the [illegible] [illegible]. Plain and medium grass butcher steers made $7.00-10.00, good grain feds sold late last week at $11.00-11.50, choice yearlings up to $[illegible] to good fat heifers sold at $7.50-10.00, plain heifers at $5.00-7.00, common and medium cows at $[illegible], good western kinds at $7.00-7.50 or above, low cutters and cutter cows at $[illegible], Sausage bulls topped at $6.75, light range bulls making $[illegible]. Good and choice vealers sold at $[illegible], mostly $10.00 down on good grades. Stocker and feeder steers bulked at $6.00-8.50. Choice fleshy feeders were quoted up to $10.00 while plain light red stockers sold down to $5.00 and under.

Slaughter lambs opened the week largely steady but the top was 15c under Friday. Good to choice lambs bulked at $10.00, while choice grades reached $10.10 to shippers and plain kinds sold down to $7.50. Most medium to choice ewes cleared at $[illegible]. Two loads of choice grades $[illegible]. Choice range feeding lambs made $9.50-9.75, natives and Dakotas $[illegible].

Monday's hog trade was fairly active but mostly 15-20c lower than the close of last week. Shipper demand was narrow. They are Stanley Mortenson, 716 Duluth Avenue; and Everett Erickson, son of Rev. Charles W. Erickson. The Short Nose

The short nose shows an obstinate nature and, like the pug nose, an impulsive temperament, says a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. It also denotes physical strength and physical courage. Once these people make a decision, right or wrong, it is very hard to turn them from their purpose and they will face danger to carry out their desires.

Skunk Season Now Open

As usual we are here to trade as we have in the past. We'd rather have skunks, carcass and all if possible. We admit you would get 10 cents apiece more for them if you skin them and stretch them right yourself, but for the difference it does not pay. For the time you spend doing it you would better be off using to get more skunks. Don't leave them too long or they may spoil. Early sellers will do much better this year.

In skinning cattle hides, skin them properly and cut off tail.

In skinning horse hides, leave tail and mane on.

Don't cut or tear hides. We also buy mane and tail hair.

WPA Workers Assigned to Jobs Again After Private Employment

Additional federal funds sufficient to give employment to all former WPA workers who left the program for private jobs and other federal agencies since June 7, 1937, and who have lost them through no fault of their own, have been allotted to the Minnesota Works Progress Administration, according to word received this week from Victor Christgau, state administrator.

Approximately 3,500 workers in the state voluntarily left WPA since June 7th after they had been assured that if they took private jobs and subsequently lost them through no fault of their own and are still in need, they would be taken back by WPA.

"This policy," said Mr. Christgau, "has worked out admirably. At present, the number leaving under this policy just about equals those who are returning, so that the actual employment has not materially increased. However, the October 15 quota for the state has been set at a minimum of 34,030 and we are assured of whatever funds may be required to absorb those returning, even if the number should reach the maximum."

No Danger in Eating Properly Cooked Ducks

With Minnesota's annual duck hunting season on in full blast, Harry E. Speakes, director of the division of Game and Fish, assured residents that there is no danger in eating wild ducks when the food is well cooked.

University bacteriologists investigated two or three localized outbreaks of botulism in wild ducks. This is a type of food poisoning. Occurring in September the condition is now practically non-existent in the state.

"Heat all of the meat for at least 20 minutes at the boiling point and any danger will have been eliminated," Mr. Speakes said.

Labor Relations to be Discussed at Creamery Men's Session Oct. 27

In an effort to avoid the spread of labor unions to employees of creameries of this section, directors of cooperative creameries and owners of locally-owned private plants will meet at Detroit Lakes, Minnesota, Wednesday, October 27th, at two P. M., to discuss the subject.

The meeting will be sponsored by District No. 9 of the Minnesota Association of Local Creameries. District No. 9 includes Becker, Wilkin, Ottertail, Clay, Norman, Mahnomen, Clearwater, Polk, Red Lake, Pennington, Beltrami, Marshall, Kittson, Roseau and Lake of the Woods counties.

Maurice Sorensen of Pelican Rapids, president of the district, in calling the meeting stated emphatically that the association is not opposed to industrial labor organizations but that it does feel that unionization of country creameries would work a severe hardship upon dairy farmers, because those creameries have problems which differ markedly from those of city industrial organizations. He expressed the opinion that the creameries could work harmoniously with their employees and in a way which would assure more satisfactory working conditions to those employees than could be obtained by an alliance between creamery workers and either of the large labor organizations.

JOB RISK DIVISION ASKS NUMBERS TO INSURE ACCURACY

Needed in Connection With Payment of Benefits Starting Jan. 1

Social security account numbers must be shown for all employees on third quarter pay roll reports now being filed by employers under the Minnesota unemployment compensation law, it was emphasized today by Frank T. Starkey, industrial commissioner in charge of administration of the law.

"Social security account numbers are the only positive identifications possible for workers," Commissioner Starkey said. "Unless numbers are on file for all workers similarities in names will cause confusion and delay the payment of benefits to eligible unemployed workers when benefits become payable January 1, 1938."

Workers themselves are held responsible for notifying their employers of their social security account numbers, the commissioner pointed out. However, he added, when workers fail to give their employers their account numbers, the employer is required to file applications for their numbers.

Social security account numbers are obtainable through district offices of the federal social security board. Locations of such offices may be obtained from local postmasters. Account numbers are issued to all workers, even those 65 years of age.

"Employers should make every effort to have social security account numbers for all employees in their third quarter reports, which are due by October 31," Commissioner Starkey urged. "Third quarter reports will be of vital information for the determination of benefits for workers who become unemployed during the first three months of 1938."

EDITORS OF STATE PLAN RADIO ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION

Will Broadcast Over KSTP, Opening Friday Night, October 22

Minnesota editors, moulding public opinion through the printed page continually, are being invited to take to the airways this week to tell radio audiences something about that opinion. The broadcast series, launched over the twin cities' station KSTP Friday evening, October 22, is announced as the "Editors' Round Table" and is scheduled for presentation each Friday night, from 10 to 10:15.

The new program will be a variation of Val Bjornson's regular "Mr. Editor" broadcast, with the editor of a different weekly or small daily in the state invited in once each week to air views on important current topics. Questions which the station's commentator will ask the visiting scribes as they take part successively in these 15-minute interviews will seek to interpret Minnesota opinion in a variety of fields.

Important local manifestations of broader problems will be discussed by editors who deal with them in their home communities day by day. Thus, when policies in the administration of relief are examined, the guest commentator will illustrate his arguments by reference to the local situation. With congress in special session next month, early questions will very likely include a probe of views on the wages and hours bill, the new farm program, American foreign policy, and other controversial topics generally discussed at present.

Among those usually found on the Republican side of the argument who have been invited to make radio appearances are these: F. C. Morrison of the Morris Tribune; Ludwig Roe, Montevideo News; Lou Benshoof, Detroit Lakes Record; Harry Rasmussen, Austin Herald; W. E. Dahlquist, Thief River Falls Times. Editors of the Democratic persuasion to whom invitations have already gone are John Casey of the Jordan Independent, James R. Landy, Olivia Times; J. P. Coughlin, Waseca Herald; Martin McGowan, Appleton Press; James Markham, Hennepin County Review, Hopkins. Heading the Farmer Labor List are such scribes as Charles Coy of the Park Region Echo at Alexandria, E. E. Farnham, Independent Press, Madison; John Whaley, Country Press, Moorhead; A. R. Muirhead, Hastings Gazette; Edward Baraness, Pope County Tribune, Glenwood.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Working

Doctoring in Early Days

The writer encountered a most unusual fact of history a few days ago. It is up to date, too, and might even be called spot news. We all know that bleeding was practiced as a sort of cure-all commonly about 100 years ago. What not all of us know is that bleeding was practiced in the lifetime of persons now in the 70's, not everywhere, of course, but in various parts of the country, particularly in the old-fashioned districts of the east.

A veteran physician of this region gave the writer this information, but the unusual fact which he also furnished that bleeding is practiced today! In fact, he says, it is recognised as a proper treatment in certain cases, such as for relieving an over-labored heart, treatment of high blood pressure and some other ailments. In the old days it seems that bleeding was resorted to for almost every ill. For example, readers of Dickens will recall that bleeding was suggested when one of Pickwick's friends fell on the ice while trying to skate. But physicians were not the only ones in those days who did the bleeding. Barbers and apothecaries did much of it.

The old-time doctor tells us that he thinks it is very good in certain cases. So here we have a case of an old-time treatment, generally considered outmoded and belonging to the dark age of medical practice back in favor like an old song that has been revived.

Incidentally, this doctor told us many interesting things about medical practice in the early days and its relation to the present. While he strongly indorsed hospitalization he reminded the writer that it has its drawbacks when compared with the old practices in the days of the real country doctor. He explained that pathogenic germs are prevalent in hospitals because of the number of patients assembled in one place. He pointed out that in the country where people are relatively few and there is plenty of fresh air and sunshine and very little illness these germs are virtually unknown. For this reason the mortality rate among the country doctor's patients was not as high as might be expected due to lack of hospitalization facilities.

Another unknown thing of the early days was appendicitis. Then it was simply inflammation of the bowels. It would seem that deaths from ruptured appendixes must have been high but this does not appear to have been the case. The doctor didn't mention it, but we think that different living habits were at least partially responsible.

Along this line we have this information from the veteran practitioner. While certain diseases such as typhoid fever, scarlet fever, smallpox and others are far less common as a result of medical progress, the so called degenerative diseases, including pernicious anemia, cancer and the like are increasing. He attributes this alarming situation to the fact that people have departed too far from the customs of their forefathers. In anemia cases, for example, he pointed out that liver or extract of liver is used successfully. He said that any of the interior parts of a butchered animal would serve just as well simply because the human body requires certain properties or elements provided by this sort of food.

He explained that in the "dawn" period of civilization humans ate animals' entrails and all and that Indians and other peoples in some cases still do.

"We need these things", he said, "and when we don't get them in the natural ways drugs must be substituted. We have come a long way from the real, natural way of living."

The writer suggested that civilization might perish eventually as the result and the doctor at least tacitly agreed. He seemed to be of the opinion that much of the change for the worse so far as this phase of civilization is concerned is relatively recent. He said that our grandparents ate nearly every part of animals butchered even to the lining of the stomach called tripe, which is eaten in eastern Canada and Great Britain, by the way, and probably in many other places.

The doctor said fees in the old days were usually a dollar a visit and $1 a mile one way from country trips, the country around a town usually being divided into section in which the same mileage was charged, a sort of modification of the Pittsburg plus plan. In obstetric cases, he said the usual fee was $10.

Getting back to bleeding our informant revealed his father died as a result of being bled, succumbing to pneumonia in his weakened state.

"Yes, yes, there have been many changes", he confided," but it is all for the best. Oldtimers sometimes think the old was better than the new but, of course, this is true only in specific instances in the field of medicine and surgery.

Coated tongue, bad breath, headaches, pimples, bad blood are nature's danger signals. HOLLISTER'S ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA removes the cause by carrying off the poisons from the liver, kidneys and bowels. Strongly endorsed everywhere—Positive results guaranteed.—Try it. J. & B. Drug Store. —Adv.

MAHNOMEN FALLS TO PROWLER TEAM BY SCORE OF 12-6

Passing Attack Not so Successful Against Mahnomen

After one more week of football the Prowlers remain undefeated, although the Mahnomen Indians Friday furnished the toughest opposition yet encountered by the Lincolnites. After four quarters of play the locals had to be content with a victory of a scant five points, 12 to 7.

As usual, the Prowlers received the kick-off and within a very few minutes of play had pushed the ball over the goal for the first touchdown. The touchdown came when Nesse, standing in the end zone, snagged a forward pass thrown by Bredeson. There was no more scoring in the first half. The next counter came in the third period after "Austy" Shanahan had advanced the ball to the one yard line. Caldis pushed it over from there. Both of Quale's attempts at conversion failed.

Late in the last quarter Mahnomen seemed to perk up and soon had a touchdown after a thirty-five yard forward pass. On a tricky play for extra point, Hudous took a forward pass to make the score 12 to 7. Although after that the Indians attempted eight more passes none were completed until the last play of the game, which went for nothing.

This game proved to the Prowlers that they'll have to fight every inch of the way to eke out a victory over Bemidji.

The starting line-up:

Prowlers		Mahnomen
Quale	LE	Pine
Stadum	LT	Becker
Eide	LG	Anderson
Hanson	C	De Master
Johnson	RG	Farrell
Mattson	RT	Jansen
Lorentson	RE	Hudous

Caldis	FB	Wambeck

Substitutes: T. R. Falls, Lanks, Oen, Sundberg, Tunberg, Shanahan, Stadum.

Touchdowns: T. R. Falls—Nesse 1, Caldis 1; Mahnomen—Hudous 1. Conversions—Quale, 0 out of 2.

First Downs: T. R. Falls 11, Mahnomen, 3.

Mr. Peterson is now ready for action in debating. The material has been acquired all ready due to the efficient work of Miss Dock, who has been working hard to secure material for debate by inquiry.

SECOND ASSEMBLY PROGRAM IS HELD

Davies Light Opera Company Presents Mikado to High School

The second assembly program of the year was given in the municipal auditorium last Thursday afternoon at 3:00. The program consisted of the presentation of the light opera "Mikado" by Gilbert and Sullivan, presented by the Davies Light Opera company.

The story is set in China, all the actors being garbed as Chinese. The heroine, Yum Yum, is engaged to marry her guardian "Coco," although she is not in love with him. Her lover Nanki-poo, who had not been able to marry Yum Yum before because his father the Mikado, had destined him for not marrying Pete-shaw, now returns and announces that he wants to marry Yum Yum anyhow. However he still cannot marry Yum Yum, for Coco refuses to let his young ward marry anyone but himself. At this time Coco receives the news from the Mikado that his post of Lord High Executioner will be taken from him if he does not behead someone within a month. Nanki-poo offers himself as Coco's victim if Coco will only agree to let him be married to Yum-Yum for a month before his death. Coco finally agrees but the situation is not helped any when it is remembered that Chinese law says that if a woman's husband is killed, she will have to be buried alive. Yum Yum of course does not wish to meet this terrible fate but neither does she want to give up marrying Nanki-poo. Everything is finally settled satisfactorily when Coco agrees to marry Pete-shaw, the old woman whom Coco was supposed to marry. This enables Nanki-poo and Yum-Yum to get married and Nanki-poo is forgiven by his father the Mikado.

Mr. Davies consents to the following interview:

Mr. Davies was born in Wales. He received his musical training from a teacher who has been head of a musical organization for 30 years. Mr. Davies organized the Chicago Opera Company 9 years ago, which has for several years been traveling for high school assemblies. All the actors have their home in Chicago. Mr. Davies' wife and his three daughters also live there. Each year this group of people perform before about 400 assemblies, giving 2 or 3 programs a day. Their next stops were ... Bemidji, and Grand Forks.

You students who have good memories will recall the assembly in which these actors performed here last year.

PLANS DEVELOPED FOR HOMECOMING

Committees Are Arranging Details for Program

With little more than one week in which to culminate their preparations, the Homecoming committees are now working in order to complete their duties in the allotted time.

Advance indications now point to perhaps the most elaborate and most gala celebration Lincoln High School has ever witnessed. Featured in the Homecoming Week Activities will be one of the longest pep parades staged by the school, a huge bonfire, and old grads days, all of which will be climaxed by the Prowler-Bemidji "Lumberjacks" football tilt, during the halves of this game the Homecoming Queen will be officially crowned.

The pep parade will be made up of at least one band, approximately 600 marching high school students, and various class floats. The class displaying the most original and most striking float will receive a number of points, which points will determine which class will have the honor of displaying its class flag in the trophy case.

The bonfire will take place on the eve of the Bemidji tussle. Fuel for the fire will be collected for many days in advance by students. The band, under the direction of Ronald Riggs, will most likely furnish music for the occasion. Pep talks by the football team, and faculty will be presented. Stunts to enliven the program will be offered by each class.

It is altogether fitting that the Bemidji game has been designated as the Prowler's Homecoming opponents. This game has always been the season's grid highlight. The contest is in itself a great drawing card, and because it is the climax of the Homecoming week will provide greater stimulus for a large turnout.

The Queen of Homecoming, who with her two attendants are being chosen at this time by student voting, will be crowned during the intermission between halves of this contest. The coronation ceremony which climaxes some three weeks of student balloting will include all the regal, pomp, and splendor that lends an air of distinction to such an occasion.

The Seniors class wishes the student body to remember the sale of Homecoming badges. Only by the sale of these will the expenses of the celebration be met. There are a very few of these emblems left. Be sure and get your's now. They cost only 15c, a price everyone can afford.

Although the Homecoming plan has been proposed by the Senior class and is being conducted by them, it is an all-class affair. Underclassmen play their part in the functions as well. This is clearly illustrated by the fact that every class has it's representative in the Queen's attendant contest. Only through the medium of student cooperation will the celebration be the success we wish it to be. If each of us do our part, then, and only then, will this end be attained.

Monday after school, the Sophomore class met in the assembly to decide upon their plans for the Homecoming festivities. They chose blue and silver for their class colors. A committee to be composed of Loren Jung, Emmett Eiden, Wallace Smith, Marguerite Simonson and Doris Hostvedt were chosen to be in charge of the class float and the flag demonstration. The stunt committee consists of Frances Stenberg, Irene Rustad, Delmar Hovie, and Donald Peterson. A board of which the following are members, James Borreson, Wayne Bredeson, Loren Jung and Kevin O'Mally is automatically at the head of all the committees. The same board is also responsible for the collection of the fifty cent class dues.

Varsity ball goes on and here's to "T. L." Those last year's freshmen haven't lost one whit of the vigorous vim they exhibited last year. Just a swell band of Josies we're proud to call our own. Umm m and the present day first year Prowlerettes are very much living too, me thinks.

After a great deal of enthusiastic comment on the Prowlers, the gigantic Homecoming affair, pep, and so forth, we come upon a current subject that has to be handled with gloves. That topic is class dues. Year after year this problem has been of delicate concern to students and it will probably remain as such. Also remaining is the fact that few school or class activities can be carried on without money and if class dues are not paid the treasuries of the four classes are going to contain very little money.

During the following year the seniors will be called upon to publish the Prowler, to give the Junior-Senior Masquerade and to perform other functions which will require a lot of funds. True, the seniors treasury will swell considerably with the sale of confections, Homecoming novelties and so on, but the payment of class dues still furnishes the best possible means of raising the required cash. Senior class dues have already been set as one dollar per semester for each student or two dollars for the entire year. Each senior is expected to contribute this amount. Each dollar will go a long way toward financing the various projects. Unless a great majority of the dues are paid these projects may not be successful, and even if they are, they will certainly not be as elaborate as is desired by the class. Dues for the other three classes will soon be set or have already been set. Payments of these dues now will make the task so much easier for them as a class when they become seniors.

As a bonus, the senior officers and dues collectors are giving votes for the Homecoming queen and attendants to those who pay their dues before the Homecoming football game on October 29. Ten votes are given for the payment of one dollar for the first semester and twenty-five votes for the complete payment of two dollars. If you are unable to pay in full, arrange with the collectors to pay some now and the rest at a later date.

PROWLING AROUND

At a meeting in this city some time ago, the athletic coaches, superintendents, and principals of the schools in District 31 selected East Grand Forks as the site of the district basketball tournament early next spring. With the new $60,000 gymnasium addition of the East Side school near completion, the choice was ideal. East Grand Forks fans maintain that the gymnasium will be second to none in the district.

Although the Soph-Frosh contest furnished a lot of laughs at the peculiar antics of some of the participants, those who attended the fracas were impressed by several of the backfield men of both squads. LaRue Anderson and Neil Mullen were all around aces, with little Edward Flasch showing a pair of nimble feet whenever he was elected to tote the pigskin. Perry Froseth and Delmer Hovie were the spearheads of an occasionally tricky Soph attack. The oddity of it all is that all of these with the exception of Flasch see most of their service in the line. Anderson and Mullen are reserve ends on the Prowler varsity, while Froseth and Hovie are Prowler "B" linemen at trade. All of these may eventually blossom out as Prowler regulars. The Frosh had two of the smallest gridders ever seen in a contest of this kind. They were Vernon Ostrom and Meryle Carlson, backfield performers, both of whom saw extensive service. One wag declared that they must have escaped from Lilliput.

Two gridders that are going to have a lot to say about the outcome of the two remaining conflicts on the Prowler schedule are Austin Shanahan and Ray Bredeson. Shanahan, a shifty halfback, has all the qualifications of an adept open field runner and has all the earmarks of a comer. "Austie" set the stage for the Prowlers second touchdown at Mahnomen with a long run through a broken field. Versatile "Lefty" Bredeson was shifted from guard to fullback and vice versa has found another position to his liking; namely tackle. Coach Lee has several boys who can fill the right tackle position capably, but must bow to Bredeson. "Lefty's" weight, experience and competitive spirit is going to come in very handy against the beefy Bemidji line. He will now be used interchangeably at guard, tackle and halfback, but with the return of galloping Mel Haugbom to the status of an eligible player, Bredeson is no longer needed in the backfield.

All minds, you do have them, bent toward the near future selection of a 1937-38 G. A. A. board! It will be difficult to surpass the services offered by last year's group, but there is many a swell-legant untried Prowlerette in our club we think. Therefore think and bring the result to light at our next meeting on Tuesday night—the 19th of old October.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

This unknown quantity is 17 years old and a spaghetti fiend if there ever was one (that is, she likes spaghetti). More often than not she is called "Boney" but not because she's fat. Although she favors the book, "Green Light" by Douglas, the cinema, Cafe Metropole, with Lorretta Young and Tyrone Power rate high in her esteem. Boney is chemically minded (the experimental type), but she'd rather have basketball anytime. If you hear someone asking, "Where is there a dance tonight?" you'll know it's Boney. And does she loathe rotten dances. Wow! Boney aspires to be a physical education instructor and is inspired by Miss Helquist.

No mistaking this description, It's Eileen Husen.

This person declares he is nickname-less so that's what we will call him. He dotes on Physics and fruit salad, not that they have any connection of course. The book, "While Rome Burns" by Alexander Woolcott holds first place with Nicknameless even though the cinema, "Varsity Show" with Priscilla Lane and Ted Healy, it tops. This fellow is constantly hunting a tough opponent for a stiff game of tennis, at which said sport, Nicknameless is no slowpoke. But even his fave comic character, Popeye, is powerless to aid him at times. Nicknameless insists that he has no pet exclamations so we will leave it to your imagination what he would say at the appropriate time. "Guys that tease me about my height" constitute Nicknameless' pet peeve, so he aspires to be seven feet tall and none other but T. R. F.'s own giant, Lloyd Aasstad, is his inspiration.

Sure, its Clarence Gordon Holte.

This is the testimonial of a busy business man which is very apparent. His nickname is Sally and he is 18 years of age. Sally is another Physics enthusiast, but this one likes Chop Suey. He doesn't read, all cinemas and stars are the same, and he's not particular when it comes to sports (that's what he told me, but if you ask me he was in too much of a hurry to think). Popeye is his favorite of all comic characters. Sally said that he had no pet exclamation, but I caught him saying "Oh Boy!" (sounds pretty tame). Squeeky chalf is simply abhorred by Sally (due to my gentle tutoring). To be an aeronautical engineer is his secret ambition, but as yet he has no inspiration.

What other busy business man is there here but Jerome Salveson.

FROSH DEFEAT SOPHOMORES IN ANNUAL CLASSIC

Thursday Score Close With Sophomores Putting Up Hard Struggle

A fiery Freshmen eleven gave the heftier Sophomore squad a bitter shellacking on the Lincoln athletic field last Thursday to score a 14 to 12 victory in their annual football ruckus. The diminutive Frosh, paced by Anderson and Mullen, who gave the Sophs no end of headaches, overcame the heavier Sophs superior line through sheer fight, better ball carrying and a more effective aerial attack. The Sophs dire need of capable subs and their lack of practice were probably the underlying factors of the final result. The game showed little in way of strategy and football finesse, but this was overshadowed by the aggressiveness of the lower classmen.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Frosh crashed the pay station with Mullen carrying the pigskin on a 25 yard sprint after faking a pass. Anderson ran the ball over for the seventh point. Hovie crossed the Frosh goal after an eighty yard run of weaving and sidestepping, but the ball was called back because of an off-side. Undaunted, Hovie came back to chalk up a legal six-pointer on a fifteen yard scamper. The attempt at goal failed.

Pederson failed a threatening Frosh attack in the third quarter with the recovery of a Freshmen fumble but the yearlings scored in the fourth quarter when Battleson was hit behind his own goal line before he could get a punt away. M. Hanson fell on the ball for a touchdown. Anderson skirted left end for conversion. The weary losers spurted at this point when Hovie almost got into the clear on a tricky reverse play. On an identical play, Froseth romped about twenty-five yards for a touchdown but the extra try was no good.

For the winners, the presence of LaRue Anderson and Neil Mullen in the backfield was the dominating factor of the game. The running of Edward Flasch (who really lived up to his name) was exceptional. Carlisle and I. Wilson played well in the forward wall. Perry Froseth, the Soph captain and field general did a fine job of directing his unorganized forces with Delmar Hovie grabbing ball carrying honors for the losers. Furuseth's line plunges reeled off several long gains. At left tackle for the second year men, Don Pederson was probably the outstanding lineman on the field. Several others showed flashes of real competition but lacked the consistency of those previously named.

The Frosh squad was directed during the game by Loren "Bones" Stadum and Glenn Carlson with Gordon Caldis and Floyd Melby guiding the reins for the losers. Mr. B. W. Gabrielson has been in charge for the major part of the practice sessions of both squads during the season.

A return melee between these two rivals is in prospect for the near future with an even closer fight as a probability.

TEACHERS TRAINING

The members of the Teacher Training Department enjoyed the privilege of observing the President's arrival at Grand Forks and hearing his dedication of the new grandstand at the fair grounds. A grain truck, loaded down with the fifteen training students and Miss Stapleton, left Thief River Falls at approximately 6:30 in the morning. It arrived at Grand Forks apparently in one piece, after the strenuous load it had carried; and everyone was happy. All had a good look at the president as he rode through the streets and when he appeared at the fairgrounds.

The students of the department have been participating in story telling in the first four grades. The stories have been good, but we think it's going a bit too far when second graders argue over the fact that Black Sambo actually ate 169 pancakes.

The students have been presenting arithmetic games to the department. We make such a strange group of lower graders; either too brilliant or not intelligent enough.

We continue to have ... every Wednesday. We are teaching rote songs and are learning the scale. Still there are those who "have colds" or maybe "cant sing", but everyone is willing to try to the extent that we all enjoy the classes as much as Miss Nelson does. She was heard to remark that she enjoyed it very much.

In the world of sports Mr. Doran's team won a fast and furious kittenball battle against the Jurdites on the East side kittenball diamond, September 29. The final score was 23 to 9. There is one game left to be played. Jurde's team indicated that it will put up a good fight in the next game. If Doran's team emerges victorious, his team will be given a party by Jurde's team.

We have all observed an excellent drill lesson in arithmetic presented by Miss E. Taudberg to the 4th grade class in Northrop. We have also observed Miss Bloomness's 3rd grade reading class and Miss Nelson's kindergarten music class in the Knox building. All inspire us to become the excellent teachers these have proved that they are.

Practice teaching began for us on Tuesday this week. We are teaching 2nd and 3rd grade language classes.

EXCHANGE

The Crookston High School Pepster was very interesting this week. They used, as their headlines, titles of songs such as, "Pennies From Heaven" which was the head for an article concerning money that has been turned in for subscriptions to their new school paper. From now on, a printed form, published every other week will take the place of the mimeographed type they have used for some time.

The Crookston High School has organized four clubs through which the students may take part in some extra-curricular work. They are the following: Knitting Club, Football Club, Model Airplane and Woodwork Club, and the Know Your City Club. Here's success to these ventures!

A certain teacher asked a certain pupil, in a certain school called Sherburn High School this question: What is a geyser? and the certain pupil answered, "A geyser is a water fall going up." Some thinking, but then, who of us could have answered it better?

Earl Amundsen, the Bemidji High School musical instructor, is going to organize a dance orchestra which will play for school sunlight dances and other school parties. Sounds as though it might be kind of entertaining to have. What do you think?

WARREN PONIES NEXT TEAM TO MEET PROWLERS

Warren to Try to Drop Locals From Ranks of Undefeated

Boasting a record unblemished after some six weeks of grid warfare, George Lee's Prowlers meet their final adversary in district competition when they take on a mediocre Warren outfit.

The Warren aggregation, although not up to the standard of its predecessors, is the surprise team of its loop. After losing to a fast East Grand Forks team, and being held to a scoreless tie by the Red Lake Falls Lafayette's, they rose to the situation to down a consistently powerful Crookston Pirate eleven, humbling them by a 7-0 shutout.

The two teams will line-up Saturday evening with almost the same personnel that participated in last year's 14-0 Prowler victory.

Despite the Ponies' unimpressive showing so far, the Thief River Falls game is always the high spot on the Warren schedule, and Herschel Lysacker's boys will be gunning for a win over the local men.

Three lettermen from last year's edition of the Pony machine form the spearhead of this year's attack; they are Freeman Haugo, Bob Schneffer, and Bob Wilson.

If the Prowlers can scale this obstacle they will retain the district 18 crown they copped last year. Then the last detrement in their path to an undefeated season will face them in the form of the Bemidji Lumberjacks.

BAND NOTES

Last Monday night the band played a concert for the parents and teachers at the P. T. A. meeting held in the auditorium. They played the same concert that they will play at the M. E. A. at Bemidji today. The concert included "Manitou Heights" by F. Melius Christiansen, "Sleepers Wake" by J. S. Bach, and "Tschaikowsky" by Paul Yoder. These selections are very difficult and the band has worked hard in preparing for this concert.

The white sweaters, which the band ordered some time ago, arrived last week. The band members have sewed their letters on these sweaters and are wearing them to Bemidji.

Mr. Riggs has begun the method of seating his band members according to the number of weeks they have passed in the Prescott System. In this way no one can get promoted to a first or second chair unless he practices. Quite a few have already passed their first year in the Prescott system. They are: Gloria Quist, Ralph Gustafson, Irene Huffseth, Charles Gustafson, Palma Juhr, and James Skarstad.

Weeds Cost Minnesota Farmers $100,000 Day, State Leader Asserts

[illegible] Minnesota agricultural products amounting to $100,000 per day, according to Fred Crane, Director of the state division of weed and seed control.

Crane based his estimate of the state loss on an average figure established by a study of reports of many weed experts. The census set losses to agricultural products from weeds at 10 per cent, while statisticians estimated Minnesota's farm income this year about a million dollars a day.

"This estimate might be considered by some as conservative," Crane said. "A table recently brought to my attention, which was drawn by the Agriculture Service Department of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, established the loss at 30 per cent, which would have made the Minnesota loss about $300,000 a day."

The 30 per cent estimate by the Chamber of Commerce was considered high by Crane as applied to Minnesota, because this state ranks among the leaders in weed eradication activities.

Commissioner Charles Ommodt of the Department of Agriculture, commenting on the need for more weed eradication activities, backed Crane's lower estimate.

Glass-Blowers' Language

Glass-blowers speak a language of their own, says Literary Digest. Blowers are known as "gaffers." They are assisted by "gatherers." The small amount of glass they work with is called "gather," and a "punty stick" and a "glory hole" are important aids in the difficult process.

The old capitol in St. Paul which was the seat of the state government from 1883 to 1905 is going to be razed to make way for more parking space. Only partially filled since the present capitol was opened in 1905, the red brick building, with a plain interior of oak panels, has been somewhat of an eyesore to downtown St. Paul. Wrecking probably won't commence until spring.

Issue Annual Warning of Monoxide Poisoning During Winter Months

The season for carbon monoxide poisoning accompanies the approach of cold weather each year. This is the time, according to the Minnesota State Medical association's committee on public health education, to examine every machine and stove to see that the apparatus is in order, that flues are clean and that imperfect combustion will not precipitate a tragic accident at home, in the car or in the factory this winter.

Carbon monoxide gas is tasteless and odorless and its victims may be overcome almost without warning. It is produced when fuels are imperfectly burned and it is especially dangerous in a closed place. If the furnace or the car engine or the factory equipment is in good shape, then it is up to the operator to see that it is run properly and any danger of encounter with gas is avoided. In the home, fuel must not be piled on the furnace or family stove and then draughts shut off before the fire has had a chance to burn up smartly and get rid of accumulations of gas.

Automobiles must not be started in closed garages because the engine exhaust inevitably gives off carbon monoxide gas while the motor is starting. Many an ill-advised motorist, shut off from fresh air, has lost his life that way in a closed garage.

BOY LOSES BET AFTER EATING 25 HAMBURGERS

Sleepy Eye. -A telephone call asking him to come home just as he was downing his twenty-fifth hamburger in a local shop cost Roy Neal, junior at the Sleepy Eye public school, exactly $2.75. Roy had made a wager with Bruce Patterson that he could eat thirty hamburgers in an hour and a half and if he failed to do so would pay Bruce $1.50 and also stand the expense of the sandwiches. When an hour and five minutes had elapsed, Roy had consumed twenty-five hamburgers, which had been washed down with three glasses of root beer and two glasses of water. Spectators said that Roy would have reached his goal, had he not been called home in the midst of his meal.

WOMENS PROJECT CHECKUP MEETING HELD WEDNESDAY

200 Witness Showing of Pageant at Achievement Day in City

The Auditorium was the scene of much activity Wednesday when two hundred women from all parts of Pennington county met for the achievement day of the home management project which was carried on during the past year. Mrs. V. C. Noper, county home chairman, was in charge of the meeting.

The main part of the program was a pageant entitled "A Brides Preview of Home Making", which was written by Miss Charlotte Kirchner, home management specialist from University Farm. Miss Kirchner has been giving the project material to the leaders of twenty-one groups of women during the past two years.

The county report was given by Howard E. Grow, county agricultural extension agent. This report shows that in addition to the 274 women enrolled in the project, 583 other people and 198 homes received the benefit of this project. Miss Kirchner gave a short discussion of projects that might be carried by the women next year without the help of the specialists from University Farm.

Many songs with the project as the theme were written by the project members and sung to the tune of several old familiar songs.

LARGE GATHERING AT JOINT MEETING OF 2 CIVIC GROUPS

Enjoys Showing of Colored Movies by Dr. Edward Bratrud

At a well-attended joint meeting of the Civic and Commerce association, Junior Chamber of Commerce and a few invited guests last Thursday evening, the highly appreciative audience enjoyed the showing by Dr. Edward Bratrud of natural color motion pictures taken by him of farm scenes in this locality.

The pictures, taken in connection with the recent corn palace festival, showed scenes on a dozen or more typical farms, including the harvesting of fields of tall corn, herds of dairy cattle, droves of sheep and pigs and flocks of turkeys. Also included were some highly realistic colored views of the corn palace.

Following a brief business session in which A. F. Berge, treasurer of the fall festival committee, presented an informal report, President Walter Jung of the senior group turned the meeting over to Clarence Sande, head of the junior chamber. Lloyd Bennes announced that as a result of that organization's participation in the festival, it would turn over to the central committee a sum in excess of $450 to aid in meeting expenses in connection with the undertaking.

Following a brief discussion of a proposed skating show this winter to be sponsored by the Junior group, the matter was referred to the board of directors for further action.

Robert J. Lund announced that the fair board, of which he is secretary had paid out more than $80 in prizes to entrants in the corn show held in connection with the festival and added that several of the exhibits at the local event will be entered in the corn department of the International Livestock show in Chicago in December.

BEMIDJI TEAM PLAYS LOCALS FRIDAY NIGHT

Game to be Big Feature of First Lincoln School Homecoming

QUEEN TO BE CROWNED BETWEEN THE HALVES

Prowlers Down Warren Friday 25-0 for Sixth Win of Season

Furnishing the center of attraction at the first annual Lincoln high school homecoming festivities Friday evening will be a football game between the Prowlers and the Bemidji high school Lumberjacks, a team rated as one of the strongest in Northern Minnesota.

The Bemidji eleven, defeated this season only by Hibbing and Eveleth, constitutes the last barrier in the way of an unblemished record for Coach George Lee's Prowlers, who have won all six games played by them thus far this season, all but one of them by decisive scores. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

An added feature of the festivities Friday will be the crowning between the halves of a homecoming queen, to be selected this afternoon from among six senior girls in a contest which has been under way the past month. The candidates for the honor are Lorraine Amundson, Margaret McKechnie, Lorraine Haken, Margaret Jacobson, Yvonne Anderson and Fae Belcher. In addition, two attendants for the queen will be selected from among ten candidates.

The homecoming event will be preceded this evening promptly at 7:30, by a parade to the east side park, where there will be a bonfire and pepfest, with music supplied by the high school band. A brief program will be given, including introductory remarks by Jerome Salveson, talks by Coach Lee, Captain Bob Hanson of the team and Don Matteson, speaking for the alumni. Each class also will present a stunt.

The contest between the Prowlers and Warren Saturday evening resulted in another 25-0 victory for the locals. After being held scoreless in the first quarter, Caldis went over the line for a touchdown in the second period, followed shortly after by another, with Booren carrying the ball. Later in the game Nesse thrilled the crowd by making two more touchdowns, one of them after an 85-yard run from the kickoff.

Present indications, he added, are for a substantial increase in volume of business for the full year of 1937 as compared to last year.

Other speakers included J. W. Taylor, local representative of the farm security administration, who outlined the Thief River Falls resettlement project; and J. S. Montgomery, secretary of the Production Credit corporation of St. Paul, who discussed the machinery set up by his organization for financing short term loans to farmers.

Magnuson Has Narrow Escape from Drowning While Hunting Sunday

While on a duck hunting expedition at Cross lake Sunday, A. M. Magnuson had an experience that he will not soon forget. He had started out in a small duckboat when, about 300 feet from shore, a sharp piece of ice tore a hole in the bottom of the boat, causing it to sink. Mr. Magnuson, hampered by his boots and heavy hunting clothes, was unable to swim to shore, but was fortunate enough to get hold of an air-filled cushion from the boat which kept him afloat for nearly a half hour, by which time John Lind, who was hunting with him, got another boat from the C. D. Gustafson cottage not far away and came to his rescue. Mr. Magnuson's gun was later retrieved from the bottom of the lake, the water being about eight feet deep at that point.

Free Entertainment in Arena, Including Keno and Other Games

Sleek new 1938 model automobiles, featuring advanced mechanical improvements, refinements in body styles and more color, will make their debut to residents of Northwestern Minnesota at the eleventh annual automobile to be held in the Thief River Falls arena from Thursday, November 4, thru Saturday, November 6.

As was demonstrated at the time of the 1936 show, the spacious arena is ideally adapted to the needs of the event, and furnishes an attractive setting for the many lines of cars that will go on display just as factory production of the new models gets under way.

As an added feature of the show the Thief River Falls Elks lodge will conduct its annual charity carnival at the arena Friday and Saturday, November 5 and 6, with dances in the Auditorium both evenings, for which music will be supplied by Everett Perrin's orchestra. The musicians also will perform in the arena from 7:30 to 8:30 in the evening, in addition to which there will be free vaudeville numbers, keno games and other attractions.

A dozen different lines of cars including approximately 25 models will be on display at the exposition. Included in the prospective exhibitors and their lines are the Northern Chevrolet company, Chevrolet and Oldsmobile; Gustafson & Son, Nash, LaFayette and International trucks; Taxerass Implement company, DeSoto and Plymouth; and Borchert & Johnson, Dodge and Plymouth. Lund & Tuteberg, who will display a Lincoln Zephyr, also hope that the 1938 Fords will be announced in time to have a model on display at the show. The Buick line will be displayed by the Wiener Top & Body Works.

JOHN SORUMS OF HOLT MARK THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Pioneer Couple Honored Sunday by 200 Relatives and Friends

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sorum of Holt, prominent residents of Marshall county since 1889, observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary last Sunday with a noon dinner for 60 relatives and friends at their farm home, followed in the afternoon by a reception at the Free Mission church at Holt attended by over 200 friends, neighbors, and relatives, including several out-of-town guests.

Arvid Carlson of Middle River presided as master of ceremonies at the reception program, which included congratulatory remarks by friends and business associates of Mr. and Mrs. Sorum; vocal selections by Mrs. Cory Myhrer and Mrs. Arnold Folden, both of Newfolden; and an address by Rev. Myhrer of Newfolden. Reading of messages of congratulation to the honor guests was interspersed throughout the program. Mr. and Mrs. Sorum were presented with two gifts of money in remembrance of the occasion, one purse, contained in a gold jewel box, being a gift from their ten children, all of whom were present, and the other being a gift from the other guests assembled at the reception. Miss Beulah Bennes of this city played nuptial music as the bride and bridegroom of fifty years entered the church for their golden wedding service.

Buffet refreshments were served in the downstairs church parlors which were decorated in a gold-and-white motif for the occasion. A large bridal cake decorated in gold graced the buffet.

Mr. and Mrs. Sorum were married at Hillsboro, N. D., in 1887, and have resided in East Valley, Marshall county, since 1889. They have ten children, Andrew of Crookston, Arthur of Glendive, Mont., Roy of Pontiac, Mich., Mrs. Bertha Gilbertson of Hillsboro, N. D., Mrs. Gladys Harrs of Minneapolis, Mrs. Alice Dahl and Mrs. Hazel Anderson, both of Goodridge, Jesse and Willie, both of Holt, and Esther residing at home.

Mr. Sorum has been active in community affairs, having served on the school board, township board, as Marshall county commissioner, and as clerk of the Holt creamery, in the building of which he was instrumental.

Evangelist Discusses War in Far East Sunday

"The present situaton in the world is of such a nature that thinking men and women are asking the meaning of the portentous events transpring before their eyes. The audacious invasion of China by the Japanese forces with blood shed and property destruction, occupation of territory and disregard for the lives, property, and honor of the European and American citizens residing in the territory invaded, gives us a faint idea of what the next war will be like." So declared Evangelist Gulbrandson in his lecture, last Sunday night in the former Methodist church. The next Sunday night program is announced on the church page of this issue.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

CITY ELECTION TUESDAY

Up to the present time there doesn't seem to be much interest in the city election which will be held Tuesday of next week. On the face of things that would seem to indicate easy going for those now in office who are seeking re-election. There are no issues involved and apparently there is little dissatisfaction with the manner in which the affairs of the city are being managed. The fact that the Mayor has no opposition supports such a conclusion.

The very fact, however, that there is little interest in the election is the thing that makes the outcome uncertain. Our guess would be that, under the circumstances, with a large vote the present incumbents would be returned to office with substantial margins. With a light vote the odds are in favor of well organized minorities. The result, therefore, as we see it, will depend on the number of votes.

When the present administration took office two years ago the city owed $300,000. The city's debt now is $230,000, a reduction of $70,000 in two years. Our indebtedness now is down to about where it was in 1920 before the city assumed the paving obligation. In other words, since 1920 we have paid for the paving and also the many other improvements that have been made since that time. The total cost of all of these improvements would aggregate close to a million dollars. And they are paid for.

These figures are not presented with the idea of glorifying the present city administration. Such a record reflects credit upon all of the administrations that have served the city during this period. By and large, the affairs of our city have been well managed thruout the years. But for the favorable record of the past two years the present officials do deserve credit, and they certainly have a right to expect the voters to consider this record before making their selections on Tuesday.

But no matter what your ideas on the candidates may be, register those ideas by voting. If you like the present administration, vote for it. If you don't like it, vote against it. There are capable men opposed to the present incumbents and if you think them better qualified, support them. Vote as you please but VOTE TUESDAY.

It's surprising that we have been able to get anything done around the office this last week. Our new picture taking machine has proven to be such an interesting toy that most of our time, it seems, has been devoted to experiments in the art of photography. We have tried enough stunts by now to have a pretty good idea of what can be done with it and from now on we hope to put it to practical use. We would appreciate it if folks would let us know a few hours in advance where they are going to stage their automobile accidents. Pictures of wrecks are interesting but we are equipped for action and prefer to catch the cars while they are still in the air.

High school students are running dangerously high temperatures over their homecoming program this week. Of course if Bemidji should happen to get lucky and win the football game Friday night things won't be quite so bad but if Thief River takes the long end of the score we're afraid there's going to be a lot of noise on the streets. Whichever way the score goes, that Bemidji game is going to be a good game to see.

When we heard Mayor Prichard wasn't going to have opposition in the election next Tuesday we thought it a bit unusual and asked city clerk Pederson to check back over the records to find out how long it had been since such a situation had existed before. His research disclosed the fact that there really was nothing unusual in the arrangement. In 1927 and in 1929 Prichard was re-elected Mayor without opposition. He probably is the most re-elected mayor the city has ever had.

Sometime during the next week you probably will be given an opportunity to contribute to the Red Cross. You probably will not be asked to give any specific amount. As we understand it, the size of the contribution is entirely up to the individual. Nickels and dimes are gratefully accepted. Even pennies are welcomed. When these small coins are assembled they buy a lot of meals and clothes for the needy. Of course if you just can't possibly spare a few pennies then you will have to deny yourself the pleasure of giving. But do what you can. The Red Cross is one organization that really is worthy of your support.

RIGHTS OF CITIZENS

(Red Wing Daily Eagle)

Politicians continue to prate about "human rights" as above "property rights" and they continue to seek changes in the laws of the land to set up a new political order in which only "human rights" are recognized. Yet, next to life and liberty, what greater human right exists than the right to establish home and a business, "property rights," to be more exact?

The close relationship of human rights and property rights is recognized by the constitution of the United States, which politicians likewise seek to change. Just what does the constitution have to say about these "rights?"

As regards human rights the constitution guarantees free exercise of religious belief; freedom of speech; the right of peaceful assemblage; fair trial by impartial jury; protection against wrongful imprisonment; prohibition of all forms of slavery, and the right to vote.

Under the heading of property rights we find that the constitution provides:

That citizens have the right to have the government maintain the obligation of contracts; that no person can be deprived of his property without due process of law; that he shall have security against unreasonable searches and seizures of person, houses, papers and effects; that the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States shall not be abridged by any state; that no person shall be deprived of the equal protection of the laws.

"These are things that are guaranteed to you, Mr. Citizen, by the constitution of the United States, which some would have you believe is outdated and a product of the "horse and buggy" days. Study over its guarantees and judge for yourself the next time some glib politician tries to draw a line of demarcation between "human rights" and "political rights."

ON THE PENSION LIST

(Grand Rapids Herald-Review)

The Townsend plan offered people over 60 years of age an income of $200 a month. We do not have a Townsend plan in Minnesota but there is a pension plan for those who are over 65 years of age and need assistance. Some facts of that pension method are most interesting. We have some interesting aspects of it before us.

In July of this year 62,200 people of Minnesota over 65 years of age received pensions. The average amount was $19.49. The total payments amounted to $1,212,000 or at a rate of about 15 millions each year. The number of people on pension is increasing.

Nearly a third of the people of the state over 65 years of age now receive this pension. This would indicate that two-thirds of the people of more advanced years have means of support.

A most interesting feature is the great variation in the number who receive pensions in the various counties of the state. Up here in Itasca 60 per cent of those over 65 get pensions. There were 812 people on the list in July. The estimate is that there are 1,477 people over 65 in the county. Down in Nicollet county only 14 per cent of those over the age limit are on the pension rolls.

There must be some reasons for such a great variation in the pension lists. It may rest in the difference in the communities. It may be difference in people. It may be in variation of management of the plan. But when 14 per cent of those over 65 get a pension in one county and 60 per cent in another, there is something to think about.

No doubt, there has been a different conception of the plan in some counties than in others. Some people believe that only those strictly in need of relief get the pension. Others express a belief that all over 65 are entitled to this money from the government.

The time will probably come when every citizen over a certain age will collect a pension from the government. Every person over 21 years of age will also contribute each year to a universal pension plan. Between the social security act which takes money from payrolls and the straight pension plan designed for relief, we are rapidly approaching a condition in which it will be easier for every person to collect than it will be to set up standards and methods to leave out a few.

In the meantime it is both interesting and important to know why in some counties in Minnesota a sixth of the people over 65 get a pension and in other counties two thirds get a monthly dole.

FARMERS and TRAPPERS!

For nearly 20 years, we have done business with you, your father and your neighbor. We always try to maintain an honest business. If you are too far away to come in with your furs, you can send them in to us, and also send your favorite price list along. I am sure that we can do as good or even better than any place you figure on shipping to. Besides, you will get quick returns. The skunk market is opening up the same as last year at this time. We believe that the early seller will profit this year. WE will buy your skunks unskinned for about 10c apiece less, and we also buy any other fur bearing animal unskinned, but do not keep them too long or they will spoil. So try us first, before you do business with someone else. We are always in the market for cattle and horse hides. Be sure and skin them right, cut the tail off cattle hides and leave the tail and mane on horse hides and they will bring you more. We also buy tail and mane hair of horses. We do not send out price lists, but if there is something you would like to know, write and we will answer you. We also have on hand a good supply of men's rebuilt army shoes and oxfords.

1937 TAX LEVY IS COMPLICATED BY NEW STATE LAWS

County Auditors Face Many Puzzling Details on Classification

County auditors in Minnesota are now working on the most complicated tax levy in state history. They are applying the tax rates of the state, county, and various subdivisions to each piece of property in several classifications so that the list can be in the hands of the county treasurers by January 1, for collection.

Under new laws recently adopted, there are now four general classifications for real property, homesteads and non-homesteads, platted and unplatted, the Minnesota Taxpayers Association points out.

Homesteads on platted property have a taxable valuation of 25 per cent of their full and true value; on unplatted property the taxable value is 20 per cent of the real value. Platted non-homestead property is assessed at 40 per cent of its full value, while unplatted non-homestead property is assessed at 33.3 per cent. The lower assessed valuation on homesteads applies only to the first $4,000 of full and true value. Amounts above this are assessed on the same basis as non-homestead property.

The recent legislature added another complication when it exempted the first $4000 full value of homestead property from state tax levies, excepting those necessary for payment of debts contracted prior to passage of the act. Approximately 7.41 mills will be necessary in 1938 for such previous debt charges, 2.59 mills for current purposes, making a total state levy of 10 mills, according to the limitation placed by the last legislature, the Minnesota Taxpayers Association points out.

The county auditor's problem is to figure out the tax rate against all real property in the several classifications. Taxes on property valued at $8,000 would be $256 for a platted homestead; $150.80 for an unplatted homestead; $320 for a platted non-homestead and $266.67 for an unplatted non-homestead property. With such wide variations in taxes on similar property, the taxpayer has a difficult time making tax comparisons with his neighbor.

Nash, world's first car with CONDITIONED-AIR SYSTEM—For winter driving with no chilling drafts and no frosty windows. Even with all doors and windows closed and you smoke it disappears. Over eighty new major improvements on the 1938 Nash. A bushel of parts have been eliminated in the new revolutionary new kind of engine in the NASH. Only low priced car with full pressure lubrication—Cruising gear is available in the lowest price NASH, a feature you would always insist on having in your car if ever you drove it.

This is only a very small part of the NEW 1938 NASH story. IMAGINE THIS BIGGER, SMARTER, FINER-BUILT NASH SELLING AGAINST THE "ALL THREE" CLASS.

The NASH is here. It's winning on VALUE.

ZIMMERMAN POST IS GIVEN NEW ULM MAN LAST FRIDAY

Herman Aufderheide Named State Relief Director in St. Paul

Herman J. Aufderheide of New Ulm, former secretary to the late Governor Floyd B. Olson, Friday was named state relief administrator.

He succeeds L. P. Zimmerman, whose resignation this week precipitated a sharp verbal battle between Governor Elmer A. Benson and State Auditor Stafford King.

Aufderheide's appointment was agreed upon and announced at a special meeting of the state executive council. The council is legal administrator of state relief funds.

Aufderheide was educated at New Ulm and formerly taught school at Arlington. He is head of a brick and tile company at New Ulm and is a former chairman of the farmer-labor state central committee.

He succeeded Vince A. Day, Minneapolis, as the late governor's secretary in December, 1935, when Day was appointed to the Minneapolis municipal bench. Later Aufderheide was retained as former Governor Hjalmer Petersen's secretary.

Falconry Long Used in China

Falconry, practiced in China as far back as 2000 B. C., was a favorite recreation of the aristocracy during the Middle ages—more, in the latter instance, as a sport than as a means of getting game for the table, it seems.

You Expect Your Doctor To Know When, How, and Why You are Sick

The years of preparation by the Doctor are simply and solely to fit him to diagnose your case, make and keep you well.

The Doctor is not a super-human, with super-natural powers. Scientific methods, precedent, personal experience, and the experience of others, necessarily limit the Doctor's powers to human capacity.

However, your Doctor brings all these available sources of information to bear on diagnosis and treatment. Your Doctor wants to make and keep you well. Nine times out of ten, if instructions are followed, prescriptions carried out, if you cooperate with your Doctor—you will be better off physically and mentally. Give your Doctor a chance to check up on you regularly and keep you well.

25TH BIRTHDAY OF EXTENSION WORK IN STATE MARKED

Anniversary Noted at Conference at University Farm Last Week

County Agent Howard Grow returned late last week from University Farm, St. Paul, where he attended the annual state conference of agricultural extension workers. The conference marked the 25th anniversary of the establishment of extension work in Minnesota.

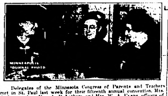
Joining in the anniversary program were Frank Marshall, Minnesota's first county agricultural agent, who began work September 1, 1912, in Traverse county, A. D. Wilson, first state director of agricultural extension, and a number of other men and women who pioneered in the movement.

Director F. W. Peck, who succeeded Mr. Wilson in 1921, says that there are now 83 full-time agricultural agents serving 81 counties, five emergency agents in six counties, 23 home demonstration agents in 22 counties, two urban home demonstration agents, two full-time county 4-H club agents, and a number of assistant county and home agents in training.

This field force represents 25 years of growth since the fall of 1912 when four other west central Minnesota counties, including Stevens, Pope, Grant, and Otter Tail, set up the work. Supervising and supporting these county workers are now 54 state staff members including around 45 specialists in various lines of agricultural and home economics subject-matter.

Concordia Homecoming Set for This Week-end

Opening festivities at the forty-sixth anniversary and homecoming at Concordia college, Moorhead, Minn., will be a pep fest, coronation of Miss Concordia and a torchlight parade through downtown Moorhead, Friday evening, Oct. 29. The Rev. Peter E. Oustad '25, Bagley, will give the homecoming address, "Made Ready at the Quarry", at 10 a. m., Oct. 30 in the college auditorium. Highlight Saturday afternoon will be the football game between Concordia and Macalester.



Delegates of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers met in St. Paul last week for their fifteenth annual convention. Mrs. A. D. Strachan, Mrs. A. D. Lathers, and Mrs. W. A. Evans, officers of the group gathered in luncheons previous to the opening of the regular sessions.

Hardanger Spillemands Lag Closes Successful Session in Grand Forks

Halvor Langslett of Devils Lake, president of the Hallingslag of America, Saturday night addressed the closing session of the two-day Spillemands lag parley in the Grand Forks auditorium.

Other features of the final program were a mountain music contest, violin solos, Norwegian dances by costumed groups, reading of greetings from prominent Norwegians and songs. More than 800 persons were in attendance.

Presiding was Bjorgulv Bjornaraa of Trail, lag secretary. Earlier, at the afternoon program were violin solos by Steinar Odden of Hazel Run, and Olav Tveitbakk of Gully. Bjornaraa spoke on Leif Ericsson, early explorer, and pointed out knowledge of Ericsson's work was increasing and he was becoming recognized as the discoverer of America. He urged his listeners to maintain Ericsson's spirit of courage.

There also were short talks by O. Christianson of Greenbush, and Arne Grundyren of Fisher. Greetings read during the convention included a poem from John Norstog, another poem from Mrs. Tilda Akeranyr Tofteland, artist of Luverne.

Research Held Great Aid to Crop Control by U. of M. Scientist

The question of stabilized agricultural production may be at least partially solved by better crop adaptation, development of varieties resistant to unfavorable weather, insect enemies and plant diseases, Professor Elvin C. Stakman, University of Minnesota plant pathologist, said recently.

"Agriculture is a far more precarious undertaking than most other enterprises", he said in addressing students at the weekly convocation hour. "A farm is not a factory where plants and domestic animals are fabricated according to blue prints. It is a place where living things grow outdoors, subject to tremendous climatic hazards and destructive insect plagues and plant diseases. Consequently there are extremely important problems, not only of marketing, but also of production. The farmer not only is concerned with prices but in producing something to sell in the first place.

"New diseases and insect pests are constantly appearing," he said, "unusual weather combinations of weather occur periodically causing violent fluctuations in crop yields. Therefore there must be a continued effort toward basic research, experimentation and widespread dissemination of the information obtained. It is impossible to predict total production until there can be greater control of those factors that cause these violent fluctuations. Likewise, profitable production on individual farms can scarcely be assured until hazards over which farmers now have little control can be removed."

PASSENGER COMES TO AKELY, WRONG STATE

Akeley.—A passenger on a Great Northern train, a 70-year old woman, arrived in Akeley, Minnesota "on time" one day last week, but had gone to the wrong Akeley, for her destination was Akeley, Iowa. Having bought a ticket in Minneapolis to Akeley the ticket man had assumed it to be Akeley, Minnesota, since the woman was traveling on the Great Northern. The attendant had not inquired about the state from his customer. She was placed aboard her train and landed in the Minnesota village. The woman began to realize after she left Sauk Centre that she was on the wrong train. The conductor, however, did not feel that he could allow his passenger to get off at that time of night and so she decided to continue to Akeley, arriving there at seven o'clock in the morning. The situation was explained to the local agent, who immediately got in touch with officials, and six hours later the woman, a ticket in her possession, boarded the train to Akeley, Iowa. During an interview she resolved she would never again attempt a trip alone.

BAND NOTES

The high school band spent last Thursday at Bemidji, where they assisted with the entertainment program for the meeting of the Northern Minnesota Educational Association. The following selections were played: "Sleepers Wake" by J. S. Bach, "Tscaikowsky" arranged by Paul Yoder, "Manitou Heights" by Christianson, and as an encore number, they played "The Merry-go-round Broke Down", arranged by Mr. Riggs. The concert proved to be very successful, and many compliments were given to the band on their excellent tone quality. The clarinets were especially praised for their ability to play the difficult parts in unison.

The band will also play at the Homecoming next Thursday and Friday.

Last Saturday night at the football game between the Prowlers and Warren, a group of band members got together and played during the game. Although they had no director, they played remarkably well.

The entertaining season is on. And miracles of surprises, the guys is doing the host stuff.

Several Class Meetings Are Held During Week

Class meetings have been held several times in the last two weeks after a few of the Seniors announced to the various classes that each was to furnish a float for the parade, the bonfire stunt, and colors for the class flag.

At the Junior meeting last week over which Loren Stadum presided, the colors for the flag chosen were gold and maroon. On the stunt committee are as follows: Loren Stadum, Clifford Lunke, Joan Dahlquist, Martha Havel, Leona Brattland, and Adeline Lorentson. Those appointed for the float committee are Ralph Gustafson, Mae Wilson, Beatrice Peterson, Palma Jahr, Leona Brattland, Joyce Bennes, Orville Eide, and Judith Holland.

Monday, after school, the Freshmen had their meeting. Thomas Carlisle, the president, appointed one committee for both activities. This committee consists of Marjorie Hellquist, Barbara Jacobson, Glen Anderson, Willis Erickson, Howard Janneck, and John Parbst. The colors chosen are green and white.

These various committees are busy throughout the week and are promising a very, very pleasing evening.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

Her name is Iva Groslie and she is just seventeen years old. Basketball is her favorite sport and "Winnie Winkle" her favorite comic strip. Any time you want to please her, just fix up a nice tuna fish salad, and you'll be friends for life. "Green Light" by Douglas is tops with her as far as books are concerned. Ted Weems ranks high in her estimation of a good orchestra. She thinks Alyce Faye and Don Ameche are both swellegant, and she wouldn't mind seeing "You Can't Have Everything" over a few more times. Her hobby is collecting popular songs. More than anything else, she wants to become famous (don't we all?) and her inspiration is the Duchess of Windsor.

Elinor Erickson

Nick-name: "El".

Age: 17.

Favorite dish: Chocolate soda

Favorite comic strip: Dixie Dugan

Favorite orchestra: Mrs. Harrison's Girls

Favorite sport: Skating

Hobby: Music

Pet Exclamation: "Shucks"

Pet Peeve: People who spell my name wrong.

Aspiration: I don't aspir

Inspiration: Haven't found one

He is often spoken of as "diminutive", although he's seventeen and really growing up! Set a banana split before him and watch his face light up with glee. The best show he ever saw is "You Only Live Once", although he is very partial to pictures featuring the Ritz Brothers. He would like to hear Cab Calloway play "Harbor Lights." "Blondie" is his favorite comic strip. He thinks disturbing people in the back seats of cars is very annoying (did I say he was growing up? I've been disillusioned). His aspiration is coaching football and Coach Lee is his inspiration. No mistaking his identity—Roy Lee!

From my observations— I'd say—Ralph G. has finally made up his mind—and to you unknowing ones the gal is Mae W.—

PROWLERS WIN OVER WARREN BY SCORE OF 25-0

Only One Game Now Stands Between Prowlers and Undefeated Season

The already pretentious Prowler calf of victory was once again fattened when the men of George Lee ran rough shod to a 25-0 victory over a game but light Warren team here, Saturday night.

The two aggregations fought on almost even terms until late in the first canto. After the beginning of the second quarter it was apparent that the Marshall county boys were upholding a losing cause. This contest gave the Prowler their sixth win in as many starts under the Mazdas this season. They also clinched the right to wear their 1936 district crown for another year.

The first quarter was unspectacular enough. Quale kicked off to Haugo who received it on his own twenty and returned it to the thirty-three. On the next play the Ponies were thrown back for a 5 yard loss. A fourth attempt failed to gain the needed distance and Haugo punted to the Prowler forty-five. Ness lugged it up to midfield. A series of passes brought the ball down to the Warren twenty-five. However as the next two plays they were set back to the thirty-two yard stripe, at which point Schaffer snagged a Prowler pass. Three tries at the line failed and Haugo punted to Nesse who was stopped in his tracks on the Prowler forty-five. Two stabs at the Warren forward wall were repelled and Nesse booted a nice one down to Howe on the Warren twenty-five. Warren was forced to punt however as the quarter ended, 0-0.

Eight running plays and a forward pass brought the first tally in the second quarter. The pigskin was lugged down to Ponies' one yard stripe before the Warren boys found themselves. They stiffened and held for one down but on the next play, Caldis plunged over into the end zone.

Nesse's attempt at conversion failed and the touchdown culminated a sustained drive of fifty-three yards. The second Prowler counter came as a result of two long runs, a pass, and a series of line plunges. The Leemen had a first down on the Warren 8 yard line. Three plays advance the ball to the ten inch stripe. Booren then fooled the defense with a checker play and brought the score to 12. Prowlers. Quale kicked off to Warren as the gun sounded.

The third quarter was almost a repetition, except that the Lincoln power was more apparent, the entire quarter being played in Warren territory.

The Prowlers opened the final quarter by tossing two incomplete forward passes, and then springing Nesse loose on a twenty-five yard touchdown jaunt. A fake reverse failed to work the extra point.

The high spot of the quarter, however, was Nesse's 82 yard touchdown gallop. The Prowler speedster snagged a punt and weaved his way down to the Warren goal.

We heard—or we hope we heard that Mr. Lee once asked one of his government classes this question: "If the president and vice-president died, who would get the job. One of his pupils dubiously asked after a short interval of about a half an hour, "Would it be the Secretary of State?"

"No" was the answer.

"Who would?" the pupil asked.

"The undertaker," Mr. Lee replied.—Smart?

Have you heard that Dr. Nesse purposely keeps Milt short of money at college because it causes Milt to write home more often and more charmingly, or is it a fact? Maybe it's just a good idea.

As the greatest gridiron celebration in Lincoln high school history draws near, we deem it only proper that we should comment on those who are making this elaborate celebration what it is. First of all, we have, as the inaugurating factor for the adoption of the Homecoming Week Activities, the Prowlers, whose success created the idea of this innovation. With the gridders unquenchable spirit and the superb coaching of George Lee the most successful football season in Prowler annals may be attained. To them, the Homecoming celebration is dedicated.

In an endeavour to make this Homecoming game a huge success the entire school, with the special help of certain groups, has taken upon itself the responsibility of creating the first annual Prowler Homecoming as something to be remembered as an attribute to the team and the school.

The entire school has selected a queen and two attendants who will be named and fittingly crowned between the halves of the last and climax game of the 1937 season. be named and

One group or organization that can be depended on to carry out its important part in the scheduled festivities is the excellent high school band, under the very efficient supervision of Mr. R. G. Riggs, which will furnish an abundance of peppy music to keep pace with the tenaity of the occasion.

Others who must be commended for their aid toward the festivities success are the various committees on publicity, decoration, sale of Homecoming novelties, stunts, and also the faculty of Lincoln high school, all of whom enthusiastically gave favorable influence and advice for the carrying out of many difficult assignments.

In response to the persistent efforts of those participating in this affair, we also deem it only proper that the entire student body attend in unison pep paradese, pep meetings, and together with Lincoln high school alumni, the faculties of the local schools, and the citizens of Thief River Falls and the surrounding committees to attend the racial Prowler-Bemidji tilt and make the Homecoming celebration a gigantic success in every detail. Your neighbor is going to be there. Are you?

TEACHERS TRAINING

The members of the Teacher Training Department have just finished their first week of practice teaching in the second and third grade language classes. The night before the first day of teaching was a sleepless one for us, but we found that our fears were groundless, in fact, the only disagreeable task in regard to this first teaching was the daily writing of lesson plans. When our first lesson plans were returned, they were quite gayly decorated with bright red marks showing errors; but toward the end of the wek they were less colorful.

In spite of the frigid weather of Wednesday, October 13, we played another spectacular kittenball game on the east side diamond. Again Mr. Doran's team defeated the ever-fighting Jordeites with a score of 21 to 14. This ends our kittenball series. Since Doran's team won the first two battles, it is unnecessary to play the third and last game of the series. Mr. Doran and his team are patiently waiting for invitations to the party to be given them by the losers, the Jordietes.

On Monday and Wednesday the 18th and 20th of October, Mr. Louie, the local bus driver, had the pleasure of chauffeuring the members of the Department around to different rural schools for observation. Each of the members prepared something to present in case he was called on. Relief drills, poems, stories, playground games, opening exercises and songs were presented. We will continue rural school observation Tuesday, October 26.

During the two-day vacation last week the students of the Department visited rural schools near their homes. Some taught a few classes during that time.

TATTER AND PRATTLE

What sophomore flash was out footing it with a soph female on Sunday eve? I think he's best know as Wayne B. Incidentally Ruth E. is the gal.

I hear a good time was had by all-in-the-Freshmen bus coming home from Bemidji—tut-tut—and so young too.

I also hear Miloy N. and the rest of the band members were doing o. k. by themselves too—it's o. k. men—but don't rob the cradle—

What prominent Jr. boy bet another prominent Jr. boy that he could take out any girl in H. S.—and then after three futile attempts gave up in despair—it's too gud to keep—Kenney E. was the guy who did the betting—

A certain Red Freed seems to be purty interested in a certain Olive O.

More betting—more juniors—more darn fun. This time it's LaVerne W. He did something awful uptown too. Don't dare tell ya though!

PROWLERETTES CORNER

Well—m' sweets—I do hope you made use of that dandy little holliday to the tune of a few points in your G. A. A. work. You know—we didn't elect a hardworking know-your-point-system group of board members to be high sounding. Our hiking, biking, skiing, skating lassie, Dagny Tungseth, is just a-pining to scribble your hard-earned record into her book; and Ellen Dalos, volley ball manager, would like to see a bang-up season in that sport—so jolies—what say?

Evie Tungseth's sterling services as last year's president of G. A. A. "earned" her the same berth this year, aided by the most able board I ever saw assembled— To be specific! Adeline Lorentson, basketball, manager; Ellen Dalas, volley ball manager; Gloria Quist, kittenball manager; Marion Holmen, archery; Dagny Tungseth, hiking, etc; Anna Hanson, track; freshmen representative, Marjorie Helquist.

The Honorable President admonished the pledges of the group to remember their manners and keep in their proper places—"stay put", and you should have heard the lusty voices raised in "Cheer—cheer". (Must try it in assembly some time).

All in all—'twas very inspiring —tak—yes, it was.

Let's keep an eye on those poster efforts, m'dears—at least make a good try, since there is the possibility of 100 points at the end of the trail—

And the end of me—

'Bye—and see you with plenty of Homecoming razzu-tazz!

BEMIDJI TO MEET LOCALS IN LAST GAME OF SEASON

Lumberjacks to Try to Drop Prowlers From Ranks of Undefeated

The time has finally come when the Prowlers will be put face to face with Bemidji. All season Coach Lee, the team, the whole student body, and local fans have been waiting for this game, the opening kick-off of which is scheduled for eight o'clock tomorrow, Friday evening on the high school field.

In this game, the last and best of the season, Coach Lee and the Prowlers will use all the strategy, all the man-power, all the trick plays at their disposal. Out of all the games played between these two schools, since the beginning of their rivalry, Thief River Falls has been victorious in all but one. This year the boys are out to make it two or drop in their tracks trying. Lincoln High School has never in its history come through a football season undefeated. Last year they almost did when they were on top until the last game, with Bemidji. Bemidji won 13 to 6 and dashed our hopes for an undefeated season. This adds one more score the Prowlers have to settle with Bemidji. Tomorrow night the boys will be out for revenge, out to end a season without a defeat in their schedule.

Bemidji will, without a doubt, furnish the locals with the stiffest opposition of this season. You recall two weeks ago when the Prowlers journeyed to Mahnomen and were very hard pressed to squeeze a 12 to 7 victory over the Indians. The Lumberjacks will come to Thief River Falls with a much stronger team than Mahnomen's aggregation. No matter how you look at it the game tomorrow evening will be the game of the season, and anyone who for any reason misses it will regret it the rest of his life.

Although the Lumberjacks have tasted defeat this year, that fact cannot be considered an advantage for the Prowlers, nor does it make Bemidji any stronger when one considers that the defeats were suffered at the hands of such teams as Hibbing and Eveleth. Rather, it could be charged as one more point in the opponents favor since they are accustomed to or have played against much stronger teams than those the Prowlers have met and so will present the locals with a harder, rougher brand of football than they regularly face. Veterans of last year's Bemidji—Thief River Falls tussle will very readily verify this statement.

However, the Prowlers are ready for four quarters of hard play, have been preparing for just that all year and now are at the peak of their form. Also, fifteen seniors will be in there, at one time or another, playing their last game in high school football. You may be sure these fifteen will outdo themselves in their final contest.

There will be two shifts in the starting line-up tomorrow night as there was against Warren. Ray Bredeson, 170 pound right halfback, has been moved into the line at right tackle and Mel Haughom will move in to fill the vacancy in the backfield. Clarence Mattson, who has been the regular at right tackle up to now, has been on the sick list and has been forced out of too much play. He will, however, see action in tomorrow night's game.

This will undoubtedly be the best game of the season. Don't miss it!

The probable starting line-up for each team follows:

Prowlers		Bemidji
Quale	LE	Wilcox
Stadum	LT	Aylesworth
Eide	LG	Larson
Hanson	C	Lucan
Johnson	RG	Christoferson
Bredeson	RT	Schofield
Lorentson	RE	McPartlin
Booren	QB	K. Olson
Nesse	LH	Stewart
Haughom	RH	Boyle
Caldis	FB	Clark

Lunke, why own an inferiority complex when you're connected with the best families by telephone? Aint it the truth?

PROWLING AROUND

Although the visiting aggregation from Paul Bunyan city is not as great in size nor as potent in ability as last year northwest champions, they are going to prompt Coach Lee to toss the entire rule book at them in a desperate effort to top the Resorters. As it is the last and most crucial game of the season, the Prowlers are not going to conceal any of their strategy so fans are going to see the Prowler squad at its greatest. Fifteen seniors are going to endeavor to bow out their high school careers in a blaze of glory, the entire squad is going "to shoot the works", and to whip the Bemidji Lumberjacks for the first time since 1934. With all this at stake, again we emphasize that those who attend the game can be well assured that the Prowlers are going to "do their derndest", win, lose or draw.

• • •

With only three regulars remaining from last years team, one might conclude that Bemidji ought to be a soft touch for the rampaging Prowlers but such is not the case. In addition to these three regulars there are five additional veterans and three husky newcomers gracing the starting lineup. The three returning first stringers are Captain Lawrence Clark, halfback; Len Moohler, guard; and McPartlin, end. The veterans includes "Boots" Wilcox, end; Lee Christofferson, guard; Wilbur Lycan, center; Ken Olson, halfback; and Lorne Stewart, elusive broken field speed merchant at quarter. The rookies are Aylesworth and Schofield, tackles, and Boyle, fullback. In spite of this menacing lineup plus a host of competent reserves, we're predicting (how is your pulse rate?)—a Prowler victory by a 12 to 7 count.

• • •

Your columnist, possessing that peculiar yen for statistics, has compiled the following weight averages:

Prowler squad 148 lbs.
First eleven 151½ lbs.
Line 152 lbs.
Backfield 151 lbs.
Second eleven 145 lbs.
Line 148 lbs.
Backfield 140 lbs.

Listed below is the tentative personnel of the squad that will dress for the Bemidji tussle. Clarence Mattson and Harry Oen, Stalwart line subs, have been ill recently and may not have recovered sufficiently to take the field in the gruelling battle tomorrow night.

HOMECOMING TO BE INAUGURATED TOMORROW EVE

Seven-Thirty Is the Hour Set for Pep Parade Tonight

Attention please! Homecoming plans are now complete and with your undivided attention, success should be inevitable. It is only fitting that this gala occasion should begin with an elaborate parade. Due to the magnitude of the occasion, the parade will be witnessed on Thursday night. Said parade will commence at the high school. Leading the parade will be Lincoln High School's own band, followed by the undefeated football team. Each member of the team will ride in an individual car. The queen, with her attendants, has been chosen after three week's of spirited voting and she also will ride in her own "chariot". Next a series of spectacular floats will attract the audience's eye (we hope). Each class will be represented by an original float which will bear the colors of the respective classes.

But that isn't all. The pep parade which is to be inaugurated at the high school on Thursday evening will travel through the main thoroughfares in the business section of the city, up first street and will terminate at the ball park on the east side where the various classes will present a variety of well organized pep stunts. Concluding the evening will be a huge bonfire where the Lumberjacks will be burned in effigy (as if it wouldn't be sufficient to be chopped down the following night.)

Preceding the game, a short pep parade will take place, beginning at the high school, through the business section, and will end at Lincoln field where the Lumberjacks and the Prowlers will furnish the fireworks for the evening.

An additional ballot will be taken on the remaining contestants in the Queen of Homecoming and attendants race. Voting will take place until Thursday noon which has been set as a deadline. An elaborate coronation ceremony has been scheduled which will be carried out in every detail.

A rush of voting is anticipated before the deadline so the rank of the contestants may be considerable altered. The rank of Homecoming Queen contestants at present is as follows:

Margaret McKechnie, Lorraine Amundson, Lorraine Baken, Margaret Jacobson, Yvonne Anderson and Fae Belcher. Adelaide Peterson retains her lead in the attendants race with Adeline Lorentson in second place. Following in this order are Dorothy Borgen, Dorothy Robarge, Joyce Bennes, Anna Hanson, Frances Stenberg, Joyce Olson, Marcella Ruane, and Elaine Douglas.

Probably you've heard about the efficiency expert who could never enjoy an ocean voyage because he couldn't stand so much salt going to waste, how about it, Jerome?

LARSON FUNERAL HOME
A FUNERAL SERVICE OF CHARACTER AND ECONOMY

3 A.M.
..AND SOON ALL WILL BE WELL

A group of persons returning home after midnight were puzzled by seeing a man near the top of a telephone pole. He seemed to be busily at work. One of the group investigated.

The explanation was simple. In the telephone office a short time before, several telephone lines in the business district had suddenly gone out of service. Something had happened to a telephone cable.

Telephone cables are not often damaged but when one is, it calls for immediate action. It didn't take long for repairmen to locate the trouble. By getting to work on it at once, it was repaired before daylight and morning telephone calls.

It is our policy to maintain your telephone service as free as possible from interruptions, errors, and imperfections...to provide the best possible telephone service at the least cost to the public consistent with fair treatment of employees and the financial safety of the business.

CASH BOX WON'T WORK; MONEY FOUND IN GEAR

Isle—Art Blom, proprietor of a local grocery store, feels that his efforts to repair his cash register were not entirely futile, for he found several bills rolled up inside the mechanism. The register had refused to work and proprietor Blom took it apart to see what was wrong. He did not find the trouble, but instead discovered a five and one dollar bill carefully tucked away. The machine is one of ancient make, having had several owners before Mr. Blom acquired possession of it when he took over the store.

POLK CO. VOTES TO REMAIN DRY BY A DECISIVE MARGIN

Dry Leaders Map Campaign to Mop Up Wet Spots in County

With all but two precincts reported Tuesday night, the dry lead in Polk county's special liquor option election Monday continued to mount and dry leaders Tuesday night formulated plans to make the county "actually as well as theoretically" dry.

Unreported were Bygland and Keystone and the vote Tuesday night stood 5,147 dry; 3,463 wet, giving the drys a lead of 1,684 votes.

Thomas Vollom of Fosston, president of the Polk county drys, and Rev. H. L. Camp of Crookston, secretary said a meeting of prohibitionists would be held next week.

The dry leaders, Camp asserted, will attend a state meeting of prohibition forces in Minneapolis, then return to seek strict enforcement of the law. Polk county has been legally dry but a movement started in Crookston brought on the option election.

Last two precincts to report Tuesday afternoon were Gully village which voted dry, 30 to 28, and Climax village, also favoring the drys, 77 to 21. Both East Grand Forks and Crookston, the county's two cities, voted wet on the question, "shall the sale of liquor be prohibited?" but rural areas and smaller towns turned the tide for the drys.

Every village in the county voted wet, however.

Minnesota Leader in Reducing Road Deaths

While the traffic accident and death rates of all but 11 other states have increased, so far this year, Minnesota's traffic death rate in 1937 has decreased 14 per cent below last year, the safety division of the Minnesota highway department reveals. Only Maine and Kansas have better records. Education, which makes the motorist acutely aware of the danger of reckless and discourteous driving, plus safety steps taken in highway construction and maintenance, more uniform traffic laws and stricter traffic law enforcement are the factors which have placed Minnesota in the van as a state where it is safer for motorists to drive, the safety division believes.

Charges Court Laxity With Game, Fish Laws

Warning that "the one major factor that will ultimately defeat our conservation program underway in the state, particularly in northern Minnesota, is non-support of existing game and fish and forestry laws." Commissioner Herman C. Wenzel urged better cooperation with the Department of Conservation by municipal judges and justices of the peace. Ed. McKeever, deputy director of the division of Game and Fish, in charge of law enforcement in the division, stated that it is difficult to secure convictions even when the evidence is unquestionably against the defendant.

CLOSED SEASON SET ON UPLAND-BIRD SPECIES

To give adequate protection to upland game birds that are scarce at present or that have just recently been introduced in the state, Conservation Commissioner Herman C. Wenzel stipulated closed seasons this fall on native partridge or ruffed grouse, White-breasted or sharp-tailed grouse, prairie chickens or pinnated grouse, chukar partridges, Hungarian partridges, upland plover, woodcock and mounting doves.

All set? listen: HERE'S THE ENGINEERING MUST STORY OF THE YEAR!

Featuring the DYNAFLASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING—in the Most Modern Chassis in the World

The gas treadle in the new Buick looks like any other. The wheel has a familiar feel in your hand.

But under that long, proud bonnet is an engine unlike any you've ever known before.

And giving silk-smooth levelness to the ride is springing such as no other car can boast.

What happens in the DYNAFLASH engine happens in no other car. Fuel is converted into tiny, fist-size cyclones—and the cyclompression that results makes gasoline give up more performance than ever before in any commercial engine!

Matching DYNAFLASH power in importance is Buick's new TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING and the arroflite ride it provides.

Old leaf-type springs are gone. Each wheel has a soft, shock-smothering cushion of stout coiled steel.

No shackles, no spring covers, no grease points. Nothing to go wrong, wear out or clog with dirt, rust, grease.

Skid risks are blessedly reduced. Rear tires last longer. The whole car handles more easily.

Whether it's power you're after or matchless comfort and security, you'll want Buick this year. And with the DYNAFLASH engine and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING you get half a score of other features.

You can learn about them all from your nearest Buick dealer, now waiting to tell you the engineering "must" story of the year.

"Better buy Buick!"

PROWLERS WIN FROM BEMIDJI FRIDAY 20 TO 6

Crowd of 1200 Witnesses Successful Homecoming Contest

LEEMEN END SEASON WITH 7 VICTORIES

Marks First Season in History Locals Have Been Undefeated

The Lincoln high school football team, smartly coached by George Lee, closed the most successful season in its history Friday evening when, before a record crowd of 1200, the Prowlers scored a decisive victory over the strong Bemidji high school team 20 to 6. The game marked the seventh successive win in a series of games in which the locals piled up a total of 183 points to 18 for their opponents.

The fans Friday watched the two elevens battle thru a scoreless first half in which Bemidji had the edge, gaining 101 yards to 27 yards for the Prowlers.

The fireworks opened in the third quarter when Gordon Cablis intercepted a Bemidji forward pass and raced 45 yards for a touchdown, following which Nesse kicked the goal for the extra point. A few minutes later Stewart of Bemidji ran 18 yards along the side of the field for a touchdown, but failed to kick goal, the period ending 7 to 6 in favor of the Prowlers.

The locals had a decided advantage in the fourth quarter, Booren and Haughom going over for touchdowns and the latter making the extra point. The Prowlers showed their power in the second half by gaining 228 yards to 153 for Bemidji, and made nine first downs in the contest to eight for the visitors.

Other games won by the Prowlers in their first undefeated season were Red Lake Falls, 33-6; Crookston, 43-0; East Grand Forks, 25-0; Grafton, 25-0; Mahnomen, 12-6; and Warren, 25-0. Fifteen seniors concluded their high school gridiron careers in Friday's game.

An added feature of the contest was the crowning between the halves of a homecoming queen in the person of Lorraine Amundson, senior student. Her attendants were Adeline Lorentson, a junior, and Adelaide Peterson, freshman.

MAKE PLANS FOR START OF LEAGUE HOCKEY SCHEDULE

Tom Lonson Heads Local Committee; Alex Campbell Renamed Manager

Looking forward to the opening of the States-Dominion hockey league season, the Thief River Falls committee was organized at a meeting Tuesday evening. Tom Lonson was named committee chairman, Alex Campbell, team manager; Ray Kiland, assistant manager; A. F. Berge, secretary-treasurer; and A. B. Stenberg, league director. Other members of the committee are Joe Maruska, P. C. Meyer and Harry Lund.

The managers were authorized to make arrangements to complete the personnel of the local league entry. Plans call for the flooding of the arena rink shortly after November 15 if the weather is favorable.

J. A. Rice of Hallock was named president of the States-Dominion league at a meeting in Grand Forks Sunday as the organization started preparations for the 1937-38 season.

Rice will name his own secretary-treasurer, who will be from Hallock, in order that the business of the league may be handled with more dispatch. A. R. Lee of Roseau is vice-president and Cap Nelson is a director.

Grand Forks, Emerson, Thief River Falls and Hallock were represented at the meeting. Roseau, which will be a Minneapolis farm this season, was not represented, but the city will be in the league and is preparing for the new season.

University of North Dakota, a member last year, will not play league hockey. The institution will develop its hockey by intramural competition, looking to a varsity team for intercollegiate games.

Grand Forks has no sponsor for its club. The Cavaliers, who had the team for two seasons, have withdrawn their support but officials of the club are certain they can find a sponsor and remain in the circuit.

Thief River Falls men present at the meeting included A. M. Senstad, Alex Campbell and A. B. Stenberg.

ALL ALDERMEN ARE RETAINED; VOTE IS LIGHT

Total of 1068 Ballots Are Cast in City Election Tuesday

ABOUT HALF VOTE CAST IN ELECTION IN 1936

Present Members of Council Renamed by Decisive Pluralities

That citizens of Thief River Falls are well satisfied with the present administration of city affairs was indicated Tuesday when, in the biennial municipal election, only 1068 ballots were cast, about half the full voting strength, all incumbent members of the city council being reelected by substantial pluralities. Mayor W. W. Prichard, who had no opposition, received 896 votes.

H. W. Kinghorn and Carl Christofferson, candidates to succeed themselves as aldermen-at-large, carried all four wards, defeating W. J. Douville and Fred L. Byram. The total vote was: Kinghorn, 772; Christofferson, 538; Douville, 307; and Byram, 285.

Running for reelection to the post of first ward alderman, Emil Griebstein demonstrated his vote-getting ability by piling up a total of 203 to 41 for Ralph Aasland. B. Salveson, member of the council from the second ward, also made an excellent run, defeating Ed Hill by a vote of 168 to 67.

John Baker, alderman from the third ward, was reelected with 150 votes to 95 for W. K. Knight, former council member, and 20 for Palmer M. Pederson. Alderman P. O. Myhrum was the victor in the fourth ward contest, getting 160 votes to 111 for Harry Lund and 56 for H. S. Van Pelt.

Mrs. Thora H. Nelson, who had no opposition, was re-elected city treasurer with a total vote of 876, while Richard G. Mabey was named special municipal judge with 812 votes.

The 1068 ballots cast Tuesday compare with a total of 1939 in the hotly contested election in 1935 and 1858 in 1933.

THREE FIRES NEAR MAVIE BELIEVED WORK OF FIREBUG

Math Barzen Co. Elevator On Electric Line Is Destroyed

Following examination of a man, apparently not in full possession of his faculties, who was suspected of having set three fires in the Mavie community late last week, he was taken by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck to the state hospital at Fergus Falls.

The burning of a house and granary on the old DuChamp place northeast of Mavie last Wednesday was followed the next day by the destruction of a granary a few miles northwest of Mavie containing approximately 1000 bushels of oats.

The series of blazes reached its climax Friday afternoon when the Silverton elevator on the electric line, belonging to the Math Barzen company, was completely destroyed. The structure, which was built slightly more than 20 years ago and which had been operated every year up to the current season, was partly covered by insurance.

While the suspected culprit was not seen in the act of setting the fires, authorities report that he had been seen in the vicinity of all three fires preceding their discovery.

Reports Submitted to C. & C. Group Thursday

At the luncheon of the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday noon, reports were submitted by County Attorney H. O. Berve on the relation of the restoration projects at Mud lake and Thief lake to last summer's flooding of surrounding farm lands, and by Supt. Morris Bye of the local schools on the feasibility of establishing a junior college in Thief River Falls.

In his comprehensive statement, prepared at the request of the association board of directors, Mr. Bye presented the advantages and disadvantages of opening such an institution here. Among the benefits he mentioned were the opportunity given students to get two years of college work while living at home, bridging the present gap between high school and college, and resulting in a saving of expense.

The advantages are offset, in part at least, Mr. Bye stated, by the cost of such an institution to the community, the amount of the burden depending on the rate at which tuition charges are fixed. He pointed out that state aid is not available for junior colleges. No such project, he said in conclusion, can be considered here until a new high school building is provided, at which time space for a junior college could be furnished if local residents desire such an institution.

Mr. Berve, in his statement, said that farmers in Eastern Marshall county blame the Thief lake and Mud lake restoration projects for flooding farm lands in that area, and that they are now up in arms over the situation, having held meetings recently at Gatzke and Grygla, at which resolutions were adopted demanding the lowering of the water level in Thief lake three feet and the removal of dams in Moose river. It is planned, Mr. Berve said, to hold similar meetings at Holt and Middle River. The present drainage system, he continued, has been of great benefit to the region in the past and should be maintained.

Evangelist Discusses Christ's Future Empire

"One world empire after another has come upon the stage of action, flourished for a time, displayed their splendor and glory in military achievement and political affairs, and then they declined and went down into insignificance and oblivion. Thus it happened to ancient 'Babylon, the glory of kingdoms', the great Medo-Persian kingdom, the magnificent realm of Alexander the Great, and the iron empire of Rome. The next world empire will be established by Jesus Christ, the righteous dictator of heaven and earth who will usher in justice and everlasting peace." WHEN YOU VISIT THE AUTO SHOW

When you visit the automobile show at the Corn Palace this week you will inspect the products of America's largest and most progressive industry. The automobile gives employment, directly or indirectly, to more than six million workers who, in the past year, have received more than six billion dollars in wages. Seven of every ten motor vehicles in the entire world are owned in the United States. Automotive freight makes up one of every seven carloads of freight hauled by our railroads. These figures will give you some idea of the importance of this industry in our national economic structure. It is an interesting picture and one that may provoke many arguments.

Those who believe our "system" is entirely wrong might ponder a little on the fact that in our country there are almost as many automobiles per capita as there are pairs of shoes in Russia. This is not a reflection on Russia where great progress undoubtedly is being made. But it certainly must indicate that under our "system" great progress has been made too. In some of the more advanced countries of Europe the bicycle is the mode of transportation of the common people. That's easier than walking barefooted. But in our country we common people drive automobiles. It may have been this thought that prompted one of the Russian leaders recently to state, "Europe can teach us little more; America can teach us much."

But nevertheless another automobile show is here. It is the eleventh annual show to be held locally, which fact is a credit to our own local automobile industry. Automobiles are not built here but they are sold and serviced here and hundreds of our people earn their livelihood by providing the rest of us with this form of transportation. Thinking about these things may, or may not, make your visit to the auto show more interesting.

There was little interest in the election Tuesday, less than half the voters registering their preferences at the polls. The vote was large enough, however, to give the present administration a clear-cut majority and that, of course, was gratifying to members of that administration. And regardless of what the shortcomings of that administration may be, the present group of officials do work together in harmony, and that is a thing to be desired. For that reason no one should feel very badly over the election day results.

At a midnight theatre party, to be held at the Falls tonight, citizens of this community will pay their respects to the builders of the new theatre and acknowledge the contribution this new theatre has been to the development of our city. Incidentally the Elks charity fund will profit by the arrangement. If, around eleven o'clock, you feel that you might be able to stay awake a couple of hours more, drop around to the Falls and join the crowd.

We have heard very few complaints about the weather lately and most people seem to be pretty well satisfied with it. While we will have to admit the summer was a little too wet in spots, let's agree that the fall has been exceptionally fine.

We will gladly chip in two bits toward the cost of erecting a monument to perpetuate the memory of a Duluth judge who refused to put a barber in jail for cutting the price of a hair cut to a bald headed customer. In Duluth, as in some other places, it is a crime against the state and society and all that sort of thing for a barber to cut prices and this particular barber who had scalloped the fringe around a bald pate for a quarter had little to look forward to but a few years off for good behavior. The able judge, however, took into consideration the extenuating circumstances and paroled the prisoner after passing sentence. It took a lot of nerve for the judge to apply common sense principles to present day practices and he probably is branded now and forevermore as a hopeless reactionary. But we kind of like him.

Without a dissenting vote, those who witnessed the game Friday night agreed that it was as nice an exhibition of high school football as one could wish for. Both teams played a hard, smart game. The fact that Thief River Falls came out on the long end of the score was, of course, gratifying to the local fans. It isn't very often that we have the pleasure of winning from Bemidji. But aside from such considerations, it was a good game to watch. The young fellows played like veterans. There was power and there was deception. It was football at its best, and to the members of the Lincoln High squad and to George Lee, their coach, we offer a round of cheers.

PROVIDE PARKING SPACE NOW
(Morris Tribune)

It will be only a few years before we will be blaming ourselves for not having done something about the parking problem while there was yet time. In cities of this size as well as in larger cities, there is not room on the streets for a fraction of the cars to be parked. Accordingly vacant lots are used, sometimes with and sometimes without charge, and relieve some of the congestion on the streets. But gradually the vacant lots will be occupied by buildings, which will bring more cars to the city and leave less space in which they may be parked. The parking lot on which the car may rest is just as important as the street on which it must travel, the streets and parking lots are both proper facilities for a system of automobile transportation, yet the years are going by and we are producing cars by the millions, and good roads and streets, but no place for the car to rest. That's because our cities were laid out for the "horse and buggy days." If cities were to be laid out today either the street would be wide enough to provide parking space, or vacant squares for parking would be left at convenient intervals in the business district. To meet the present situation the large cities will have to provide many-storied garages, while the smaller cities might well make a move today for acquiring unused lots for public parking space.

WHOSE OX IS GORED
(Montreal Star)

A communist agitator rode into Hyde Park, and after leaning his bicycle against the railing, mounted a soap box and proceeded to address the crowd.

"If your family is hungry," he shouted, "raid a shop and take food for them, and don't care what anybody says. If your wife hasn't got a coat, pick the best fur coat you can see, and ignore the consequences."

After several minutes in this strain, he dismounted from his soap box and his next words were: "Where's the scoundrel who took my bike?"

TOO MUCH SANTA CLAUS
(St. Cloud Times)

President Roosevelt in his radio talk to aid community chest drives, said that the government would reduce its relief aid, and that states and cities and villages would have to take over larger responsibilities in relief. One trouble with the whole relief problem is that the government has been much too generous, and has created a large army that is depending on public help, rather than to hunt jobs for themselves. Had the government made reasonable contributions to the states, and through them to cities and counties, having well organized relief boards, at very little cost of service, from one-third to one-half the cost to the government would have been saved, with even better results. For the government to take personal charge of administering this relief was a great expense, and local people who knew conditions would have done a much more satisfactory job.

THERE ARE HELPING HANDS
(Montevideo News)

In the Dawson neighborhood there has been a display this fall of the helpful spirit that always makes good news in the telling, even if it is so common that it does not get displayed on the pages of the country's newspapers.

As told by the Sentinel the helping hand has several times been extended by Dawson people through the spontaneous, informal but efficient, organization that can be found in all rural communities. Several plowing bees have been held, one for a farmer who lost horses during the sleeping sickness epidemic, and another for a veteran farmer who was sick. Similar stories can be told in many communities on occasion.

For some reason, perhaps for no reason at all, people talk more about spectacular or unpleasant happenings, about election differences or frictions that make squeaks in the machinery. All the while they take for granted the good turns that are being done daily. It is a healthy sign when the good turn is accepted casually because that is expected to happen; with conflict and crime still considered sensational because they are unusual.

Topics of the Times
By M. A. B.

Local football fans who are lamenting the defeat of the Gophers by Notre Dame Saturday should get some consolation when they review the past season's record of the Lincoln high School Prowlers.

It isn't exactly comforting to citizens to know that their social security taxes are being used to pay New Deal operating expenses.

Members of the medical profession probably will be surprised to read in a census report that the average family pays $75 a year to the doctor.

When gossips put their ear to the ground, surmises Billy Noonan, they generally pick up a lot of dirt.

Hot weather October 28 slowed up the state cornhusking contest at Redwood Falls. That's the Minnesota climate.

A medical convention recently learned that 1,000,000 American women are over weight. As a colleague suggests, these, of course, are round figures.

A. V. Rohweder, who since his appointment by the late Governor Olson as state safety director has made an outstanding record, earns criticism from Elmer Benson on the ground that he is paid by a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation.

Farmers don't seem to be enthusiastic over the proposed unionization of creamery employes in Minnesota.

Speaking of banquets, two gentlemen who don't have to spend much for meals are Gopher Coach Bernie Bierman and Highway Commissioner N. W. Elsberg.

There are, we hear, more than 10,000 beer parlors in Minnesota. That's one way of supporting the barley market.

PUBLIC OPINION

PRACTICAL "FARM-RELIEF"

One of the most adequate and practical plans advocated for saving agriculture from utter bankruptcy and loss of homes is one that has been publicly advocated by Gilbert A. Brattland of Thief River Falls, Minnesota. It was originally suggested to be applied to wheat raisers, but is just as applicable to several others, and should be applied to all staple, non-perishable crops as cotton, rye, oats, barley, flax, tobacco and peanuts, in order to make it self-protective as against excessive surpluses.

All these different schemes such as the "ever normal granary", crop control, soil conservation, crop insurance and the like, might have some merit if considered in connection and supplementary to a fixed price for that part of staple, non-perishable crops needed for home requirement as provided by the Brattland Plan, but each one of them considered by itself and without price fixing is of no adequate value as farm relief, or protection from the present parasitical price fixers, which are the International Financiers and big speculators who arbitrarily control prices through their ability to control money and credit, for farmers are too numerous to be so well organized as to control prices, as has been proven by actual trials. Even co-operatives can not effectively protect themselves against those who control credit, as we have seen again and again.

Therefore, any of these other plans I have mentioned become just like giving candy to a sick child, without treating it for its ailment, and that is mostly why they are proposed by fake farm leaders and fake politicians backed by the Big Financial Interests if not sold out to them.

The main features of the Brattland plan, is to require the Secretary of Agriculture to make complete final estimates of all crops included in the contemplated law and also estimate the amount of each such crop needed for home consumption, including seed requirements. Then to issue cards to each producer, who has made application therefore, certifying the exact amount he is entitled to sell at the fixed price, which amount shall be the percentage of the producers' crop which the home-consumption requirement is of the total U. S. production. The Secretary further more shall license all dealers and processors who operate in Interstate Commerce, contingent upon their agreeing to buy price fixed crops only at the prices so fixed by the law. He shall also be authorized and required to place embargoes on all crops, raw or processed, of which a surplus over home consumption shall have been raised and he shall be given power and required to buy, sell or store any price-fixed crop whenever necessary to give producer the price-fixed or to aid export of excessive surpluses.

The prices to be fixed shall in every case be up to the average cost of production and shall be based for delivery at the nearest delivery point on Railroad to the producer, instead of any so-called "Terminal Market."

There is no danger of permanent troubles with surpluses under this plan because whenever any surplus gets excessive on any one crop, the farmers will naturally switch over to some other kind. It is only when the money and credit manipulators pull their deflation stunts and drive all prices down that farmers and all producers go broke, and the history of 1873, 1893, 1907 and 1920 and 1929 should be plain enough to show any honest unprejudiced person who it is that has ruined prosperity.

The people are beginning to get wise to this nefarious money and credit system and their market operations and controls, so any congressman who he-haws around and refuses to back up price-fixing for the farmers now, is no friend of the farmer nor indirectly of labor either, because their interests are identical as against these money racketeers.

This plan is well worth studying and if you see its fundamental worth, write your congressman to help pass this legislation at the coming special session. Act quickly.

Traffic Law Violators Fined by Judge Arnold

Fines totaling $100 and costs were imposed on Clifford Johnson, Bemidji truck driver, when he was brought into municipal court Monday by the state highway patrol. He paid a fine of $50 and costs for carrying a load greater than the rated capacity of the truck, and was fined a like amount for having a weight stencilled on the truck in excess of that specified in his license.

Max Jensen, who appeared in court Tuesday to face a drunken driving charge, after being arrested on Highway 32 by the highway patrol, was fined $75 and costs and his drivers license was revoked.

ISSUES CHALLENGE ON 76TH BIRTHDAY

Baudette—"I'll race anyone of my age, in the county in a 100 yard dash" was the challenge made by Henry O'Neil of Spooner when he was interviewed on his 76th birthday by a newspaper reporter. The statement was made in answer to the query asking him how old it felt to be 76. Mr. O'Neil, better known in these parts as "Shorty", has crammed three-quarters of a century with much to talk about, and he can do that very thing with plenty of embellishment. Some of his stories of the "Days back when" are real hair raisers, the veracity of which has never been questioned by his listeners.

Hunters Urged to Send in 1937 Game Reports to Division Director

Prompt action by hunters in sending in their reports of game taken was urged last week by Harry L. Speaker, Director of the State Division of Game and Fish.

"These reports are the only method we have of estimating the amount of game taken each year in Minnesota, and it is therefore essential that hunters assume the responsibility of sending in their reports," Speaker said.

The law requires that 1937 license reports to be sent to the Division of Game and Fish not later than January 31, 1938.

"Last year about 40 per cent of all hunters sent in their reports. [illegible]"

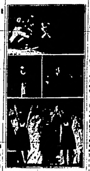
Scenes at Homecoming



The highly successful first annual Lincoln high school homecoming reached its climax Friday evening when the Prowlers administered a decisive 20-6 beating to the Bemidji eleven. The top picture shows Haughom making a dash across the corner of the gridiron for the concluding touchdown of the contest. At the left center is Lorraine Amundson, senior student, who was crowned homecoming queen with appropriate ceremonies. At the right is Roy Oen, former University of Minnesota football captain, an interested spectator at the pep fest staged in the east side park Thursday evening. The three cheer leaders, shown at bottom, contributed much toward the development of enthusiasm both at the pep meeting and at the game Friday evening. The girls are, left to right, Joan Dahlquist, Elaine Douglas and Marjorie Helquist.

MINNESOTA COSTS 6 TIMES GREATER THAN 30 YEARS AGO

Boards & Commissions Show Steady Rise to Highest in History

Legislative appropriations of the state of Minnesota are nearly six times as high in 1937 as they were in 1907, thirty years ago, according to a compilation of revenue appropriations of the state, 1907-1937, issued today by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

Costs of state boards and commissions have steadily grown from $934,000 in 1907, to $5,977,933 in 1937, the highest ever reached in Minnesota. Appropriations for this item cover many new commissions and departments established in the 30-year period.

Cost of legislative sessions are three and one-half times as great now as they were in 1907. Such appropriations amounted to $189,975 in 1907 and leaped to $689,000 in 1937, the report shows.

State aid for schools received legislative appropriations of $1,644,000 in 1907 and $14,825,000 in 1937, which is an increase of over 900 per cent.

State institutions required $3,613,500 in 1907 and $10,256,385 in 1937. National guard and naval militia appropriations jumped from $234,000 to $637,222.

No relief costs were appropriated by the legislature during the entire period, until comparatively recent years, since these costs were borne by local government. The 1935 appropriation for such relief was $2,000,000 and the 1937 appropriation is $11,771,000.

1915	18,019,503.60
1919	22,044,022.26
1923	40,278,669.88
1927	40,030,331.28
1931	43,208,320.58
1935	43,932,997.74
1937	58,545,359.00

BEAVERS COMPLETE DAMS ON BUFFALO

Detroit Lakes.—For the first time in fifty years beavers are at work in Cuba township near here, recently completing three dams on the Buffalo river. Presence of the beavers in Cuba township was reported to Detroit Lakes by Knute K. Olson on whose farm the dams were built. Two months ago he suspected the beavers were at work when he noticed that his poplar trees were cut down. Then he saw dams being constructed on the Buffalo river which angles across his land. Some of the trees which have been chewed down by the little animals measure 4 to 5 inches through. Most of the work accomplished by the beavers were done either early in the morning or late at night. Mr. Olson stated that the dams are from 25 to 35 feet in length and have raised the water in the river two feet.

CREAMERY MEN FORM POLICY ON LABOR AT PARLEY

Meeting at Detroit Lakes Opposes Unionization of Employes

More than 100 creamery men from district nine of the Minnesota Association of Local Creameries in Detroit Lakes, Wednesday of last week, voiced a unanimous opposition to the unionization of creamery labor, says the Detroit Lakes Tribune.

Creamery men from 26 towns adopted a working agreement, and promised continued cooperation in an attempt to keep their industry free from union labor. By unanimous vote they adopted a platform which they stated "will give all employees a square deal thruout the entire district." The endorsed measure contained an agreement as to working hours and basic pay.

Four officials of the association were re-elected at the session. Officers, re-elected were Maurice Sorenson, Pelican Rapids, president; Edward Kennitz, Warroad, vice president; Henry C. Werbes, Ottertail, secretary-treasurer, and Edward Peterson, Fergus Falls, director.

Speakers on the program included Leonard Houske, St. Paul, secretary of the Minnesota Creamery Operators and Managers association, who explained the work of the committee which investigated creamery labor conditions; and J. S. McCornack, Albert Lea, president of the Minnesota Association of Local Creameries, who endorsed the program adopted by the delegates.

Counties represented included Becker, Wilkin, Otter Tail, Clay, Norman, Mahnomen, Clearwater, Red Lake, Polk, Pennington, Beltrami, Marshall, Kittson, Roseau and Lake of the Woods.

Gas Tax Refunds Rise to New High Figures; Ask Honesty in Claims

Gas tax refunds will reach the staggering sum of nearly two and one half million dollars in 1937, according to George H. Griffith, head of the oil inspection division, Minnesota department of agriculture. This estimate was disclosed in a plea by Griffith for honest gas tax refund applications. Mr. Griffith said:

"In 1936 the state of Minnesota refunded $1,860,000 to agricultural and industrial users of gasoline. As a result of the one cent increase in gas tax, we estimate that the total gas tax refund for 1937 will be nearly $2,500,000."

"Twelve states have had their refund laws revoked because of widespread illegal practices of claimants," he continued. "Those applying for gas tax refunds should exercise great care that their applications are honestly filed, for a continued abuse of the refund privileges may conceivably result in similar legislative action in Minnesota. In spite of the obvious fairness of the refund principle," he said. "With 24,000 notary publics, 1000 distributors, and literally millions of users of petroleum products in Minnesota, it becomes obvious that they can not be educated to play fair without the close cooperation of the newspapers throughout the state. The dishonest minority must not be permitted to bring about legislation, which will react to the detriment of the honest majority."

The oil inspection division has instituted 44 actions since April 26, against individuals and corporations who have filed applications for gasoline tax refunds in violation of the state law.

1938 BUICK HAS FOUR NEW LINES

Four new lines of Buick motor cars for 1938, the Series 40 Special, Series 60 Century, Series 80 Roadmaster, and Series 90 Limited make their bow at the automobile show this year, carrying outstanding engineering and style improvements. The Wiener Top & Body Works are local dealers.

According to their designers, more new features are packed into the 1938 Buicks than in any new models introduced by this manufacturer in the last five years.

Outstanding among these are the new "Dynaflash" engine, that permits higher compression without detonation and consequently greater power and performance; coil spring rear suspension, an innovation resulting in marked improvement in riding and steering qualities as well as safety; new "silent zone" body mounting, which further eliminates road vibration from the car bodies, and a new self-shifting transmission, which will be optional at extra cost on the lower priced Series 40 cars.

The Buick engineering changes are regarded as among the most important in the industry this year. Both the engine improvements and the new coil spring rear suspension are exclusive features for 1938.

Ranging from the lower medium price field through the medium and upper medium brackets, Buick's heaviest volume is in the $1,000 field covered by the Series 40 Special group of cars. According to the management, this series accounts for better than 70 per cent of total Buick production.

The new Buicks are popularly styled in the new streamline trend and are offered in a total of 21 body models which include sedans both with and without built-in trunks, standard and sport coupe models with opera seats, and convertible coupes and phaetons. Both two and four-door sedans are built in the Series 40 and Series 60 Buicks, while the longer wheelbase 80's and 90's are all four-door types. Entirely new Fisher unisteel turret top bodies have been designed for the Series 80 and 90 Buicks.

2 CARS, NEW TRUCK IN 1938 FORD LINE

Two distinct Ford V-8 cars, differing in appearance, appointments and price, are presented in the 1938 line. One is the de luxe Ford V-8, the other the standard Ford V-8. Both models are to be displayed here by Lund & Tunberg, local dealers.

The standard car is designed for owners to whom economy in first cost and operating cost is paramount. The de luxe car provides added luxury and style for those who desire them.

Both cars have the same V-8 chassis. The eight de luxe types are available only with the 85 horsepower V-8 engine, the three standard types with either the 85 horsepower or the 60 horsepower engine.

The de luxe car is a stylish sister of the standard. It is entirely new in appearance. The radiator grille is of new design. Appearance of the hood is longer and more sweeping. Fenders are massive. Interior appointments are in keeping with the styling of the exterior. Substantially more room in the closed sedans, greater passenger comfort and much larger luggage space are provided.

The standard V-8 cars reveal new styling, with a different radiator grille design, long hood and flowing contours. The spacious interiors are roomy and attractively upholstered and appointed.

In addition to the two passenger cars, Ford is to present an expanded line of V-8 trucks and commercial cars. Both are newly styled to lend added "eye appeal" in commercial transportation.

A new group of "one-tonner" trucks also is offered, in addition to the 112-inch commercial cars and the 131-inch and 157-inch wheelbase trucks. The new "one-tonner" is designed specifically to bridge the gap between the commercial cars and the truck groups. Available with either 85 or 60 horsepower engine, it is expected to make the economies of the latter engine more widely available in commercial transportation.

Other advances for 1938 are the new 134-inch wheelbase truck, replacing the 131½-inch wheelbase in the big truck line, a new frame width for the 134-inch and 157-inch wheelbase units, improved brakes and easier steering and stronger construction throughout.

PLYMOUTH CARS FOR 1938 SHOWN

A new Plymouth of brilliant design—with easier steering, safer vision and a score of new luxury features for the lowest price field—officially opens Plymouth's tenth anniversary "Jubilee" this week as new 1938 models are formally unveiled in 12,500 showrooms thruout the country. The Plymouth will be displayed at the Auto Show by Borchert & Johnson and the Taxerans Implement company, local dealers.

Hailed as the outstanding model in the company's ten-year career, the new Plymouth challenges comparison with cars far above its own price class for exceptional riding preformance and in style appointments for greater comfort and luxury.

The 1938 Plymouth sets a new standard of quietness and smoothness, even beyond last year's model that was noted for its "hushed" ride. More than a score of new engineering improvements climax Plymouth's first decade of building great cars.

Plymouth's Jubilee car again features unusual size and roominess, with ample space for six passengers in all sedan models. Inches of extra shoulder room, head room and leg room are provided by its big all-steel body of safety design, built by the pioneers in this method of construction.

Overall length of all models is 194 inches, from bumper to bumper. The complete Plymouth line for 1938 includes three "business" and eight "Deluxe" body types—all on 112-inch wheelbase with L-head engine of 82 horsepower.

The new Plymouth looks definitely bigger and more luxurious. A new hood sweeps farther forward at the top to meet a different radiator grille, which now rises much more vertically than the sloping "face" of last year's car.

Much greater ease of control and safer operation are the performance features of Plymouth's 1938 model. Easier steering, with faster response to the wheel, result from important changes in this year's steering system.

The clutch pedal works still easier, with pressure reduced about 15%. The clutch itself has a new baffle plate to keep out all and water vapor; an improved driven disc with two woven facings, and a new release bearing spring with greater grease capacity. These all add up to longer clutch life, easier servicing, new ease and smoothness of operation.

Also, a new pistol-grip hand-brake control, mounted underneath the cowl at the center, makes its first appearance on Plymouth this year. This new unit is exceptionally efficient, so that an easy pull of 15 lbs. on the hand lever exerts a brake pressure of 300 lbs.

DRIVERS ASKED TO ADJUST SELVES TO WINTER WEATHER

Sleet, Ice and Snow Create Extra Hazards, Says Elsberg

With sleet, ice and snow scheduled to be the order of the day for the next five months on certain sections of the state highway system and urban streets, drivers should immediately adjust themselves to winter driving says N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner.

Past experience has taught safety observers that the most dangerous time for driving during the cold weather season is its first few weeks. Then, the commissioner declared, motorists are apt to forget that bare pavement with a safe braking surface is no longer under them at all points on the road. He urged that, with the first bad weather, drivers make a special effort to adjust themselves by driving with every precaution.

The curve which can be taken in dry summer weather with safety at 40 miles an hour becomes a death-trap when covered with sleet or ice. Although the highway department spends more than $1,600,000 annually to combat snow and ice on the state system, and regardless of how effecient and vigilant the snow and ice removal machinery of the department may be, rapid changes in the weather may turn a safe stretch of highway into a dangerous road for several hours before the maintenance division can place equipment and men on the scene.

In Minnesota during the cold weather months the wise motorist will drive with a "weather eye" and will take into consideration the poorer vision, slippery surfaces and narrowed road widths where deep snow has fallen.

FATHER, SON ARE IN IDENTICAL ACCIDENT

Ellsworth—Although it is unusual, it is true that a father and his son, living in this community, were subjects of identical accidents, occuring within a period of five hours. Each had the second finger of his right hand mutilated in the same corn picker. At ten o'clock in the morning K. W. Huisman had the second finger of his right hand caught in the machine, and at three o'clock in the afternoon his second eldest son, Fred, suffered the same painful accident which badly mutilated the second finger of his right hand. Neither of the two men had to undergo amputation, however. Several years ago Huisman had the same hand injured in a steam threshing engine boiler explosion and a year ago Fred had his right hand caught in the gears of a threshing machine.

FARMER SAVES TIME USING AN AIRPLANE

Hallock—Because the airplane saves time it has become a part of the equipment of M. J. Florance of Hallock, who operates a farm of 25,000 acres. Mr. Florance, rated one of the world's greatest wheat growers, last week purchased a two seated plane for training flights, but plans to buy a larger ship. "There is so much to be done in a short time, that the time saved by airplane travel is a great help," said Mr. Florance. "When machinery parts are needed or quick decisions must be made the airplane is valuable. Farm work on the Florance tract is done exclusively with tractors.

Under you now is something fresh and tireless and new in automotive design, not the old-type leaf spring of yore, but the great soft coils of shock-smothering TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING.

As the beautifully poised car streams onward under the spur of the amazing DYNAFLASH engine, the wheels may dip and curtsy but the body rides true and level as a flung lance.

You sit in the cushions, relaxed and rested. You're safer—skid risks are blessedly reduced. You save money—rear tires last measurably longer. And the whole eager car handles with a sureness, a "directability" never before attained.

Please don't stop with admiring the new Buick. Know what DYNAFLASH power and the lullaby ride of TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING mean, by sampling them first-hand on the highway.

OLDSMOBILE HAS 2 LINES FOR 1938

Again carrying forward the Oldsmobile tradition of motor car smartness, Oldsmobile presents two new cars for 1938, a Six and an Eight of advanced and distinctive styling. The new models are being shown at the Auto Show this week by the Northern Chevrolet company, local dealers.

Both cars are outstanding in performance and mechanical design and both now offer, optional at extra cost, Oldsmobile's new automatic safety transmission. This new device, developed by Oldsmobile and introduced last spring on the Eight, makes vital contributions toward safety, operating economy and driving flexibility.

Of unusual interest in both Six and Eight are the new safety interiors, which provide such features as a new and modern safety instrument unit and safety dash; exceptionally wide seats with pillow-type upholstery; soft, roll-type pad on the back of the front seat, providing extra cushioning to protect rear compartment passengers; Unisteel Fisher Body construction with seamless steel turret tops.

Standard equipment for the 1938 cars includes spare tire and wheel, rear spring covers, bumpers and bumper guards and safety glass throughout.

These newest Oldsmobiles are fashioned along clean, slender lines and appear much longer, lower and closer to the road than before. As was the case in the previous models, the Six and Eight again are distinctively different in styling.

A new type of forced air defroster, with concealed vents operates in conjunction with a car heater of new design, obtainable as extra equipment. Separate hot air tubes are provided for the defroster outlets.

Mechanically the new Oldsmobiles have been designed along the same general engineering principles which proved so successful in previous models. Moderate engine speeds are maintained, the Six developing 95 horsepower at only 3,400 r. p. m., and the Eight developing 110 horsepower at 3,600 r. p. m.

Light weight aluminum pistons carrying four rings are used in both engines as is a full pressure system of lubrication with oil passages rifle-drilled through the connecting rods. Other engine features include down-draft carburetion, automatic choke, an improved cooling system and a vacuum fuel saver which regulates spark timing to assure efficient combustion under varying conditions of speed and load. An oil-bath air-cleaner, originally designed to meet conditions in the western "dust bowl", is now standard equipment on both cars.

One radical change has been made in moving the battery from its conventional location to a new position under the hood beside the engine. Longer and narrower than before, the battery is carried in a container which is air cooled by a duct leading from the front of the engine compartment.

DOUBLE TROUBLE COMES TO ONE MAN

St. Peter—Double trouble descended upon Henry Stradtmann, a farmer in this vicinity, last week-end bringing accident and fire both in its wake. Mr. Stradtmann's car was badly wrecked one noon in a collision and the following evening his garage, chicken coop, 150 culled chicks, a hay stack and his neighbor's car burned. Returning home last Saturday Mr. Stradtmann ran into another man's car as it was coming onto the highway and badly damaged his own car. He had his car towed into town for repairs and borrowed a neighbor's car to use in the meantime as the Stradtmann children needed to drive to school. The next evening the borrowed car was driven into the garage. At 3 o'clock in the morning fire was detected in the garage, which was built onto the chicken coop and both burned, as well as the borrowed car, 150 chickens and a hay stack.

BEAUTY FEATURES 1938 DODGE LINE

Acclaimed as "The American Beauty" of motor cars, the 1938 Dodge line will be introduced to residents of Northwestern Minnesota at the arena automobile show this week-end by Borchert & Johnson, local Dodge dealers.

The new models are notable for the windstream sweep of the new front end, striking new radiator grille, modern new hood louvres and headlights partially recessed in wide, flaring fenders, all combining to give an effect of massive sturdiness and graceful styling.

In keeping with the engineering background which has been its heritage, the 1938 Dodge offers no less than 47 progressive new improvements and refinements. Included are new simplified driving control, "luster lounge" interior, patented floating power engine mountings and greater driving protection.

VETERAN JUDGE OF 83, STILL ACTIVE

Ortonville.— Gray-haired and alert as ever, Stephen A. Flaherty, now almost ready to go into his 38th year as judge of the sixteenth district court summoned up his fatuque in a hurry at the close of the fall term of district court here last week in answer to the question of whether or not he even intended to retire from the bench. "Retire", he said, "why I would not know what to do with myself after all these years on the bench." The 83-year old veteran, regdering to twinkle that is lost in many men of half his age, added, "Surely someone would find something disagreeable for me to do if I were to get away from the work I have become accustomed to." So it seems that the sixteenth district, the only district in the state with only one judge, will have Judge Flaherty with it for some time to come. Except for a period of four years following 1895, he has lived in Morris since 1881 and has served six consecutive terms on the bench since 1900 and is now on his seventh term.

MISS BIRDS, CUT OFF ELECTRIC LIGHT WIRE

Mapleton. Four southern Minnesota towns were left without electricity for a short time last week when, during the hunting season, a group of nimrods did not shoot any birds. Failing to bag their limit the hunters took shots at insulators on the high line near Rapidan, leaving Rapidan, Good Thunder, Mapleton, and Minnesota Lake without electric power. The insulators were shattered, therefore it became necessary for linemen to shut off the electricity in order to make necessary repairs. Until this could be done a continued dazzling rain prevented poles from burning down.

THREE NEW SERIES OF 1938 NASH CARS

Three series of New Nash cars—offering a total of 83 new value features, of which six advancements are said to be revolutionary—are being presented for 1938 by the Nash Motors Division of Nash-Kelvinator Corporation, and will be exhibited at the Auto Show by Gustafson & Son, local dealers.

Headlining the list of six major developments is the widely discussed system of conditioned air for winter driving which the company recently announced. Prominent also among the outstanding features are the new type engines in the two Ambassador series of cars which utilize Nash's already widely tested and proved "monitor-sealed" principle.

Listed also among the important advances are a new shock-absorber arrangement that not only tremendously enhances riding quality, but gives a new conception of road stability; a vacuum-operated gear-shift, actuated by a small lever extending from the center of the instrument panel; a new sound-proofing method that gives what is said to be "the world's quietest motor car ride", and a spacious interior which, the company claims, "makes these cars the roomiest in their field."

Probably equally as important as the conditioned air system for winter driving, say engineers, are Nash's new "Super-Thrift" engines that have been installed in the Ambassador series of cars (sixes and eights).

These are announced as motors of simplified design and motors with many less parts than conventional engines. They are said to produce 10 per cent more power, to offer 12 per cent more gasoline mileage and to have the lowest maintenance costs in the company's history.

The three series of cars announced by Nash are as follows:

The Ambassador Eight line, which is available in five models built on a 125-inch wheelbase and powered with a 115 horsepower engine. The models are the four-door sedan with trunk, the Victoria (two-door) sedan with trunk, the all-purpose (five-passenger) coupe, the business coupe and the cabriolet (convertible coupe).

The Ambassador Six line available in the same five models, is built on a 121-inch wheelbase and powered with a 105-horsepower engine.

The LaFayette line, built on a 117-inch wheelbase and powered with a 95-horsepower engine, which comes in both De Luxe and Master styles. The De Luxe group has five models, the same as those that comprise the Ambassador lines, while the Master group has four models (cabriolet eliminated). The Master group differs from the De Luxe group only in that it is a still lower-priced car without the de luxe appointments.

LINCOLN-ZEPHYR MUCH IMPROVED

Boasting no less than 25 mechanical improvements and 32 interior and exterior body refinements, the 1938 Lincoln-Zephyr will be displayed at the automobile show opening Thursday by Lund & Tunberg, local Lincoln and Ford dealers.

Stressing comfort and roominess as in the past, the new models have a wheelbase of 125 inches, giving an overall length of 17 feet six inches, nearly five inches longer than the 1937 model. The hood is longer and more massive, and the headlights, of new design, are inserted in the front fenders. Colors for the coming year are completely new.

Among the numerous mechanical improvements are quieter valve action, new cylinder block, greatly improved engine cooling efficiency, placing of the battery in an accessible position under the hood, hypoid rear axle affording quieter operation, and larger front and rear shock-absorbers.

INTERNATIONAL TRUCK SALES GOOD

"The year 1937 has proved the most notable in the history of International motor trucks, recording new high marks in sales, engineering, and expansion," said P. V. Moulder, manager, motor truck sales, International Harvester Company.

"Establishing good gains month by month through the year over the corresponding months in 1936, International registrations increased during the first eight months from 47,147 units in 1936 to 53,657 trucks for the same period in 1937. According to official figures, International truck registrations in August showed an increase of 22 per cent over the corresponding month last year, exceeding any month in the history of the business.

"In heavy-duty truck sales (2-ton and over) International continued leading the procession in numbers, and did so by an increased margin. More than one-third of all the trucks registered in this class were Internationals."

Early last spring International Harvester announced an entirely new line of motor trucks ranging in capacity from half-ton, light-delivery units to the largest six-wheelers. These new models include conventional four-wheel units, six-wheelers with both dual-drive and trailing axles, and cab-over-engine types. The complete International line consists of 24 models in 73 wheelbases with gross vehicle weights ranging from 4,400 to 62,000 pounds.

Powerful truck engines, numerous wheelbases, a variety of rear axle ratios, two-speed rear axles, and multiple-speed transmissions, especially in the heavy-duty models, permit accurate selection from every standpoint of the right truck for each specific hauling task.

Featuring new beauty and unequaled riding comfort on any type of road, the 1938 DeSoto is being exhibited at the Thief River Falls automobile show, opening today at the arena, by the Taxcraas Implement company, local dealers.

Snake-Bites Foiled

Chimo, a western Venezuela chewing mixture, made by boiling entire green tobacco plants into a tar like mass, makes its users immune to snake bites, the natives say.

STONE LIKELY INDIAN WAR IMPLEMENT FOUND

Staples—Earnest Ringler picking up corn from a field in southwest Staples recently found a stone that appeared to be the head of a heavy Indian hammer or war implement. Of granite, it is about eight inches long, spindled at both ends and notched in the center, supposedly for lashing to a handle. It appeared more crude than many others that have been found, possibly because of the character of the rock from which it was cut.

SQUIRRELS STOCK CELLAR WITH NUTS

Granite Falls—If the Will Broflat family here doesn't have plenty of black walnuts to eat this winter it won't be the fault of the grey squirrels in the neighborhood. During the last month the neighbors have been watching the squirrels take the black walnuts from under the trees and then scurry with them through an air vent in the [illegible] basement. Mr. Broflat was told of the squirrels' activity and went down into his basement to investigate. He found that practically every empty fruit jar in the place had been filled with black walnuts.

NORTHERN CHEVROLET COMPANY
Thief River Falls, Minn.

ADVANCED STYLING ON '38 CHEVROLET

Noteworthy advances in performance, economy, safety, durability and style, gained through systematic refinement of features already thoroughly proved in the hands of the public, mark the two new passenger car series which Chevrolet is introducing for 1938. Both lines embody an improvement destined to rank as outstanding in the industry this year—the revolutionary new "Tiptoe-matic" clutch combining more positive action with greater operating ease, and adding importantly to the safety, comfort, and durability of the car. The new models are displayed at the Auto Show by the Northern Chevrolet company, local dealers.

The 1938 line, Chevrolet engineers assert, represents important advances over even the highly successful 1937 models. Refinements extend to bodies, both interiors and exteriors, and to numerous units of the chassis, whose design, however, remains fundamentally unchanged. The power plant in both series is the 85-horsepower high compression valve-in-head six-cylinder engine whose power, smoothness, economy, and freedom from service interruptions are already familiar to millions of owners throughout the world.

All models have Chevrolet's perfected hydraulic brakes, all-silent, all-steel turret top bodies by Fisher, and the trouble-free hypoid rear axle. On the Master DeLuxe series, Chevrolet fully-enclosed knee action is starting its fifth year.

Outwardly, the most notable change in the new Chevrolets is their advanced styling, which is especially evident at the front end. The top of the hood sweeps forward from the cowl in a graceful curve, to cap the almost vertical flat-topped radiator and grille. The latter, a radical improvement over previous design, consists of chromium-plated horizontal bars, flowing back from the center line of the grille to blend into the radiator shell. Accentuating these lines, every fifth bar is of double width, pin striped down the center with vermilion enamel. The new Chevrolet emblem, in cream letters on blue, embossed in a die-cast winged shield, is centered at the top. The speedline which introduced a new style note is continued in 1938.

Engine advances for 1938 are mainly in the nature of refinements, although a new and lighter flywheel, in conjunction with the new clutch, affords greater flexibility and quicker response to the controls, and valve-springs, valves, and certain portions of the cooling system have been re-designed rather than simply refined. There is faster transfer of heat from the combustion chambers, especially in the vicinity of the valves, in spite of the fact that the cooling system in 1937 was outstanding for efficiency.

The most notable change in the power plant and its related units is the electrical system, which is entirely new. It consists of a new higher-capacity generator which adjusts its output at all times to the load imposed on the battery; a new starting mechanism of the type furnished on earlier General Motors cars, with over-running clutch and automatic throttle, opening assuring easy, positive starts; and a new, weather-tight, and accessible battery cover.

Greater body space, and increased stability on the road, are provided by widening the rear tread from 57 9-16 to a full 59 inches. In conjunction with changes in the wheel house design, this makes possible two inches greater width through the rear seat of the car.

Do Fall Cleanup Jobs Now, Advises National Reemployment Service

No doubt many residents of Thief River Falls and vicinity have odd jobs they would like to have done before winter sets in—such as minor repairs, cleaning windows, putting on storm windows, digging up bulbs and plants from gardens, cutting wood, housecleaning, etc. R. S. Eldevik, local manager of the National Reemployment Service states that qualified workers are available and looking for work of this type. The office is located in the Auditorium, and the telephone number is 411.

These "put-off" jobs will be more inconvenient to have done later on, says Mr. Eldevik, who suggests that the employment office be consulted immediately. But it is not to be understood, he says, that only day workers are available. "We can supply qualified workers for any job."

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

Prowlers Defeat Bemidji Eleven 20 to 6 Friday

Strong Local Squad Has Completed Undefeated Season

Lincoln High's expertly coached Prowlers ascended to the acme of football success with a convincing 20 to 6 walloping of a game Bemidji eleven on the local gridiron last Friday evening in the first annual Homecoming tilt in Prowler history. The smashing triumph closed the door on the most successful football season in Prowler annals with seven victories and no losses and, in addition, gave the Leemen undisputed claim to the mythical championship of northwestern Minnesota.

For two periods, the Lumberjacks checked the flood-tide of Prowler power and showed a superiority in offense as the victors were content to hold the Beavers on even terms as far as the score went. For two periods, the weary sons of Bemidji high turned back the versatile Prowler juggernaut without a score, but finally weakened in the third stanza and were swamped in the final quarter. The Blue and old Warriors lashed at the Lumberjack defense with a relentless fury in the third quarter to shove over seven points. As the pressure of the Lincolnites steam-roller attack was steadily applied, combining an aerial barrage with smashing line plays, tricky reverses, and end sprints, Bemidji's resistance bowed and the Leemen sprung two runners loose for touchdowns within four minutes of the last quarter to put the game on ice.

The high geared visitors attack pierced the locals forward wall on numerous plays. During the first quarter climaxed by a long aerial advancing the pigskin to the Prowlers eight yard stripe but the opponents offense bogged down to lose the ball on downs. The second canto was almost an exact replica of the first although the Blue and Gold exhibited a more potent offense. A score for the visitors appeared probable at one time but the reliable Prowler linemen broke up the charge on their own 12 yard marker.

Coach George Lee, who all season has exhorted his players to discard their gentle ways and go in for hard, tough football, got what he wanted as his savage gridders smeared the burly Lumberjacks with vicious running plays, perfectly timed and executed, and stopped the Bemidjites futile rallies with frightened Prowler tackles. [illegible] blocked beautifully in the second half and the ball toters plowed through gaping holes in the opposing line. The first tally of the game occured when Caldis, who reached the peak of his career, clutched a Lumberjack toss out of the zone on his own 45 and romped to the goal. Nesse exploded through the line for the extra point. The lone Bemidji counter occurred later when Stewart ran 19 yards for a touchdown. As the fatal fourth quarter advanced Booren plunged over for the next score. Haughom scored the first touchdown of his high school career in a regular season when he galloped around end for a touchdown. He also added the final point of the game by running the ball over.

The victory, the second over Bemidji in ten years and the first since 1933, sent the Homecoming crowd of about 1200 swarming upon the field with a rush and a vocal cataclysm of sheer joy that caused a near riot as the teams made their way to the dressing rooms. This real Prowler roar of victory had been bottled up for a long time, but it broke Friday with the pent-up fury of a Caribbean storm. And it payed full tribute to one of the gamest Prowler teams that ever walked upon a field. It is impossible to single out any single individual star or stars of the Prowler squad. The team was a galaxy of stars, each with a single purpose, with each carrying out every assignment with precision like coordination.

Lorne Stewart, the vaunted Beavers field general, was a nemesis to the Prowlers as he crashed through the line for numerous gains. Boyle also played an inspired game. In the line Wilbur Lycan, Wilcox, Aylesworth and Schofield supported the Bemidji cause valiantly.

Fifteen local seniors concluded their high school grid careers with the playing of this game. They are: Ends—Don Lorentson, Robert Quale, Cliff Olson and Clark Mickelson; Tackles—Floyd Melby, Ray Bredeson and Clarence Mattson; Guards—Wesley Johnson and Jack Hess; Center—Captain Bob Hanson; Quarterback s—Lynn Booren and Wallace Tunberg; Halfbacks—Lowell Nesse and Mel Haughom; and Fullback—Gordon Caldis.

REPORTER REVIEWS PAST FOOTBALL SEASON'S RECORD

Caldis and Nesse Score Most for Local Eleven

Now that the suits have been stuffed with mothballs and locked up in the trunk, and the games are in the scorebooks, it might not be amiss to review perhaps the best of many fruitful years in Lincoln grid history.

Ever since last fall when the 1936 Prowler edition wound up a better than good season, talk of another scintillating season went the rounds. Graduation claimed but six of the boys who made last year's machine click. However, when the call went out this fall for aspirants for some of the vacant berths, Coach Lee found that he had the material but not the indomitable spirit that makes for a Class A outfit. It took the seasons opener with a surprisingly good Red Lake Falls eleven to instill this spark in the boys.

After a comparatively slow first quarter, the Prowlers put on the heat in the second quarter, pushing over three markers. When the final gun sounded, the Lincoln boys held a 33-0 decision over the Red Lake County gridders.

With one scalp under their belts, the Leemen rose to the situation to humble a strong Crookston aggregation, 43-0. In this game the Prowlers met their first big test and proved to all and sundry that they would be the team to stop in the District Penant scramble.

Drunk with the sweet nectar of victory, there was nothing stopping the locals, turned back a consistently strong Little Green Wave from East Grand Forks to the tune of 25-0 drubbing.

The down town quarter backs gave the Prowlers little more than an even chance to pull a win out of the bag over a highly toutered Grafton eleven.

The Mahnomen tilt, considered by many to be a breather in an otherwise formidable schedule, threw a scare when the Lincolnites barely eked out a 12-7 win over the fast and shifty Indians.

The Prowlers needed only a victory over a mediocre Warren squad to retain their 1936 District Crown. Paced by Nesse, the Leemen subdued Herchel Lysacker's boys with a 25-0 touchdown storm.

Even the most outspoken Prowler enthusiast would openly predict no better than a draw for the home boys. Performing before a record Homecoming crowd of 1,000, the boys upset the dopsters by pounding out a decisive 20-6 victory over the Lakemen.

The 1937 grid machine is perhaps the greatest aggregation that ever has or ever will bear the Gold and Blue. Led by a fiery captain and imbued with a never-say-die spirit the boys were "tops". I believe we owe them and their mentor, George Lee, a vote of appreciation for making Lincoln athletics what they should be.

In summing up the Prowlers scoring for the past season, it was found that the Leemen rolled up the immense total of one hundred and eighty three points to their opponents nineteen. This points per game for the season.

During the past football season, the undefeated Prowlers have been referred to as the "well-coached Prowlers" by many sports writers in the northwest where the Lincolnites have played. This often repeated phrase is quite a boost to Coach George Lee and his team. This is one of the highest tributes that can be credited to a coach. The records of the Prowler teams during Coach Lee's regime here speak well of his coaching ability.

The champion aggregation was drilled into a unified group well versed in the intricate razzle-dazzle system with tricky reverses, forward and lateral pass and other complicated plays forming an important part of the Leemen's offense. Such a versatile system as was developed here requires intensive drilling; and study plus sound, forceful coaching. In the final game, the plays were executed flawlessly. This guaged the coaching methods accurately. Not only has the first eleven been capable of carrying out Coach Lee's instructions to the letter, but a host of reserves as well. Lincoln high is indeed fortunate to have such a leader at the helm of Prowler athletic teams.

Full recognition must be given to the team also. Due to the teams diligent study, impartial cooperation, and unquenchable spirit and aggression, they achieved the goal that was set by themselves. Certainly the first undefeated football team in the history of a school as long established as Lincoln high must be worthy of our utmost recognition and approval. We can safely say that the Prowlers of 1937 was the finest all-around team ever to represent Lincoln high in gridiron wars, and they represent the best in football this season in Northwestern Minnesota.

Prowlers! Lincoln high school and the city of Thief River Falls salute you!

Miss O'Dougherty Talks to Student Body Monday

A special assembly program sponsored by the Women's Christian Temperance Union was given in the high school assembly last Monday morning. The program was comprised of a humorous but convincing talk given by Miss O'Dougherty on the evils of alcohol.

The speech was cleverly spiced with amusing incidents which enlivened it greatly. One particularily amusing story was introduced about a typical Tom Sawyer lad who was being instructed on the effects of this narcotic. This lad was shown the absorbing effects of alcohol on different foodstuffs. The boy asked his teacher one morning, "Is that what makes me so thirsty on the morning after?".

Numerous cartoons, charts, and demonstrations were given on the various contrasts between water and alcohol, the characteristics of alcohol and its effects on occasional and habitual drinkers.

Even though taken in moderate amounts, Miss O'Dougherty illustrated how alcohol has been proven detrimental to self-control, judgment, reasoning, will-power and the senses.

PROWLING AROUND

Thief River Falls waited a long, long time for an undefeated football team but their long wait was finally rewarded. Prowler fans were a bit skeptical of the Leemens chances of finishing undefeated at the end of the half Friday evening, but the "dyed-in-the-wool" optimists were confident the Prowlers would come back to win in the last half and they did. Those who saw the game will not forget it soon. The Prowler spirit, the faultless blocking, the vicious tackling and the choice and execution of plays are going to be well remembered. We believe it is going to be a long time before this city will again possess such an eleven. Fifteen seniors, ten of them regulars will see no more action in Prowler togs. With the backbone of the team gone, next years eleven will be only fair. A strong first eleven is expected to represent Lincoln High in 1938, but Coach Lee is going to face a delicate situation in a quest for capable reserves. First team members returning will be as follows: End—Mullen, Tackles—L. Stadum, Sandberg and Thomas, Guards—Eide, Oen, Erickson and Nelson, Center—Lunke, halfbacks, J. Stadum, Shanahan and O'Malley. LaRue Anderson is expected to be inserted in a regular end or backfield post.

There was quite a contrast between the halves of the Bemidji-Prowler tussle. In the first half the Leemen melted only 37 yards gained to their opponents 101 yards gained from scrimmage. The plundering Prowlers knocked the losers bowlegged, figuratively speaking as they amassed 228 yards in the second half to the Beltrami county lads aggregate total of 151 yards. Coach H. J. Erickson beefy squad, however, outgained the winners in the passing department with 90 yards for the locals 21 yards and was very close in first downs with eight to the locals nine for the entire game.

The loud speaking system has proved to be a valuable unit to the football facilities the past season. This has enabled fans to follow the game more closely, thus adding to the interest of it. Mr. B. W. Gabrielson, assistant football coach and physical educaton instructor, has manned the microphone for the home games and has added greatly to his increasing popularity. We hope that this system will continue next year with Mr. Gabrielson giving his colorful play-by-play descriptions.

Sport shorts: Karl Sundberg, husky Prowler reserve tackle had the unique distinction of making three tackles out of five plays shot at the Leemen while he was in the game for a brief spell. The inspired play of Gordon Caldis, regular fullback, had the crowd all agog Friday evening. Mel Haughom made his debut and final appearance as a gridder in this city and scored a real hit with the crowd. Lowell Nesse has been outkicked in the punting department in only one game this season, the Bemidji affair in which he was shaded by a close margin. This seasons total of opponents score of nineteen points was identical to last years sum. Three of last years grid luminaries attended the game Friday and were duly impressed by what they saw. Milt Nesse, St. Olaf College backfield freshmen star, Pomeroy Hill, slippery backfield ace of Fargo high and Jim Peterson, former tackle who attends North Dakota university were those in attendance. James Nesse, another recent local star, now a member of the St. Olaf Squad, also returned for the Bemidji tilt. Harry Oen, muscular reserve guard played a whale of a game in the Bemidji bout after replacing Eide. He was the most impressive of the subs. Watch him go next year!

ETIQUETTE

We all know that the students as a whole object to etiquette columns. However, no one can deny that a little instruction as to the finer points of behavior will hurt anyone. So bear up and pay attention, all!

Far more important than any mere dictum of etiquette is the fundamental code of honor, without strict observance of which no man, no matter how "polished," can be considered a gentleman. The honor of a gentleman demands the inviolability of his word, and the incorruptibility of his principles; he is the descendent of the knight, the crusader; he is the defender of the defenseless, and the champion of justice—or he is not a gentleman.

A gentleman never takes advantage of a woman in a business dealing, nor of the poor, or the helpless.

One should never call out a name in public, unless it is absolutely unavoidable.

THURSDAY NIGHT PEP PARADE WAS HUGE SUCCESS

Juniors Float Considered Best in Parade

The first day of the Homecoming, Thursday, went off with a bang. The parade started at seven-thirty Thursday evening. It consisted of, from begining to end, the High School Band, then the team and coach in cars. The senior float was followed by the Junior float, the Sophomore float, and then the Freshman float. A number of cars followed this array of floats. After each float the students from the different classes marched.

The senior float pantomimed the slogan "Chop Down the Lumberjacks" with several prowlers holding the ax over supposed Bemidji players who were laid out on the chopping clock. The senior class marched behind their float cheering and carrying their flag.

Behind the juniors, came the sophomore float which was carried out in blue and silver. They carried out the idea of the conqueror. A Prowler stood over Bemidji which was completly broken down. The sophomore flag introduced the class. This float was followed by the sophomores who probably drowned out the other classes in their cheering.

Horses pulled the freshman float which was a hayrack decorated in the typical color of the frosh, green. They seemed to have several deep voiced barkers on this float which showed that these freshmen aren't so shy.

Several cars driven by the teachers and students followed the floats.

The flags of the four classes are well worth speaking of.

The senior flag of crimson and silver, supported on two sides by senior girls, was beautiful. The junior flag, which was manufactured for them, proved to be the most expensive and was very realistic. The sophomore flag of blue and silver were very effective. The freshman flag was of their typical colors, green and white, with the word Frosh spelled across it.

The parade ended at the east side park where a big bonfire had been built. The Junior flag and float were selected as the best of the array.

The stunts that came next on the entertainment, were called by Jerome Salveson. The freshman started the program with a German Band and Glen Anderson as master of ceremonies. Don Mattson then spoke in behalf of the alumnae.

The sophomores, next, gave a mock wedding between Mr. Prowler and Miss Victory and finished by leading a cheer for the Prowlers. Bob Hanson, the football captain for the past year, delivered a short speech at this time.

Following the sophomores, came the junior stunt, which consisted of two pieces played by the junior band members led by "Bones" Stadum. Here they called on Mr. Roy Oen, an alumnus, who spoke a few words about our successful team. Next, we were honored by a speech by Coach Lee.

Immediately after this came the senior class act. This was a cheer leading contest in which they impersonated the supposed cheer leaders from the other classes. But—it seemed that maybe they went rather far in copying the other classes because the senior leaders were booed out.

In conclusion, "Tunny" Carlson, in behalf of the Senior football players, presented a gift to Coach Lee. He also gave a very humorous speech.

Jerome Salveson, then announced the results of the queen and attendants contest that has been under way the past few weeks. The elected queen was Lorraine Amundson. Her attendants were Adeline Lorentson, a junior and Adelaide Peterson, a freshman.

Following the announcement the cheer leaders led a yell for the Prowlers. They were arrayed in their new outfits, a dark blue skirt, a plain, gold blouse, and blue skull caps. They made a fine showing, but after all they still fail to get the support of the student body.

Everybody had, excuse my slang, a "swell" time, thanks to the fine work done by the senior class in putting on this homecoming celebration. Let's not forget them and, hereafter follow them in sponsoring an annual homecoming.

BAND NOTES

The Homecoming festival, held last Thursday and Friday prior to the game with Bemidji, had as a special feature, performances by the high school band. Thursday night the band led the pep parade through town to the East Side Ball Park where the bonfire and pep fest were held. While waiting for the entire parade to enter the field, the band played several numbers.

The juniors formed a pep band and performed at their stunt. The freshmen band members, under the direction of Willis Wright, also played for their stunt.

Before the football game on Friday, the band marched through town playing, and then went to the football field where they played several numbers before the game. Between halves of the game, the band, wearing their white sweaters and caps performed out on the field preceding the crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

One who is not well off does not "sponge", but pays his own way to the utmost of his ability.

PARADE IS HELD FRIDAY EVENING

Lorraine Amundson Crowned Queen Between Halves

Before the game with Bemidji on Friday night, a number of the students joined in a parade. They were led by our high school band through town and back again in plenty of time for the game. The bleachers in the cheering sections were crowded.

Between halves of the game our "Homecoming Queen", Lorraine Amundson, was crowned. She was taken out to the field in a car. From there our blue and gold robed queen was escorted out to the center of the field by the band. She was followed by her two attendants, Adeline Lorentson and Adelaide Peterson, and they were in turn followed by the Senior class president, Jerome Salveson and Erling Melby who carried the beautiful crown. After a brief introduction Jerome Salveson crowned the queen. She was then escorted off the field by the band.

Tak, Tak, Tak

More darn fun leading his royal highness The Cheese of Police a merry chase, ain't it kids. We wonder if he dances. He wouldn't Friday nite anyway.

We must congratulate the Juniors on their success in producing a prize-winning float and flag—we also feel that it's our privilege to state that the flag was factory-made so as not to draw tears from the remaining three classes.

Who knows what three Senior girls took Monday afternoon off—all on account of a little bit of an English speech?

These are only a few of "Emily Post's" rules of etiquette. Let us pay heed to them and be good students.

There are fixed rules for the playing of every game—and for proper conduct in every sport.

Not to attract attention to oneself in public, is one of the fundamental rules of good breeding.

Dear Friends:

The least suggestion of show or display in any funeral service is in poor taste.

It has always been our thought that the funeral director should be as inconspicuous as possible. The many details involved should be looked after quietly, respectfully. And the family should be relieved of all responsibility.

That is our duty—our service.

Respectfully,

Carl B. Larson

Colds Are Not Cured by Nasal Drops, Says State Medical Group

Oily nasal drops are often administered ill-advisedly and in excess to young children who are suffering from colds. Physician members of the Minnesota State Medical association committee on public health education strongly advise against the practice unless they are properly prescribed.

The reason is that the oily material found in commonly sold drops is easily and much too often breathed into the lungs especially by infants under two years. The result is sometimes a low grade pneumonia which is serious and often fatal.

This type of pneumonia has been on the increase in recent years and the physicians believe it is the direct result of the great increase, of late, in the use of these oily drops in children's noses.

At best and when they are compounded of proper ingredients, nasal drops only serve to afford relief from symptoms. They cannot cure a cold, according to the physicians. Rest in bed and good care are the first essentials to treatment. Any persistence of sore throat, cough and temperature should have expert advice for further treatment.

The best way to cure the Wall Street jitters would be to keep Congress at home for a few years and the brain-trusters out of this business control foolishness.

The ideal boss—one who won't give you the afternoon off to help your wife clean house.

By A. I. Harris

Nearly half a million dollars increase in taxes on iron ore came into the state treasury from October 1, 1936, to July 1, 1937, according to a report from C. A. Halvorson, state treasurer. Receipts for this period were $774,463, while for the same period last year they were $342,815. The largest single payment was made by the Oliver Iron Mining Co. The increase is accounted for by greatly enlarged output of iron ore mined this year as well as the boost in the rate of taxation from 6 to 10 per cent.

Immediate reforms at the Stillwater state prison "in accord with practices recognized as sound by penologists and prison authorities almost without exception," will follow as the result of an unannounced visit by Governor Benson at the prison recently.

The Governor slipped out of a meeting of the state board of pardons held at the prison and appeared unheralded in the prison mess room during the noon-day meal. He said he wanted to see at first-hand how the prison inmates lived. During this visit he observed that the silence system is still in use during morning and evening meals; that only a small slice of butter is served to prisoners once or twice a week; that milk is seldom served to inmates; that no fish is served on Fridays or any other provisions made for religious observances of prisoners, and that neither sugar nor cream is ever served with coffee.

The Governor immediately followed this up with recommendations to the state board of control for abolishing the silence system which in recent years had been modified but not abolished; improvement in the diet for prisoners, particularly an increase in the amount of butter and milk served, and also the establishment of prison camps for first offenders, young prisoners and those charged with crimes not of a serious nature, where prisoners can work on forestry and other conservation projects not under the custody of armed guards.

"It seems to me", the Governor wrote to the board of control, that this would be an encouragement to these younger men and be a better influence for rehabilitation and character building than the present methods of confining them behind prison walls."

The board of control readily agreed that the governor's proposal had merit and would be inducive to better prison morale and discipline. The recommendations, the board promised, would be carried out immediately.

"I cannot believe that conditions under which many university employes receive as low as $75 a month should be viewed without concern, in the face of the general recognized social need of building mass purchasing power among our people by increasing the wages and income of lower-paid employes," Governor Benson wrote Dean Guy Stanton Ford, acting president of the University of Minnesota, last week.

After studying the latest audit of University finances made by the state comptroller in which was revealed a man with a wife and three children employed at the "U" for ten years whose salary has not exceeded $88.33 a month, the Governor proposed revision of salary schedules with a view to increases in the lower brackets and advancement according to seniority and responsibility of work.

GRANT COUNTY MAN SHOOTS FREAK BIRD

Elbow Lake—One of the freak pheasants which are occasionally seen in this section and which range in plumage from pure white to a mixture of colors, was shot last week in Elk Lake township by C. A. Ray, Grant county auctioneer. This bird, a young cock, was of the mixed type. On the head back and wings the predominating color was white, while on the breast and thighs the feathers were of the natural colors. There was no evidence of the customary ring about the neck. One pronounced variation that the bird had from the usual pheasant markings was that its feet were pure white instead of a dark color as is the usual case. However, its shape conformed to that of its species and it tasted like an ordinary pheasant.

Turks Rewarded Arabs

When the Arab fought for the Turk in the World war, one wise Turkish general offered a reward for every prisoner an Arab brought in, basing the reward at a slightly higher sum than the pilfering of a corpse was likely to yield.

Lowly Origin of Platinum

When platinum was first discovered by Europeans in 1538, it was thought to be of no value and was called "platina," which means "little silver." The metal was found by Spaniards in what is now Columbia, South America. These explorers sent samples home to their king, who was evidently a thrifty person, for he conceived the idea that, since the platinum was found with gold in the river sands, it might grow into gold if soaked a while longer in the water, reports a White Metal News letter. Therefore, he ordered that the metal be returned to the river for further treatment.

COUNCIL ACTS ON VARIETY OF ITEMS TUESDAY

Calls for Bids on New Truck and Supply of Fire Hose

APPROVES REQUEST FOR WPA PROJECT

Grants Permits Covering 2 New Homes Now Under Construction

An accumulation of varied items of business was disposed of by the city council at its November session Tuesday evening. Included was authorization of an application to the Works Progress administration of a grant of funds to aid in financing a city-wide water main project; the calling for bids on a supply of fire hose and a new truck for the water and light department; and the hearing of the second reading of the so-called Green River ordinance to control peddling in the city.

Mr. Halseth of the Crookston WPA office suggested the water main project as a means of taking up some of the slack in employment that will result when the resettlement project shortly ceases operations for the winter months. The water main program as applied for calls for a contribution from city funds of 23 per cent of the total cost, the remainder to be supplied by the federal government. As explained by Mr. Halseth, the city reserves the right to carry out as much or as little of the project as it may decide is expedient. He stated that approximately two months would be required to obtain federal approval.

Miss Avis Akre, in charge of the WPA sewing project on which fifteen women are employed, was present to inform the council that under new regulations it would be necessary for the city to supply yard goods used in the project. She was asked to get quotations on the needed material from several jobbers.

C. H. Toomey of the Pennington County Poultry association stated that the annual poultry show would be held on dates tentatively set at November 29, 30 and December 1, and asked the use of the Auditorium. The council ordered the dates reserved in the event that the arena will not be available for the purpose.

B. O. Norby suggested that the council take under advisement the possibility of extending the white way lights from the Thief River Grocery company corner past the Land O'Lakes plant and creamery and west on Second st. to LaBree Av. Mayor W. W. Prichard endorsed the proposal and urged that the council keep it in mind in making plans for the coming year.

Supt. Morris Bye was present to arrange for the use of the Auditorium during the coming school year for the various school activities, including basketball games and class plays. The council fixed the rental at $350, the same figure as last year.

At the request of Fire Chief Leonard Hanson it was voted to advertise for bids on 500 feet of 2½-inch fire hose and 300 feet of the 1½ inch size. Mr. Hanson stated that no hose had been purchased in the past two years.

Building permits were granted to E. M. Hammang covering a residence with an estimated cost of $4,000; G. L. Biddick, residence, $2,500; and John Havel, garage, $125.

Acting favorably on a suggestion of Supt. Ole Legvold, the council voted to call for bids on a three-quarter ton pickup truck for the use of the water and light department. The present truck will be turned in on the deal.

Given its second reading without amendment was the proposed Green River ordinance, which defines peddling as a nuisance and fixes penalties for violations. The American Legion post was granted the use of the Auditorium for two hockey benefit dances to be held Saturday, November 13, and Thanksgiving night, November 25. The council also canvassed the vote in the recent city election.

11th Annual Auto Show Draws Big Attendance

Attracting an attendance totaling several thousand persons from thruout this section of the state, the eleventh annual Thief River Falls automobile show, together with the Elks carnival staged simultaneously at the corn palace late last week, proved to be highly successful.

Throngs of visitors entered the arena during the three days the event was in progress, and examined the displays, including more than twenty automobiles, in addition to a half dozen light and heavy trucks and tractors. The keno games staged in connection with the Elks charity carnival were well patronized, and the program of amateur talent was enjoyable.

The Lincoln high school band under the direction of R. G. Riggs presented concerts in the arena Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon. Amateur performers appearing included the Hruby sisters, Lark the Cowboy and his concertina, Lorraine Quist, Marimba; Lola Lund, violin; Leroy Rupprecht, guitar; Arlene Michaels, singer; Jewel Warner, dancer; Clarice Dicken, blues singer; Nicky Christo, songs; and the Musbeck string trio from Wylie.

An added feature of Thursday evening under the sponsorship of the Elks lodge was a midnight dedicatory program at the new Falls theatre, with Paul Lundgren presiding as master of ceremonies. The exercises opened with selections by the municipal band and a group of numbers by the high school boys quartet directed by Miss Ruth E. Nelson, music supervisor.

Speakers who congratulated the Baehr brothers for their outstanding addition to the business district of Thief River Falls included Charles Warner, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge; Walter Jung, president of the Civic and Commerce association; and Clarence Sands, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. A. W. Baehr, co-proprietor of the theatre, responded briefly.

SEVERAL CASES DISPOSED OF IN DISTRICT COURT

Suspended Sentences Given Two by Judge M. A. Brattland

Several criminal cases were heard by Judge M. A. Brattland in district court late last week, and two men who pleaded guilty were given suspended sentences.

George H. Melbye, arrested recently on a forgery charge, pleaded guilty Friday, and was sentenced to an indeterminate sentence of not to exceed three years in a state penal institution. The sentence was suspended on condition that he pay court costs and sheriff's expenses and make good a check he had issued, as well as paying for a suit of clothes he had obtained.

Leland Mandt of Goodridge pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an automobile without the owner's consent, and also was given an indeterminate sentence of not to exceed three years, the sentence being suspended on condition that, while it is in force, he drives no car or truck.

Sentence was deferred in the cases of Henry Hastad and Herman Timm, who pleaded guilty to liquor selling charges. H. N. Ekeren pleaded innocent to two charges of unlawful sale of liquor, and his case will stand for trial at the current term of district court.

PLAN CENSUS OF UNEMPLOYED HERE NOVEMBER 16-20

Blanks to be Distributed from Postoffices Thru-out Nation

Unemployed persons in Pennington county will be enumerated next week as part of a nation-wide jobless census conducted through the facilities of the postoffice department. Questionnaire cards will be delivered by mail carriers to every home but the cards are to be filled out and returned only by individuals who are not employed at all or only partially employed. Postmaster Andrew Anderson says that the cards will be distributed November 16th.

These are to be returned to the postmaster by midnight of November 20th. From the local postoffice they will be forwarded to Washington, for classification and tabulation.

The unemployment report card contains fourteen questions or items of information. These constitute an interwoven whole, the answers to each question having direct bearing upon the answers to the other questions on the card.

The census registration is to be voluntary and the questions on the record card will be answered in most cases without assistance. Government officials advise, however, that the card should be filled out by every person of either sex who regards himself or herself as being unemployed.

SUPERVISOR LISTS REQUIREMENTS OF FARM TENANCY ACT

Numerous Requests Made Locally for Loans, Says O. H. Howard

The Pennington-Marshall county farm security administration office has been receiving numerous requests from tenant farms for loans to purchase farms under the farm tenant act, says O. H. Howard, county rural rehabilitation supervisor, at Thief River Falls.

Applications for tenant purchase loans cannot be accepted in the county offices until machinery has been set up for administering the program and the counties selected.

With the allotment for tenant purchase loans in Minnesota based on farm population and percentage of tenancy set at $215,432, or more than 40 or 50 families in the state can be brought under the program this year, said O. H. Howard. The act calls for doubling the allotment next year and further increasing it the third year.

County supervisors have been advised the nominations to the state advisory committee have been forwarded to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace for approval. After this state committee has been appointed they will select the counties where the program will be carried on. County committees will then be named by the secretary to consider applications. "However," O. H. Howard stated, "until the counties are picked and local committees are named, there is little use in filing applications."

With the amount of funds available this year and considering land values in any part of the state for farms that would be desirable, it is doubtful if it will be possible to operate in more than four or five counties.

A loan made under the tenancy act provides for repayment of the principal in, not to exceed, forty years at 3 per cent. The act includes provisions for proper farming practices to protect the security of the loan, and forbids the sale or transfer of the farm without consent of the secretary of agriculture in the first five years after the loan is taken out.

A chimney fire late Friday afternoon summoned the fire department to the Gust Vad residence at 417 Knight av. N. The blaze was extinguished without any damage to the structure resulting.

MEETING SERIES IS ARRANGED FOR COUNTY FARMERS

The four topics to be discussed are: What makes farm prices and agricultural outlook; marketing costs—the margin between what the producer gets and the consumer pays; taxes—who pays and what for; and agricultural conservation and who gains by it. The meetings will be held one each month during December, January, February and March.

The public library will be closed today in observance of Armistice Day, and no puppet show will be given this afternoon, Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, librarian, stated.

RITES HELD FOR GEORGE C. BAKEN, VETERAN OF WAR

Former Adjutant of Local Legion Post Passes Thursday

George C. Baken, World War veteran and well-known resident of this city, passed away early Thursday morning of last week at Veteran's hospital, Minneapolis. Rites were conducted Monday afternoon Christian Science services read by Sam Plough at the Erickson and Lund chapel being followed with military rites and burial at Greenwood cemetery conducted by Elmer J. Eklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion.

Mr. Baken, who was forty-five years of age at the time of his death, was born October 6, 1892, in Bray township. As a boy he moved with his parents from Bray township to Marshall county, later living in Minneapolis, California, and this city. In 1925 he moved to Rocksbury township, near this city, where he has since made his home. On May 23, 1918 Mr. Baken enlisted at Grand Forks in the U. S. Naval forces, and entered training at the Great Lakes Naval Station. Overseas he served with the Coast Guard at Queenstown, Ireland. Returning to the United States at the close of the war, he was honorably discharged January 13, 1919.

In June of the same year, he was married at St. Hilaire to Agnes Aubol, who survives his death, together with one daughter Lorraine and one son Don. Other surviving relatives are his mother, Mrs. A. Baken, one sister, Mrs. Frank Aasin, and two brothers Arthur and Harold, all of Mill Valley, Cal. and another brother Jack of San Anselmo, Calif. His father, two sisters and one brother preceded him in death.

Mr. Baken was a member of Elmer J. Eklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion, which he served as post adjutant for two years.

County Board Conducts Brief November Session

In an uneventful session early last week the county board passed on the usual accumulation of bills, and heard requests of several delegations from the eastern part of the county for the cleaning out of ditches in that area. The usual appropriation of $50 was voted to the Pennington County Poultry association to aid the group in financing its annual show scheduled for early this winter.

Augustana Church Board of Administration

Throngs Attend 50th Anniversary Program

An event unusual in the comparatively brief history of the settlement of this section of the state was commemorated Sunday and Monday with programs observing the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Augustana Lutheran church congregation. In addition to local and district pastors, the event was shared in by several ministers who served the congregation previous to the present pastorate of Rev. Charles W. Erickson.

The central feature of the two-day observance was the anniversary program held Sunday afternoon, the church being packed for the occasion with present and former members of the congregation who assembled to hear the pastors of former years. The program opened with a prayer by Rev. A. A. Larson and a vocal selection by Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Sjogren.

Rev. Aner Bloom, former pastor now of Grand Forks, briefly traced the history of the organization from the time it was founded in Park Ridge in 1887 to continue the early teachings of the pioneer settlers. Paying tribute to the work of former pastors and laymen, he said the anniversary is a challenge to the congregation to continue the work that was begun fifty years ago.

Rev. James Moody, who was called to serve the newly organized church in 1888, likened the congregation to an orange tree that bears ripe fruit and blossoms at the same time. He also narrated several humorous incidents that occurred during his pastorate.

Rev. A. A. Larson, who became pastor in 1910, told of some of the means employed to bring about improvements in the church property and in the development of its spiritual activities. Thief River Falls, he said, has been the center of a great mission field.

Others who spoke briefly were Rev. H. L. Sjogren, who preceded Reverend Erickson; Leonard Peterson of Crookston, first superintendent of the Sunday school; and P. B. Malberg, first secretary of the congregation.

SCHOOLS NOTE ARMISTICE DAY THIS MORNING

Local Men Appear on Programs in All Schools at 11 o'Clock

SCHOOL BOARD PLANS NEIGHBORHOOD RINKS

Total Enrollment at End of First Six Weeks Shows Gain of 69

At the November meeting of the board of education Monday evening, Supt. Morris Bye announced that arrangements had been made for Armistice Day programs in the local schools this morning at 11 o'clock, with the afternoon designated as a holiday.

Speakers who participated in the programs include H. O. Chommie, Central school; Paul A. Lundgren, Knox; Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Lincoln; B. O. Norby, Northrop; and Mr. Bye, Washington.

The board was informed that preliminary to the opening of the basketball season, rules interpretation meetings will be conducted in the Auditorium next Monday at 4 and 8 o'clock. Arthur Von, an official in state tournaments, will preside, and schools in this section of the state will be represented. The first home basketball games will be played in the Auditorium December 7, with Roseau and Plummer furnishing competition for local quintets.

Looking forward to the winter season, the board voted to continue its policy of maintaining neighborhood skating rinks at the Knox, Northrop and Washington school grounds. These rinks supplement the facilities of the winter sports arena, and provide a place where the younger children may learn to skate without interfering with adult skaters.

That news of the board's plan eventually to construct a new junior-senior high school has been spread widely was revealed when letters were received from five Minnesota architects asking an opportunity to present their proposals. No action was taken on the matter.

Indications that the city is growing in population were found in the report by Mr. Bye that the total enrollment at the end of the first six weeks period this year was 1515, compared to 1446 for the corresponding period a year ago, a gain of 69 pupils. The increase is distributed as follows: Kindergarten, 10; grade schools, 46; and high school, 13.

ORGANIZE SCHOOL BAND OF 63 PIECES AT N. W. SCHOOL

Valley Institution Now Has Six Different Musical Organizations

A school band of sixty-three pieces has been organized at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston. Registrar J. W. Milnar reports that the school band now brings the total of school and group musical organizations up to six. The school orchestra of sixteen pieces is under the direction of Miss Marian Nelson, instructor in piano, assisted by Miss Grace Warne, instructor in violin.

The four vocal groups, under the direction of Miss Elvira Bierbauer, instructor in voice, include: the mixed chorus, boys glee club, girls' glee club, and school choir. The newly organized band is under the direction of Mr. Benjamin M. Bakkegard, a graduate student who is majoring in music at the University of North Dakota under Professor John Howard.

Mr. Bakkegard, in addition to his scholastic training, has been a director of high school bands for two years and has had several years' experience as a private instructor in band instruments. Opportunity is now given students at the Northwest School to get private and group instruction in band and voice and private instruction in piano and violin.

Wild Ducks Should be Consumed by November 17, Is State Warning

Persons having wild ducks in their possession should consume them before November 17, Harry E. Speakes, director of the division of game and fish, warned.

With the season for the legal taking of wild ducks ending Sunday, federal regulations stipulate that wild waterfowl may only be retained 10 days after the close of the season.

All game must bear retaining tags issued by the director or state game warden if held more than five days after the season closes. It is legal to hold pheasants and quail until January 10 when tagged properly. The season on quail also closed Sunday.

With the deer hunting season scheduled to open November 20, hunters were advised that venison when tagged may be retained in their possession until February 20.

LAGUARDIA WINS N. Y. MAYOR RACE BY LARGE MARGIN

Defeats Democratic Tammany Candidate in Election Tuesday

Fiorello H. LaGuardia was re-elected mayor of New York Tuesday on a Republican-Fusion-Labor ticket—the first so-called "reform" candidate ever to beat the city Democratic machine twice in a row.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney, his Democratic opponent, early conceded defeat. Returns from 3,000 out of 3,910 election districts gave: LaGuardia, 1,003,514; Mahoney, 696,081.

In returns from 650 election districts out of 1,055 gave for district attorney of Manhattan: Dewey, 193,016; Hastings, 136,879.

The leaders of Tammany hall, which in the century and a half of its life always had been able heretofore to beat down any second term challenge to city hall control, were silent for the most part, but Tammany Chieftain Christopher Sullivan commented that the returns were "bum figures."

With LaGuardia into office went Thomas E. Dewey, a special rackets prosecutor who defeated the Tammany candidate for district attorney of the borough of Manhattan, Harold W. Hastings.

The mayor, squat, hot-tongued and politically unconventional, went into power four years ago when the Democratic party was split. This time, it was united outwardly at least, with Postmaster General James A. Farley, the Democratic national chairman, coming home to New York to go to the stump for the Mahoney ticket.

Tammany's loss of the district attorneyship made its defeat crushing. The hall retained that office in the LaGuardia sweep of four years ago, as well as majority power in the board of estimate.

MAN'S TROUSERS CATCH ON FIRE

LeCenter— When your pants catch on fire there is need for fast thinking and speedy action, John Dwyer of this village has decided. He was walking down LeCenter's main street one day last week, probably thinking how cold and miserable the wet weather was when he felt a new warmth which designated fire at close proximity on his leg. Looking down he saw smoke emitting from his pocket, and burning it. Much hasty maneuvering took place during the next few minutes until the fire was extinguished. The fire loss included a pants pocket, a ruined jack knife from which the composition handle had been burned, and miscellaneous articles.

Petitions Request No Change in Deer Season by Conservation Head

A number of petitions containing hundreds of signatures have been received by Herman C. Wenzel, commissioner of conservation, asking that no change be made in the executive order establishing a six-day deer hunting season this month.

The order sets the deer season from November 20 to 25. Twelve counties and portions of four others will be open.

In the petitions is cited that "deer are plentiful and that a short season is in the interest of good conservation and protection to the foundation brood stock."

Commissioner Wenzel recommended the short season following a survey conducted by the Game and Fish Division.

Regional Farm Meeting at Crookston Saturday

As the farm crises continued to deepen with new heavy slumps in farm prices, the Minnesota farm conference board met in St. Paul this week to outline a series of meetings throughout Minnesota to familiarize farmers with the program drafted at the conference held October 4.

The Northwestern Minnesota meeting will be held at Crookston, on Saturday, November 13th, beginning at 1 o'clock, in the City Hall. In addition to Charles Ommodt and N. W. Thatcher, there will be other farm leaders present. Governor Benson has been invited and may be present.

In view of the continued slump in farm prices, a large attendance is expected to urge a farm program upon the Special Session of Congress.

County Agricultural Group Makes Seven Recommendations

During the past three weeks a special agricultural committee from the county met for three meetings for the purpose of studying crop systems, amount of crops and livestock produced, amount of grain and seed shipped out and into the county and general farming conditions. The discussion was led by W. A. Peters, specialist from University Farm.

The farmers from all parts of the county that served on the committee were W. E. Smith, Alfred Longren, H. C. Woolson, Clarence Peterson, Frank Hardisty, E. H. Pomerenke, Anton Johnson, G. A. Kompen, Ole Nesland, Ole Wedul, Lloyd Johnson, V. G. Brink, C. R. Melin, Emil Larson, N. P. Schalz, E. A. Yonke and Hans Anton.

The general recommendations made by the committee are (1) that all crop rotations should contain a cultivated crop or summer fallow for weed control; (2) varieties of grain to be seeded are Thatcher wheat, Anthony and Gopher oats, Bison flax, Wisconsin 38, Velvet barley and peatland barley for peat soil; (3) that barley should be handled more carefully during harvesting and threshing so that it would grade as malting barley; (4) that potatoes produced in the county should be for seed purposes and not for table stock because of the long distance to favorable markets; (5) that all sires to be used should be purebreds; (6) that some production record should be kept and all cullings should be on basis of the record; (7) that all livestock should be more liberally fed.

A pamphlet listing the results of these meetings and the recommendations that were made will be available at the county agent's office in about three weeks. Any person interested may have one by calling at the office for it.

ARMISTICE DAY

It is nineteen years ago today since the "war to end wars" ended. In the brief span of years allotted to each of us on this earth, nineteen years is a long time. We should be thankful for the nineteen years of peace with which we have been blessed.

The fine idealism which prompted our sacrifice in that war has long since been replaced by a realism that recognizes its futility. We know now that, while we won that war, in the terms of settlement, we lost the fine objective for which we sacrificed. In the terms of that settlement we planted the seed of future discord.

Many competent observers believe we are now on the threshold of another war. There are many today who, instead of looking backward upon the nineteen years of peace, consider this lapse of time rather in the sense that we are now nineteen years closer to the next great conflict. Their skepticism is perhaps justified.

It seems strange that wars must come to peace loving people. Perhaps the answer is that we are not really peace loving. As individuals we are greedy and ambitious. What reason have we to hope those characteristics which are so typical of us as individuals will not also influence us as a group. Individually we are prejudiced by envy and hatred and misunderstanding. What can you expect of a nation made up of individuals who, in their relations with each other, are not willing or able to exercise reasonable restraint.

Perhaps the answer to all of these problems is to be found within ourselves. If, instead of lamenting the shortcomings of others, we would all strive to improve ourselves, it probably wouldn't take long before this world would undergo a very decided change for the better. And until such a transformation takes place among us individually, it is safe to predict that there will be little change in the manner in which the affairs of the world are conducted.

AN INTERESTING SESSION

A special session of Congress will convene Monday and while this session will be just as overwhelmingly Democratic in the classification of its members as previous sessions, it is probable that it will be more independent in its deliberations than any recent session. The leadership of the President will not be followed as blindly as it has been in the past and we may expect to read again of fiery arguments over questions of government activities and policies. Which, all will agree, is as it should be.

It is possible too, that the President himself may strike a more humble note in his requests for the consideration of national problems. Things have not been going so well lately. On two different occasions he has had to revise his estimates of revenues, each time admitting the affairs of government to be in less happy circumstances than he had anticipated they would be. A couple of years ago, in the cocky attitude of one who admires himself very much, he chortled, "Yes, we are on the way back—not by mere chance. Not by a turn of the cycle. We are coming back more soundly than ever before because we planned it that way, and don't let anybody tell you differently." When he addresses Congress next week he will speak to a group of law makers who, while still sympathetic with his objectives, will be wondering, as they listen to him, just how much confidence they should repose in his leadership.

They will be thinking of the present business recession that started early this year, wondering how long business activity will continue to decline. They will be thinking of the increasing unemployment, wondering how much more public money should be turned over to the executive without strings tied to it, to be spent for relief as he and his appointees shall dictate. They will be thinking of the farm problem which they have solved at each session, wondering if it isn't about time for the administration planners to present a solution that would have some permanence. They will be thinking of the mounting public debt, wondering how money to retire that debt will be extracted from the taxpayers. These are some of the things the congressmen and senators will be thinking about when they listen to the President's message next week.

And there will be discussion of these things. We may be quite certain that before action is taken the whys and the wherefores will be thoroughly debated. It should be an interesting session.

GLAMOUR-REMOVERS AT WORK

(Montevideo News)

An appeal often made, and due to be given emphatic repetition during the week before Armistice Day, runs like this: "Take the glamour out of war."

It is a worthy suggestion, although it is not remembered by those who have attended wars that the makers of them ever bothered much about sending any glamour to the quartermaster for issue. Who ever saw a glamorous first sergeant? There was nothing glamorous about the morning bugle call or the food the soldier got or the conditions under which he ate it. No soldier or sailor who saw action and its fearfully efficient destructiveness was ever told it was glamorous. The same is true for the man who was training for action.

It is doubtful if many went to war just to get a daily ration of glamour. But it may do good to keep on talking to those few who are suspected of thinking that war is a parade without sore feet.

While the glamour-removers are at work they might broaden their program to include other fields ripe for the cutting. They might take some of the glamour out of varsity football and put it in the classroom and laboratory.

They might rub off some of the glamour put on football heroes for their great strength, dodging ability, and gift for getting ahead even when tackled; transferring some of that glamour to those remarkable athletes, the maw and paw of growing families, who use more strength, more ability at dodging bill collectors and more grit and determination to keep going no matter how often tackled.

They might take the glamour from those who win beauty contests on form and bestow it on those who have beauty of character.

They might take glamour from movie stars and put it on the men and women who do the world's work.

They might take glamour from political offices in marble capitols and put it on the men and women who pay the taxes.

There is much for the glamour-removers to do.

YOU KNOW IT'S SO

(Charleston News and Courier)
(Dem.)

The notion is constantly spread that the President is a man of marvelous ability and a politician of unparalleled skill. It may be so. We pose this question: Were the subsidies to cotton, the WPA and PWA allotments, the "relief," withdrawn and the new offices abolished, how many supporters would remain to him in South Carolina? Had he balanced the budget the last two years several congressmen in South Carolina would have deserted him. He may be a man of great ability, but there is no measure to apply to him, for the reason that no other President in time of peace has spent any sum comparable with the thirty-five thousand millions of dollars that his administration has spent in less than five years. He has increased the public debt to the tallest peak in history, the period of the World War not excepted. He may be a man of surpassing mentality, but any man, however dumb, who, with a Congress trading with him, could have gotten his clutches on one-fourth the money that the Roosevelt administrations have had to scatter would be esteemed the "greatest President of all times." You know that's so.

The new farm bill is expected to restore the processing taxes which were wiped out by the supreme court two years ago. The taxes will be imposed as general taxes, and the money for farm aid will be taken from general funds, the same as the soil conservation money is taken. The supreme court held that the processing taxes were invalid because they were taking money from one class of citizens and handing it over to another class. There is no legal barrier to doing the same thing if the money is not earmarked for the specific purpose. The government could have restored the AAA taxes and distribution at any time by a slight change in the law, but the president thought it would help him along other lines if he changed the court instead of the law.—Fergus Falls Journal.

It is difficult to ascertain where the report comes from, but one southern Minnesota newspaper claims that enforcing the game laws against the natives of northern Minnesota is practically impossible because local juries will not convict their fellow poachers. Such a report is entirely without foundation, because there is no such idea up this way that game laws are made only for outsiders who come up here to hunt and fish. The number of convictions in the northern part of the state, which in many cases includes local people, is proof that there is no partiality being shown in game law enforcement.—Eveleth Clarion.

Road Workers Join War on Marijuana Weeds

Maintenance men and officers of the state highway department highway patrol will have a new duty this fall and in 1938—they will be constantly on the lookout for patches of the dread marijuana weed along the roadside.

N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner, has pledged his assistance and that of his department, in the statewide drive to rid Minnesota of the drug which when smoked drives persons to criminal and maniacal acts. Commissioner Elsberg will instruct his men in the appearance of the weed and how to recognize it on highway property or adjoining fields. The weed, source of hashish, grows lushly in Minnesota soil and evidence of it have been found along roads in the state. When found on highway property it will be destroyed, the highway chief declared.

Narcotic authorities and civic groups feel that the enlistment of the highway department's services will form the nucleus for statewide coverage next spring. Highway departments in other states are likewise co-operating, according to federal narcotic authorities.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

A conference of midwest farmers and farm organizations for the week of November 22-27 was assured last week by Governor Benson. The conference that would follow the opening of Congress by about a week, the Governor pointed out, and would give the conferees a chance to study proposed legislation. The Governor announced that he would invite not only farmers and farm leaders of farm states, but midwestern governors as well. It was even thought that invitations may be sent to farmers as far off as Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The announcement followed a hearing held in St. Paul by a Senate agricultural subcommittee at which time spokesmen for the Minnesota Farm Conference Board, continuations body for the recent Minnesota Farm Conference, presented the program worked out three weeks ago in St. Paul. The board came out strongly for direct control of marketing machinery through price-fixing, as opposed to past programs of production control.

Minnesota's present chain store tax law will in no way be affected by the recent decision of the Ramsey county district court outlawing the gross sales tax provision of a previous chain store law, according to Attorney General William S. Ervin.

A decision handed down by Judge R. D. O'Brien held the specific tax against the chains constitutional. The opinion declaring the gross sales tax part of the old law unconstitutional was not surprising to state officials in view of a recent verdict of the United States Supreme Court outlawing a similar provision in an Iowa law patterned after the Minnesota statute.

Mindful of this decision, the last legislature took steps to amend such parts of the law that were liable to be found unconstitutional, the attorney general pointed out.

Chief effect of the verdict will be that the state loses $[illegible] in certified taxes under this particular provision of the old law, plus interest amounting to $126,[illegible], which makes a total loss to the state of $1,022,056.72. About 25 per cent of this amount had been withheld from the state, however, pending outcome of the litigation, so the refund claim on the state probably will come to about $766,542.54.

Books, they say, are the fountainhead of knowledge. Certainly, they add to the enlightenment and enjoyment of the people. Yet, in Minnesota, close to a million people are without free library service, according to Lee Zimmerman, state director of libraries.

Living mainly in rural areas, these people form 38 per cent of the entire population of the state and, lacking the recreational facilities afforded by the larger cities, are among the most avid readers in the state. Borrowers in the most thinly populated districts, where some library facilities are afforded, average [illegible] books a year in comparison with 6 books in the three large cities in the state, according to statistics.

Four counties in the state haven't a single library and [illegible] other counties have but a single library each to take care of all people in the county.

Mr. Zimmerman pointed [illegible] effects of the depression which caused a drastic reduction in library facilities on the one hand while on the other hand it stimulated reading by those with enforced leisure who sought escape or a way out through books. He recommended increased state aid to furnish adequate library service to rural areas.

Asked if corn loans would follow the loans to cotton producers, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said during a recent trip through this section of the country [illegible] tractor and can get along without [illegible]

[illegible] Mr. Wallace's [illegible] of the price [illegible] was more optimistic than accurate. Farmers produced a heavy corn crop this year with the result that there has been a constant drop in prices.

In southern Minnesota, where [illegible] of the state's corn crop is grown, farmers can see no reason why Uncle Sam, having [illegible] into his pocket [illegible] farmers, cannot do the same for them. Such a program [illegible] very expensive, for farmers will sell the crop at a later day and pay their loans. In the meantime they avoid the necessity of dumping their grain into an overcrowded market and turning over to the speculators the advantage of seasonal price upturns.

Long a plank in the Farmer-Labor program that those who have should care for those who have not, figures released by the Minnesota Tax Commission, show [illegible] rose from $[illegible] in 1925 to more than $[illegible] in 1937 due [illegible] to the fact that the [illegible] increasing share [illegible] the costs of government which were formerly heaped upon those who have not.

(Edited this week by Vince Bovitz, Chatfield News)

Prudent housewives indulge in wholesale housecleaning in the spring and fall, but not so with the state administration. Any day in the year is entirely suitable for sweeping out of office of men who do not see eye to eye with the powers that be in every detail.

This housecleaning, or "purge" as some call it, continued with even greater fury last week. The "resignation" of L. P. Zimmerman as state relief administrator brought forth charges and counter charges when the state executive council met to receive his resignation. The storm broke when Auditor Stafford King said, "I think it's a shame Zimmerman has been driven out of SRA." Governor Benson vehemently denied that the relief administrator had been forced out and called upon Zimmerman to back him up. This he did, but it has been well-founded capitol news that Zimmerman has contemplated resigning ever since the appointment of K. A. Lundberg as assistant administrator September 1st. Benson appointee Lundberg, it is stated, has continually undermined the work of Olson-appointee Zimmerman, which has resulted in several flare-ups and the resignation of Zimmerman. Succeeding him as titular head of Minnesota's relief is Herman Aufderheide of New Ulm, who has been prominent in Farmer Labor circles for several years.

Carlgren for Prison Warden

It is now generally accepted that C. R. Carlgren will get the post of warden of the state prison at Stillwater, succeeding the late J. J. Sullivan. Thus the Governor Benson and the Farmer-Labor leaders definitely have shelved their much-heralded belief in the merit system in the administration of state affairs. Acting Warden Leo F. Utecht, who has been in virtual control of the prison for the past two years, evidently does not measure up to Farmer Labor standards and must be pushed aside to make way for Carlgren. Slated to succeed Carlgren on the board of control is Howard Y. Williams, long connected with radical movements in the twin cities.

Party bosses are rumored as considering another "housecleaning" which may result in serious complications and one whose very mention everyone admits is packed with dynamite. It concerns one of the best-known men in the entire state — Frank McCormick, director of athletics at the University of Minnesota and who is directly responsible for the very efficient and capable administration of athletic affairs at the University. Who is to supplant him? None other than Kenneth Haycraft, recently defeated Farmer Labor candidate for mayor of Minneapolis. McCormick is undoubtedly one of the most popular men in the state at the present time and when the Farmer-Labor bosses begin putting the pressure on him to force his resignation, they will discover that football fans will shout them down with a rousing "Rah! Rah! McCormick!"

Governor Benson continues on the trail of John P. Arnoldy, chief of the state highway patrol, and he has demanded his resignation by November 1st. The reason for seeking his dismissal is the contention that Arnoldy, another Olson appointee, is not sufficiently a party man. Ergo, he must be kicked out. Slated to succeed him is Bert Morton of Minneapolis, now in the highway patrol.

(Edited this week by C. L. Hedberg, Editor, Cokato Enterprise)

From Washington, D. C., last week came a message from H. H. Chapman, president of the Society of American foresters, regarding the shake-up in Minnesota's department of conservation. Chapman is a man who has devoted his entire life to forest conservation and is particularly familiar with Minnesota's conservation history because he had friends and relatives at Hinckley and Moose Lake when the 1918 forest fires laid waste to homes, farms and villages covering hundreds of square miles.

"The removal or demotion of all but two of the experienced heads in the conservation department is a serious matter to the State of Minnesota," says Mr. Chapman. "The conditions which gave rise to the fires of 1894, 1910 and 1918 will always be present in Northern Minnesota. They arise from climatic causes, combining low humidity, high winds and fires set for any purpose anywhere which are not properly under control and extinguished."

Mr. Chapman goes on to point out that the problem of safeguarding life and property is far more important than party organization, and that the experienced heads in the department from 1934 to 1936 had brought fire defense to a point where recurrence, inevitable under the old conditions, had been avoided.

The merit system, believes Mr. Chapman, should not be sacrificed to the demand for political jobs. "What city or state would entrust its fire department to untrained political appointees?" he asks.

Highway Department Next

The administration's apparent effort to eliminate all state employees who might have conflicting opinions continued last week with the announcement Friday that the administration division of the highway department will be abolished. Orville E. Olson, highway personnel director, said that it is an "economy" move and that eliminating the eleven members of this department will save several thousand dollars annually. The discharged head of the department was Sylvia C. Notenstein, an efficient employee of the highway department for 32 years.

To Work for Liberal Senators

The administration's program to gain complete control of the state of Minnesota is not being confined to employees in the capitol itself. In a front page article in the "State News", Arthur Jacobs, one of Benson's brain trusters, writes that a "survey is now being made in every legislative district in this state with the purpose of centering efforts where prospects of victory look brightest for the election of liberal senators."

Liberals are assured of retaining twenty seats, says Jacobs, and the survey so far indicates to him that they are reasonably certain of gaining at least fifteen to eighteen seats in the senate. This would give the Farmer Laborites control of both the house and the senate.

Living Costs Mount in Third Quarter of 1937

Continued steady rise in home rentals and clothing prices during the third quarter of 1937, together with a slight drop in average monthly wages earned, has erased most of the gains scored during the first half of the year in the buying power of the average American family, according to a study made by Northwestern National Life Insurance Company.

Living quarters for which the family paid $24 monthly in 1935 cost $[illegible] for September, 1937, on the basis of national averages, compared with $30.01 in January, 1937, and $32.58 at June levels. A further rise of at least 15% is declared necessary by realtors and housing contractors, according to the report, before new construction at present high costs is justified.

Summarizing the effects of recent payroll and living cost changes on the pocketbook of the average American family, the study reports that a family earning and spending $120 monthly in 19[illegible] had to spend $[illegible] in January, 1937, to maintain exactly the same standard of living, but at January wage levels the family's income had increased to $130.92, leaving a modest surplus of $1.41, net gain of income over outgo.

Goose Saved Courier's Life

A long time ago, says a writer in the Washington Post, a Chinese emperor sent a courier to the north where he was treacherously detained. He captured a wild goose and remembering the bird's migration southward affixed a letter to its leg. The letter was addressed to the emperor. The latter, out hunting, by chance brought down this same bird. He read the letter and had his courier rescued.

Financing of Bulletins Published by Churches Is C. C. Meeting Topic

At the Civic and Commerce association luncheon last Thursday, Rev. E. L. Tungseth reported on a recent meeting of local pastors at which the problem of financing in an equitable manner the publication of church bulletins was discussed. Reverend Tungseth stated that seven such bulletins are being published in the city, in addition to three others nearby, and that most of them draw financial support from the same small group of businessmen. He suggested that the burden would be reduced if the number of contributors was materially enlarged. The matter was referred to the association board of directors to cooperate with the pastors in seeking to work out a solution. A guest at the luncheon was W. L. Peterson, Lancaster attorney, who spoke briefly.

Legion Fall Conference Attended by T. R. Falls Auxiliary Drum Corps

Members of the auxiliary drum corps returned to this city Sunday after having spent an enjoyable week-end in attendance at the fall conference of the Legion and auxiliary at the Lowry hotel in St. Paul. The local musicians also played at the conference in the Lowry hotel Friday and Saturday evenings. At a meeting Sunday Mrs. Jeanette Wright was elected a member of the board of directors of the Band and Drum Corps association.

He was born in Sweden and came with his parents to the United States in 1861, settling in Carver county, Minnesota. In 1881 he was graduated from Augustana Theological seminary at Rock Island, Illinois, and came to Warren, where he served as pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church until 1887. BANK AT WAUBUN ROBBED OF $6,000 MONDAY EVENING

Acetylene Torch Is Used to Open Vault in Mahnomen County Bank

Burglars robbed the State Bank of Waubun, Mahnomen county Monday night after knocking the lock off the front door and burning their way into the vault with an acetylene torch.

The loss was reported to be approximately $6,000, according to Polk county authorities.

The robbery was discovered Tuesday morning when the first employe came to work. He reported the lock on the front door had been forced loose. A gas tank was found in front of the burned vault door.

Passolt said his men were checking the source of the tank in hopes of tracing it to the final purchaser. No one had reported seeing suspicious persons about the place during the night, according to Passolt.

Passolt said the crime was similar to the robbery of the state bank of Bruno, Minn., Nov. 6. Thieves burglarized the Farmers State Bank of Ormsby, September 28, using an electric drill to cut through the vault.

Arne Vik of St. Hilaire Buys M. McAndress Farm

Arne Vik, prominent local dairyman, has made a deal for the purchase of the M. McAndress farm, a half mile north of the St. Hilaire village limits, in Rocksbury, says the St. Hilaire Spectator. This purchase makes Mr. Vik the most extensive land owner in this locality, and gives him one of the finest farm tracts in this part of the county.

P. Engelstad Director of Valley Potato Group

Herman Skyberg, Fisher, prominent Polk county grower, was elected president of the Minnesota Red River Valley Potato Improvement association, succeeding Fred L. Bebling, Moorhead, at the annual meeting which concluded the potato show in Moorhead Friday. John Lorentson, Lake Park, was elected vice president, succeeding Skyberg, and Carl Ash, Crookston, was named secretary-treasurer. Ingvald Hanson, Twin Valley, and Donald A. Peet, Moorhead, were elected members of the executive committee. Peter Engelstad of this community was named director from Pennington county.

W. Webster, president of the Rail System. His headquarters will be located in Minneapolis, and the appointment is effective as of October 25. Mr. Pope first entered the employ of the Soo Line as a clerk in 1920. Mr. Pope's first railroad experience was in the Como shops of the Northern Pacific Railway in St. Paul. Later he was employed in the accounting department of the Great Northern Railway, resigning in 1918 to enlist in the Railway Division, Thirty-second Engineers, A. E. F.

Junior Chamber Hears Talk by Supt. Legvold on Hardness of Water

At a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last Thursday evening in the Palm Garden, Ole Legvold discussed the present hard condition of the water in the city mains, ascribing the situation to the large quantities of alkali washed into the river at the time of the heavy rains last August. He suggested that the only way to remedy the condition would be to dig wells as a source of supply. At the meeting President Clarence Sande was authorized to name a committee to arrange a social function for the organization to be held at an early date. Appointed were Walter Larson, Archie Henerud and Lester Ihle.

DISMISS CONZET AS FORESTER IN ST. PAUL SHAKEUP

Wenzel Continues to Make Shifts in Conservation Department

Continuing his drastic personnel shakeup, Conservation Commissioner Herman Wenzel Thursday discharged Grover Conzet, state forester for 13 years, and appointed to his post Elroy Foster, until recently with the United States forest service.

The Minnesota career of Conzet, who started in 1914 with the department as patrolman and rose from the ranks to become forester in 1924, will terminate November 16 when his dismissal is effective. Foster will assume his duties on that day.

Conzet said he had been expecting the discharge "for some time."

Conzet was appointed forester by the then commissioner, W. C. Cox in 1924. Under his guidance, the department became one of the most efficient in the nation.

The discharge climaxed a flurry of executive personnel changes decreed by Wenzel that have touched every division of the department. The latest veteran employe to leave the department was Dr. Thaddeus Surber, demoted superintendent of fish propagation who resigned Monday and left the department.

Game Warden Force Is Strengthened in North Section of Minnesota

In a concerted effort to cut down to a minimum illegal shining of deer and illicit trapping operations, Herman C. Wenzel, Commissioner of Conservation, has directed the transfer of a number of wardens from the southern and central parts of the state to northern Minnesota.

"We are determined to forestall as much as possible the taking of deer and then holding them for sale during the big game season that is in the offing," Commissioner Wenzel said. "This practice on the part of unscrupulous persons has developed into a racket that must be stopped.

"To adequately safeguard furbearers that are now on the protected list, illegal trapping operations must be curbed. For this purpose we are concentrating game wardens in the better trapping areas."

Harry E. Speakes, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, reported that already 15 game wardens have moved up north for special duty and that others will follow as they are selected.

Urge Keeping Tractors With Lugs Off Highways

The use of tractors with lugs on hard surfaced highways costs the Minnesota highway department, and consequently the taxpayers, thousands of dollars a year in maintenance and repair costs, according to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner.

Mr. Elsberg said the highway patrol is not large enough to keep the roads completely free of such traffic. He issued an appeal to the civic mindedness of those possessing tractors with lugs to keep them off the hard surfaced roads, and thus permit the highway to spend money, otherwise lost, toward making the state highway system one of the best in the union.

VOTES 50 YEARS IS NOT CITIZEN

Redwood Falls—Testimony in an examination for naturalization papers in court here recently brought out the fact that a Redwood county resident who was not a citizen voted here for 50 years without a challenge. The man applying for citizenship said he was not aware that he did not have the right to vote as he had come here from Canada when he was two years old. When he discovered a few years ago that he was not a citizen he stopped using the ballot, he said.

HOMECOMING SET FOR UNIVERSITY FRIDAY, SATURDAY

"Nihilate Northwestern" Is Slogan as Thousands Return to Campus

Several thousand alumni will return to the University of Minnesota this weekend to renew friendships with former classmates, take part in the annual campus festivities, and generally become acquainted again with their Alma Mater. The celebration will open Friday, November 12, and will reach its climax Saturday, November 13, when the Gophers and Northwestern engage in a football game in Memorial Stadium.

Decorations will be in a nautical theme and ships of various design are expected to sail along University Avenue and other campus thoroughfares where collegiate vehicles of an earlier vintage usually roll. Judging of decorations will take place Friday and will be followed by the annual alumni banquet in the Minnesota Union.

Speakers at the dinner will include Bernie Bierman, Minnesota coach; Lynn Waldorf, coach of the Northwestern team; and Dr. L. J. Cooke, known to thousands of Minnesotans as the "grand old man of Gopher athletics." The traditional homecoming bonfire at which the Gopher team will be urged to its best efforts for Northwestern will be held Friday evening also. A series of broadcasts of various events over WLB, University radio station, will be held Friday.

The homecoming parade will be held Saturday morning, passing through the campus and downtown Minneapolis. A capacity crowd is expected to witness the Minnesota-Northwestern game in Memorial Stadium at 2 p. m. Saturday, with a number of special events by the bands of both Minnesota and Northwestern scheduled for a between-half performance.

STEAL EVERYTHING FROM CLOTHES TO SANDWICH

Breckenridge.—When Jim Harrison and John Ryan, transients, start out on a life of crime they don't go about it half way—they steal everything from clothes to a half sandwich from a man's plate. Jim and John finally met with the law and were sentenced to ten and 30 days, respectively. The men were charged with stealing an alarm clock and razor from a local hardware store, men's socks from several stores, six pairs of pliers, an overcoat from the railroad yard office, here, and last but not least, half of a sandwich from the plate of a man who had eaten only one half when he was called to the telephone. When he returned, the other half had disappeared.

The Doctor MUST Give Service

A Medical Clientele Is Based On Confidence

Much of the Patient's response to treatment depends on confidence in his Doctor. Not only is there a physical reaction to this feeling of confidence in the method of treatment, but the fact that you believe in your Doctor, causes you to follow instructions more carefully.

This confidence of the Patient can come about through only one thing—satisfactory service and the knowledge that your Doctor is competent.

This confidence of the Patient, is the chief foundation of a Doctor's practice.

Naturally, it is up to the Doctor to render the highest type of service, if for no other than selfish reasons.

DEC. 8 IS DATE SET FOR FIRST BASKETBALL GAME

Seven Lettermen Return to Practice This Week

With the close of the football season student interest will very soon turn to basketball. Coach Lee called the first official practise last Monday evening and all returning regulars reported. Graduation last spring took captain Bud Nelson, Lenny Helquist, sharpshooting guard, and Bill Nesse from the first team. However, with seven lettermen back and a few promising members from the ranks of the second team, Coach Lee should have little or no trouble in filling these positions.

The seven returning lettermen are; "Bones" Stadum, Gordon Caldis, Robert Quale, Clark Mickelson, Milford Haughton, and co-captains, Roy Lee and Don Lorentson. Other boys who look promising for first team competition at the present time include Reuben Mickelson, Clarence Haug, Lynn Booren, Perry Pederson, Earl Nicholson, and Orville Eide. It would be difficult to say at this time just how the boys will be lined up as to center, forwards, and guards for the reason that there is such an abundance of capable first team applicants.

From the forgoing facts it can be readily seen that the general outlook for this year's basketball season is anything but gloomy. Last year the team captured third place at the state tournament, this year we have hopes that they will go even farther.

The district tournament will be held at East Grand Forks in the new gymnasium recently completed in that city and the regional will be held in Thief River Falls.

TEACHERS TRAINING

We finished [illegible] school observation Tuesd[illegible] six schools so [illegible]. We received many [illegible] for decorations [illegible] technique of teaching [illegible] of the week was sp[illegible] discussing rural school observation and in continuing our regular classes. We also visited a very interesting study lesson in Miss Dahlquist's fourth grade.

For the past week we have been practice teaching in the third and fourth grade reading classes. Everyone seems to be doing fairly well. This unit will continue until the Thanksgiving period.

During the language period this past week, members of the Department have been presenting poems for the second and third grades.

Our music classes go on each Wednesday. Note reading and tapping out rhythms were foremost this week. Next, we shall center on the different positions of 'do'.

At three o'clock Friday afternoon the members of this Department attended the third assembly program given at the auditorium.

Mr. Doran's team is overjoyed at rumors of a possible party this week. We can only wait and hope these rumors prove true.

A certain Senior boy says he plays the piano for his own amusement and after hearing his playing, I say, "What a sense of humor."

It has been suggested from several different sources that because of the very successful season the football team recently completed that they should be honored in some way. Wouldn't a trip to the Minnesota-Wisconsin football game be appropriate?

DEBATERS BEGIN ACTIVE PRACTICE

Unicameral Legislation Is Topic for Discussion

Next Wednesday the first tryout debate will be held when Margaret McKechnie and Robert Smith will oppose Gordon Holte and James Borreson.

It is very difficult to obtain material for discussion on the various subjects. Miss Dock has sent to the public library at St. Paul, and after this attempt proved futile because they didn't have any material she sent away to several companies. This material should arrive soon.

Those interested in oratory, which will begin next week, should see Mr. Peterson. Robert Quale will give the oration, "The Big Parade," which he also gave last year. Last year he didn't have much time to prepare it, and this year is getting an early start. It is an excellent oration, and with a good start he should do better this year than last.

PROWLERETTES CORNER

Mmm—I've got that old feeling—rather a let up after the high tension we all have been laboring under for the past few weeks. Guess I'll have to take some Dorothy Dix relaxation exercises. Just reminds me that a Big Josie is not a Little Josie anymore, anywhere. But then—It's all in the spirit, girls and we still have plenty left over from la grande homecoming, yes? Enough to expend a lot on the volley ball tournament next week, yet, my dears, the time has come—and with it the suggestion of a whisper that basketball is in the offing. So pawn up spirits up and no let-up! Two weeks of tournament before Turkey-Day.

The poster offerings have been rather nice, Josies—quite! and the members of the '37-'38 Bright Idea group will be announced next issue so hold on, voting took place Monday and Tuesday.

You upper class Josies are certainly saving on the leather as compared to these frosh. How the hiking-biking points do come in.

By and bye, girrrls, remember those shower booths we prattled about the last two years? Hold your breath a speck and listen! The man was down to measure for them, I hear. This time it has got to be true!

Well, it's time to shut my tatter trap, but not before I send a verbal bouquet of bitter sweet to the Prowler band who wound up their football season in such an autumnal display of glory and to the cheering section who really demonstrated their ability to support that undefeated team and Bless you all, folks and remember—soon cometh basketball!

A welcome addition to the group of clubs and organization belonging to the Crookston High School, is the new pep club, which hopes to be functioning perfectly by the opening of the basket-ball season.

INTRAMURAL TO START THIS WEEK

The same procedure which followed last year will also be used this year. The season will end with the interclass tournament which will be held at the Municipal Auditorium.

BAND NOTES

The high school band contributed much to the entertainment of the Auto Show held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. On the first evening, they gave a concert in the arena with the following numbers: Hermit of Kildare, Monitou Heights, Tschaikowsky, Dream Ship, Hall of Fame, and Around the Campfire. For the concert they gave on Saturday afternoon, marches were taken from the Promotion Band Book.

The band lost an excellent drum major when Lola Ann Peterson moved to Gladstone, Michigan. The band is very unfortunate in losing such a member, and it will be hard to secure a drum major as efficient as she has been in the past.

A class of Twirlers is being organized by Mr. Riggs, and he expects to turn out three or four good drum majors to lead the band next spring.

Simile: As dead as Columbus.

One bright Junior answered, "Yes".

Mr. Riggs, "What?".

The Junior, "Corn". and Mr. Riggs was too flabergasted for words. Would you believe it?

Believe this or not but I've been told that Mr. Riggs asked his history class this question, "Have the Indians contributed anything of value to civilization?"

The students of Lincoln High School wish to extend the sincerest sympathy to Lorraine Haken in her recent bereavement.

With a gloriously successful football season at their backs, the Lincoln High School Prowlers are now settling down to a new field of endeavor, namely, basketball. When Coach George Lee made the opening call last Monday, a very complete and talented group of boys reported for practice. Among the potential candidates for regular positions, the co-captains, Lorentson and Lee, were discovered. These boys have a team berth cinched in their forward and guard positions, respectively. No trouble will be found at center which place both Bones Stadum and Gordon Caldis will fight for, either of whom may be shifted to another position. Seven lettermen have returned and a strong support can be looked for from last years second team. This bunch is going to try to make just two more hops than the last years team and become state champs. Will they? The whole student body surely hopes so.

It seems to this sideline observer that there ought to be something to add a little spirit to the games. We have pep fests and stuff and things which we always have had but never anything new. You all have seen the dog that the Little Green Wave usually takes on their trips. Somehow when he gets on the floor, it just makes a better spirit among the students. Now it makes no difference whether the mascot be animal or human, but we ought to have a mascot. Of course it's just a suggestion, but what do you think of it? Is Lincoln High School going to have an addition to their team? It's up to you.

SENIOR WHO'S WHO

His name is William Lloyd Carlisle Jr., but to us he's just Bill. He's only 16, but he's doin' himself proud with two Adelaides on the string. His favorite sport is hunting and his favorite dish is roast duck. He doesn't read books, but he does go to the movies, and he thinks "After the Thin Man" with Myrna Loy and William Powell, was the best ever. He'd rather read "Popeye" than any other part of the paper. Any orchestra that plays "Josephine" is O. K. with him. He likes to hunt and fish and his ambition is to be a northwoods guide.

Fred Waring rates tops with her when it comes to music and her favorite song is "Harbor Lights." She adores skating, collecting souvenirs, and reads "Blondies," and she detests getting up early. Her aspiration is to become a kindergarden teacher.

EXCHANGE

The following are do's and don'ts for teacher's pets taken from the "Bemidji High School News".

How to become a teacher's pet in one easy lesson.

1. Always sit by the window, you look brighter.
2. Never compliment your teacher too much in one day. The first day tell a man that you love his purple and red spotted tie. The second day mention his striped shirt, next remark about his bright sock. Always be sure to mention his beautiful fingerwave.
3. Be sure to laugh when the teacher cracks a joke— even if it's dry as they usually are.
4. Bring your books to class every once in a while.

How to become a teacher's pet hate.

1. Leave papers on the floor they look so artistic.
2. Always write letters when you are supposed to be taking notes—scratch your head intelligently every five minutes to make the teacher think you are paying attention.
3. Be one of those conscientious students who always ask for another day to prepare a lesson.
4. Be one of those people who talk all the time between classes and never in classes.

Now you know the reasons you are not pleasing the Moguls of the red ink.

Definition of an assembly taken from the Sherburn High Piper:
Sometimes it's quiet, usually it's not
A place where a student should study a lot!
The times they should are the times they won't.

The selection of "Tweedles" by Booth Tarkington as this year's junior class play was made last week by Miss Newman, director of the production. This play will be given on December 10th.

VIBRA-HARP IS INTRODUCED AT THIRD ASSEMBLY

Brown and Menely Present Varied Program to Students

The 3rd assembly program, held on Friday afternoon in the city auditorium consisted of several vocal pieces, two saxophone numbers, and several solos and duets on the vibra-harp by Mr. Glen Menely and Mr. Carl Brown who appeared here on assembly program four years ago.

Mr. Brown began the program by playing an opera piece and encoring this with a light operatic march. Two vocal solos were rendered, Victor Herbert's "Oh, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Red Sails in the Sunset" followed by two saxophone solos, namely; "I'll be Seeing Nellie Home" and a "College Melody."

On the vibra-harp was played, "Steal Away to Jesus", "Sweet Lalonie," and "The Bells of St. Mary's. Mr. Menely presented two baratone solos, one of which was a special to the girls, a sailor song.

There was quite a variety in types of music, so as to please the numerous tastes from the audience. The program was greatly enjoyed by all.

CHORUS

The Mixed Chorus will sing for the Armistice Day program instead of the next Parent Teachers' meeting which was planned. The Bemidji State Teachers Acapella Choir will then furnish the music.

Ralph Gustafson and Erling Melby are trying out for the solo part of "Steamboat Chuggin' round the River."

The Mixed Chorus is progressing on Christmas selections. Their reading ability is also being tested with Christmas songs. The songs are being learned without the assistance of the piano.

The Girls' Glee Club has memorized a few songs, and they are now practicing on "To a Wild Rose".

The Boys' Glee Club has had many practices and they know quite a few songs already.

Flash—Hit of the week—He's back in town but for a limited time. I refer you all to Miles F. Times a wastin' gals.

All kinds of ribbons to those superb, Colossal Marx Brothers. Included in the trio was Mary A. Biederman, Joan D. and Lee R. Don't think they didn't deserve the box of candy they got considering all the physical punishment they took.

We wonder if Erling M. had to do a lot of explaining, because of his appearance at the masquerade. Well, it was all for the best and after all he did win the prize.

And we bet steak and French fries taste plenty good at 11:30 at night, especially when homecooked —Hows about it Jean'

Fist off—I see the Daily Bulletin discloses the following artists with bright ideas as caretakers for bulletin board in '37-'38. Lucille Thomas, Anna Hanson, Palma Jahr, and Mathilda Paulson. Lucille's and Ann's art seemed especially appealing to prowlerette voters. A whole palette of congratulations and success, josies!

Hoot man! so near Stuffin' Day and so much to be done. Volleyball tournament right soon, y'know with a written test preceding the event. Frosh and Sophs still vie with one another as far as pep and spirit go. "Fresh" men having the edge. (Rumored that they might take the tournament.)

From the Bemidji High School News:

TUMBLING TEAM STARTS PRACTICE

This Year's Squad Expected to Equal Last Year's

Practice started this week for the tumbling team which this year will be composed of six lettermen and a host of promising newcomers, it was announced by B. W. Gabrielson, coach of the aggregation. Four of last year's lettermen, namely, Jack Adkins, Pomeroy Hill, and the two Aalbu brothers, will not be with the group, because of either graduation or location in a different city.

If pre-season dope is correct, the team this season will be every bit as good as, if not better than the team that won so much praise from both students and townspeople last year. The six boys who earned letters and who will be with the team again this year, Clarence Freed, Richard Battelson, Clifford Lunke, Delmer Hovie, Billy Claffy, and Leonard Furuseth, should show a noted improvement in style after one year's experience. More veterans back this year include Perry Pederson, Milton Poppenhagen, Bob Hanson, Ralph Gustafson, and Lester Erickson. New members who look promising now are Willis Erickson, Ed Flaa, Chester Jorde, Vernon Stenbeim, Glenn Anderson, James Conner, Ken Stenberg, George Wernimo, Gaynard Warnecke, Tom Carlisle, Merle Carlson, Vernon Ostrum, and Willis Wright.

The program to be carried out this winter and next spring will be similar to that of last year. It will include performances at basketball games, at the district and regional tournaments, and to be climaxed at the Second Annual Circus in the spring.

Tsk, Tsk, Tsk

Honest to Pete, have you ever seen anithing like it! The freshmen are under foot all the time anyway but when they start playing bob at all the dances, that's going to be the straw that breaks the camel's back.

Last night out of training was the excuse for the party at Cliff Oleson's and besides Cliff wanted to "cut loose" for a change, but why wouldn't he come to the dance with us afterwards? And wow! what a lunch. Musta thot we were starved.

One of those three Marx Bros. asked me to recall a statement made concerning the whence and wherefore of the Junior flag. It was not factory-made, but was manufactured by the hands of Leona B. and other aggressive juniors.

Quite a cast for the Junior class play.
